Several People Celebrate Birthdays On New Year's

Celebrated 73rd Birthday

Hans Hanson celebrated his 73rd birthday Sunday and many friends came and had dinner with him, bringing with them well filled baskets. Those who spent the day with him were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Verner Nelson and family; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weisel and Mr. and Mrs. Max Bruns of Mason City; Mrs. Lee Ell and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kurtz Florence and Forest Hanson of Ventura. The day was very much enjoyed.

Celebrated 75th Birthday

Mr. Chas. J. Krause celebrated his 75th birthday anniversary on New Year's Day and, of course, a big family dinner was enjoyed.

Garner Man Has Birthday On New Year's Day

It's no trouble at all for Dave Ross, Garner, to remember his birthday, as it falls on New Year's Day And as usual, Dave is honored by having a big family gathering in celebration of the double event. Mr. and Mrs. John Day and son, Dorance and Mrs. Wm. Smith, Klemme; and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mathews of Clear Lake and the Ross relatives helped Dave celebrate by enjoying a big dinner with him.

THOS. BERHOW IS CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

Thos. Berhow, of Kanawha, is in the race for Supervisor this year. Tom is seeking the office for the term beginning January 1, 1935.

Mr. Berhow needs no introduction to our readers, for if they will turn back the pages of time to along the early 1920's they will recall that at that time Mr. Berhow was a member of our Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Berhow cites the fact that at that time the Board operated economically and efficiently, and it is on his past record as Supervisor that he is basing his present campaign.

Mr. Berhow's announcement will be found in this issue of the Times.

Klemme Teachers Return To Their Schools

Quite a number of Klemme young people are in the teaching profession, and after spending the Christmas holidays visiting with home folks, they have again returned to their schools. Miss Ruth Bailey teaches at Wyman, Iowa; Miss Ethel Wellemeyer has returned to Buffalo Center; Miss Bernice Tanner has returned to Crystal Lake; Miss Mabel Schaefer has returned to Rowan and Miss Gladys Wilson has returned to Clarion. Miss Elvira Stille will have a few more days of vacation when she will return to Floyd where school begins Monday. Miss Adela Schroeder went to Alexander Monday evening where school began Tuesday morning.

Earl Josten who teaches music at Estherville spent a few days at home as did Adolph Lauritsen, a Klemme young man who is superintendent of schools at Ledyard.

Klemme is certainly furnishing fine young manhood and womanhood as teachers in nearby schools.

C. C. C. Boys Home For Holidays

Kenneth Kluckhohn, who is stationed at the C. C. C winter camp at Decorah, came home last Thursday evening to spend ten days vacation over New Year visiting with home folks. Clair West, who is at the winter camp at Eldora is spending a few days visiting in Klemme.

VAGABONDS LOSE GAME TO DIAMOND BREAD FIVE

The Klemme Vagabonds lost a fast game to the Diamond Bread five of Mason City Friday night on the local court. The score was fairly even all the way through with neither team holding a big advantage. At the half the score was tied 20-20. During the fourth period the Diamond Bread quintet piled up a lead to win 37-30.

The Klemme Shamrocks won a victory over the members of last year's high school team in the preliminary game Friday night. The first half was marked with considerable roughness on both sides with 15 fouls being called during that period. The second half the Alumni came back with a bang and started overcoming a 16-7 lead. Although both teams made 9 field goals, the roughness in the first half proved disastrous to the Alumni as the Shamrocks managed to toss in three extra charity shots.

COOL CREAM IN WINTER TOO Will Insure Higher Quality of Butter, Says Rudnick

Frequent marketing of cream is important in making the fine quality butter which enables the creamery to pay a high price to the producer according to A. W. Rudnick, extension specialist in dairy industry at Iowa State College.

Tests conducted in another state indicate that cream held more than 3 days without being marketed deteriorated rapidly. Cream divided and churned on the fourth and fifth days showed a loss of one or more point in score on the fifth day even though the cream was kept cold.

For best results cream should be delivered every day. Butter will not keep if made from cream more than 4 days old. Cool the cream in cold water even in cold weather. Six to eight hours are required to get warm cream below 50 degrees in weather even where the temperature of the air is below freezing. But with water at 48 degrees, cream can be brought down to the required temperature in a much shorter time.

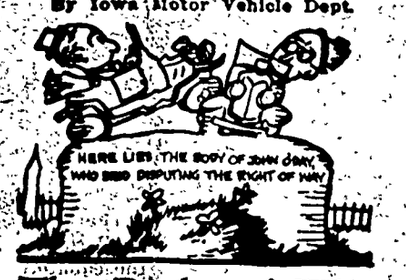
W. F. M. S. And Kings Heralds Will Meet

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church meets this week Thursday afternoon at the Wm. Ax home.

The Kings Heralds will meet at the church Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Safe Driving Hint

By Iowa Motor Vehicle Dept.



The Right of Way

OUR graveyards are heavily populated with motorists who sailed along serenely under the false colors of the right-of-way banner.

Actually, the term "Right-of-Way" as a hard and fast rule to follow is as old-fashioned as auto cranks and linen dusters. It's all right when you have the right of way to keep going at the intersection, but keep your car under control because the other fellow may think he has it, too. Don't place too much faith in him. If he doesn't stop as he should, then you must be able to stop or there will be a smashup.

Substitute in your traffic vocabulary the axiom that there is a "Safe Way" for every emergency. Learn to depend upon the "Safe Way" and you will never be killed in a futile attempt to defend the right-of-way.

TWINS BORN SATURDAY AT "HAPPY" JOHONSON HOME

A pair of twins, boy and girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Johnson, Saturday afternoon, December 30th. They have been named Peter Walter and Nancy Mae. Mother and babies are getting along fine, but "Happy" is still stepping around in a daze, but he is beginning to show signs of coming down to earth once more. Congratulations!

CLOVER AND OTHER FORAGE SEED SHORTAGE LIKELY

Land Taken Out of Production Is Estimated at 40 Million Acres; Enough Seed for 4 Million

A serious shortage of legume and other crop seeds which will probably result in a rapid rise in prices of these seeds before next spring, is anticipated by F. S. Wilkins, forage crops investigator for the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station.

Estimates have placed the amount of land to be taken out of wheat, corn and cotton production at 40 million acres. There is only enough seed available of legume and hay crops to plant 4 million acres more than are normally grown in the country. In other words, there will only be enough seed to plant about 10 percent of this land to hay and pasture crops.

This means that much of the land taken out of corn, wheat and cotton production will have to be left to fallow over the next year or planted to some small grain to prevent the weeds getting a good start.

The realization of this shortage of legume and hay seed is already having some influence upon markets alfalfa and hay seed prices having risen recently.

MISS FLORENCE GATES WEDS MINNEAPOLIS MAN

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gates of Clear Lake, former residents of Klemme, announce that their daughter, Florence was married to Mr. LeRoy Hipsher, of Minneapolis, on December 23rd.

Mrs. Hipsher has been a resident of Minneapolis for some time where she was a nurse in the Berg Rest Home. They will live in Minneapolis.

REV. RALSTON AND FAMILY SPENT XMAS WITH FRIENDS

Rev. J. L. Ralston and family drove to Aurelia, Iowa, last week on Christmas day to spend a week visiting with old friends, the S. A. Hickey family, with whom they have spent Christmas for eleven years. Rev. Ralston was pastor near Aurelia for five years.

Rev. Ralston suffered an accident on his way, when near Gilmore City his car became hot and in unlatching the radiator cap hot liquid flew all over his face, causing painful burns Reverend is now sporting a "new face" as most of the skin peeled off. Just another way to get "that school girls complexion," although a rather painful process.

BRITT FARMER IS CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

Penn Eckles, Orthel township farmer, is this week placing his announcement in The Times as a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hncock county for the term beginning January 1, 1935.

Mr. Eckles has a wide acquaintance throughout the county, but for the benefit of those who do not know him personally we have the following information to offer. Mr. Eckles has resided in this county since 1917, but has been a landowner in Hancock county since 1914 when he purchased a farm in Orthol. He has always been interested in township and county affairs. He has been on his township school board for a number of years, during the past nine years of which he has served as chairman. He has been chairmn of the Board of Trustees for the past eight years. He is also at present one of the directors of the North Iowa Experiment Farm near Kanawha.

Mr. Eckles seems like a pleasant man to meet and says he expects to make a thorough campaign and will try to call on every voter.

Large Crowd Attended Plays By Reformed Young People

A large crowd was present at the Reformed Church last Friday evening to see the program sponsored by the young people of the Church. Besides the plays the Young People's Chorus entertained and also special singing was provided by a double quartet.

The plays were all very well presented. "It Happened At Christmas" was directed by Miss Ethel Baack. Miss Gertie Trampel directed "The Lonesome Bibles" Miss Lillian Brown directed "The Man from Mars" and "The Lost Church" was the play directed by Raymond Barz.

The young people of the church are to be complimented on their splendid work.

Lesson for January 7

BIRTH AND INFANCY OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 2 1-12

GOLDEN TEXT—And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS, for he shall save his people from their sins. Matthew 1.21.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Gifts for the Little Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—In Search of the Saviour-King

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Honoring the Child-King.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Incarnation

We are now entering upon a six months' study of the gospel according to Matthew. In order that the lessons may be properly presented the teacher must master the book of Matthew as a whole, and then present each lesson in its relation to the central purpose of the book.

The central theme of Matthew is "Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham, the covenant King" (Matt 1:1)

I. The Birth of Jesus, the King (Matt. 1:18-25).

1. The Saviour was to be the seed of a woman (Gen. 3:15), the son of a virgin This was fulfilled in the birth of Jesus. The genealogy (Matt. 1:1 17) shows his legal right to the throne Only a descendant of David could be recognized.

2. The Saviour was to be divine (Isa 9.6)

He must be more than the son of David in order to be a Saviour. He must be both human and divine. Jesus was begotten by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary, thus becoming Immanuel, which in its fullness means "God with us, God for us, and God in us."

II. The Childhood of Jesus, the King (Matt 2:1-23).

1. Wise Men from the East seeking Israel's King (vv. 1, 2). Christ's advent was heralded by a star which guided men of a foreign nation to seek and to worship him, even pouring out their gifts to him. These men were Persian or Arabian astrologers, students of the stars. Their attention was attracted by the appearance of an unusual star. Through the influence of the Jews who remained in Chaldea, or the direct influence of Daniel extending to this time, they had become acquainted with the hope of the Jews as to the Messiah. They may have known of Balaam's prophecy. (Num. 24:17).

2. Herod seeking to kill Jesus (vv. 3-8, 16-18) The news brought by the Wise Men struck terror to Herod's heart. He was not alone in this for all Jerusalem was troubled with him This news ought to have brought joy, but a glimpse at the social customs in and about Jerusalem at that day enables us to understand why Herod and all Jerusalem were troubled. A Saviour who would save them from their sins was not wanted. Herod demanded of the priests and scribes information as to where Christ should be born. The fact that they were able to tell him quickly shows that they had a technical knowledge of the Scriptures, but not a heart for the Saviour set forth therein. This occurred in Jerusalem, the city of the King, the place of all places where he should have been welcome. It frequently occurs that where the greatest privileges are, there the greatest indifference is shown to spiritual matters. When the Wise Men returned to their country by another way, Herod slew all the male children two years and under in and around Bethlehem.

3. The King found by the Wise Men (vv. 9-12).

Having obtained the desired information these men started immediately to find Jesus. As they left the city the star which guided them In the east appeared again to direct them to the place where Christ was. When they found him they worshiped him. They did not see any miracles, only a babe; yet they worshiped him as king. "Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed" (John 20:29).

4. The King protected (vv. 13-23).

(a) Flight to Egypt (vv. 13-15). To escape Herod's wicked aim, God directed Joseph to take Mary and the child Jesus and flee to Egypt. In obedience to the heavenly vision he went and remained there until Herod's death.

(b) Return to Nazareth (vv. 19-23). Upon the death of Herod, the angel of the Lord directed Joseph to take Jesus and his mother and return to the land of Israel. Though Herod was dead it was not proper for him to return to Judea. By divine direction he turned aside into parts of Galilee and dwelt at Nazareth.

Nazareth has held a fair renown through the centuries only because it was the spot where Jesus grew in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.

The Bible

This book contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true and its decisions are immutable.

Marcellus and the Plutocrat

By H. IRVING KING

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

MARCELLUS SANDERS had a shanty down on the shore, just above highwater mark. He was an aged fisherman and a clam-digger, wrinkled, of solitary life and crabbed disposition. To him came Mr. Whitney-Blake, one of the "rich folks" from "up on the hill." Marcellus had been purveyor of clams to the Whitney-Blake family for years—a sort of fishy feudal retainer as it were.

"Marcellus," said the plutocrat, "you know my daughter. Do you ever see her down here—with a young man—going sailing?"

"Sure," replied Marcellus, "comes down to the boathouse over there—goes off in that catboat—the Glide—moored off the end of the float."

"Whose boat is it?"

"Young man named Bascomb," growled Marcellus.

"It is as I suspected," thought the father and then: "Marcellus, the next time you see my daughter and that young man go out sailing together, go to the nearest telephone and call me up. If I can catch those two together I will give you five dollars."

"All right," said Marcellus. Over his heroic food the clam-digger mused deeply. Then he chuckled.

Mr. Whitney-Blake was strongly averse to a marriage between his daughter and Roger Bascomb. Bascomb was a newcomer to the community; had made himself immensely popular and had been paying decided attentions to Caroline. The wary father had investigated and found that Roger was fond of pleasure, deeply in debt and might justly be looked upon as a fortune hunter. Having acquired this knowledge he proceeded to talk to Caroline.

"Why, father," said she, "I haven't the faintest idea of marrying Roger Bascomb. I like him, of course—who could help liking such a good-natured, agreeable fellow?"

"I do wish, Caroline," said the father, "that, out of your many suitors, you would pick one of whom I could approve. There is Cyril Patterson, for instance."

"Oh, Cyril is well enough," laughed Caroline. "I am afraid it's the Patterson money you are thinking of, papa, more than of Cyril himself."

Mr. Whitney-Blake, a big business deal engaging his attention, relaxed his supervision of Caroline's love affairs. Then one day he received a jolt. He had been out to Denver looking after one of his many investments and as he got off the train he met Mandy Budlong just getting on.

"Ah, Mr. Blake," cried Mandy, "'bout time you got home. You'll be just in time for the wedding. Carrie goes out sailing 'most every afternoon now, and they do say—"

"All aboard!" shouted the impatient conductor and, with a firm hand, hustled the garrulous Mandy up the car steps.

Mr. Whitney-Blake thought rapidly for a full minute. Then he walked down to the shore, which was near the station, made his way to the shanty of Marcellus and had the interview described above. When he reached home Caroline greeted her father as a dutiful and loving daughter should. An hour or so after luncheon, while Mr. Whitney-Blake being busy with papers in his library, Caroline got into her runabout and drove out of the grounds. It might have been an hour or so later when the telephone bell rang and the voice of Marcellus said: "They've gone out sailing again. Expect 'em back about five." At five the wrathful parent was on the beach. But the wind had fallen and it was growing dusk before he saw the Glide come slowly in and pick up her moorings.

In the half light he could see that the catboat's crew consisted of a young man and a young woman. "I've got 'em," he thought. They entered the dingy and rowed ashore. Mr. Whitney-Blake was on the landing stage to receive them.

"Why, father!" cried Caroline. "You here? Cyril and I have had a delightful sail."

"Good evening, sir," said the cheery voice of Cyril Patterson. "Glad to see you back. May I come up to the house? I have something important I want to say to you regarding—er—er—Caroline."

"Certainly," replied Mr. Whitney Blake blandly.

"Hi hi!" came the voice of Marcellus as the trio moved off.

"Excuse me a second," said Whitney Blake and turned back

"Where's that five dollars?" asked the fisherman.

"Five dollars!" returned the plutocrat, "you ought to get a punch in the jaw. Thought you told me my daughter was going out sailing with Roger Bascomb."

"Didn't," replied Marcellus. "Said 'twas Bascomb's boat. So 'tis. Patterson's chartered it for the summer."

"Why didn't you tell me that?" demanded Mr. Whitney-Blake.

Mr. Whitney-Blake saw that Caroline and Cyril were watching him. He pulled five dollars out of his pocket and handed it to the clam-digger.

"A little bill I owed Marcellus for clams," he explained as he rejoined them.

That's all except that Roger Bascomb married a rich widow two months after Cyril married Caroline, and that Mr. Whitney-Blake looks with admiration upon Marcellus as being the only man who ever got the best of him in a business deal.

Brian to the Rescue

By ALICE DUANE

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

IT HAD been an unusually uneventful morning for Brian Kent, sitting at his perfectly appointed desk in one of his uncle's spacious offices.

Brian was getting into shape a report his uncle had asked him to have ready that afternoon.

Once or twice that morning he had been on the verge of interrupting this report business, finding an excuse to dictate a letter so that even for a short few minutes he could have had a reason to have his uncle's very charming young secretary sitting at the opposite side of his desk. But there was always a chance that his uncle might come in unexpectedly—and the report was urgent.

The steady dull drone of machinery was becoming almost unendurable—and then the low, throaty growl followed by the high deafening shriek of the fire alarm.

No special need for alarm, Brian quickly assured himself. After all, the factory people had probably been given specific instructions for orderly exit from the building in such an emergency.

The factory side of the building Brian knew was practically fire proof but this older section that housed the executive offices and the office staffs was of wooden construction. There was a sprinkler system and numerous fire exits, but even then things sometimes happen—

Brian quickly gathered up the papers strewn on his desk, crammed them into his coat pockets and dashed into the large bare room where the typists and stenographers had their desks. Most of the desks were already deserted. Girls were hurrying across the floor to an exit beyond. He called to some who lingered and told them to go without delay.

"Where is Miss Mason?" he called to one of them.

"She ran into the accounting department," the girl told him.

Brian muttered an oath to himself and dashed forward to the accounting department. Miss Mason was kneeling beside a small safe in one of the smaller offices.

In a fraction of a second he reached her, took the papers from her hands, threw them in the safe and without waiting to explain lifted her in his arms.

"What are you doing?" she asked, and then realizing that there was no alternative let her slender young body relax in his strong young arms.

"There is no terrible hurry," she told him, as he hurried down the hall. But Brian assured her that he was taking no chances. He would have carried her down the fire escape if she had not so seriously objected. Instead he went down the stairs ahead of her, turning back at every step to assure himself of her safe descent.

Alice Mason breathed a sigh of relief when she had reached the ground and realized that none of the girls had been looking on.

"They will all be over at the other side," she told Brian, who stood looking down at her in a friendly, possessive way.

"You had me worried for a minute," he said. "And don't you ever take time to put letters in the safe again."

"But that's orders from your uncle," Alice said. "There's always the chance that a letter might be valuable—so just as a matter of drill we always do it."

"Matter of drill!" Brian repeated blankly. "Always do it! What do you mean?"

"Just that every time we have a fire drill we are supposed to do precisely what we would if there was a real fire—"

Brian looked amazed and then laughed.

"The joke's on me," he told her. "But how did I know it was only a drill? No one told me."

"How did you happen to run across me?" Alice asked. "Weren't you going to leave the building?" She was trying not to laugh at him.

"Not until I'd found you," he said. "You see, that's the first thing I thought of when I heard that shrieking siren. I suppose I thought I was saving your life or something—anyway I'm glad for your sake the other girls didn't see the rescue—" He looked a little crestfallen and foolish.

"I wouldn't have minded, if you hadn't," Alice told him. "I started to cry out at first, because I was so surprised. But—I didn't mind. I'd been hoping all morning you'd send for me to take some dictation—"

"And I'd been wishing I had a chance—"

A gong rang. Alice said it was the signal to return to the building. She wasn't laughing now. "I'm very grateful to you."

"Oh, pshaw," Brian told her, "I really made a mistake—and incidentally let you know, as you must know now, that I'm seriously interested."

"Couldn't we talk about that some other time?" Alice suggested. "That is—I've got to get back in line to go in with the other girls—" she was walking away from him now—"but I'm interested, too."

"Let's talk about it tonight at dinner," he called softly. "I'll call you in for dictation and we can make plans— So long, Alice—"

"So long, Brian. Thanks for the rescue. And next time there's to be a drill I'll let you know."

Music Notes

In the course of a music lesson, given in the lower grades the teacher was emphasizing the form and value of music.

Miss H. was having the kiddies make forms of whole notes, half notes and "quarter" notes on their fingers.

Little Mary, very much interested said:

"Miss H, how do you make a 10-cent note?"

The Name Jesus

If the name Jesus were left out of our prayers, our hymns, and our worship, we would mourn as if the rose were effaced from the cheek of morning, the sun were banished from the heavens, and the sweetest note stricken from the psalm of life.

Proof of Discipline

In his sufferings the Christian is often tempted to think himself forgotten. But his afflictions are the clearest proofs that he is an object of God's fatherly discipline.

Driest Place on Earth

The driest place on earth is Payta, in Peru, about five degrees south of the equator. In spite of the fact that this province is on the seaboard, there are children living there ten or twelve year old who have never seen a shower of rain.

Clouds are plentiful, and occasionally there are heavy sea fogs, yet as much as fifteen years may elapse between showers.

In spite of the dryness, this country is inhabited, for small streams, coming down from the western side of the Andes, water it.

Rush Message

A sepoy entered a telegraph office in India and handed in a message. The clerk, after reading the message, told him there was something wrong with the wording. "No, sahib, me know English," said the man. Again the clerk attempted to explain to him that it was worded wrongly. "Me know English," the sepoy declared haughtily and indignantly. "If you no send, me report Superintendent Mandalay." Then the message was forwarded. It read, "Come quick; father dangerously dead."—Vancouver Province.

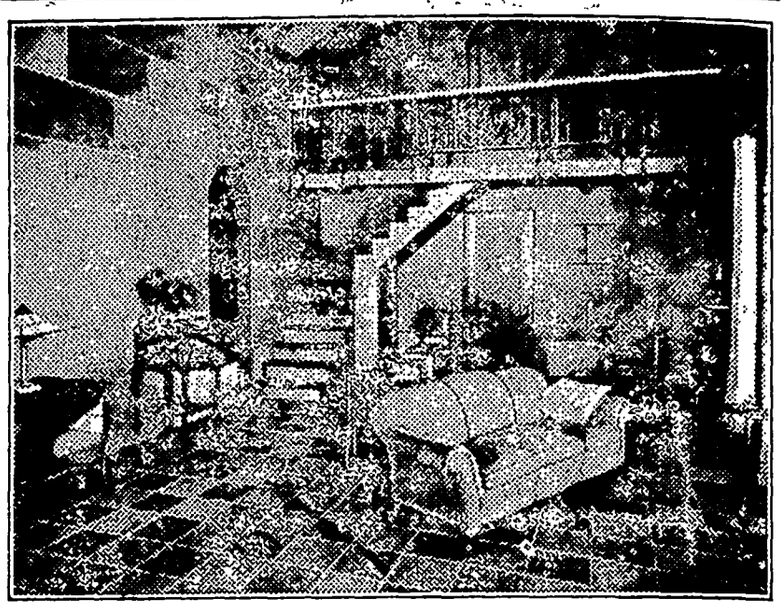
Painting Known to Indians

Painting was known to the Indians who inhabited the western plains of the United States, although of a crude sort. On the continent of South America, the rough painting of pottery was known. The Central American tribes who succeeded the ancient Mayan empire knew "slip painting," i. e., the slipping in of colored clay on the outside of pottery and outlining the slipped-in portion with a contrasting color, but that art belonged to ceramics.—Kansas City Star.

Radium Price Keeps Up

Radium is one of the few substances which have not declined in cost during recent years. This is unfortunate because of the great value of radium in the treatment of certain kinds of disease. For several years past, radium has been selling for about $70,000 per gram. This means it costs about $2,660,000 an ounce. There are only a few ounces of radium in existence, with a total value estimated at $17,000,000.

Insulation Boards Offer Possibilities in Decoration



HERE is something new in interior decoration, a living room finished throughout with insulation boards.

Wood fibers pressed into large boards with millions of dead air cells produce a very effective insulation and at the same time an attractive building material. The walls of the room shown here are of this insulation left in its natural rich brown state.

Stairs, baseboard and door casing are of pressed wood manufactured by the same process as the insulation except that it is pressed to a greater degree.

The floor is of cushioned pressed wood blocks, one of the newer types of flooring. The blocks are made in three layers, the exposed surfaces being tempered so that they are not dented by heavy furniture and the inner layer being a cushion or shock-absorber to provide resiliency.

TO CHANGE OLD LEASE, CONTRACT STATES

...ment May Be Made, However ...der Administrative Rulings

...ough details of landlord-...division of corn hog benefit ...nts will be covered in admin...e rulings, the corn hog con... declares in general that ...shall be no change in the lease or tenure of a producer signing the contract from 1933 landlord tenant agreements.

The contract is interpreted to mean that, if the landlord and tenant agreement.

The contract is interpreted to mean that, if the landlord and tenant are operating on a 50-50 share basis in which the landlord receives 50 percent of the crop but gets no share in the hog business, the landlord would receive 50 percent of the benefit payment on corn while the tenant would get all of the hog benefit payment.

The contract carries, however, a provision for adjustments to suit individual needs. Such adjustments are to be covered in the administrative rulings.

Basing the 1934 landlord tenant lease on the 1933 agreement does not necessarily mean that the tenant should do nothing on the corn land taken out of production and still receive his share of the rental. Since the acreage rented to the government may be used for planting additional permanent pasture, seeding soil improvement and erosion preventing crops, planting to farm woodlots, weed eradication, or fallowing, there will be sufficient work for the tenant to do on this land. Just as he would work on cultivating and harvesting a crop under ordinary conditions.

In other words, the landlord is offered an opportunity to build up the fertility of his soil on his rented acreage. Meantime the government is paying him for doing what he has probably wanted to do for a long time but hasn't because of his need for income from that acreage

In addition the landlord will receive half of the rent on this land early in 1934, and the income from ...'s share of the corn raised on his other land will be greater, because, if he signs a corn-hog contract he is entitled to borrow on his share at the rate of 45 cents a bushel under the corn-loan plan.

The contract provides against landlords renting 20 percent of their corn acreage to the government and renting the other 80 per cent to a tenant. In such cases the two acreages would be considered as two separate farms. For example on a farm with 100 acres of corn land the landlord would not be able to rent 20 acres to the government and receive all the payment, but he would be permitted to rent 20 percent of the 20 acres just as though it were a farm in itself and receive benefit payments on only four acres. In signing the contract the producer is asked to account for all of his farm acreage for 1934, 1933 and the average for the two years. For corn he gives the number of acres planted

A Crooner In the Kitchen

...g Crosby treats an admiring audience of one to a sample of his ...o great accomplishments—crooning and cooking. The audience is his young wife, the former Dixie Lee of the motion pictures.

By Mabel Love

...AVE you a crooner in your ... kitchen? Bing Crosby's family ..., a good part of the time. When ... famous Bing is at home—the ...ne Bing whose love songs have ...armed countless thousands—he ...es nothing better than to slip ...o the kitchen and dash off a ...inary masterpiece to prove he is ...t as good a cook as he is a ...ooner.

Bing modestly says that his ...putation as a cook is due to his ...bit of picking up good ideas ...herever he runs across them. He ...llects recipes the way a lot of ...ople collect souvenirs. "For in...nce," he says, "did you know ...at a lot of different kinds of ...ecially good cakes, cookies and ...ndies can be made by using the ...isp, ready-to-eat cereals as one of ...e ingredients? Well, that's one of the ideas I picked up, and I use it right along."

Corn flake macaroons are one of Bing's specialties. Here's his recipe.

Corn Flake Macaroons

Beat the whites of two eggs until they are stiff enough to hold their shape but not until they lose their shiny appearance. Fold in one cup of sugar. Fold in two cups corn flakes, one-half cup nutmeats, one cup cocoanut. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla. Drop on a well greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) fifteen to twenty minutes. Remove pans from oven, place on damp towel, and remove macaroons immediately with a spatula or sharp knife.

Bing also says that crushed corn flakes, with their crisp, nut-like flavor, are fine for breading chops, fish and vegetables such as egg plant.

Record of Executioner of King Charles First

In connection with the history of King Charles the First, a letter is still in existence written by a notorious Mother Redcap, who lived in a small thatched building on rough ground leading from the Tyburn road over Crack Skull common to Hampstead, says a writer in the London Times. The legend runs that one wild night she was disturbed by a stranger at her door imploring shelter, as he was a fugitive from justice. After a stormy scene, in which he displayed plenty of money, the old woman consented to admit him. He remained with her some years, when he died. At the inquest one of the doctors declared that he knew the body to be that of the man who had been employed to decapitate King Charles I. Mr. Walter Crick writes: "I have not seen the book myself, but I am told that this entry concerning the identity of King Charles I's executioner may be found, as a marginal note, in the burial register of St. Mary's, Whitechapel: 'This Richard Brandon received £30 for the job, which was paid in half-crowns within an hour after the execution had taken place; he took an orange stuck with cloves and a handkerchief from the king's pocket and sold the former article to a gentleman for 10s.'"

Gladstone Classed as "Excellent" in Debate

It is certain that Gladstone often moved the house to long and hearty laughter, and that in private life, if he was among his own family or with intimate friends, he could be exceedingly amusing, playful and full of fun. But the fact is that he was apt, whether in private or public, to be too much and too earnestly interested in the subject of conversation to be inclined to treat it jocosely or even humorously.

Lord Balfour remarked: "I remember John Morley telling me (it was in his pre-Gladstonian days) that Gladstone's humor was like grinning through a horse collar. It may not have contained the raw material of good talk or good literature, but with all deference to John Morley, it was certainly excellent debating. It turned the laugh, if not the argument, against the victim."—From Lord Kilbracken's Reminiscences.

Small Ships Best Fighters

There is a common notion that large war vessels, such as cruisers armed with eight inch guns, are offensive or aggressive, while smaller vessels armed with no more than six-inch guns are defensive. As a matter of fact the most aggressive vessels during more than a hundred years have been the small vessels, according to "Social Science Abstracts," which digests articles from 4,000 periodicals. "Actually, 10,000 ton vessels have a greater endurance than the very large vessels; furthermore, the endurance of a single vessel is not very important because a fleet is no more enduring than its smallest cruiser or destroyer."

Mixed

A farewell party was being given to one of the staff of a big store who was starting in business on his own.

The manager presided, but he was not accustomed to public speaking. Beginning his speech, he said: "Ladies and gentlemen—Our young friend is—er—about to paddle his own canoe—er—let us hope—er—he will have a level road all the way, and the—er—courage to overcome the mountains of difficulty—er—he will meet, so that he may climb to the top of the ladder—er—that others will follow in his footprints—."—London Tit-Bits.

Modern Debt to Ancients

It was not until the time of Alexander the Great, that the use of the arch and the use of the dome which developed along with it in the Tigris and Euphrates region seems to have spread to Europe. Then the Greeks picked it up as a novelty, and passed it on to the Romans; and eventually we moderns received it, a gift that had passed through many hands from a people who possessed it, perhaps, before the days of the Great Flood. In fact, we today owe very much more of our civilization and culture to those ancient folk than we generally suspect.—Exchange.

Discoverer of Pike's Peak Unknown

Pike's Peak was named after Zebulon Pike who was supposed to have discovered that mountain peak in Colorado. But the Stewart commission of Colorado college says Pike did not discover it. The commission claims the mountain was known to white men as early as 1700, and that was long before Pike was born. Investigators of the commission found that Pike learned of the peak while a prisoner of the Spaniards in Santa Fe early in the Nineteenth century.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Wrong Bridge

When closing time came at the village inn the angling club moved off with dignity to the bridge from which they were to angle that night.

They seated themselves, cast their lines over the parapet, and "fished" steadily till the gray dawn was breaking.

Then with a roar the first down train passed under the bridge!—Tit-Bits.

Eskimo Traders Now Use Up-to-Date Schooners

When an Eskimo family which has been trading along the shores of the Arctic ocean for generations sought a name for their new schooner, they chose to honor a pioneer automobile manufacturer. The trading schooner was built in Edmonton. The schooner has an auxiliary engine for use in bucking adverse winds.

According to R. W. Hale, district superintendent of the postal service at Edmonton, the owners of the schooner represent the best class of Eskimos which trade along the western shores of the Arctic ocean, sending their catch of white foxes through the Behring straits to Seattle, Wash., and San Francisco, Calif. Many of them are quite well off. A great part of their food consists of fish dipped in seal oil, to give internal warmth to withstand the intense cold.

Unlike the Indians, these Eskimos copy the white man only in those things which will improve them. They cling to their native dress, including parkas and mukluks, which are so well adapted to the climate that white men, including the air pilots traveling in the country, have adopted it.—Family Herald.

Queen Not Favorably Impressed by Carlyle

"The human hand is not wanting in the letters and journals of Queen Victoria, who was a woman of much independence of spirit and clarity of thought, writes Dora Kitt, in the Victoria (B. C.) Colonist. "Thus, in 1860, we learn that she went to the deanery of Westminster to meet certain writers of renown, among them Mr. Carlyle, the historian, a strange-looking, eccentric old Scotsman, who holds forth in a drawling, melancholy voice with a broad Scotch accent, upon Scotland and upon the utter degeneration of everything. Sir C. and Lady Lyell, he an old acquaintance, most agreeable, and she very pleasing, and Mr. Browning, the poet, a very agreeable man. It was at first very shy work speaking to them, but afterwards when tea was being drunk . . . they were very agreeable and talked very entertainingly."

Settles Down at 150

The first 150 years are the wildest for an elephant, according to Siam, once the most unpopular beast in captivity, observes a writer in the Montreal Herald. And Paris, where life is reputed to be wild, wants Siam back because he is wild no more. One hundred years ago Napoleon took him from Egypt to Paris. Siam was so temperamental that Napoleon gave the beast to Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria. In Schoembrunn, Siam made himself a nuisance; and Franz Joseph finally gave him to the City of Budapest, where he still remains. Siam became tame and now even earns a good living. He begs money from spectators at the zoo and hands the coins over to the keeper.

"Lanterns of the Dead"

About halfway on the road from Angers to Poitiers, in France, one comes upon the old town of Fontevault, which is famous not only for an ancient abbey, where English kings have wished they could be buried, but for a fine example of those once mystifying lanterns of the dead, lanterns des morts. The purpose of these tall stone funerary lanterns, built like inland lighthouses, was not known till a few years ago a passage was found in the writings of Peter the Venerable, a Nineteenth century abbot of Cluny, revealing that they were lit in homage to the dead Christians. Most of them date from the Eleventh century.

Columbus Room Restored

The room in which Christopher Columbus first told Queen Isabella of his plans for the voyage in which he discovered America has been restored at Segovia, Spain. It is the throne room in the main tower of the Alcazar. All the Fifteenth-century furniture and furnishings have been copied, the thrones being exact duplicates of those used by Ferdinand and Isabella at that time. The scarlet silk hangings bearing the coats of arms of the kings, and tapestries, window and low portals of the guards also have been copied in every detail.

Good Men Never Despair

But he who consecrates himself sees at once how God may sanctify the world; he whose mind is rich in the memory of moral victories will not easily believe the world a scene of moral defeats; nor was it ever known that one, who, like Paul labored for the good of man, despaired of the benevolence of God.—James Martineau.

Mutton Birds Estimate Time

From Sydney, Australia, comes word that the mutton birds, (sooty-tailed petrels) which vacation at Phillip island, Victoria, have a remarkable sense of time and year after year residents of the island await their annual migration from Siberia expectantly and each time the birds put in their appearance on the same day.

Mole Eats Every Three Hours

The mole does not limit itself to three squares a day, but is ceaselessly hunting food. It is said that this animal cannot endure hunger for more than three hours at a stretch and that no other animal is more intolerant of thirst.

Worlds Colored Champs Ploy Vagabonds Tuesday

CHICAGO "SAVOY" HOTTENTOTS OFFER STAR EXHIBITION

Are Headed By 'Smoky Joe' Lillard Former Mason City Athlete

Basketball fans of Klemme and surrounding territory are being offered the opportunity to see in action the Worlds Colored Champions the Chicago "Savoy" Hottentots, on the local floor Tuesday evening when this high-class aggregation of colored stars is booked to meet the local Vagabonds in an exhibition game.

The Hottentots are headed by "Smoky" Joe Lillard former Mason City high school athlete and member of the All-American from Oregon U. and who has a style all his own. Other members include: Arab Duckner, Howard University a trick artist in the art of handling a basketball; "Cooney" Brown, Colgate U., who is called America's greatest basketball player; "Father" Miles, the big little Giant of Monmouth college and "Fist" Carey, the fastest cutting forward in the game.

The Hottentots defeated the riginal Harlem Globe Trotters twice. They are one of the two colored teams that play national league clubs and are an associated member of the national basketball league.

The Vagabonds feel that they re exceedingly lucky in being able to book an exhibition game with the Hottentots. Perhaps the nearest game they will play near Klemme will be at Mason City, so if you enjoy watching a smooth working aggregation that really can play basketball and give plenty of entertainment, be on hand next Tuesday night.

Marshall Swift Cagers Here Monday

Monday night the Vagabonds will meet the Marshall-Swift dribblers of Mason City in a doubleheader on the local floor. This will be a real game with plenty of action as Marshall Swift has one of the strongest teams in Mason City.

VAGABONDS TRIUMPH OVER RENWICK FIVES

The Vagabonds first and second teams added another victory to the records Monday night when they triumphed over the Renwick fives on the local floor. The first team winning 36 to 27 and the seconds 27 to 21.

WATER MAIN EXTENSION ON CWA PROJECT HERE

The officials of the Town of Klemme met in a special session at the town hall Monday evening at which time they decided to extend the water mains as a CWA project. The work will start immediately.

The proposed extension will extend water mains from the Wellemeyer building west on Main street for one block. Another section will be an extension of the mains from the Park east on Main.

A graveling project was also taken up at the meeting but nothing definite was done about that at this time.

Ell Township Players Home Talent Well Attended

"Spring Waters", the home talent play put on by residents of Ell twp. at the school gym in Klemme last Thursday evening drew a packed house. The play was well put on, and the characters selected for the various parts certainly put on their parts in good style. Special numbers between acts were very good. Taken as a whole, the play was just plenty good and all are to be congratulated for their acting ability. The proceeds of the play will be used to buy play ground equipment at Ell No. 2.

JUSTICE SUCKOW CONDUCTED COURT MONDAY

Garner Case Brought To Klemme For Trial

Justice Henry Suckow conducted court at the town hall Monday afternoon on a case brought down from Garner.

M. L. McCormick was the plaintiff in the case and Alfred Peterson, the defendant. The story we gather is that sometime last summer Mr. Peterson was driving cattle across Highway No. 15 south of Forest City, and Mr. McCormick who was driving north ran into the cattle, damaging his car. McCormick was suing Peterson for damages done to the car. Peterson presented a counter claim for two cattle killed in the mix-up. A jury of six men heard the evidence given. No damages were awarded to either the plaintiff or the defendant, but the jury decided that the defendant should pay the costs of the trial.

CALENDAR OF COMING LOCAL EVENTS

Thursday afternon a basketball team from the Clarion Grade school will play the Klemme grade team after school here.

This Thursday afternoon the M. E. Ladies Aid Society meets with Mrs. Pavey and Mrs. Keraus as hostesses.

Friday evening the Ell Township Farm Bureau meets at the Klemme School. Madison township will put on a play. The public is invited.

Friday evening both the High School and Town teams go to Corwith to play basketball teams there.

Friday evening the Eastern Star meets at Garner. All local members invited.

Monday evening the Vagabond's basketball team will play Marshall Swift's of Mason City on the local floor.

Tuesday evening the World's Colored Champions, the Chicago Savoy Hottentots will play an exhibition game with the Klemme Vagabonds on the local floor.

COUNTY CORN-HOG SCHOOL WAS HELD AT GARNER

Twp. Workers Receive Directions Concerning Sign-up Campaign

Hancock county corn-hog committeemen received interpretations of Administrative Rulings, directions for filling out contracts and suggestions for conducting the sign-up campaign in a training school in Garner, January 13.

The meeting was called for township committeemen and representatives by S. J. Oberhauser, county agent and official representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. F. W. Stover, state fieldman, and A W. Rudnick of the Iowa Extension Service, discussed the rulings and contracts.

Ben Greiman, county chairman, announced that after the two-day training school, township and county workers must thoroughly familiarize themselves with the contracts.

As part of the school the committeemen filled out sample work sheets, forms for supporting evidence, maps of farms and contracts.

Community meetings, open to all farmers, are being held this week where leaders and county agent will explain the administrative rulings and contract. Farmers will receive notices of these meetings this week.

Sign-up days will be held later in each school district where farmers interested may sign the adjustment contracts. County agents, extension workers and fieldmen will assist with as many of these local sign-up days as possible.

The first form the farmer will fill in is the preliminary work sheet This includes data concerning crop and hog production of the of the past two years and a history of the uses of the rented land during the past five years. After this data is carefully checked over it is later transferred to the contract before the producer signs.

A producer's statement of supporting evidence is also filled out. To this on the sign-up day, the farmer attaches any sales slips or weight certificates available to confirm the production figures placed on contract.

A simple map of the farm and contracted acres is then filled out. The contracting party is then ready to fill in the figures from the work sheet, complete the contract and sign it. Those in charge of the sign-up day will help producers in filling out the contracts and in interpreting its terms.

Mr. Oberhauser, Mr. Rudnick and Mr. Stover in explaining the administrative rulings, gave answers to numerous questions including the following:

Rented acres may be used for seeding additional permanent pasture, for soil improving crops, such as legumes, for fallowing and weed control or for planting farm woodlots. Permanent pasture seeded with a nurse crop cannot be grazed in 1934; Seeded without a nurse crop it may be grazed. In no case can a hay crop be cut. Soil improving crops cannot be harvested. The rented acres may consist of land now in sod if it is a part of the rotation system and has been in corn during the past five years.

Landlords wishing to sign contracts who have not yet secured a tenant for 1934, may sign the contract and leave it on file until the tenant is secured.

The hog base—number the farmer can raise in 1934—is 75 percent of the average number of litters and number of pigs marketed in 1932-33.

The producer must reduce his corn acreage at least 20 percent under the average of the past two years. He can reduce and receive rental on an acreage up to 30 percent.

The farmer can reduce productionas much as he desires but he will receive hog payments on only 75 percent of his average production of the past two years. He can receive rental for not more than 30 percent of his corn acreage.

In the case of a crop or stock share lease both landlord and tenant must sign. The landlord gets a portion of the benefit payment equal to his porportionate share of the crop under the terms of the lease. He cannot secure more than he would have received under the 1933 lease except in cases approved by th county allotment committee. The landlord must show that the change from the 1933 lease was not made to deprive the tenant of the share of the payment he would have received were the 1933 agreement in effect this year.

In the case of cash rent, only the tenant signs the lease and the landlord gets no share of the benefit payments.

SHAMROCKS WIN TWO GAMES FROM GOODELL FIVES

The Klemme Shamrocks found their basket eye in the last quarter of a game with Goodell Friday eve and after trailing 22-11 managed to knot the count as the game ended and in the overtime period came thru with the basket that clinched the game, thus evening the score for an early season defeat on the local floor.

The Goodell team got off to an early lead which they held all thru the game. They led at the half 9-5. During the final period Brown, Shamrock guard, got hot, breaking thru the Goodell defense to ring up four field goals. Keeper, Shamrock forward, helped things along by dropping in a couple himself. With but thirty seconds left to play and the Shamrocks trailing 19-22, Boller made his fourth foul on Keeper and was forced from the game. Keeper made good on the charity shot to bring the count to 20-22 and in the closing seconds of play Brinkman tossed the ringer that tied the score. In the early part of the overtime period Jost connected for the winning basket for Klemme while Goodell was able to chalk up one charity shot ending the game with Klemme in the lead 24-23. Keraus turned in another good performance in the guard position and Drake also looked good for the Shamrocks until he was forced from the game via the foul route.

In the Reserve game Goodell started off with a bang and led at the quarter 6 to 1. Keeper was then substituted into the game and started the ball rolling with a field goal right off the bat. From then on the Klemme boys could not be stopped and they piled up a score of 17-8 as the game ended.

Klemme Post Master Wed To Renwick Young Lady

ROYAL NEIGHBORS INSTALLED NEW OFFICERS

The Royal Neighbors met at the lodge room last Friday at which time the new officers for 1934 were duly installed. Mrs. A. R. White was installing officer and Mrs. J. N. Day the installing marshall. Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

GREIMANS HAVE KILLED 22 FOXES THIS WINTER

At this writing there are twenty-two less foxes in this vicinity. Bill Greiman and sons have shot nine, Ben Greiman and son, Floyd, have killed seven and Aaron Grieman hs accounted for six, which brings the total up to twenty-two and plenty of time to shoot more this winter.

Foxes are becoming quite numerous in this community. It's a good thing to get rid of them as they are destroyers of pheasants, praire chicken, quail, rabbits and even like to capture a barnyard fowl. It's a real job to hunt them and as there is no bounty on them all they are worth is the pelt, or about $5.

Birthday Dinner For Max Barz

Sunday Lena Schroeder had a birthday dinner in honor of Max Barz, whose birthday was on Tuesday of this week. Those who enjoyed the goose dinner with Max were Mr. and Mrs. John Bock and son, Mitchll; Rev. and Mrs. Grosshuesch and children; Miss Adela Schroeder and two friends from Alexander; Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Dulmes and their guest, Dr Thompson, of Little Rock; Clarence Brouwer and Dr. H. G. Voetberg. Max says it was a great day and his guests all enjoyed the very fine dinner.

NEW POST MASTER TO BE APPOINTED HERE

Frank Gibbs, who has been post master here now for some time and whose term would expire in 1936, has resigned his position, and is now at Sioux City where he will complete his college work.

A new post master will be named to fill the vacancy caused by Gibb's resignation. At the time of this writing the acting post master has not been named. As the Democrats are in power it will naturally fall to a Democrat to be named as acting post maste, and as there are but three Democrats in Klemme, you have three guesses.

MALLARD DUCKS SEEN HERE IN JANUARY

Quentin Stille reports something unusual and interesting to hunters. Sunday he was with Kermit Stille hunting rabbits six miles west of Klemme when they scared up three mallard ducks which were feeding in a corn field about forty rods from the river. There is no open water in that vicinity and so the incident is quite unusual.

Mrs Thada Was Hostess To U-Delt Bridge Club

The U-Delt-Em Bridge Club met at the home of Ms. W. L. Thada last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. C. G. Waterman won the traveling prize and also the high prize for the afternoon. Mrs. Dulmes won low score. At the close of bridge playing the hostess served a delicious lunch.

SECRET MARRIAGE OF YOUNG COUPLE IS ANNOUNCED

Miss Blanche Gimer And Frank E. Gibbs Married Last Summer

Announcement is made of the secret marriage of Miss Blanche Gimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gimer, of Renwick, and Mr. Frank Gibbs, postmaser of Klemme, Iowa, which took place last Jul, in Missouri.

The bride was born in Klemme attending the grade and high school here with the exception of the last half of her Senior year in high school, when she moved with her parents to Renwick where she graduated with the class of '32. She attended the Junior College at Eagle Grove for one year and last fall entered Iowa State college at Ames, where she was taking a Home Economics course. She was also taking Glee Club work and was a pledge of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority.

Mr. Gibbs likewise is a product of Klemme and after completing his school work here attended Morningside College at Sioux City for three years and then went to State Teachers College at Cedar Falls where he completed a half year of work and was then called home by the death of his mother, who was postmistress at that time. He was appointed as post master and has held this position until about a week ago when he resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs have moved to Sioux City where Mr. Gibbs will complete his college work with the plan in mind of taking up teaching work next fall.

They will be at home in Sioux City after February 1st at 3825 Orleans Ave.

The Times takes this opportunity to join the many friends of this young couple in extending best wishes for a happy future.

Through the relief work sponsored by the American Legion and the Red Cross and the C. W. A., aid has been given to about a dozen fmilies, including fifty some children. Employment has been given to one woman who is busy repairing and making over old clothing.

Much happiness has been brought to these families through the work. We can use more clothing, as we have calls every few days. If you have some in your community needing a little help please let us know.

We have tried to get in touch with all in the surrounding territory. We wish to thank all who so kindly made donations to aid in this great work.

OXLEY IS OUT FOR OFFICE OF SUPERVISOR

Fred J. Oxley, present chairman of the Hancock county Board of Supervisors, is a candidate for the republican nomination to succeed himself as supervisor for the term beginning Jan. 1, 1936.

Mr. Oxley needs no introduction to the people of Hancock county. He is running on his past record in office, and that cvers quite a period of time. In 1893 Mr. Oxley was elected Supervisor and served for nine years. Then for a time he was out of office. At the present time he is serving his tenth year as supervisor and so he has a total of nearly 19 years as a Supervisor.

Sun Shone For 1st Time This Year

Lesson for January 21

JESUS BEGINS HIS MINISTRY

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:12-25.

GOLDEN TEXT—From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. Matthew 4.17.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Finds Some Helpers

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Began His Work.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Begins His Life Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Threefold Ministry of Jesus.

Matthew's purpose was to present Jesus the Messiah as king. Strictly speaking his official ministry began at his baptism. So far as his preaching was concerned the present lesson is properly designated 'Jesus Begins His Ministry"

I. The King His Own Herald (vv. 12-17)

1. The reason for this (v. 12). The news of the imprisonment of John the Baptist caused Jesus to forsake Judea and go into Galilee. The fate of John was accepted by Jesus as foreshadowing his own death. This was an act of prudence on his part. When the people reject the truth and attempt to do violence to the messenger, there should be a turning from them unless specifically directed otherwise.

2. To whom the proclamation was made (vv 13-16) It was to the people at Capernaum in fulfillment of Isaiah's prophecy (Isa 9:1, 2). This is a section of the country most overrun by the warring nations and therefore most exposed to the blighting effects of war. Thus we see that the darkest and most corrupt of the provinces was first in getting the light. In this we see a foreshadowing of the present age when the gospel of the grace of God is being preached to the Gentiles. It is just like Jesus our Lord to extend his grace to the lowest and most despised peoples. He came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

3. His message (v. 17). "Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." This is the same kingdom which John the Baptist and the Old Testament prophets proclaimed. It means the messianic earth rule of Jesus Christ. The time is coming when heralds will again announce the coming of the kingdom and the King himself will come forth from the heavens to establi h his mediatorial kingdom. It is for this we pray when we intelligently say "Thy kingdom come."

II. The King Calling to Himself Assistants (vv 18-22)

1. His command of authority (vv. 18, 19) He did not try to persuade them by the use of arguments but issued a mandate. To command is the prerogative of a king.

2. The station of the servants called (vv 18, 21) They were men of lowly birth and occupation—fishermen These men were busily engaged in service when the Lord issued the call.

3. To what they were called (v. 19) They were called to definite service. "I will make you fishers of men." He had previously called them to be disciples (John 1:36-42). He now called them to service. The qualities which made for good fishers of fish—patience, bravery to face the storm and the night, the perseverance which toiled all night though no fish were caught—would make them good fishers of men.

4. Their prompt obedience (vv 20, 22). They put their trust in him who called, believing that he was able to supply their needs. When the king commands there is no time for delay.

III. The King's Triumphant Progress. (vv. 23-25).

He went the whole rounds of Galilee teaching the Scriptures, preaching the gospel of the kingdom and healing all manner of diseases. He did a threefold work

1. Teaching the Scriptures in the synagogues (v 23). The revelation of God needed to be explained. This is what he was doing in Nazareth (Luke 4:16-22). Such is the primary business of every Sunday school teacher and minister.

2. Preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom (v. 23). The king who was then present and was heralding his own mission, was ready to establish his kingdom if they had been willing to receive him.

3. Healing all manner of diseases (vv. 23-25) There was no form of disease which he could not cure, and so abundant was his success that "his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them."

The Great Secret

To the man without faith the universe seems to be a gigantic, merciless, grinding machine, but to us who have learned the secret of the Lord it is our Father's House, in which not a sparrow falls to the ground without

Prairie Chickens Seen

Monday the writer was out with a hunting party and it looked like old times when we saw flocks of prairie chickens in flight. One flock we saw would number close to one hundred birds and another flock was about half that large. A small covy of quail were seen as well as plenty of pheasants. Cotton tails are none to numerous while jack rabbits seem to be more plentiful this year.

LOST 20 LBS OF FAT
IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at P. M. Wilson's or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

RENWICK "A" AND "B" SQUADS DEFEAT SHAMROCK FIVES

The Klemme High school first and second teams went down in defeat Tuesday night on the local floor before the superior attack of the Renwick high school squad.

The Klemme Reserves lost their game 10-15 to the Renwick seconds in a slow uninteresting battle.

The Renwick regulars got off to an early lead which they held all during the game. The Shamrocks were seemingly outclassed by a large margin and were unable to gain any headway. Arnold, reserve guard, showed more fight than the rest of the team together. Renwick plays went thru the Klemme defense like water thru a sieve and by the time the game was over Renwick had run up a score of 36-17.

QUESTIONS ASKED IN WORK SHEET OF CORN-HOG PROGRAM

Do you know how many acres were in field corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, sorghum and other grain crops in 1932 and 1933 on the farm you will operate in 1934?

How many acres of soybeans, cowpeas, pasture, tame and wild hay did you grow?

How many acres were idle crop land, how many in wood or waste land, how many in lanes or taken out for buildings?

These are some of the questions you will be called upon to answer in filling out the work sheet which will be sent to all farmers of Hancock county soon as the first step in the actuaal sign-up of the corn-hog reduction contract. Among other things asked is the production and use of the corn grown on the farm during the 2-year base period whether it was harvested for gain, hogged off, cut for silage, or fed green; also what crops have been grown the past few years on the land you will contract to the government and what the yields have been.

In regard to hogs, growers will be asked to give on the work sheet figures showing the number of litters farrowed in both spring and fall of 1932 and 1933; the number of hogs raised and marketed or to be marketed from these litters; hogs sold as stockers or feeders or for breeding purposes; hogs slaughtered or to be slaughtered for use on the farm; the number retained for breeding purposes, and the feeder hogs bought and marketed.

Information of this type is necessary in order to arrive at a fair basis for production allotments for the individual contract signers for 1934. The same information will be asked of non-signers in order to provide a basis of judgement for county allotment committees. Every farmer is urged to obtain the information if he does not already have it, as it will mean much in expiditing the work when contracts are offered producers.

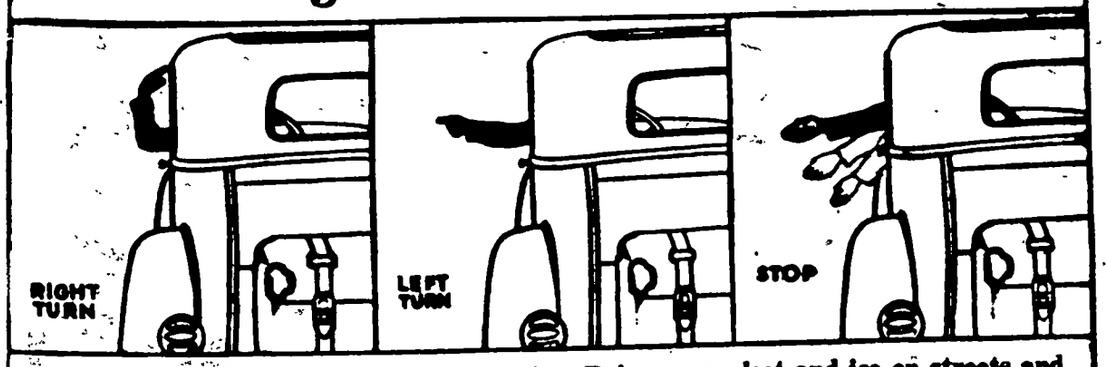
Signal for Safety



THE slippery street season is here again. Rain, snow, sleet and ice on streets and highways call for greater care on the part of all drivers. Consider the fellow behind you. He can't read your mind. You owe him the courtesy of indicating your change of course. Form the habit of signaling your intentions. It may save you from a costly rear-end collision.

Klemme Grade News

Grades 7 and 8

Our attendance records show that Raeben Grosshuesch, Doris Johnson LaRayne Stille, Irene Suckow, Ruth Blickenderfer, Buster Jorgenson, Juanita Pavy and Wayne Shoafstall have been neither absent nor tardy the past six weeks.

Buster Jorgenson is the only one in our room who has been neither absent nor tardy the whole semester.

Doris Johnson has not missed a word in spelling this year.

The seventh grade dropped Hygiene at the end of the first semester and are now taking history.

Grades 5 and 6

The following people in grade five were neither absent nor tardy this six weeks: Allen Barz, Fritz Gobeli, Keith Stille, Elsie Drake, Shirley Johnson, Zeola Johnson, Wanda Jean Kuck, Jacqueline Kudje, and Marjorie Lemke.

Those in the sixth grade were: Wayne Buseman, Dorance Grange, Dwaine Johnson, Arlene Blickenderfer, Maxine Shoafstall and Marian Waterman.

Keith Stille, Elsie Drake, Zeola Johnson, Dwaine Johnson, Arlene Blickenderfer and Marian Waterman have been neither absent nor tardy for the first semester.

Grades 1 and 2

The 2nd grade had a test over the addition facts.

Laurence, Wesley, Barbara, Julia Mavis, Eunice and Corrine had 100 in spelling for the week.

Both grades drew illustrations for their Eskimo stories. The 2nd grade are planning a scrap book for this study.

Our room will have a new schedule to follow this semester.

We were all weighed again to find how much we are gaining.

Dr. Bradshaw, Dentist. Tel 49 tc

D. L. Hunter was at Nora Springs Saturday on business.

Allie White went to the hospital at Hampton Monday moning to receive treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thada are entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Bradshaw as dinner guests this evening.

Miss Agnes Galbreth spent Saturday evening and Sunday visiting at Garner with Miss Norma Barz.

News is very scarce this week. Most of the Klemme folk are spending the evenings at home.

Richard Ax has gone out of the portable feed grinding business and we understand he has sold his truck to Gilbert Jones of Belmond.

Dr. R. E. Thompson, a dentist of Little Rock, Iowa, came Saturday evening and visited over Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Dulmes.

Miss Dora Swanson has resigned her position as teacher in El no. 7 and Miss Jane Dutheridge has been hired to finish the term.

Miss Elaine Buntenbach had a birthday Monday and to help her celebrate the ocassion she invited in Carmen Kluckhohn and Emily Paul for dinner that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hunter entertained a number of friends at a bridge party last Wednesday evening. After the games a delicious lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Arnold moved into their apartments over the State Savings Bank building last Thursday and are now comfortably settled.

Lyl Liebendorfer and son, Robert of Mason City, and Dean Hiltman of Clear Lake spent Sunday afternoon visiting at the R. A. Jorgenson home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and Marian; Mrs. Rose Horecka and daughter, Helen, and Mr. Pollack of Garner were Sunday dinner guests at the C. F. Keraus home.

Mrs. Fred Ridder entertained a number of ladies at her home Thursday afternoon to a quilting party. A delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Harvey and daughter, Enid, of Mason City were guests.

A big crowd from here drove to Belmond last Thursday evening to see the Klemme high school first and second teams both win a victory over the Goodell basket ball teams.

The youngsters had a good time over the week end, skating and skiing. It was so icy last week that it was very dangerous for cars but the children thought it was just O. K. for their stunts of merriment.

The walls at the creamery were replastered last week, as much of the old plaster had come loose on account of the steam. Manager Mueller says that later the interior will be given a finish of waterproof paint.

The Royal Neighbors held their monthly card party Tuesday evening and owing to so many other events the same evening, there were just four tables at play. Bridge was played. Mrs. P. M. Wilson held high score, while Mrs. Dulmes was low for the ladies and Dale Swartz on high and his father won low for the men. A very nice lunch was served and all present had a fine time.

The Methodist Ladies Aid meets Thursday afternoon at the church. The sewing committee announces that a quilt will be on the frames and members are requested to bring their thimbles and come early and sew. Mrs. Keraus and Mrs. Pavey are hostesses.

Several neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Viola Freie last week Wednesday afternoon and surprised Mrs. Jacob Pals in honor of her marriage. The afternoon was spent socially and a very delicious lunch was served by the many guests. They presented Mrs. Pals with a beautiful occassional chair.

A. D. Gimer, of Renwick, stopped at the Times Office for a short visit last Wednesday evening. Mr. Gimer informed us that his new creamery is doing a good business and that they are kept real busy. Besides his son, Harl, they also have a buttermaker employed at the creamery. Art brought us a couple of pounds of his butter, and we can say that he has lost none of his art since he left Klemme.

KLEMME MEN GET TASTE OF FOX HUNTING

Monday morning a call came into the Times Office from the John Bock farm east of town with the exciting news that a fox had been spotted in a plowed field nearby. Would we round up some hunters? We did! In the fox hunting party was Paul Grange, Ben Greiman and son, Floyd, John Bock and son, Mitchell, and Ye Editor. The information was correct, the fox was roasted out and the chase started. What a chase! To make a long story short Ben Greiman got in a couple of hard hitting shots and after the fox had lead the hunting party over eight sections of land, he was finally killed a half mile west of Bob Roth's place. We have a lot of respect for Mr. Fox. He can carry a lt of lead and still keep going. If we ever had use for four legs, we could have used an extra pair Monday morning. We know now that when a fox is shot the lucky hunter has certainly EARNED the reward.

ocal Farmer Candidate For County Supervisor

GEORGE ZINN IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SUPERVISOR

Dr. George Zinn, retired Klemme physician, is this week announcing that he is a candidate for the office of Supervisor for the term beginning January 1, 1935, on the republican ticket.

Dr. Zinn is a long time resident of Hancock County and has been a land owner for a great number of years. Dr. Zinn is as well qualified for the office seeks as any man in Hancock county. He has the qualifications needed for a supervisor: business ability, the views of a large tax-payer, the experiences of a farmer and land owner who is in a large drainage district. The voters of Hancock County will have to look a long time before they will find a better man for the office.

Dr. Zinn is well known all over the county and will make a thorough campaign.

GOODELL YOUNG COUPLE WED HERE MONDAY

Miss Connie Jacobsen and Mr. Henry Kamp, both of the Goodell territory, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Reformed Parsonage in Klemme Monday afternoon. Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch performed the ceremony.

The couple will live on a farm two miles west of Goodell where the groom will farm in partnership with his brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Watermiller.

FERN PECK KATTER IS AGAIN CANDIDATE FOR RECORDER

Fern Peck Katter, present county recorder, is this week announcing that she will be a candidate to succeed herself to the office of recorder of Hancock county.

Mrs. Katter has served efficiently and her past record in office is a open book. She has a wide acquaintance over the county and no doubt her many friends will again rally to her support.

Mrs. Katter's announcement will be found in the regular column of this issue.

210 Studying Tax Delinquencies

About 210 men and women are at work on a survey of farm land values, tax delinquencies and mortgage foreclosures in 70 Iowa counties under a CWA project.

Tax delinquency data will go back only five years. Farm land value and mortgage foreclosure data will go back to 1920 and 1900 if there is time. Farm land value data will be collected in one township of each county. The remaining 29 counties will be ready to start work by the end of the week.

MRS. BREDBENNER'S HOME WAS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Blaze Originating In Chimney Is Thought Cause Of Blaze

The fire department was called to the home of Mrs. Martha Bredbenner Thursday morning when neighbors saw smoke coming out of the side of the house. Mrs. Bredbenner is employed at the Day Store and had been away from the house for a short time.

The house was dense with smoke and volunteers arriving early concentrated their efforts on getting household goods and personal belongings out of the smoke filled house. Firemen found the blaze in an upstairs room near the chimney and used chemicals to extinguish the blaze. Water had to be used to get at the blaze further back in the walls.

Household goods, clothing and other belongings were quite badly damaged by smoke. A small section of floor was burned out in the upstairs room and water caused some damage. The house and household goods were insured.

Mrs. Bredbenner wishes to thank the fire company and all who helped in saving her belongings.

SOYBEANS ONE OF BEST IOWA EMERGENCY CROPS

Popularity Seen In Fact That The Acreage Nearly Doubled Last Year

Soybeans are an excellent emergency crop for Iowa and have been very popular during the present emergency in agriculture. In areas where they have been used as a "fill in" crop, however, they do not seem to fit in well with a permanent cropping program.

These conclusions are reached by Albert Mighell, research agricultural economist at Iowa State College, in a bulletin to be published soon by the agricultural economics and farm crops sections of the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station.

Since 1919, when only 471 acres of soybeans were grown in Iowa, the acreage has increased to about 300,000 in 1933. In 1932 about 185,000 acres were grown in the state. This phenomenal growth in one crop has not been seen in Iowa's history since the passing of free land.

The near doubling of the acreage in the past year shows the importance of the crop for emergency purposes. Soy-beans compete well with other crops on acid soils of relatively low natural fertility. On rolling land soybeans are not usually suitable, as they loosen the soil and make erosion easy. On sweet soil they can seldom compete with sweet clover or alfalfa.

But soybeans hold undisputed sway in Iowa as a crop to substtute late in the season for grain or hay crops which have failed because of washing out, ravages of insects, hail or some other cause. Soybeans usually have been a good cash crop. They ordinarily require less cash outlay during bad times than other crops and, in addition, provide a good home-grown, high-protein feed.

Soybeans are not a difficult crop to grow, and few crop failures are reported. They stand drouth well, but are likely to get behind the weeds when rainfall is heavy. Soybeans will sometimes produce well without inoculation on good soil, but farmers should realize that when this is done the crop is pulling nitrogen from the soil instead of from the air.

In both northern and southern Iowa it is more economical to plant soybeans with a four-row drill or a grain drill than it is with a broadcaster corn planter or endgate seeder, experiments have shown.

Government Spending
Editorials Present Both Views

For Spending

THE CASE FOR ROOSEVELT'S PLAN

Wisconsin State Journal: A nation that is going ten billion dollars into debt in one year certainly is going somewhere at a prodigious rate. Some of the people at Washington think we are headed straight for recovery, and others think that we ae plunging down a steep place into the sea.

Before the rest of us give way either to encouragement or to fright, it would pay us to stop and figure just what the implications of this titanic spending may be.

The first thing one thinks of is the World war. We spent at a greater rate than this during the war, and we kept it up longer, and we came out of it without cracking under the strain.

Furthermore, there is not the slightest doubt that, if we were at war today, sums of this size would be voted without any misgivings at all.

That being so, why not compare our present situation to a war-time crisis? The comparison is a perfectly proper one.

What is at stake in a war? National existence may be at stake—though that was not the case with us in the World war, nor in the war with Spain.

Money, national honor, national influence, certain intangible considerations that bulk large or small, depending on how you look at them—these were the things that went into the balance when we got into our last war.

What is at stake now?

Well—a lot of things; our faith in our form of government and our social structure, our belief in ourselves, our dream of democracy and our vision of destiny, the happiness and comfort of many millions of people; a total far greater than anything we risked by going to war with the German empire.

If it was proper to spend at an unheard-of rate to beat the kaiser, is it not infinitely more proper to spend at an equal rate today to save the things which all Americans hold most dear?

There is still another angle to it.

The money we spent in 1917 and 1918 was spent for purposes of destruction. When we got through, we had nothing to show for it.

A shell that has exploded, a ship that has gone to the bottom, a man that has been turned into a corpse—these are not, in any economy, dividend-producing items. They are what our millions bought in the World war.

Today we are spending to build things. We are building highways and bridges and dams and towns and homes, we are spending to strengthen banks and railroads and farms and factories, we are spending to make men and women and children strong and healthy and courageous. We shall have all these things when the spending is over.

Can any American doubt that these possessions will make simpler the task of paying back what we are borrowing?

Against Spending

SPENDING OURSELVES RICH

Los Angeles Times: Sixteen and a half billions of dollars!

That is the sum for which the president of the United States calmly announces he proposes obligating the people of this country during the next 18 months, approximately doubling the whole national debt.

It is a sum which staggers the imagination. Because it is beyond the mental perview of any save a mathematical expert, the long string of ciphers may lull into temporary anesthesia a public upon whom this necklace of debt millstones is about to be fastened.

"The president," it is announced "perceives no cause for alarm or uneasiness in the face of such unprecented expenditures."

Regardless of the opinion of any individual, the fact remains that $16,500,000,000, which we haven't got and which must be borrowed, is to be spent and the only way it can possibly be honestly repaid is from the pockets of the taxpayers. If the taxpayers haven't the money (and where in Heaven's name will they get it?) they, in their governmental capacity, become insolvent, just as any business or individual spending more than is earned must eventually face the bar of repudiation in the court of bankruptcy.

It is proposed, in effect, to demonstrate the fallacy of an elemental rule of mathematics that a weight may not be moved by its own force. The more familiar expression is that one cannot lift himself by his own bootstraps.

Mathematical facts, however, are not fallacious, and thinking does not make them so.

The Times is no alarmist. Often, during the past 10 months, it has urged every practical consideration for the plans of the administration. Again and again it has cautioned not to rock the boat. Though pointing out that they were contrary to all recognized principles of sound business, it has expressed the hope that somehow, some way, the "Brain Trust's" extraordinary programs would succeed. But when this astounding proposition to spend ourselves rich in 18 months on 16 billion dollars of borrowed money is so definitely presented, The Times is bound to sound a note of solemn warning. It could do no less and keep the faith.

Does the administration include in its apparent belief in miracles a conviction that Aladdin's Lamp has come into the possession of the United States? Is it possible that those placed in high seats of authority by the suffrage of the people imagine that currency may be made to pour from a printing press that is as good as the basic metal upon which the credit of the world rests? Can it be that a quiescent public is to be lulled to sleep by the purr of these presses and fail to realize the certain coming of the day of settlement?

To presidents like Calvin Coolidge money was something to be

HANCOCK CO. CO-OP. OIL CO. DECLARED DIVIDENDS

One hundred and fifty stockholders of the Hancock County Co-operative Oil Association attended the annual meeting held at the I. O. O. F. hall at Garner Monday. Chris H. Nelson, president, presided at the meeting and W. J. Barz, manager and treasurer since the organization three and one-half years ago, gave a report on the year's business.

Mr. Barz said the past year had showed a marked increase in business over previous years and that the company was entirely free of encumbrance. A stock dividend of 8 per cent was paid to the 303 stockholders and a patronage dividend of 10 per cent was paid.

The company has service stations at Klemme and Garner, bulk station warehouse and office in Garner while four tank men are employed besides station attendants. Directors elected are: Art Kluckhohn, L. A. Grell, Fred Greiman, Jr. and Carl Wolwood Jr. The two latter elected replace W. J. Anderson and I. V. Rasmus.

More Information Given Of Interst To Farmers

HANCOCK COUNTY FARMERS TO SIGN CONTRACTS SOON

Community Sign-Up Schedule Is Announced by County Agent

Hancock County farmers will have their first opportunity to sign corn-hog production control contracts to help bring back fair exchange value of farm products the latter part of this week or the first of next week, S. J. Oberhauser Co. Agent, said today.

Local community or township sign-up days have not been scheduled definitely. A committeeman from each township will meet this week on Tuesday, January 23 and decide on a definite procedure for the county sign-up.

During the sign-up days every farmer in Hancock county will have an opportunity to sign a corn-hog contract and farmers will be notified as to the time and the place of sign-up meetings in their respective districts.

He said that each farmer should bring with him the preliminary work sheet, already filled out, the producers' statement of supporting evidence, the map of his farm, and other documentary evidence needed before signing a contract. Members of the township or community sign-up committees will be present to assist in checking these documents.

Farms will be divided into five general groups and a specially trained worker will assist farmers in filling out contracts covering farms in the more complicated classification.

Mr. Oberhauser emphasized two points in regard to the sign up campaign:

Farmers should work closely with their local corn-hog committees to insure that the various blank forms will be filled out properly in the beginning.

Corn and hog farmers should make every effort to turn in conservative and accurate production records.

CORN-HOG CAMPAIGN EXPENSE DEPENDS ON COUNTY ASSN.

The expense of administering the corn-hog program in Hancock Co. will be determined by members of the corn-hog production control association which will be formed as soon as sign-up days are over and contract signers meet to form the association, according to S. J. Oberhauser, County Agent.

No expenses will be taken from farmer's benefit payments until after the county organization is formed and then only for necessary expenses. The contract provides that local county expenses be taken from the benefit payments on corn and hogs. However, this will be a nominal amount in proportion to the total payment. He added that the county association should be careful not to run expenses too high since the expense of running the program in Hancock County depends upon how much the county association spends.

These expenses will be pro-rated among the producers on the basis of the number of acres of corn and the number of hogs on which they receive benefit payments. In the larger wheat producing areas the expense of the county associations averaged around one cent a bushel and in some cases less.

The producer may easily figure the approximate benefits which he will receive by cooperating with the government in signing a corn-hog contract. From this amount it will be necessary to subtract the county administrative expenses of the county corn-hog control association. These expenses, however, will be determined largely by the producers themselves through membership in their association.

Mr. Oberhauser called statements that the local administration costs might require more than a fifth or more of the total payments either "mis-information" or "Malicious propaganda".

The administrative rulings covering the contract say that the board of directors of the county association, elected by famers who sign contracts, will determine the costs. These costs will vary among counties according to the accuracy of statements made by signers, the efficiency of local workers selected by the signers, the amount paid local workers after the permanent association is formed, and the amount of corn and hogs going under contract.

The larger the corn acreage and the more hogs placed under contract the smaller will be the expense per farmer since it will be spread over a larger number.

JOHN MAY, KANAWHA FARMER CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

John May, who resides on a farm one mile west of Kanawha, is a candidate for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County on the republican ticket. He is seeking office for the term beginning January 1, 1935.

Mr. May has lived in this county ten years. Five years of that period he resided in the Corwith territory. He has always been interested in public affairs, and has served as president of the school board in Magor township for two years. However, this is his first attempt at campaigning for a county office. He states that he will make a thorough canvass of the county and hopes to meet all of the voters.

Mr. May's announcement will be found in the announcement column of this issue.

Pass It Around, Walt!

This sounds "fishy" but Walt Thada and Henry Lewis were telling around Monday that they saw angle worms on the sidewalk. Do you believe it? Neither do we.

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT Matthew 5.1-48

GOLDEN TEXT Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God Matthew 5 8

PRIMARY TOPIC Jesus Teaches the People

JUNIOR TOPIC Jesus' Rules for Right Living

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Following Christ's Ideals.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Christian According to Christ.

I. The Characteristics of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv 1-12).

Those who are members of Christ's kingdom must possess character consistent with the mture of the king.

1. The consciousness of utter spiritual poverty (v 3). "Poor in spirit" does not mean to be without money (Isa. 66.2), but to come to the end of self in a state of absolute spiritual beggary, having no power to alter one's condition or to make oneself better

2. Profound grief because of spiritual insolvency (v 4). The mourning here is not because of external grief but because of the keen consciousness of personal guilt before a holy God.

3. Humble submission to God's will (v 5). This meekness is an outgrowth of mourning over spiritual insolvency

4. An anxious longing to conform to the laws of the kingdom (v. 6) The one who has received the righteousness of Christ as a free gift follows after the purity of character which expresses itself in deeds of righteousness.

5 Merciful (v. 7). Subjects of the kingdom now take on the character of the king. He was the pre-eminently merciful one.

6. Purity of heart (v 8). Since Christ the king is absolutely pure his subjects must have purity in order to enjoy fellowship with him.

7 Peacemakers (v. 9). The one who has received the peace of God through Jesus Christ will not only be at peace with his fellows but will diffuse peace to others.

8. Suffering for Christ's sake (v. 10) The world hated Christ the king. Therefore those who reflect his spirit in their lives shall suffer persecution (II Tim 3:12)

9. Suffer reproach (vv. 11, 12). To have all manner of evil spoken against one falsely for Christ's sake is an occasion for glorying.

II The Responsibilities of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 13-16).

The subjects of the kingdom are to live such lives as to purify and enlighten those around them. Their responsibilities are set forth under the figures of salt and light.

1. Ye are the salt of the earth (v. 13). The properties of salt are (a) penetrating; (b) purifying; (c) preserving.

Since salt only preserves and purifies in the measure that it penetrates, so Christians only, as they enter into the life of the world, can preserve it from decay.

2. Ye are the light of the world (vv. 14-16) The subjects of the kingdom should so live as to prevent the unwary from stumbling and falling.

III. The Laws of the Kingdom (vv. 20-48).

1 As to deeds of righteousness (v. 20). The deeds of the subjects of the kingdom must spring out of natures which are like Christ's.

2. As to sanctity of life (vv. 21-26). The duty of the subject of the kingdom is to conserve and sustain his own life and the lives of others.

3. As to organized life (vv 27-32). The family is the unit of society. The two awful sins against the family are:

a Adultery (vv. 27-30).

b. Divorces (vv. 31, 32).

4. As to oaths (vv. 33-37) Speech is the absolute test of character. The truth, and that alone, is to be uttered by a subject of the kingdom.

5. As to behavior toward those who do not recognize the laws of the kingdom (vv 38-48).

a. Not revengeful (vv. 39, 40). Turning the other cheek after being smitten, means, after one insult prepare for another without revenge.

b Willingness to do more than is required (v 41) Rather than quarrel with a man for causing you to do that which you cannot help, show willingness to do more.

c. Be charitable (v. 42). Our hearts should always be open, ready to give to all, worthy or unworthy.

d. Love enemies (vv. 45-48) Love to our enemies consists in:

(1) Blessing them that curse us; (2) doing good to them that hate us; (3) praying for those who despitefully use us. Such behavior affords the positive proof that we are God's children.

Wasting Life

Many a person wastes much of life waiting for an opportunity to do some great thing. While thus waiting for large opportunities, they overlook the little daily duties, the doing of which will inevitably fit us for the accomplishment of greater tasks.

come by before it could be spent; a debt something to be solemnly undertaken only when absolutely unavoidable and to be repaid at the earliest possible moment. That has been the attitude of all our great leaders down to Wilson and Hoover who abhorred debt even while piling it up to fight a great war and who grew gray in devising ways and means of reducing that which so oppressed.

The suggestion that such a debt as that it is proposed to incur may act as a soporific upon the public is more than a mere figure of speech. It would be impossible to inject such huge sums into the life stream of the body economic without bringing about an immediate and apparently favorable reaction, exactly as a shot in the arm stimulates a sick man into a temporary sense of energy and well-being. When its effects wear off he is worse than before and greater doses of the stimulant are required again to produce the counterfeit semblance of health, until ultimately comes collapse.

When the effect of this huge financial stimulation has worn off—what? Where do we go from there? Our billions spent, the notes remain to be paid. The stimulus has been temporary and deceptive, and the people will have been lulled into a sense of false security, false prosperity from which the awakening will be most painful. The "cue" is a failure; the practice is quackery; the methods are not legitimate; inflation on a great scale becomes almost inevitable in the hard-pressed effort to satisfy the insatiable demands for greater and yet greater doses of the stimulant. We are about to place a crushing mortgage on our future for the sake of an immediate apparent advantage on a scale never before duplicated in all the history of the world, not even excepting those years when nation rose against nation and Armageddon seemed near. We will reap that which we sow just as surely now as when the precept was laid down.

With all respect to the undoubted sincerity and good intent of the president and his visionary advisors, this proposed program of knocking the roof from our debt limit appears to the Times impractical, unsound and highly perilous to the financial integrity of this country and every citizen thereof. The time for pussyfooting is past. A danger signal to be effective must be displayed before instead of after the disaster.

With the recovery of nomal economic forces we are on our way back to normal conditions. Let the patient alone and he will recver after a reasonable convalesence without having his life imperiled with fantastic doses of artificial stimulants.

We cannot spend ourselves rich.

VAGABONDS WIN 2 CONTESTS WITH MASON CITY CLEANERS

The Klemme Vagabonds won two redhot sessions from the Marshall Swift team of Mason City on the local floor Monday eve..

The Vagabond Reserves won their game 29-25 in a fast contest that was forced into an overtime period when the regular playing time ended with count knotted 25-25.

The Vagabond regulars won their game 50-42 in a high scoring battle in which neither side displayed much defensive ability but both teams found the basket consistently. The Vagabonds scored three baskets on the first three tip offs and the Cleaners came back with four ringers on the next four tip-off plays.

These wins are quite a feather in the cap of the local independents as the Marshall Swift team is tied for first place in the City League at Mason City with six wins and no losses.

IOWA FALLS BASKETEERS HERE NEXT MONDAY EVE

Monday night, Jan. 29, the fast Iowa Falls independents will meet the Vagabonds on the local floor. The Iowa Falls boys have set up a good record and the game promises to be a good one.

Tuesday, Jan. 30 the locals journey to Sheffield for their annual game with the Merchants there.

KLEMME GRADERS LOST GAME WITH CLARION JUNIORS

The Klemme grade basketball team dropped their first game of the season to the fast Clarion grade dribblers 11-7. The Klemme boys were forced to play without the services of two regulars, Paul and Shoalstall, but despite this handicap put up a good performance. The Clarion boys led at the half 7-3. and the last half was played on even terms. Close guarding by both teams was a feature of the game, while the Clarion boys had a little better luck on their shots.

Jackson, of Clarion, was high with four field goals and a charity shot, while his team mate, Bowan, tossed in a field goal to complete the Clarion scoring. For Klemme Schuldt got a field goal and a gift shot, Gibbs rang up one goal and Grosshuesch and Jorgenson got a free throw apeice.

HOTTENTOTS DISPLAY CLASSY BRAND OF BASKETBALL

The Savoy Hottentots, playing the Klemme Vagabonds on the local floor Monday eve to a 47-28 score, displayed the fastest brand of basketball ever seen on the local floor. They are a group of accurate passers and all are able to hit the hoop consistently. A capacity crowd that filled the seating room to the rafters winessed their performance of basketball and merry antics.

KLEMME CAGERS DROP THREE GAMES TO CORWITH FIVES

Corwith basketball teams won a triple victory over Klemme quintets Friday night on the Corwith floor.

The Klemme high school reserves were defeated 23-22 after enjoying a 12-2 lead the first quarter. Score at the half was 13-11 and from then on the count was tied most of the time.

The high school regulars seemed unable to get started and the Corwith boys rang up 10 points before the Shamrocks counted. Corwith held the lead all the way to win by the score of 28-19.

BROODER HOUSE
Time--

It's time to be thinking about your brooder house. What shape was it in last year? What luck did you have with your chickens? Did you lose a lot of them? What caused your loss? Maybe your house was not tight, draughty and possibly the floorwas cold. Cold floors will soon lose you a lot of chicks. For a small sum insulate and double your floor. You can insulate your floor and lay another over the top for very little. A brooder house 10x12 will cost with insulation between as little as $6.50. This will insure you of a warm floor.

If your sides are in poor shape, use this insulation paper on the inside. Insulation pays. It won't take you long to save this on your little chicken bill.

We have an Up-to-date Brooder House completed---come in and look it over---

Prominent Klemme Man Died Suddenly Monday

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY FOR DR. GEORGE ZINN

Remains Sent To Hanover, Canada For Burial Beside Father

Dr. George Zinn, prominent local citizen and retired physician dropped dead at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening on one of his farms northeast of Klemme. Heart failure was the cause of his sudden death.

The news of Dr. Zinn's death came as a shock to this community. He had been in the best of health and had been greatly enjoying farm life since he sold his practice in Klemme to Dr. Dulmes last August. Dr. Zinn had been in Klemme late Monday afternoon, when he went to his farm where he was staying with his neice, Mrs. Henry Gober, husband and children, on the old Webner place. Dr. Zinn had romped with the children when he arrived home and being told by Mr. Gobert that one of his cattle seemed ill, went out in the yard with Mr. Gobert. Suddenly he said he felt faint and dropped over dead.

Dr. George Zinn was 66 years, 6 months and 22 days old at the time of his death. He was born at Coldmay, Bruce county, Ontario, Canada and his parents were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Zinn, who came to Canada from Germany.

Dr. Zinn came to Klemme over thirty years ago and practiced medicine continuously here until last August. Before coming to Klemme he practiced at Manson, Iowa. He retired to look after his extensive farming and stock raising interests in this community as he had three farms which he operated. This fall his neice, Mrs. Henry Gobert, husband and children, came from Canada to reside on the old Webner place and Doctor Zinn had planned to spend his reclining years with them.

Dr. Zinn was always interested in affairs that would benefit the community. He took a keen interest in county, state and national politics. Last week he had announced his candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County. He did his share in the building of Klemme's churches and was greatly interested in the betterment of our schools and our community in general.

Funeral services were held at the Reformed Church at 2:00 o'clock and members of the Hancock county medical society attended in a body. Dr. Zinn was a member of the Masonic fraternity and was a member of the lodge at Manson, Ia.

The remains were taken to Fort Dodge and from that point shipped to Hanover, Ontario, Canada, where services will be held and Dr. Zinn laid to rest with his father who died a few years ago at the age of 92 years.

Dr. Zinn had no immediate relatives in this community. His neice, Mrs. Henry Gobert and family of this place, Dr. Edgar Zinn and family of Fort Dodge, and Dr. and Mrs. Reuber, of Mason City, are his nearest relatives here. Other relative reside in Michigan and Canada.

Auxiliary Meets February 8th

Mrs. William Kirkwood and Mrs. Carl Wolfe are hostesses to auxiliary members Thursday, February 8th at the Kirkwood home. All members urged to be on time as there is a radio program at 2:15 which will be under the direction of Department president Mrs. Nigtemeyer.

Other programs from KOIL the same day at 6:30 p. m. and from KFJB the second Friday of each month.

REFUND AUTHORIZED ON IOWA AUTOMOBILE LICENSE FEE

Although the measure authorizing the reduction of automobile license fees for older cars has passed both houses in the Iowa legislature, the public was advised not to wait for the law to become operative to get their plates. In the first place the bill provides for refunds in each situation when more than the new 1934 rate is paid. Secondly, it will take ten days or such a matter before the law becomes effective and by that time it will be February with a $1 penalty to be paid. The reductions provided in this bill apply only to cars licensed more than three times. Fees for cars licensed the first, second and third time will be 40 cents a hundred pounds car weight plus one per cent of the list price of the car. The newly authorized reductions will be effective on the fourth and subsequent registration as follows:

For the fourth registration, the weight charge of 40 cents a hundred pounds will be unchanged. The list price will be reduced 25 percent however and the one per cent fee will be charged to 75 per cent of the list price value of the car. On the fifth registration the weight charge will remain unchanged but the one per cent fee will be charged to only 50 per cent of the list price of the car. On the sixth registration the one per cent fee will be charged to only 25 per cent of the list price of the car. On the seventh and subsequent registrations, the license fee will include only the weight charge of 40 cents a hundred pound

For example: A car registered this year the fouth time with a $500 list price and weiging 1,800 vounds would be licensed at the rate of 40 cents a hundred pounds or $7.20 plus one per cent of $375 (75 per cent of the list price) or $3.75, making a total of $10.95.

CAR OWNERS NOTICE!

The time for obtaining car licenses without penalty has been extended to February 10.

As yet the county treasurers office has received no definite information as to refunds on license already purchased.

MRS. WILIAM BREDLOW OF GARNER DIED SUNDAY

Aged Women Came to Hancock 40 Years Ago; Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church in Garner for Mrs. William Bredlow who died Sunday morning at the home o her daughter, Mrs. Herman Gast near Klemme. The Rev Ernest Hoon preached the funeral sermon. Mrs. Bredlow was a lifelong member of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Bredlow was born about 80 years ago in Germany. She came with her husband to Hancock county and settled on a farm in Liberty township some 40 years ago. Later Mr. and Mrs. Bredlow built and moved into the house now known as the Shannon home and later built the present residence of J. R. Bagge in which they lived until the poor health of Mrs. Bredlow caused them to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Albert Borchers. She is survived by her husband and her children, Franklin, Mrs. Albert Borchers and Mrs. Herman Gast.

KLEMME TEACHER IS BRIDE OF GARNER YOUNG MAN

Miss Dora Swanson and Francis Lawhorn Wed At M. E. Parsonage

Miss Dora Helen Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Swanson, who reside two miles east of Klemme, and Mr. Francis Burdette Lawhorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawhorn, of Garner, were united in marriage at the Klemme Methodist Parsonage, Saturday evening, January 27th. The ceremony was witnessed by Miss Edith Swanson, sister, and Roy Swanson, brother of the bride. Rev. John L. Ralston officiated, using the single ring ceremony.

The Bride was attired in a beautiful cream satin dress, with hat and slippers to match. The Groom wore the conventional dark suit.

Both of these fine young people are well known in this community and come from the best of families. Mrs. Lawhorn was raised in this community, receiving her education in the Klemme Schools and graduating with the Class of 1926.

She attended summer school at the State Teachers College at Cedar Falls 2 years and has taught school for the past seven years.

Mr. Lawhorn is a fine young man of good character and stands high in his community. He is the proprietor of a truck line. Mr. and Mrs. Lawhorn will make their home at Garner and will begin housekeeping in the near future.

The Times joins with the many friends of this splendid young couple in wishing them much happiness and success.

BRITT WOMAN IS RECORDER CANDIDATE

Mrs. Grace Welty, of Britt, is this week placing her announcement in the county press as a candidate for County Recorder.

Mrs. Caldwell was born and raised in Hancock county and is a daughter of the late C. D. Welty who until his death was in the piano business at Britt. Mrs. Caldwell taught school in Hancock county for four years. Her husband died six years ago and since that time she has been working in the C. P. Lewis store at Britt.

Mrs. Caldwell is well recommended by the people of Britt who know her well. She will make a thorough campaign and will endeavor to see all of the voters.

YOUNG KLEMME COUPLE WERE MARRIED HERE THURSDAY

Miss Jennie Albers Became Bride Of Mr. Alvin Thieman

Miss Jennie Albers, daughter of Mrs. Lubbe Albers and Mr. Alvin Thieman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thieman, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at high noon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lubbe Albers, mother of the bride. Miss Marie Albers, sister of the bride, and Mr. Edwin Thieman, brother of the groom, were bridesmaid and best man respectively. Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch of the Klemme Reformed Church read the marriage ceremony.

The Bride was attired in a gown of salmon pink silk crepe, while the bridesmaid was dressed in gold silk crepe. The groom and best man both wore the conventional blue.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony a wedding dinner was served, the guests being the immediate members of the Albers and Thieman families, Rev. and Mrs. Grosshuesch and Miss Lillian Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Thiemann are highly respected young people and have a large host of friends who extend them best wishes. They will be at home on a farm four miles east of Klemme after March 1st.

Friday evening a reception and dance was given in their honor at the Garner Opera House, which was attended by a large crowd.

BEN GREIMAN, LIBERTY MAN IS SUPERVISOR CANDIDATE

Seeks Nomination On Democratic Ticket For Term Beginning 1936

Ben F. Greiman, Liberty township farmer, is this week announcing to the people of Hancock County that he is a candidate for the office of Supervisor, for the term beginning Jnuary 1, 1936. Mr. Greiman is running on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Greiman is well known all over the county as he was a candidate in 1932 and made a splendid campaign at that time. Mr. Greiman is a land owner and successful farmer. He has always been interested in township and county matters and has served in various township offices.

Ben says he is going to make a thorough canvass of the county and hopes to meet most of the voters before the primary election.

HANCOCK COUNTY SPELLING BEE IN MARCH

Many schools of the county are preparing for the annual spelling contest to be held late in March. The winner of this contest wil represent Hancock County in the Des Moines Register and Tribune Spelling Bee to be held in Des Moines on April 28th. The Lions Club of Garner will award ten dollars in cash prizes to the winners of the county contest.

Both written and oral tests will be used in the county and state bee. All persons who have not completed the eighth grade work are eligible to enter. The prize for the state champion will be a trip to Washington accompanied by his or her teacher with all expenses paid and an opportunity there to compete for the National Spelling Championship. The runner up in the state contest will receive a prize of $50. Other prizes awarded at the State Bee are:

Oral		Written
2nd	$15.00	2nd	$15.00
3rd	10.00	3rd	10.00
4th	5.00	4th	5.00
5th	5.00	5th	5.00
6th	5.00	6th	5.00
7th	5.00	7th	5.00
8th	5.00	8th	5.00

All county champions will receive appropriate medals. These too will be distributed at the time of the State Bee in Des Moines. The champion of each school will receive a neatly printed certificate. In the eight state bees that have been held Hancock County on several occasions has made a very creditable showing, having taken fourth place on one occasion and seventh on another in a field of 100 contestants.

Iowa has twice won the National Championship. In 1930 Helen Jensen of Council Bluffs and in 1932 Dorothy Greenwald of Muscatine were the winners.

Spelling bees are a great incentive for better work in spelling and it is desired that all schools take part in the county contest. Rules and suggesions for spelling bees and a list of several hundred words may be had free on application to J. R. Baggs, County Superintendent at Garner.

BRITT FARMER IS CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

Wm. Jacoubek, farmer who lives near Britt and who has been a resident of Hancock County for 52 years, this week announces that he is a republican candidate for Supervisor for the term beginning January 1, 1936.

Mr. Jacoubek is well known over most of the county but for the benefit of our readers who are not acquainted with him we offer this information. He has lived all his life except one year on a farm. He has lived on his present farm thirty-six years. He is a heavy tax-payer as he owns 460 acres of land. His farm is nearly in the center of the county. At the present time Mr. Jacoubek is treasurer of the Farmers Co-Op. Elevator at Britt and has been a director of the Britt Creamery for a number of years. He has served on his school board for nine years and has been president of the board five years.

Mr. Jacoubek promises "to fulfill the office honestly and without fear and no special favors to anyone." He expects to call on all the voters before the primary election.

FINES TO SCHOOLS

All fines collected in counties through prosecution of fish and game law violations remain in the counties for the school funds. Fees collected by deputy game wardens in connection with cases go to the general state fish and game fund; they do not go to the deputies.

THIRTY NINE MILES OF NEW GRADED ROADS BUILT

County Engineer Merten Will Give Series Of Reports

I have attempted to glean the interesting facts from my 1933 highway report and they will be presented to you in a series of Road Notes of which this is the first. In going over these figures please bear in mind that the greater part of our road mony went to Hancock County residents and has helped relieve unemployment as well as improve our farm to market road. In using local labor whenever possible we are in line with the policy of the Federal Government but we are doing our work with far less overhead than is the case with CWA or PWA.

In the year of 1933 Hancock county graded 39 miles of local roads at an average cost of $473.00 per mile. The costs given include clering, grubbing, excavating, teams for end haul and culvert pipe, but do not include work done by patrolmen, concrete culverts or wooden bridges. The cost of grading each mile or portion thereof is given in the following schedule:

Lesson for February 4

PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

LESSON TEXT Matthew 6 1-34

GOLDEN TEXT Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you Matthew 6 33

PRIMARY TOPIC Jesus Tells of God's Care

JUNIOR TOPIC—In Search of Riches

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Serving One Master Only

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting First Things First

Having set forth in the previous chapter the standards of the kingdom, Christ the king now exhibits the underlying principles which control the subjects of the kingdom

I. As to Giving (vv 1-4)

Doing alms before men is not condemned as that would contradict Matthew 5 16 but the doing of them before men to be seen of them. To seek publicity in doing our alms is to miss the reward of the heavenly Father

II. As to Praying (vv 5-15)

The spirit of self advertisement frequently displays itself even in the holy exercise of prayer In order to correct this evil tendency he sets forth

1. False prayer (vv. 5, 7). This consists in

a. Praying to be seen and heard of men (v 5) Many of the prayers uttered in public are false, for the thing uppermost in the mind of the one praying is what the people think rather than what God thinks.

b. Using vain repetitions (v. 7). This does not mean that we should ask but once for a given thing We have examples of both Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt 26 39-46, II Cor 12:7, 8) It has to do rather with the using of meaningless repetitions

2. True prayer (v 6) Since real prayer is a transaction of the soul with God, there should be a real desire for fellowship with him which moves one to meet him in the secret place

3. The model prayer (vv 9-15). This involves

a. Right relationship—"Our Father" (v 9) Before one can pray so as to be heard he must, through the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit, become a child of God.

b. The right attitude "Hallowed be thy name" (vv 9, 10). While God is our heavenly Father he is more than that He is the Almighty We should go before him then with reverent adoration.

c. A right spirit "Give us this day our daily bread," "Forgive us our sins," "Lead us not into temptation" (vv 11-13) Those who would pray effectively must have such faith as would trust him for daily bread, and such love as would forgive those sinning against them, and such hatred of evil as to desire not to be led into temptation.

III. As to Fasting (vv. 16-18).

The true reason for fasting is to be found in the opportunity it gives for a clear vision of God.

IV. As to Earthly Riches (vv 19-24).

The Lord knew the temptations which would befall his children in ther pilgrimage and the anxiety to which they would lead; therefore he set forth the proper altitude toward earthly possessions.

1. The nature of earthly riches (vv 19-21).

a. They are uncertain (vv. 19, 20) Earthly treasures corrode, and may be taken from us.

b. They are seductive (v 21) Christ called riches deceitful (Matt. 13:22). It is not wrong to possess earthly treasures, but when earthly treasures possess us they become a snare unto us.

2. The effect of earthly riches (vv. 22-24).

a. They blunt the moral and spiritual perceptions (vv. 22,23). Those who become enamored with the things of the world soon become irresponsive to spiritual things.

b. They render service null and void (v 24) As soon as one's heart is stolen by riches, he is unfitted for spiritual service.

V. As to Faith in the Heavenly Father (vv. 25-34).

1. Be not anxious about food and clothing (vv 25-32). To be filled with anxiety concerning food and clothing

a. Shows distrust of God (v 30).

b. It is useless (v. 31). Anxiety brings us absolutely nothing.

c. It is heathenish (v. 32). Those who know God as the loving Father will be free from anxious care.

2. Be sincerely anxious to seek the kingdom of God and serve him (vv 33, 34) This means that world affairs should be subordinated to spiritual affairs.

Friendship

No matter how prominent or how numerous the advocates of error may be, that is no reason why you should espouse it. Personal friendship is one thing, friendship for error is quite another thing.

A BANK REFLECTS THE LIFE ABOUT IT

Loans and Investments on Which Condition of a Bank Depends Determined by The Kind of Business Surrounding It

POLITICAL and popular misapprehensions toward banking are due to little else than failure to realize that it is what the people themselves do that the condition of banking reflects, and that banking cannot of itself reflect events and conditions other than those that actually originate from surrounding circumstances, Francis H. Sisson, President of the American Bankers Association, says in an article in Forum Magazine.

The character of an institution's notes and investments indicates whether it is in the farm regions, a manufacturing center, a mercantile neighborhood or a great financial district, he says, and furthermore, besides identifying the institution as to its locality, a study of its notes will equally clearly indicate the economic conditions surrounding it.

"If a farm district bank's note history shows that its loans rise and fall with the normal cycle of production and marketing of the products of the region, it may be taken as an index of economic good health for the locality," he says. "But if, over a period, the loan volume shows a dwindling trend it may mean a region that is losing ground,—becoming exhausted or being robbed of business by another community. Or if a large proportion of the loans are not paid at maturity but are chronically renewed, or if stocks or bonds or real estate have to be taken as additional security, these too have economic significances, reflecting perhaps crop failures, over-production or inefficient, high cost farming methods in a highly competitive national or world market, such as wheat. Inevitably all these facts are reflected in the condition of the local banks.

City Banks, Too

"If the loans of a bank in a manufacturing or merchandising field show a smoothly running coordination with production and distribution they, too, mirror a healthy economic situation. Or there may be here also signs that reflect growing unfavorable conditions, such as excessive loan renewals, over-enthusiasm and therefore over-expansion of credit extended to makers or dealers in particular products, and similar circumstances. Similar conditions apply to banks engaged in financing the activities of the securities markets.

"The foregoing is merely suggestive of the infinite aspects of the life outwardly surrounding the banks which form and control their internal conditions. Although these facts seem obvious enough, the discussions and criticisms that have raged about the banks often appear to set them apart as somehow separate from the lives of our people, casting forth a malignant influence upon agriculture, industry and trade from forces generated wholly within themselves.

"The truth of the matter is that the fate of the banks is inseparably interwoven with the fate of the rest of the people and of the nation. What happened to the country happened to the banks and what happened to the banks is in no way different or detached from what happened to the people. They are all part of the same pattern, of the same continuous stream of events. No one element in that stream can be called the cause of business depression.

"If the banks caused trouble to some of our people it was because they were irresistibly forced to pass on troubles that came to them from other people. These troubles impaired the values of their securities and customers' notes—and rendered some unable, in turn, to pay back to other customers their deposits that had been properly used to create these loans and investments. Unless these truths are kept continually in mind there is no such thing as approaching an understanding of the banking problem or of properly safeguarding the very heavy stake of the public in that problem."

The Bank as a Rebuilder

IN place of a 3 per cent loss on an investment of $40,000 a large New York savings bank is now getting 6 per cent profit on an investment of $80,000, because it had the good business judgment to spend $40,000 in modernizing a group of 40-year-old tenement houses on the lower East Side which it was forced to take over on mortgage foreclosure, says an article in the American Bankers Association Journal. A year or two ago the owner, who had always kept up his mortgage payments, began to neglect the property, it became run down and the tenants began to leave.

The bank remodeled the buildings completely, putting in an oil-burning heating plant, incinerators and other modern changes, with the result the buildings are now entirely rented, and there is $14,000 a year coming in instead of several thousand going out. At that rate the improvements will pay for themselves in three years.

This same bank has done 15 other renovation jobs similar to this, and all have proved profitable. The bank has its own architects and is employing seven painters who are kept busy continuously.

CONGRESSMAN WANTS PLENTY OF BUTTER

We from Iowa are naturally thinking of butter prices. When I eat in a restaurant and behold the tiny peices of buttter served us, I am inclined to believe that if the restaurants of the United States could be induces to serve butter in the quantities their customers would enjoy (and are entitled to for the prices they pay) the butter surplus soon would disappear, and butter fat again would bring a price profitable to its producers.—Fred Biermann.

How One Man Lost 22 Pounds

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—My first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all of the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now feel like a new man."

To lose fat safely and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—an 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks—Get it at P. M. Wilson's or any drug store in America.

If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

VAGABONDS TAKE TWO WINS FROM SHEFFIED A. C.

Play Corwith Merchants On Local Floor Monday Eve

The Klemme Vagabonds journeyed to Shefield Tuesday night and returned home with the long end of the score in both games of a doubleheader.

The Vagabond Midgets won their game 42 to 21 and led all during the game. Score at the half was 17 to 8 in favor of the Midgets. The Vagabond regulars got off to an early start and led at the half 19-12 During the second half the Clay Diggers put on a spurt that carried them with three points of the Vagabonds who won 37 to 34.

VAGABONDS WIN PAIR FROM IOWA FALLS FIVES

The Klemme Vagabonds came thru with a pair of victories Monday eve on the local floor when they met the Iowa Falls regulars and reserves. The preliminary game between the reserve teams was a slow low-scoring game. The count at the half was 3 to 1 in favor of the Klemme team. The second half both teams sank a few more counters and the Vagabond Reserves won 17-13.

The feature game of the evening was marked by many spectacular shots on both sides and the half ended with Klemme leading 31-20. The second half the Cowboys started to creep up within four points of the locals who finally won 51-44.

Small Fire Put Out With Chemicals

A fire was reported Sunday evening in a small coal shed near the Harold Leitzinger home in west Klemme. Wallace Pavey, George Buseman and Rev. Ralston secured chemical extinguishers from the town hall and soon had the blaze under control. Henry Lewis and Henry Keeper arrived on the scene and threw buckets of water on the fire also. Little damage was done, but with a strong northwest wind blowing the blaze could easily have reached the house if it had not been discovered in time.

The Seniors and Mr Hunter journeyed to Mason City Saturday to have their pictures taken.

Mary Had a Little Lamb

By JANE OSBORN

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

IT WAS the summer after Mary Lester's sophomore year in the state university that she met Bob L... a country house-party. Bob L... just finished his junior year at a s... er college. It was perfectly clear f... the end of the first day at the h... able old farmhouse that Mary li...d Bob and that Bob was keen a...ut Mary. But Bob thought he had no right to speak about marriage—he had a year more of college and it would be still another year—whatever work he took up—before he could think of supporting a wife. But he did not hesitate to tell Mary of his feelings for her. For the time all he begged of her was that she would permit him somewhere near her. It was his idea, then, that Bob should transfer himself from the smaller college and enter the senior class of the university she attended.

So when Mary went back to college it was noised about that she had brought a "heavy suitor" with her. The girls in her fraternity house laughed at her and with her. Then one of them sitting at the piano began softly playing the strains of "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

The girls took up the words and Mary sat there blushing.

"But Bob's fleece isn't as white as snow," protested Mary weakly. "He has black hair."

"But he did follow you to school one day you'll have to admit that," laughed one of the girls, and they went on singing their song.

Bob Lamb had been transferred from the fraternity in his own college to the chapter in the university where it was soon passed around that they had a girl to thank for the transfer.

"Nice girl—Mary Lester—a junior Gamma Sigma," informed one of the men. "Some one ought to drop a word of thanks to Mary—she did us a good turn."

One of the men who had listened to the remark began softly to whistle the notes of "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Some one with a bass voice began croaking the words. A tenor took it up. Two others joined in and the impromptu quartette stood up with mock solemnity and chanted the song.

No one meant to give offense but everywhere Bob Lamb appeared with Mary—at college dances, at concerts or just strolling around the campus—there was always some one nearby to warble or whistle the annoying tune. All Bob desired was just to be somewhere with Mary. Yet as the teasing persisted they saw less and less of each other than they had hoped would be possible by both attending the same college.

So after the end of Mary's junior year and Bob Lamb's senior year they felt that they had seen far too little of one another. Bob was going to New York to go into business with his uncle and Mary would be back at college for her final year—a thousand miles from New York.

Bob heard of a college camp somewhere in the next state. There was a tent colony for the men and another for the women—a study camp where serious-minded students went to study astronomy under the direction of a number of renowned astronomers. Neither Bob nor Mary had ever felt more than a passing interest in the study of the stars, but at least there would be opportunity to see each other at lectures and on observation excursions. They could sit together in the evening on mountain tops gazing at the stars. True, there would be the other students and the learned professors, but there would be no one to tease them. They needn't let anyone know that they had ever met before. It was Mary's idea that their names must not go with them. Some one might think of the stupid song about Mary and her little lamb. It would be simple enough in Mary's case. She could easily use her middle name, Ella. It took some maneuvering on Bob's part. Finally he took an old friend, Bill Ball, into his confidence and arranged to use his college certificate for enrollment.

For the first two weeks of the sessions at the summer camp everything went beautifully. Then it became apparent that Bob—now Bill Ball—and Mary—not Ella—contrived to sit next to each other on all occasions. One evening when the class of campers were starting off up the mountain side some one in the party began to hum the tune of the nursery song that had become so odious to Mary. It seemed as if everyone took up the air—whistling or warbling as they went. Then some one began singing the words.

"Ella had a little Ball, his fleece was black as coal—
And everywhere that Ella went the Ball was sure to roll."

"Let's pretend we don't know they mean us," whispered Mary.

"That won't work," said Bob Lamb—rather Bill Ball. "Let's pretend to like it."

So they stuck it out—wherever they were seen together some one was pretty sure to take up the notes of the old song. And at the end Bob got a letter from his uncle—offering him a little more than he had expected by way of a beginner's salary. On the strength of this Bob asked Mary to marry him as soon as they left summer camp. Mary, in spite of a final year at college, was willing.

"Don't let's have a church wedding," she suggested. "The organist would be sure to play that hateful tune instead of the wedding march."

CREAMERY TO ENTERTAIN PATRONS SATURDAY

Patrons Families Will Be Served To Free Dinners

CREAMERY OFFICIALS EXPECT OVER 1,000 AT MEETING

Program Will Be Given At School Gymnasium In Afternoon

The Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Company will hold their annual meeting Saturday, February 10th. A meeting of the stockholders will be held in the basement of the First National Bank at 10 o'clock at which time officers and directors for the coming year will be elected and other business transacted.

Free Dinner At Noon

At noon the Creamery will serve a free dinner to their patrons and families in the dining rooms of the Klemme Reformed and the Klemme Methodist churches. Tickets for the dinner will be given out. The officials of the Creamery are planning to serve a thousand people or more.

Program At School Gym

After dinner all who are interested in the Creamery and dairying are invited to attend the program which will be held in the gymnasium of the Klemme School. A prominent speaker is being arranged for and various reports of interest will be given.

Increase In Business Past Year

Although the year 1933 was a depression year, the Klemme Creamery showed a nice increase in business in general. Over 45,000 pounds more butter was made than in the previous year; over 173,000 more pounds of cream was received during the past year; over $600 was whittled off of the running expenses of the creamery and the average price paid per pound of butterfat was more than in the previous year. The regular 8 per cent yearly dividend was paid shareholders. Taken all in all, the creamery officials are well pleased with the showing made during the past year.

477 Patrons On List

The creamery has expanded its territory until now there are 477 patrons who sell their cream to the Klemme Creamery. Seven truck drivers make regular trips for the cream. They are Einar Salling, Emil Kraus, Alfred Merkel Walter Rosendahl, Ralph Jenison and Geo. Alden. The men are courteous and accomodating and have done much to keep up the volume of business the past year.

Creamery Celebrates Birthday

The Klemme Creamery is this year celebrating its 21st birthday It has grown from a small business into one of the largest co-operatives in North Iowa. The creamery has always been well managed and able men have been selected as officers and directors. At the present time the officers are H. R. Stromer, pres E. J. Arnold, vice pres; Peter Josten, sec; and J. E. Stille, treas. The directors are Lippo Blank, Otto Pringnitz, Wes Lenz, John Back and W. H. Lemke. Paul Mueller is the buttermaker and manager and is assisted by George Carolus and Wayne Pavey.

COUNTY CONTROL ASSOCIATIONS PROVIDE FOR LOCAL CONTROL

Articles of association for the county corn-hog control associations now being distributed by county agents, provide for local administration of the corn-hog program in cooperation with the government, according to County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

Any person who has signed a corn-hog contract and accepted the adjusted figures is a member of the association, and there are no membership dues, he added. and each member is entitled to one vote.

In explaining the articles of association Mr. Oberhauser said that the association will consist of a board of directors consisting of the chairmen of each township committee.

The board of directors will elect from its membership a president of the association who shall also be chairman of the county allotment committee. A vice-president. also a member of the association will be elected by the board of directors. The vice-president will serve on the county allotment committee only in the absence of some other member.

Not less than two and not more than four members of the association, in addition to the president. will be elected by the board to constitute the county allotment committee. The president of the board of direrors will be chairman of the allotment committee.

A secretary and treasurer will be elected by the association's board of directors but neither of these two officers are required to be members of the association.

The articles provide that township committees will consist of from three to five members of the county association within that township. The township committee will have a chairman, a vice-chairman and one or more other members.

Field supervisors may be appointed to inspect farms covered by corn-hog contracts and perform other duties assigned by the county allotment committees and the corn-hog section at Washington.

Officials of the county association will serve without renumeration. says the articles, with the exception of the secretary treastrer members of the county allotment committee, members of the township committees, and field supervisors.

The latter will be allowed subsistonce and expenses up to a certain amount prescribed by the secretary of agriculture.

The power and authority of the association is vested in the board of directors which is elected by all members of the association. The board will decide appeals of association members from decisions of the county allotment committee; it will authorize expenditures and prepare a budget for county administration expenses.

The bulk of the work, however, will be carried out by the county allotment committee. This committee will check all contracts and make recommendations of acceptance to the secretary of agriculture. It will also make whatever adjustments are necessary and certify the final figures which are sent to Washington for approval.

The secretary will keep all records of the association, the township committee and the allotment committee. He will keep these records on file and will furnish information to association members as requested. The treasurer will have custody of all the association funds. He will be under bond.

The duties of the township committees will be: to obtain contracts; to assist farmers in preparing data required in the contract; to appraise the corn yield of land offered to be contracted; to check and if necessary correct data offered by producers and landlords; to obtain production data on corn and hogs of non-contract signers; to obtain final signature of contracts after final adjustment of figures; to certify production records in determination of 1932-33 average corn acreage and hog base; to assist in township meetings; to make investigations relative to contracts.

The duties of the field supervisors will include visiting and examining farms under contract, if necessary, measuring fields, marking for identification and determining the utilization of contracted acreage, and inspecting and counting herds of hogs.

An association may include two or more counties, acording to the articles, but where two or more counties set up a single association they will have a joint board of directors which will elect a single set of officers and a single allotment committee.

6 WEEKS OF COLD WEATHER?

According to tradition if the ground hog immerged from his hole on February 2nd and if the sun was shining and if he saw his shadow, we would be doomed to have six more weeks of cold winter weather.

County Engineer Reports On Past Year's Program

COUNTY GRAVEVLED 67 MILES OF ROAD IN 1933

In the 1933 season Hancock Co. graveled 67 miles of local roads at an average cost of $328 per mile. With the exception of the gravel taken from two pits which were too stony for shoveling, all of the gravel was loaded by hand giving employment to dozens of men who needed work. All hauling was done by trucks whose owners lived in this county or by county owned trucks. The cost of graveling roads by this method was no greater than would have been the case if we had let the work to outside contractors using machine methods except that a little more supervision was required. By using these methods our money did double duty, giving us an economical surfaced road and providing a living for needy families.

The detailed list of roads graveled by miles or parts of miles is as follows with the distance from the road to the pit and the difficulty in securing the gravel. It includes loading and hauling and the cost of the gravel at the pit. Roads graveled during the winter by C. W. A. workers are not included.

CHICAGO EXPOSITION PICTURES WILL BE SHOWN AT P. T. A.

Local Creamery Men Will Tell Of Butter And Manufacturing

At the P. T. A. Meeting to be held at the Klemme High School gymnasium on Tuesday evening, February 13th, an interesting program has been arranged by the committee in charge.

Rev. Muehlman, of Algona, will show moving pictures of the Chicago Exposition which he took himself. He will give an explanation while showing the pictures.

Paul Mueller, manager of the Klomme Creamery, will give a talk on butter and dairying. He may be assisted in his part of the program by other men at the creamery.

Milvern Barz, high school student will speak a humorous selection.

Everybody invited to attend this interesting meeting.

JOHN DAY IS NAMED ACTING POST MASTER FOR KLEMME

John Day received official notice of his appointment as acting Post Master for Klemme and began his official duties in that capacity on Thursday, February 1st. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Frank Gibbs, who abandoned his position to complete his college work at Morningside College.

Mr. Gibbs was here Friday to check out and turn the business over to Mr. Day.

We believe Mr. Day will be an efficient man for the office and we congratulate him on the appointment.

SEALING TIME FOR CORN LOANS BECOMING SHORT

All cribs sealed and certificates recorded before March 1st are eligible for corn loans even though the loans have not been completed. Farmers are advised to make their applications at once in order for ample time to negotiate the loans. Applications received after February 2[illegible] might not be completed on account of lack of time.

Farmers in Ell, Avery and Twin Lake should get in touch with F. N. Knudson at once as bad roads and weather conditions might prevent last minute sealing.

LESSON TEXT Matthew 7 1-29

GOLDEN TEXT Every tree that bringeth not forh good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire. Matthew 7 19

PRIMARY TOPIC The Golden Rule

JUNIOR TOPIC- Keeping Jesus' Law

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC--The Truth About Alcoholic Beverages.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC--Drastic Methods for a Deadly Evil

I. Concerning Censorious Judgments (vv 1 12)

1. The sin and folly of (vv 1-5) This prohibition should not be so construed as to forbid our making an estimate of the lives of those about us, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." Neither should it prevent us from administering rebuke to those who deserve it. It is not wrong to condemn the errors and faults of those who are practicing sin, neither does it mean that sin should go unrebuked until we ourselves are perfect. It does definitely and vigorously rebuke readiness to blame others and to magnify their weaknesses and errors.

2. The duty of discrimination in dealing out holy things (v. 6) The gospel should be preached to all. The Word of God should be proclaimed to all, but at the same time it should be borne in mind that "dogs and swine" have no comprehension of holy things.

3. Qualification for discrimination (vv 7-12).

a. A life of prayer (vv 7-11). Only those are able rightly to divide the word of truth who live in close communion with God.

b The disposition to treat others as one would be treated by others (v. 12) The Word of God and the common judgment of mankind constitute a definite standard of life so far as that standard bears on the principle governing the life. In all doubtful questions between man and man we should deal with our fellows as we would have them deal with us. In fact, the whole law concerning human relations is compressed into this one rule.

II. Entrance into the Kingdom Urged (vv 13-27)

Before everyone there are set two ways and only two ways, life and death heaven and hell Two gates open out into these ways. The narrow gate is the way of life. The invitation is for all to enter this gate.

III. The Warning Against False Teachers (vv 15-20).

1. Their real existence (v. 15). Ever since God had a people, false prophets and teachers have appeared among them. That they appear everywhere need not surprise us, for Christ foretold that such should arise.

2. Their nature (v. 15).

a. They are hypocritical. They are emissaries of Satan. The devil does his most successful work by masquerading as an angel of light (II Cor 11:14, 15). All through the centuries Satan's success has come mainly through his ability to deceive.

b. They are destructive. This is suggested by their being "ravening wolves." False teachers are doing their most deadly work while pretending to he loyal to the Bible and to Jesus Christ.

3. The unfailing test (vv 16-18). "By their fruits ye shall know them." Every tree bears its own kind of fruit. Nature is inexorable in her laws as to this It is equally true in the spiritual world.

4. Their ultimate end (v. 19). All false teachers shall ultimately be punished by being cast into the fire. Although God has infinite patience and bears long, he will see to it that this evil work does not go on forever.

IV. The Dangers of Empty Profession (vv. 21-23).

1. Merely calling Christ "Lord" will not answer for doing his will (v. 21).

2. One may do supernatural works and still be lost (vv. 22, 23). Not all supernatural works are divine. The devil is a supernatural being. All evil doers are under his sway

3. A coming separation from God (v 23) One may have been a Sunday school teacher or a minister and have performed many mighty works and yet hear from Christ the awful declaration, "I never knew you: depart from me ye that work iniquity."

V. Th One and Only Safe Way (vv 24-29).

1. Hear the sayings of Christ (v 24).

2. Do what Christ commands (vv. 24-29).

When We Are Dead

We may live when we are dead—not only, as we trust, in Heaven, but also by the impress we made in Christ's name upon others.

A Prayer

Almighty God, we open our hearts in prayer that thou lead us more into the knowledge of Jesus Christ to serve thee in it; and we desire the days to come when the truth will be lived and followed in earth even as it is in heaven.

THAT BANKING VENT THROUGH

By JOHN H. PUELICHER
American Bankers Association

BANKING in its long career has been compelled to withstand many serious shocks, but it ran into the most perplexing entanglement of its whole history since the general breakdown of values in 1929. The commercial structure of the entire world seemed to have been shaken from its foundations and the marvel is that the banker, with everything breaking down all around him, was able to come through as he has.

J. H. PUELICHER

General business failures, agricultural stagnation, income losses, capital losses, inabilities to meet debts and therefore inabilities of bankers to pay back depositors when loans were not paid; were the reasons, in most instances, for the bank failures.

No profession, no department of life is without its weaker elements, but had proper consideration been given to the relatively few instances in banking, had exaggerated and startling headlines been kept in true proportion, had banking not been used as a target for political self-seeking and with vote-seeking motives, had unfounded rumors not been spread the people's confidence might have been retained and far less serious would have been their financial losses, for many bank failures were caused that need not have happened.

There were factors in our banking experience which every earnest banker deplores—factors which many had worked years to eliminate, which it was fearfully recognized would aggravate any difficult days which might arise. One of the worst of these was due to political regulation which chartered many banks that should never have been chartered.

That there have been incompetence and dishonesty in banking is admitted. That the instances that did occur were used grossly to increase fear in the public mind, we affirm. We shall continue to strive for higher attainments in our profession and strive for laws that require competence and ability in management. That we cannot legislate honesty and unselfishness into either a banker or a borrower must be conceded, but dishonesty, wherever found, should be punished. It is as true in banking as elsewhere that no matter how good the law, dishonest and incompetent men can make it ineffective. Good laws are essential. We must strive for ever better ones, but their enforcement will come only as the public recognizes that it is a matter not of laws or codes alone but of the men who administer them.

The Public's Part

Our people must be brought to realize that the welfare of our country depends upon its banking system, that the strength of the banking system depends upon the public's faith and understanding and the vast majority of banks, because of faithful service rendered, even through the whole of this general breakdown, had the right to expect the trust and confidence of the people.

In every great catastrophe, no matter what its nature, no matter what its cause, someone must be crucified. The banker was this time selected. In the late 90's, political agitation started a tirade against the railroads. Some railroads may have done reprehensible things, but the agitation became so general and so violent as almost to destroy one of the fundamental factors in the progress of a country. Today the same thing has been done to the banker. In spite of all that has happened, the fact remains that even most of the banks which failed are paying out infinitely better than are investments in almost anything else.

Bankers Aiding Agriculture

State associations of bankers in many agricultural states are giving time and financial support to encourage practices among their farmers that will bring about better farm results.

The major activities reported from one state to the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association which is nationally active in promoting this line of cooperation are as follows:

1. Drought relief work: Local banks have played a vital part in this work, being represented on the county committees for passing on all seed loans. These committees met practically every day during the spring to pass on the loans in order to get as quick action as possible. A total of 914 applications were received and handled by one committee, 833 being granted.

2. Four-H Club work: Bankers helped stimulate 4-H Club work, financing many members who otherwise could not have enrolled. They also helped finance fifteen 4-H Club delegates to the state club convention.

3. Livestock feeding: The banks cooperated with the Extension Service in the state and the railroads in increasing the amount of livestock feeding. Assistance was given the feeders in securing finances for their feeding operations.

4. Crop improvement: The bankers took part in the crop standardization program of the Extension Service and encouraged the farmers to use pure seed, and in many cases made loans for this purpose.

High School Notes

Ethel Baack visited in the grade rooms and high school Monday. She is teaching her home school this year.

Our representatives for the inter-school declamatory contests were chosen last Thursday evening. Those who receive second place in the home contest are entitled to speak in the sub-county contest and those receiving first place speak in the preliminary of the state contest. Ruth Wellemeyr, Novella Bredehoeft and Max Barz will speak in the sub-county which will probably be held at Goodell Feb. 13.

Roy Arnold, Delorys Cook and Raymond Keeper will go to the preliminary state round at Goodell, on March 2.

LOCAL COUPLES IN DOUBLE MARRIAGE CEREMONY

A double marriage ceremony in which a brother and sister married another brother and siste was performed at Mason City Saturday when Mr. Carl Heginger and Miss Etta Harms were married, and Mr. Taus Harms and Miss Cecelia Heginger were married.

Carl Heginger and sister, Cecelia are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Heginger of Klemme. Mr. Taus Harms and sister Etta, are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stinus Harms, who reside on a farm several miles east of Klemme.

The Times has been unable to procure further facts of the matter. We presume that the young couples will make their homes in this community. We join with their friends in extending congratulations.

VAGABONDS EVEN SCORE WITH CORWITH MERCHANTS

The Klemme Vagabonds got revenge for a defeat on the Corwith floor a few weeks ago when they took the Corwith Merchants into camp 26-22 in a fast battle played on the local floor Monday night.

Both teams missed plenty of setups and failed to score consistently. Klemme led at the half 13-10.

FIFTY 4-H GIRLS ORGANIZED COUNTY CHORUS

Over 50 4-H club girls and leaders in Hancock County met Saturday, February 3, at the W. G. Lenz home near Klemme, to start a county 4-H chorus, acording to Miss Raake, Home Demonstration Agent.

Mrs. J. J. Cook, leader of the Avery township club is leader of the chorus. Mrs. C. A. Arnold of Klemme and Dolorys Cook were the pianists.

The girls sang several familiar 4-H club songs and then started working in earnest on some of the songs that they are studying in their music memory work which included Amaryllis, I Passed By Your Window, and Santa Lucia.

The girls in the chorus were from the following township clubs—Garfield, Madison Jolly Workers, Madison Consolidated, Avery, Ell, Orthel, Liberty, Cancord and Britt.

The girls will have a regular practice on the first Saturday in every month. Any 4-H girl who sings is invited to join the chorus.

SHAMROCKS LOSE TO KANAWHA BULLDOGS ON LOCAL FLOOR

The Klemme Shamrocks met the Kanawha Bulldogs on the local floor Friday evening and after leading them for three periods left a Kanawha man wide open for two sleeper shots under the basket to put the Bulldogs in the lead in the closing minutes of play. Klemme led at the half 13-9 and at the end of the 3rd period 15-11. The strain of putting up such a battle against the conference chompions evidently proved too much for the boys and during the final four minutes of play they blew wide-open and allowed the Kanawha boys to pile up four baskets and a free throw to give them a four point lead as the game ended.

The Shamrocks put up a great fight and gave the Kanawha team plenty of chances to worry over the outcome of the game.

The Klemme seconds defeated the Kanawha reserves in the preliminary game of the evening by a substantial score.

OBITUARY OF DR. GEORGE ZINN

Dr. George Zinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Zinn, was born on the 7th day of September, in the year of our Lord 1867, at Mildmay, Bruce County, Ontario, Canada. He was brought to Holy Baptism by his parents in the Evan... Church. His mother died w... he was but a child of five years ... received his education in the ... Schools of Ontario, and after ... pleting his high school and col... courses he entered the Medical Col... ege of Indianapolis, Indiana, graduating from this institution on the 18th day of March, 1897.

He began his practice at ...ovington, Ind. His next loca... as at Hawkeye, Iowa, where mained but a few years. In ber 1901 he located at Klemme Here he remained the rest of life. He soon gained th... of many families in th... ity and by his skill as ... n and his friendly manner he su... ed in establishing an exce... tice. Last September, after ... of practice he retired fro... service as a physician, Dr A. ... mes of Grundy Center taking place.

Dr. Zinn then made h... with Mr. and Mrs. Henry C... his farm 3½ miles no... h Klemme. His death came ... and unexpectedly when on mond... evening of this week (Jan. 29th... he suffered a heart stro... caused instant death. The y... his life numbered 66 years, ... months and 22 days.

Dr. Zinn was of a cheerful disposition, an optimist at all times. No matter how dark the clouds that gathered, he seemed to see and to point out the silver lining. He had many friends who found in him a trusted friend and adviser. Through out our district he enjoyed the reputation of being a skillful and succesful physician.

Though a busy man, he found time to attend divine services regularly. Very seldom did he miss the Sunday morning worship hour. He had his chair next to the entrance, where he could be called in case of emergency. Most of his patients knew of and respected his love to the house of God, and very seldom called for him during the hours of worship. He was a faithful member of the Adult Sunday School class. His attendance record ranks with the highest. He was a faithful student of God's Word, and did not neglect his private devotions In his bible are many slips of paper on which he jotted down notes as he read, and marked his favorite bible passages. On one of these he listed various sermons which had impressed him in a special way.

Dr. Zinn was a friend of everyone especially of the children. In many homes he was considered almost a member of the family. At family gatherings and reunions he usually received an invitation. The Mothers room of our Church building was his gift and it will ever remain to us a memorial of our friend and family doctor.

During the last years of h... he often expressed the desire ... tire from active practice. so th... might devote his entire time to the management of his farms. Last fall his wishes were fulfilled when ... Henry Gobert family of Ont... Canada came to live with ... uncle on his farm. He was ... much interested in farm prob... s Only a few weeks ago he was ... pointed a committee man on ... corn-hog program and only last week he announced himself as ... candidate for the office of Coun... Supervisor.

Of the immediate members of his family, both his parents and three brothers preceded him in death. His father at the age of 97.

Surviving him and mourning his death are one brother, A. K. Zinn, of Battle Creek, Michigan; and four sisters, Mrs. Reuber, Mrs. Quanze, Mrs. Rupp and Mrs. Walter, all of Ontario Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Krouse Celebrate Golden Wedding

BIG DINNER IN THEIR HONOR SERVED AT REFORMED CHURCH

Affair Planned By Children As Surprise In Their Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Krouse celebrated their fiftieth or Golden Wedding anniversary on St. Valentines Day, February 14th, 1934. They were married fifty years ago in the Elltown Reformed Church, by the Rev. Mosseback, the first minister to serve that church.

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Krouse, four of whom are living and reside in this community. They are Karl, Mrs. Mart Bachman Albert and Emil.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Krouse were residents of Garner where they lived ten years and during which time Mr. Krouse was in the blacksmith business. They later moved to Klemme where he again conducted a blacksmith shop for five years, when they sold out and purchased the farm north of Klemme where they have resided since.

When they lived in Klemme they purchased a house from Mr. Sahler, of Garner, who then was in the contracting business. Later they sold this house to John Waterman.

Mr. and Mrs. Krouse's children several weeks ago planned to have a surprise celebration on them and sent out invitations to a dinner at the Reformed Church and a large number of relatives and friends were present to surprise Mr. and Mrs. Krouse on their anniversary. The Times has pledged secrecy and so this narrative must this week be rather short. However, we will have full details next week and in the meantime we extend congratulations to this happy couple on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

MILD FEBRUARY INDICATED

January, just passed, averaged about 8 degrees warmer than normal and was among the ten warmest Januarys of the 62 for which statewide temperature records are available in Iowa. In spite of its mildness there were two or three widely cold waves in which the temperature plunged downward 40 to 50 degrees in 24 hours though no extremely low temperatures were reached. This makes 5 cases out of 5 or 100 per cent of the time that an exceptionally warm September has been followed by a warm January in Iowa.

Studies just completed by the Weather and Crop Bureau of the Iowa Department of Agriculture indicate by several lines of evidence that February, 1934 will also average above normal in temperature in spite of occasional cold waves that may sweep over the State. Heretofore in every case when September is as warm as it was in 1933 it has been followed by a February averaging above normal in temperature. Also in the 60 winter of record where December and January were both mild as they were in the current winter, in 13 out of 18 cases, or 72 per cent of the time, February has been also been abive normal. Warm Januarys are not quite as good indicators of warm Februarys as cold Januarys are of cold Februarys yet exceptionally warm Januarys are followed by warm Februarys about 70 per cent of the time. February, 1933, was a rather oustanding exception. There is a distinct tendency for a warm, dry January to be followed by a February with deficient precipitation.

ENGINEER GIVES REPORTS ON COUNTY BRIDGE WORK

Bridge work in Hancock County costs the tax payer much less than in the average county of the state. While the flood of last spring caused some damage to our bridges the cost of repairs was small compared with that of some counties where entire bridges were washed away and the damage amounted to thousands of dollars. The reason for this is that we are at the headwaters of the streams that drain the county and take very little water from other counties. In addition to this we have a flat topography and our streams do not have a high velocity.

With one exception the streams crossing our primary and trunk roads are bridged with concrete and steel. The exception is the Iowa river bridge on the trunk road east of Goodell. Wooden bridges are much cheaper than the more permanent types and are generally used on our local roads. A concrete bridge costs about six times as much as a wooden bridge of the same capacity.

Before the year of 1933 it was a general practice in Hancock county to use plain lumber for wooden bridges. In 1933 we started using treated lumber for all parts of the bridge except the wearing surface and the handrail. Lumber treated with creosote costs twice as much as plain lumber but experience has demonstrated that it lasts at least three times as long in places that are subject to decay, so that its use will in the course of time be a large saving to the county. There would be little gain by treating the wearing surface as these plank wear out before they decay. Yellow pine piling and Douglas Fir lumber were used in all wooden bridges constructed in Hancock county in 1933.

The bridges constructed with the approximate cost are as follows. The costs include labor and material The cost varies not only with the length but also with the height of the bridge and the length and charactor of the wings. The bridge on the county line south of section 33 Amsterdam township was built by Wright County and we pay one half of the cost as listed.

Township	Sections	Span	Cost
Madison,	29-29;	38 ft	$490.00
Ellington center	17;	90 ft.	818.00
Boone	10-15;	40 ft	512.00
Amsterdam	15-22;	38 ft.	485.00
Amsterdam south	33;	21 ft.	587.00
Avery	20-29;	76 ft.	800.00

In addition to the above construction expense the county spent $4610 on bridge extensions, repairs and new wearing surfaces during the season. The largest of these maintenance items were an extension to the Winnebago river bridge east of section 24 Ellington Township costing $212.00 and the rebuilding of the bridge in section 4 Concord twp. costing $245.00.

WATER MAIN EXTENSION IS COMPLETED

The water main extension from the intersection at the Wellemeyer store west three hundred feet is now completed. Work of digging the trench has kept a crew of men busy for some time as a CWA project. The water pipe arrived last week and has now been laid. A water hydrant is located near the Northern Lumber Co.

This extension of the mains will not only give users better water service along the new line, but will give added fire protection.

We understand that an extension of the mains will also be made from the east corner of the park east a block or more.

The second annual Community Father and Son Banquet will be held at the Methodist Church on Thursday evening, February 22nd, Washington's birthday. The banquet will be served at 6:30 and the price per plate is 25 cents.

An appropriate program is being arranged for the occasion and a good speaker will be engaged. All men and boys in the community are invited to attend.

Tickets will be on sale at the various stores in Klemme. The committee in charge urges all to buy their tickets early so that a check-up can be made as to the number of plates the ladies must prepare.

METHODIST MUSIC FESTIVAL

The Garner Sub-District Music Festival will be held in the Methodist Church in Garner, Iowa, on Monday evening, February 19. at 7:30 o'clock.

The Methodist church choirs, orchestras and soloists participating in this Festival are Clear Lake, Thornton, Klemme, Garner and Britt.

This is the fourth year for these Festivals and they have proven helpful to the local musical organizations in creating larger choirs and orchestras and in stimulating a greater interest in better music.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR ANNUAL HANCOCK COUNTY TOURNEY

The Hancock county Schoolmaster's club met at Crystal Lake Wednesday evening and made drawings for the county basketball tournament to be held at Britt Feb. 23 and 24. The following pairings resulted: Woden vs. Kanawha; Hayfield vs. Garner; Crystal Lake vs. Corwith and Goodell vs. Klemme. Britt will play the winner of the Goodell-Klemme bracket.

KLEMME HIGH GIVEN DECISION IN BASKETBALL GAME

In a recent game played between the Klemme high school and the Goodell high school on the Belmond, the game went into an overtime period, with the result that Klemme won the game.

After the game was all over Goodell was not satisfied with the score and claimed an error had been made during the game and that Goodell should have been credited with one more field goal. The matter of settling the dispute was left to the decision of the superintendents of the county who took the matter up at their meeting at Crystal Lake last Wednesday evening. They decided in favor of Klemme.

LOCAL VAGABONDS DROP GAME TO KENYON LAZY ACES

Kenyon's Lazy Aces won 25 to 16 from the Klemme Vagabonds on the Clear Lake floor Thursday night Anderson scoring 12 points for the winners. Kenyon's outfit led by 3 baskets at the first quarter. The Vagabonds found their stride in the second quarter, W. Lemke, Bunkofske, C. Lemke and Keraus tallying 9 points to the Clear Lake 10 at the half. A scoring streak by Paul Garlock and Anderson put the Kenyon aggregation in the lead which they held throughout the game.

CREAMERY HAS COMPLETED 20 YEARS OF SERVICE

Dinners Served At Both Klemme Churches; Program Given At School

Over twelve hundred people were guests of the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery here Saturday when the Creamery celebrated its twenty years of service in this community by giving a big dinner to the patrons of the creamery, their families and friends of the creamery. The ladies aid societies of both Klemme chuches served the dinner and there was a big crowd at both places. A final check-up showed that over twelve hundred people were served dinners at both of the churches Saturday.

Storvick Gives Talk

In the afternoon everbody was invited to the Creamery Day program at the Klemme School Gym. A varied musical program was given and the main address of the day was given by Mr. P. O. Storvick, manager of the Iowa State Brand Creameries, Mason City.

Mr. Storvick's talk was educational in nature and his talk was of real interest and instructive to the dairyman. He told of the bright future for the dairy industry, pointed out methods of improving dairy conditions on the farm and the care of cream and utensils used.

The Klemme Creamery owns two shares in the Iowa State Brand Creameries and Mr. Storvick pointed out the advantages of this ownership, the value that the investment has and full details of the organization.

Creamery Continues To Grow

The meeting of shareholders was held in the morning and an election of officers and directors was held. C. J. Wille and Joe Schuldt were named directors to succeed Wes Lenz and John Bock.. No change was made in the list of officers.

The past year was a good year for the creamery as Secretary Josten's report showed. A substantial increase was shown in the list of patrons who now number 477. The total receipts showed a fine increase despite the depression. A big increase was shown in the amount of butterfat received which clearly indicated the faith of the dairyman-farmer held in the Klemme creamery. To round up the figures so that our readers can visualize better what Buttermaker Mueller and his assistants did in the way of making butter, we simply state that they made nearly 25 TONS more butter the past year than was made during the previous year. And that is a lot of butter!

And another encouraging report showed that the creamery paid an average price of two cents more per pound of butterfat during the past year, than the previous year, and at the same time cut their operating costs down a substantial amount.

The officers and directors and Paul Mueller and his assistants at the Creamery have handled the business most efficiently, the past year and they deserve to be complimented highly for their good work.

JESUS' POWER TO HELP

LESSON TEXT Matthew 8 1 9 34.

GOLDEN TEXT But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy and not sacrifice for I am not come t call the righteous, but sinners to repentance Matthew 9 13

PRIMARY TOPIC Jesus Forgives Sinful Man

JUNIOR TOPIC How Jesus Proves He Can Forgive Sin

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC--How Jesus Meets Our Needs

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Meeting Human Needs

In chapters 8 and 9 of Matthew are grouped a number of miracles which exhibit the power of Jesus Christ over the chief foes of men--sickness sin, satanic power death, and storms It is fitting that they should be grouped here following the laws of the kingdom, for they show the king's power to administer the affairs of the kingdom and produce within his subjects the graces of character demanded by the laws. It would make the lesson too long to attempt to consider all these miracles. Therefore certain of the most outstanding should be selected.

I. Jesus Heals a Leper (8:1-4).

1. The dreadful disease (v. 2). Leprosy was the most loathsome and hopeless disease known. In the Jewish ritual it was regarded as a symbol of sin Just as leprosy was incurable by man so only the Divine Physician can cure sin.

2. The leper's faith (v. 2). His cry was most pitiable, but his faith was strong He fully believed that Jesus was able but was uncertain as to his willingness, to heal him.

3. Jesus' power (v 3). He put forth his hand and touched the leper, bidding the disease to depart, and instantly the man was cleansed.

II. Jesus Heals the Centurion's Servant (8:5-13)

1 The disease (v. 6.). It was paralysis. Paralysis the victim is helpless.

2 The centurion's humility (v. 8). He first sent the Jewish elders and then his friends (Luke 7:3, 6) because he felt his own unworthiness. The condition of this servant was so grave that his master brushed aside timidity and personally appealed to Jesus.

3 The centurion's faith (vv 8, 9) He believed that if Jesus would but speak the word his servant would be healed. His faith was so remarkable that Jesus marveled because it was not like anything he had discerned among the chosen people.

4. The wonderful power of Jesus (v 13) He did not even need to see the helpless man and touch him, but needed only to speak the word and it was done.

III. Jesus Heals Peter's Mother-In-Law (8:14, 15)

This woman was sick of a fever Jesus was invited into Peter's home to heal her and upon his touching the hand of the patient the fever left her.

IV. Jesus Casts Out Demons (8 28-34)

After stilling the tempest, Jesus crossed to the other side of the sea into heathen territory

1. Met by two men possessed by demons (v. 28). These men were in a desperate condition (Mark 5; 1-17, and Luke 8:27). So fierce were they that no one could safely pass that way Many today are demon possessed and their number is increasing (I Tim 4:1).

2. What they knew about Christ (v. 29). They knew that he was the Son of God and that he had come to destroy the devil and his work. Among demons there is no doubt as to the deity of Jesus Christ and the judgment to come.

3. Limitation of the devil's power (v. 31) Although the devil is mighty in power, he cannot even enter a hog without God's permission.

4. Christ's power to deliver from the devil (vv. 30-32).

The demons quailed before him, not daring to dispute his power, but begged permission to enter the swine

V. Jesus Opening the Eyes of Two Blind Men (9:27-31).

1. The intelligence of faith (v 27) They cried unto him as the Son of David which showed they recognized him as the promised Messiah The prophet had foretold such to be the works of the Messiah (Isa. 29:18 35:5, 41:7)

2. The persistence of faith (v. 28) These poor men had heard of the wonderful works of Jesus. This wrought in them a desire to be healed. They, therefore, followed him along the way crying out for help.

3. The challenge of faith (v. 28) In reply to his challenge they gave him a definite answer.

4. The triumph of faith (vv. 29 30). Their faith brought them into touch with the Lord of life, who opened their eyes.

Our Giving Measure

God's great purpose in wanting me to give to him is that me may be enabled to give more abundantly to them. It is impossible for a man to give anything to God that does not come back to the man a thousand old

High School Notes

The music program presented in the gymnasium Friday night was well attended. The first part of the program consisted of numbers furnished by each of the grade rooms, the high school boys' and girls' glee clubs, and the school orchestra. Miss Johnson then presented groups of her music pupils concluding with a number by the school band.

Several high school students attended the games at Crystal Lake last Thursday evening.

Musical and declamatory numbers were furnished by the school for the Creamery Day program in the high school gymnasium Saturday afternoon.

Some of the seniors have received their pictures from the studio in Mason City and are exhibiting them to their admiring friends.

FOURTH ADJOURNED JANUARY MEETING

Garner, Iowa, January 31, 1934.

The Board of Supervisors of Hancock county met pursuant to adjourned meeting of January 27, 1934, for the purpose of further considering the matter of selecting the newspapers in which the official publications shall be published for the ensuing year.

After inspecting the lists of subscribers filed by the various contestants, and considering the evidence introduced; and the time having arrived for the selection of the newspapers for said official publications, the board finds that the lists filed by the publishers of the Britt News-Tribune and the Garner Leader and Signal show the largest number of bona fide yearly subscribers within the county, and on motion, the selections are awarded to the Britt News-Tribune and the Garner Leader and Signal.

F. J. Oxley, F. J. Schoun, G. E. Klipping voted "aye".

On motion board adjourned to February 5, 1934.

Carried.
F. J. Oxley, Chairman.
F. C. Missal, Auditor.

Klemme captured one first place in the sub-county declamatory contest held here Monday evening. Novella Bredbenner speaking "Eyes" was the winner in the dramatic section. Second place in that division went to Ruth Tompkins, Garner, who spoke "Ole Mistus". Garner took first place in the oratorical and humorous classes, Evelyn Steiff speaking 'The American Road' in oratorical and Kathleen Mertz speaking "At the Lace Counter" in humorous. Second place in oratorical went to Rudolph Urich, Hayfield who gave "The Supreme Menace" and second place in humorous went to Howard Dennis Goodell who spoke "The Mysterious Pup".

The winners of both first and second place in this contest will speak in the county contest at Garner next Tuesday. Ruth Wellemeyer and Max Barz representing Klemme in the oratorical and humorous classes did very creditable work.

Klemme Grade News

Grades 1 and 2

The 2nd grade enjoyed their post office project last week. We made envelopes, stamps and money. We wrote letters, addressed envelopes and mailed them, too. This week we are going to mail our valentines in the primary post office to be given out Wednesday.

Corrine Merkel Barbara Johnson, Julia Bell and Eunice Larsen had 100 in spelling last week.

In language class we are studying about the important birthdays in February.

Both grades are busy making valentines this week.

Grades 5 and 6

On Monday was the first time grades five and six have had a perfect attendance for three weeks. It seems very nice to have everyone back again.

The sixth grade is very sorry to lose Cecil Leitzinger who has moved to Garner. Now we only have 23 in our room.

We are having a Valentine party in our room on Wednesday afternoon. In our drawing classes for the past few days we have been busy making valentines so that our room will be dressed for the occasion.

In fifth grade geography we are beginning our study of Switzerland. Everyone in sixth grade arithmetic is busy with percentage. We began this new work last week and everyone is getting along nicely.

Grades 7 and 8

Milton Paul is in school again after a two weeks siege of chicken pox.

Our seventh and eighth grade basketball team played two games this week. On Wednesday we played Clarion. While we were defeated by five points the game was in our favor until the last quarter. We defeated Garner on their floor Friday afternoon.

We have a Valentine box in our room and expect to have a small party Wednesday afternoon.

Cans Around The World

PHILLIPS LORD, who created the radio character Seth Parker, is fulfilling a lifetime ambition by sailing completely around the world. Early in December, vast crowds on the historic wharves of Portland, Maine, Governor Louis J. Braun and the entire Maine Legislature which adjourned especially for the purpose, cheered the good ship "Seth Parker" as it set sail with its crew of twenty-five men for a year and a half of adventurous voyaging. Yes, set sail! For the vessel is a four masted schooner; a modernised reincarnation of the sailing ships that color the life of the fictitious "Cap'n Seth" and his seafaring friends.

A Varied Larder

While it retains the picturesque old beauty of the ships of other days, the "Seth Parker" is a marvel of modern equipment as far as its kitchen is concerned. In addition to the tons of fresh foods stowed in its hold it has no less than fifty-five different kinds of canned foods, including such vegetables as baked beans, beets, black eye peas, boiled onions, carrots, mixed vegetables, peas, red beans, red kidney beans, soaked limas, stringless beans, succotash and sweet corn.

The canned fruits include apple sauce, apricots, blueberries, cherries, peaches, pears, pineapple and sliced apples; the meats, corned beef, corn beef hash and frankfurters; the fish canned sea food, codfish cakes and lobster; and the soups asparagus, celery, clam chowder, pea, tomato and vegetable.

In addition to these there are a varied assortment of necessities and luxuries in cans such as brown bread, condensed milk, coffee in vacuum packed cans, evaporated milk, French dressing, honey, horseradish, lobster spread, loganberry juice, mayonnaise, mincemeat, peanut butter, pickles, relish spread, tea, tomato juice and vegetable shortening.

Boston Baked Beans in Borneo

The expedition will need all these, for its itinerary, after leaving America, will include Trinidad, Rio, Buenos Aires, Capetown, Madagascar, Ceylon, Rangoon, Mandalay, Siam, Singapore, Java, the Dutch East Indies, Borneo, Bali, Australia, New Guinea, New Zealand, the Fiji Islands, Solomon Islands, Hawaii, the South Sea Islands, Galapagos and Panama. Then it will sail back up the Atlantic coast.

If, when in Borneo, the crew of the Seth Parker is seized with a longing for Boston Baked Beans, the ship's cook will then be able to produce them. And with them may be served real New England steamed brown bread, also ready at hand in a can. Or if, in far off Madagascar, they have a hankering for apple sauce of the kind that Mother Parker makes in her neat kitchen, their wish can be granted, once more from a can.

Thanks to modern canners the crew of the Seth Parker can feast in the farthest corners of the earth on delicacies, not to mention such necessities to health as the wide variety of fruits and vegetables that contain the all-important vitamins. And all of these edibles will remain fresh until opened in spite of time, temperature, wind or weather.

A Vast Difference in Diet

How amazed an able seaman who shipped before the mast in the old whaling days would be to see such foods appear at "mess." In one of the fascinating tales of life on the rolling deep in the forties, and fifties—"Wooden Ships and Iron Men" by Frederick William Wallace—we find the following description of the fare of that time:

"The usual fare was mouldy beef, salt-struck until it was as tough as leather, fat salt pork not fit for slushing the launching ways, hard bread or sea biscuit made of flour which had the flintiness of Portland cement, a beverage not exactly tea and not exactly coffee, which the men called 'bush grass and mahogany sawdust,' dried peas softened slightly by an enormous amount of soda, and a pea soup manufactured from gravelly. Molasses was used as a sweetener for everything. Gobs of boiled dough called 'duff' was a special treat once or twice a week."

After years of such a diet, sailors must indeed have felt that they deserved the name of "old salt." It was in those times, and after, that the British ships were called "lime juicers" because they were required by law to serve lime juice to the crew to prevent scurvy, as much a hazard to early, sailors as icebergs and tropical monsoons. But now, thanks to the modern canning industry, the dread scurvy has been driven off the sea."

GRADERS WON ONE AND LOST ONE THE PAST WEEK

The Klemme Grade cagers came thru the weeks schedule of play with a victory from the Garner five at Garner and a defeat at the hands of the Clarion grades on the Clarion floor. Failure to make good on their free throws cost them the Clarion game.

Carl Stromer Funeral Held Sunday Afternoon

C. H. STROMER, 66 DIES AT RESIDENCE IN GARNER

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Peace Reformed Church, three and one-half miles north of Klemme, for Mr. Carl Stromer, of Garner, who died at his home Friday morning after an illness of several weeks.

A mixed quartette composed of Mrs. Carl Swanson, Mrs. Anna Greiman, Ben V. Greiman and Victor Hueneman, sang several selections.

Pall bearers were W. H. Greiman Fred Greiman. John and Charles Goll. Art Upmeyer and Will Habercamp. Interment was made at the church cemetery.

Rev. Calvin Schmid who preached the funeral sermon read the following obituary:

It has pleased God to call out of this life Carl Herman Frederick Stromer.

Mr. Stromer was the eldest son of August and Johanna Stromer and wos born in Kartzien, Pommern, Germany on the 16th day of April 1867. He was baptized and as he grew up he attended the rural schools of his home land and after due instruction he was confirmed in the Lutheran church of that place. After confirmation each young lad was expected to take up some trade which would be his life's profession. Young Stromer chose the trade of wagon maker. When he had nearly finished his apprentice ship at the age of 16 years, in the spring of 1883 he and his sister, Hulda came to this country to other relatives who had already preceeded them. His parents followed him and his sister in Oct. of the same year. They came directly to the vicinity of Garner where the other relatives had already located.

He did not follow his profession here but worked with his uncle at carpenter work for about a year after which he worked for some time at the mason trade.

On April 22, 1891 he was married to Minne Sommerlat of Fort Dodge. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Freick who was pastor of the Peace and Zion Reformed churches at that time. After his marriage he continued the mason trade until 1895 when he moved on a farm a mile north of this church. He remained there but a year. Then for the next 18 years he occupied farms owned by Wm. Katter. He then bought a farm of his own which he occupied or two years after which he moved to Garner and again followed the mason trade this time together with his son, Fred.

In 1895 he joined the Peace Reformed Church which became his church home until the time of his death. He was ever a faithful member and readily contributed to its support.

He always enjoyed comparatively good health until about a year ago. About five weeks ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis. For a time it seemed as though he might again recover. Everything possible was done for him. He received the tenderest care on the part of his family but God had ordained differently. He died Friday morning, Feb. 16 at about 4:30 o'clock.

He leaves to mourn his death his beloved wife; three children, Elsie (Mrs. Wm. Baack) Carl of Peoria, Ill. and Fred of Garner; two grandchildren; one brother, Herman Stromer and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Stork and Mrs. Amelia Priebe, three sisters having preceeded him in death.

MASONIC SERVICES ARE HELD AT GARNER FOR STRANDBERG

Garner:—A Masonic funeral was held for Haakon Strandberg at the M. E. church Thursday afternoon, preceded by a service at the home with the Rev. Calvin Schmid officiating. Born in Sweden July 27, 1859 he was married to Elnora Snook. Oct. 8, 1880 and was soon after called for three years of compulsory military service. Then they came to America and lived at Britt a few months and since at Garner where he was a shoemaker.

Mr. Strandberg was a member of Bethel lodge, A. F. and A. M. Bethel Council, R. and S. M., and Relief Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star of Garner and Antioch Commandery of Mason City He held various offices and also was at one time an officer of the Grand Chapter of Iowa.

Mr. Strandberg is survived by his wife, his daughter, now Mrs. Alice Mitchell of Pleasanton, Kans., two granddaughters and two great grandchildren.

YOUNG KLEMME COUPLE WERE MARRIED HERE THURSDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Neuberger Will Live On Farm Near Klemme

Miss Emma Christians and Mr. Wm. Neuberger were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Reformed church Thursday afternoon, February 15th, at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch, pastor, officiated at the ceremony.

The couple were attended at the altar by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, the latter being a sister of the bride.

The bride was dressed in Alice blue and her maid in Royal blue. The groom wore a suit of oxford gray.

Mrs. Newberger is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Christians and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neuberger. Both were raised in this community and were fine young people.

They will go to housekeeping soon on the Moberly farm east and south of Klemme.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE REPORT

A total of $625.32 was taken in on the annual Christmas seal sale for December 1933 in Hancock Co. There were 40 rural schools in the county that were 100 percent in that every family in the school district contributed some amount. Miss Henrietta Nelson was the first to send in a 100 percent report. She was followed in order by Miss Mildred Segerstrom and Miss Geneva Hanan. Miss Viola Thorson sent in the highest average contribution per family.

From the T B. Survey of Hncock County made by Miss Ruth Walker. Red Cross nurse, the following information is taken: out of a total of 65 patients in the county the past 25 years thirty-eight were in the sanatorium at Oakdale the past 10 years. Out of an average of ten persons attending the sanatorium six weeks and less than 6 months there are 6 living with only four dead. Christmas seal funds paid all these expenses.

SHAMROCKS DROP CONFERENCE GAME TO HAYFIELD 26-23

Shamrock Reserves Win Over Rival Seconds 22-12

The Klemme Shamrocks lost their final conference game of the year to the Hayfield High School cagers on the local floor Monday night 26-23. Arnold was outstanding on defense for Klemme while the two Taylor boys of Hayfield looked best. Brown, Klemme guard was unable to stop his man, who chalked up 15 points to take scoring honors for the evening. Keeper was high for Klemme with 5 goals and 2 charity shots, while Stokesbary and Brown each got two field goals with the latter chalking up 3 gift shots.

The Shamrocks started the scoring for the evening with three free hrows. Hayfield retaliated with 3 gift shots and 2 goals. Klemme was able to get another goal to trail at the quarter 7-5. Hayfield then increased their lead at the half to 17-12 and at the start of the third quarter ran their score up to 21 to 12. The Klemme boys then proceeded to get hot and at the middle of the fourth quarter led 23-22. The Hayfield boys then came through with two goals to put the game on ice for them.

The Klemme seconds after allowng the Hayfield boys to pile up a lead of seven points started a scoring spree that netted them 22 points while the Hayfield Reserves were making five, Klemme winning the game 22-12.

CORN-HOG PROGRAM IN COUNTY PAST CLEAN-UP PHASE IS

Uncle Sam's program to reduce corn production 20 percent and hog farrowings 25 porcent in Hancock County advanced another step this week with completing of the clean up campaign and a move toward electing permanent committees.

A total of 1600 farmers in 16 township contracted with the government during the signup days held in Hancock County, according to County Agent S. b. Oberhauser. Up to this time, the county agent said 95 percent of the eligible farmers have signed contracts.

Hancock County farmers are enthusiastic about the corn-hog program and it is expected that farmers in this county will cooperate nearly 100 percent before the campaign is over.

During the cleanup phase of the program local workers visit all farmers who have not signed contracts and invite them to cooperate with the government in reducing corn and hog production.

If a farmer prefers not to sign, the local workers ask him for information about corn and hog production on his farm during the last two years. This is the same information requested in the corn-hog work sheet.

Contracts are being checked as rapidly as possible in the county agent office. It is not known when it will be possible for farmers to receive benefit payments, but Dr. A. G. Black, chief corn-hog administrator, in a recent statement said that payments would be made by corn planting time.

Liberty, Amsterdam and Crystal townships elected their permanent committees Saturday.

The corn hog signers of Concord township are holding their permanent Organization meeting in the Court Room in Garner on Satnrday February 24, at 1 o'clock. All but a few of the townships will complete the permanent organization meetings this week.

1,501 HANCOCK FARMERS SIGN CORN-HOG CONTRACTS

Garner:—According to County Agent S. J.Oberhauser, 1,501 Hancock county farmers signed the corn-hog reduction contracts. Three townships. Crystal, Amsterdam and Liberty met Saturday to elect the permanent township committees. Madison township will elect its permanent committee Feb.21. Farmers in four school districts in Boone township signed up 100 per cent. Ellington, Bingham, Avery, Madison and Liberty townships each report one district signed 100 per cent. The clean-up campaign is expected to be finished this week. Sixty farmers signed up last week.

COUNTY BASKETBALL TOURNEY AT BRITT THIS WEEK

The annual Hancock County basketball tournament will be held in Britt on Friday and Saturday, February 23 and 24. Nine games in all will be played starting at 2o'clock on the afternoon of February 23. Goodell and Klemme play the first game. Following in line Woden plays Kanawha at 3 o'clock, Hayfield plays Garner at 4 o'clock. Crystal Lake plays Corwith at 7:30 in the evening and then Britt plays the winner of the Goodell-Klemme game.

Saturday afternoon games start at 2:00 p. m. with the winners of the Woden-Kanawha and Hayfield-Garner games competing. At 3 o'clock the winner of the Crystal Lake Corwith tilt plays the winner of the Britt-Goodell-Klemme game. The consolation game is scheduled for 7:30 in the evening and the final game for the championship at 8:30.

Officials are Schmickle, of Scranton and Starr, of Gilmore City. The Britt school band will furnish music and trophies will be awarded the county champions, the champions of the Seven Eagles conference and the basket ball used in the tournament wil go to the runners-up of the tournament.

STATE TO BEGIN DRIVE ON LICENSE EVADERS

Warn Car Owners Who Buy Out Of State Licenses to Reduce Costs

A drive against car owners who are using out of state licenses has been started by the Iowa Motor Vehicle department.

Special emphasis is being made to stop Iowa residents from going or sending to nearby state for auto plates. The state department is having trouble along this line in all border counties, and especially the northern tier many owners going to Minnesota where licenses are much cheaper.

Accordig to state law, persons who do this are subject to costs, must buy Iowa plates, pay a full year with penalty and may even be subject to a heavy fine.

As soon as a person moves into Iowa, he must pay for Iowa car license plates. Most states, however will give a rebate if owner turns in his plates when he finds out he has to move to another state.

These regulations do not apply to visitors. Such persons by applying to the county treasurer may be issued a visitors permit.

The state department is issuing a warning first and then will conduct a thorough campaign to check up on out of state licenses.

KLEMME GRADES LOSE THIRD GAME IN SERIES TO GARNER

The Klemme grade basketball team journeyed to Garner Friday afternoon where they were defeated 15 to 6. The Klemme boys were not up to their usual style andfailed to display the sort of game that has brought them two victories over the Garner grades already this season.

MEN AND BOYS INVITED TO ANNUAL F. AND S. BANQUET

Ladies Aid Will Serve Big Dinner At 25 Cents Per Plate

Every man and boy in this community is invited to attend the Second Annual Father and Son banquet to be held at the Methodist Church this Thursday evening, February 22nd.

Men, bring your son and if you haven't a son, bring some boy with you as your guest for the evening. The price is very reasonable, 25 cents per plate, so it is within the reach of everyone and every man and boy should attend.

The ladies promise real eats: breaded pork chops, mashed potatoes, gravy, vegetables, pickles, Washington desert and coffee—and wide range in the germination of Serving begins at 6:30 p. m. Get your tickets at the stores and be there early. Good program after the dinner.

HEAVY PLANTING OF LEGUMES IS EXPECTED

DesMoines:— The state department of agriculture announced today that indications are that there will be heavy planting of legume seed this spring on land taken out of cultivation under the crop reduction plan. It is important that only good clean seed be planted as cheap seed may contaminate the farm with bad weeds which will be difficult to eradicate, the department said.

Only tested seed, free from noxious weeds, should be purchased, the department said.

LOCATE NEW WELL CAREFULLY

Should Be On Opposite Side Of House From Toilet, Cesspool

When it becomes necessary to locate a new well, select a position on high ground on the side of the house opposite the toilet and cesspool. if you want a safe water supply.

That is the advice of L. J. Murphy of the Engineering Extension Service of Iowa State College, who found in a recent survey that the water supply of three out of four midwestern arms is polluted.

Many wells become contaminated from surface wash and underground seepage from the barnyard, toilet or cesspool. Place your well in a location such that the ground around the well isn't apt to be water-logged at any time.

CONTRACT IS LET FOR PAVING OF VIADUCT

The Wright Construction company of Des Moines were low bidders and were awarded the contract to complete the 0.346 miles of paving on primary road number 15 which crosses the new viaduct west of Garner. The letting of the contract as held by the Iowa State highway commission recently. The work will be started early in the spring or as soon as the frost is out of the new grade.

TWELVE SENT FORTH

LESSON TEXT Matthew 9 35-11:1.

GOLDEN TEXT—Then saith he unto his disciples The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few, pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest Matt 9 37, 38.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Twelve Workers for Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC — Twelve Workers for Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC How to Win Others to Christ

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Why Win Others to Christ?

I. Jesus' Compassion for the Multitude (9:35-38)

As he went on his rounds preaching the gospel of the kingdom, he saw the multitude as sheep having no shepherd and his sympathy for them was aroused. This moved him

1 To declare that the harvest was plenteous but the laborers were few (v 37) He saw the whole needy world as a ripened field of grain ready to be harvested with but few who were willing to labor in the harvest field.

2 To ask them to pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into the harvest (v 38) Those whom he would send forth as laborers into his harvest field he desired to be imbued with the spirit of sympathy which would move them to pray for the thrusting forth of laborers.

II The Laborers Chosen (10:1-4)

These twelve humble men were chosen and commissioned to carry forth the work of the propagation of the kingdom

III The Sending Forth of the Twelve (10 5 42)

The sending forth of the twelve shows the methods adopted by Jesus Christ in the propagation of the kingdom. It should be clearly borne in mind that this chapter does not outline the policy of missionary endeavor in the present age. In order to show the dispensational aspects of the lesson, the following divisions of the chapter are suggested:

1 Instructions bearing immediately upon the apostles' work to the death of Christ (vv. 5-15). Observe a The sphere of their mission (vv. 5, 6) They were to go only to the Jews. They had no message for Gentiles or even Samaritans. No such restriction obtains with reference to ministers today

b. Their message (v. 7). "The kingdom of heaven is at hand." By this is meant the promised kingdom of Israel was at hand—Jesus Christ, the promised king, was present and ready to set up his kingdom. The Jews rejected and crucified him. In this time of his rejection the church is being selected from all the nations.

c. The supernatural authentication of their mission (v 8). They were clothed with power to work miracles.

d. Their maintenance (vv. 9, 10) They were to make no provision for their support, but to depend wholly upon the Lord who sent them. Since they had received the message and power gratuitously, they were to give it out in the same way.

e. The responsibilities of those to whom the message was delivered (vv 11 15) If the people would not receive them or hear their message they were to turn away and pronounce judgment upon them

2. Instructions concerning the testimony from the day of Pentecost onward (vv. 16-23). After Pentecost testimony for Christ would be fraught with great danger. Both Jews and Gentiles would assail the messengers with the most bitter persecutions. How appallingly this has been fulfilled! Christ's witnesses have been scourged in the synagogues before heathen magistrates. Instead of bringing peace to the homes, Christ's witnesses have brought divisions of the fiercest kind among many families. In their defense the missionaries were to rely upon the Holy Spirit to aid them These conditions were literally experienced in the period from Pentecost to the destruction of Jerusalem Since the fall of Jerusalem no one has been scourged in a synagogue. Verse 23 seems to carry the work forward to the time of the preaching of the kingdom in the tribulation time. The Lord's coming is so speedy that their testimony is cut short.

3. The teaching applicable in all ages (vv 24-42). The disciple has the position of oneness with the Master. He is, therefore, courageously to declare the whole counsel of God, though most violently opposed Though their testimony results in bitter opposition, the messenger should not be surprised or discouraged, for so completely is the Lord identified with his disciples that he accepts treatment of them as treatment of himself.

Jesus the Master

When we read the New Testament in the actual words of our Master are we never startled to discover how exacting a Master he is? Never has there been a religious teacher who has made so great a demand upon human

LOST 20 LBS OF FAT IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at P. M. Wilson's or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Former Local Boy Promoted

Word has been received from Vernon Turgasen, now of Louisville, Kentucky that during a recent meeting of the Armour Co. in Chicago he was the recipient of a nice promotion. He was formerly in charge of the Laboratories of the Produce Division of Armour & Co., and in addition to this is now Supt. of the Butter Manufacturing for the entire organization and has some 30 creameries under his supervision.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Turgasen, of Louisville, Kentucky, are the parents of a baby girl born to them on Monday, February 12th. The little miss has been named Nancy Lee. Mr. Turgasen is the eldest son of Mrs. Sadie Turgasen, of Klemme who now bears the title of grandmother.

LOCAL COUPLE CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING

The celebration of the Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krouse of Klemme, sponsored by their children and prepared as a surprise event, was held Wednesday February 14th, in the basement of the Klemme Reformed Church.

Relatives and neighbors attended a twelve o'clock dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Krouse at the head of their table. At the table, over which Mr. and Mrs. Krouse presided, sat Mr. and Mrs. Karl Krause, Albert Krause, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Krause, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bachman and Reverend and Mrs. Grosshuesch. In the center of the table between four cleverly arranged candles was a huge heart shaped wedding cake with a tiny bride andgroom on it. The names Krause and Blumer (Mrs. Krause's name before her marriage fifty years ago) were written on the cake in gold.

Reverend Grosshuesch, pastor of the church led in the opening ceremonies. During the dinner Arlo Krause sang and played her guitar. Mildred Blumer played her accordion. After dinner the Reverend read a scripture in the German language and gave a short German talk for the benefit of the older guests. Since many of the younger folks fail to understand that language, he terminated his portion of the program with a few words spoken in the English language All joined in singing "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds."

After the serving and the necessary introductions made each person enjoyed himself visiting with friends long since seen. Some musical numbers were put on by the Ulrich children.

Photographs were taken by a representative of the Fritch Studio.

After supper, the guests departed for their respective homes with the exception of Mr. and Mrs Will Krause and Retha from Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hackley of Rowan, Jake Krause and children, Henry Krause, John Kraus and daughter, Lenora of Edgewood, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kraus and Arlene, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Krause who gathered at the Albert Krause home to spend the evening with the bride and groom of fifty years.

Chanley Kraus and Miss Nona Blumer were married February 14, 1884, at Garner by the Rev. Mr. Mossback. They lived at Garner for ten years following their marriage and Mr. Kraus worked at his trade as a blacksmith. Later they moved to Klemme and located on a farm one mile north of town. Today they are making their home on the same farm with their son, Albert, and altho Mr. Kraus is 75 years of age and his wife 72, they still enjoy good health.

After first moving to the farm they lived there for five years and then moved to Klemme where they lived or five years and then returned to the farm. Mr. Kraus, however, continued to run the blacksmith shop for about three years more before actively retiring to take up farming. During this time Mrs. Kraus and son, Carl, operated the farm.

Mr. Kraus worked at the blacksmith trade for twenty-five years. He began this work at the age of 12 .He came to Clayton county from Germany at the age of five years and it was there he grew to manhood and received his education.

Mrs. Kraus came from Germany at the age of 20. She came to the John Goll sr., home near Garner, Mrs. Goll being an aunt.

Six children came to bless the Krause home. There were four sons and two daughters. One daughter, Louise. died Oct. 18, 1902 at the age of 20 and a son, Alvin died at the age of two months in 1899 The children now living are Carl, Albert Emil and Mrs. Matilda Bachman, all of Klemme. There are also eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Kraus has a brother, Christ Blumer, living in New Knoxville, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. August Kaater of Garner. Mr. Krause has four brothers, John, Jake and Henry Kraus of Clayton county and Will Kraus of Garner and a sister, Mrs. Emma Schwichtenberg, of Klemme.

Spring--

---Is just around the corner

It won't be long now until you will want the old brooder house put in shape or maybe you are planning on a new one this spring. We have a model brooder house built here at the yard: Double Floor, Lined, Fresh Air Intake, and your choice of a James Way or Hudson Brooder Stove. Come in and look them over. If you want a cheaper house we can build it for you. We have plans for a house will hold 750 chicks that we can build for about $65.00. Let us show you this.

When getting the old broder house lined up for use don't forget to thoroughly disinfect it. GERM-A-RID is a very good disinfectant and germ killer. Clean out your house good, then spray it with G-A-R before you put in the little chicks. Then spray it good about every ten days and we will guarantee your chicks to stay free from mites and lice. It's guaranteed, if you will follow directions. If not satisfied, it won't cost you a cent. Try it out.

DON'T FORGET WE HAVE A COMPLETE LINE OF IMPLEMENTS

You, no doubt, will need some piece of machinery this spring. Come in and look over our line. Maybe we can help you out. Come in anyway. What about your repair list have you checked up onthis? Do it now and get your repairs ordered. Don't wait until its time to go into the field.

Save Money On Ranges

BY BUYING THE BEST!

You can pay more money but you can't buy a better Range at any price than the NEW GLOW MAID

In these days when necessity demands that every one watch their nickels and pennies, it is only natural that COST should be uppermost in your mind every time you make a purchase—especially on such a major item as a new kitchen range.

A kitchen range receives harder usage than any other appliance you put in your home. Day after day it is fired hot, allowed to cool and then fired hot again. The wear and tear is tremendous. Unless every part is sturdily and ruggedly built to stand this abuse, parts soon start wearing out and from then on the range is subject to expensive replacement of parts.

The original price of your new Glow Maid really represents its total cost, because Globe ranges are designed to serve efficiently and economically and they are so built that they give years and years of added service on the wearing parts.

If you are interested in economy; if you are interested in VALUE, then we are sure you will be interested in the Glow Maid.

Come in and see our ranges, all sizes, in all colors of enamel

March 1 Moving Date For Many In This Community

VERY LITTLE MOVING IN TOWN MARCH FIRST

But Few Moving Away; Some New Families In Community

March first again marks the date for moving from one place to another. As usual there is more or less moving in this community again this spring. We are listing the changes we know of.

The Richard Ax family are moving to the Ed Buntenbach farm east of town as Mr. Ax will work for Buntenbach this coming year. Dwight Helps moves to house vacated by Richard Ax and will work for Ed Becker.

Tiggeman who lives in town will work for Albert Barz.

Herman Schuldt has quit farming and will move to town with his family and will live in Mrs. Haupt's house. Tho Schuldt farm has been rented by John Waddingham, who is this year starting out farming.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Trampel and daughter, Wemkie, are moving from their farm south-east of Klemme to Kamrar. Their farm will be worked by their son, John and wife, recently married. The Trampels own a 240 acre farm near Kamrar which they yill farm this year. Harmen Trampel will help his brother on the home place near Klemme.

The Welch family, who have been living in the tenant house on the E. J. Arnold farm, are moving to Minnesota. Verner Lewis and family will move to the Arnold farm and Mr. Lewis will work for Mr. Arnold this coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. William Neuberger who were recently married, are starting out farming this spring and will move onto the Moberly farm, east and south of Klemme. Harlow Helps who has been farming the Moberly place moves to a farm north and east of Klemme which is vacated by the Ferry Tibbits family. The Tibbits family are moving to a farm one mile west of the Lutheran church, west and north of Ventura.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thieman, who were recently married, will start farming this year east of Klemme on the Peter Merkel farm. Peter Merkel has quit farming and had a sale recently.

Over in the Goodel 1 territory, Jake Watermiller is moving off of the Hall farm west of Goodell, to a farm south-east of Klemme which will be vacated by the Pearson family. Earl Ruka will farm the Hall place this coming year.

Another change in the Goodell territory is listed. J. W. McMurray who has been farming the Gus O'Krueg section moves to the old Richardson farm east of the section

Out in Liberty township H. J. Stille, who recently had a sale, is moving to Klemme. The Stille family will move into the John Gruetzmacher house. Fred Wilson who has been farming the Wegman section northwest of Klemme is moving to the Stille farm.

Alvin Stokesbary moves from Liberty township to a farm near Garden City, Minnesota. Paul Havilick from near Britt, moves on the farm vacated by Stokesbary.

Andrew Brown and family who have been living on the old Suckow place in Liberty township are moving to a farm near Hayfield. James Vrba who comes from the Duncan neighborhood has purchased the Suckow farm and will move on March first.

Joe Simon who has been living on the A. R. White farm just south of Klemme has rented a farm near St. Olaf, west of Kanawha where they move March 1st. Albert White moves to the White farm vacated by Simon. Joe Burgess comes from the Goodell territory and moves to the farm south of Klemme vacated by Albert White.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beek who have been living in the rooms above the Lewis Produce Store this winter are moving to the country as Mr. Beek will work for Ted Albers this year. Mr. and Mrs. Ohas McKee will move into the rooms vacated by the Beeks. Woert Loger has rented the U. G. Smid farm where the McKees have been living.

Ernest Pringnitz who has been working for Lew Griffen has rented one of Mrs. Haupt' farms and 80 acres from Herman Schuldt southwest of Klemme and will move on March first. This is the place which Mike Kinsella is now farming. We understand he moves to a farm north of Klemme.

Bertus Stadtlander, who has been farming about six miles east of Klemme will move to the old Conrad Bier farm in Avery township. Irve Beier has been farming that place but March 1st will find him on the Lew Avery farm, also in Avery township. Mr. and Mrs. Lew Avery, we understand, are moving to the town of Goodell.

Henry Dirks, from the Meservey community, is moving to the farm vacated by Bertus Stadtlander east of Klemme.

Ic Hammit and Henry Gober are exchanging places on the Zinn farms northeast of Klemme. Mr. Gobert is in charge of the several farms.

C. H. Peterson of Nora Springs is moving on the Weigman section northwest of Klemme.

Hamo Beek is changing farms this year and is moving to the Hetland farm near Goodell.

Tim Gerdes, who comes from east of Belmond, moved on the farm 3 miles west of Meservey which was vacated by Hamo Beek.

Ralph Ludeke moves from the farm at the west edge of Klemme to a farm two miles east of Garner Mr. Hrubes and family of the Duncan community are moving to the place vacated by Ludeke. Mr. Hrubes purchased the farm some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heginger and Mr. and Mrs. Taus Harms, both couples recently married, will start farming this year on a place seven miles directly north of Ventura.

Irve Langlitz and family will move to the Hall farm near Goodell which has been rented by Earl Ruka. Mr. Langlitz will work for Mr. Ruka this coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Beek have moved to the tenant house on the Fred Walker farm. as Mr. Beek will work for the Walkers this year.

Martin Karsjens and family are moving to the L. H. Griffen farm as Mr. Karsjens will work for Lew Griffen this coming year.

NOVELLA BREDBENNER WINS A FIRST PLACE IN CONTEST

Klemme Girl Is Placed First In Dramatic Division Of Contest

In the County Declamatory Contest held at Garner last week on Tuesday evening Novella Bredbenner brought honor to herself and to the Klemme High School by winning first place in the Dramatic division. Leona Freerksen of Kanawha took second place. In the Oratorical division Lawrence Schaal, of Corwith, placed first and Evelyn Steiff, Garner, second. Corwith won another first place when Charpel Houswirth took first in humorous. Erva Kalvig, Kanawha was second place winner.

THREE SCHOOLS SPLIT HONORS AT DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Delores Cook Won First Place In Dramatic

Garner, Klemme and Belmond each won first place rankings in the state preliminary declamatory contest held at Goodell Monday night. Luick Belmond, second; dramatic, Delores Cook, Klemme, first; Veona Townsan, Belmond, second; humorous, Jean Hake, Belmond, first; Robert Zeismer, Garner, second; Judges were Supt. A. E. Rankin, Elizabeth Milne and Mrs. Mable Ranking of Hampton.

AVERY TWP. YOUNG COUPLE WERE MARRIED FRIDAY

John Trampel And Minnie Beek Married At Reformed Church

The marriage of Miss Minnie Beek and Mr. John Trampel was solemnized at the Klemme Reformed Church Friday afternoon, February 23 at 3:00 o'clock, Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch officiating.

Witnesses of the ceremony were Miss Anna Trampel as bridesmaid, sister of the groom; and Mr. Arthur Conners, best man.

The bride wore a dark green silk flat crepe dress and the bridesmaid was dressed in medium green silk flat crepe. The groom wore the conventional blue serge, and the best man wore a brown suit.

Mrs. Trampel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hemmo Beek, who farm in Avery township. Mr. Trampel is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Trampel, who also are farmers in Avery township. Both of these young people are highly respected in their community and are fine young people. They will live on the Peter Trampel farm as Mr. and Mrs. Trampel are moving to their other farm near Kamrar.

The Times joins with the many friends of the young couple in wishing happiness and success in great measure.

Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given to Mrs. Dora Swanson Lawhorn at the Charles Lawhorn home in Garner Thursday afternoon. About 35 friends and relatives were in attendance and Mrs. Lawhorn received many beautiful and useful gifts. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

BEEF CATTLEMEN OF COUNTY MEET TO PLAN PROGRAM

A meeting of beef feeders and breeders will be held in Garner on Friday afternoon, March 2, at 1:30 at the Court House to discuss what plans can be formulated to bring beef production under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, says Ben V. Greiman, who has been instructed to issue a call for such a gathering.

This county meeting is expected to try and line up what they believe should be the state policy in order to get the best returns to farmers interested in this part of agriculture. At the county meting it is expected that a delegate will be chosen who will represent this county at the state meeting called for March 7th at Des Moines.

PAUL MUELLER RE-ELECTED MANAGER OF CREAMERY CO.

At the meeting of the board of directors and officers of the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. last Wednesday evening Paull Mueller was named as manager for the coming year. George Carolus and Wayne Pavey are Mueller's assistants for the coming year.

Mr. Mueller states that he accepted a lower salary for the coming year.

Goodell High School Basketeers Hang Shamrocks Scalp Up High

GOODELL HIGH SCHOOL WINS BY DECISIVE SCORE

The basketball game between the Goodell and Klemme High Schools at the county tournament at Britt Friday afternoon meant more than a mere game to the two schools. For some time there has been a keen rivarly between the schools and with each school winning one game from the other during the season, and with a game played at Belmond between the two schools the outcome of which was somewhat in dispute, this game at the tournament gave an opportunity to settle the argument.

For three quarters the two teams battled on even terms, then in the 4th quarter the Goodell five decided to put on steam and the way they rolled up scores in that quarter "was nobody's business." When the final gun sounded Goodell led the Klemme boys 27 to 18. No argument about that whatever.

Goodell high school has a mighty good team and they can hold their own against most class B teams in this part of the state.

Now that the argument is ended Klemme should concede the fact that Goodell has the best team and the two schools should bury the hatchet.

Klemme Shamrocks Will Meet Thompson At Garner

COUNTY B. B. TOURNAMENT IS WON BY BRITT SCHOOL

Goodell Defeats Klemme In First Round Of Play

As indicated by the pre-tournament dope, Britt won the Hancock county basketball tournament held at Britt last Friday and Saturday. Britt defeated Garner 35 to 9 in the final game.

Goodell and Klemme opened the tournament Friday afternoon with Goodell winning 27 to 18. Kanawha defeated Woden 20 to 16 in a game that was close all the way thru. Garner barely nosed out Hayfield 14 to 13 in the final game Friday afternoon.

In the Friday evening games, Corwith defeated Crystal Lake 28 to 20 in a well played contest. Britt overwhelmed Goodell 43 to 11.

The semi-final games found Garner meeting Kanawha and Britt playing Corwith. Garner again was able to win by a one point margin 20 to 19. Britt won over Corwith 34 to 22 with the Corwith boys playing a splendid game against the strong Britt team.

In the consolation game for third place Saturday evening Corwith mopped the floor with Kanawha 26 to 7. In the championship final Britt also ran away from Garner 35 to 9.

Following the Britt-Garner game Supt. Fish of Goodell, president of the Hancock County Schoolmasters Club, presented the winners trophy to Britt and the basketball to Garner, 2nd place winners. He also presented the trophy to Kanawha, champions of the Seven Eagles conference.

TOWNSHIP DIRECTORS TO MEET TO FORM CONTROL GROUP

Township directors from every township in Hancock are meeting today, Wednesday, February 28, at Garner to organize the permanent Hancock County Corn-Hog control Association, according to an announcement by County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

Every producer who has signed a corn-hog contract and accepted the adjusted figures will be a member of this association. Township directors, elected to the permanent township committees, compose the board of directors of the county control association. This board will elect a president who will also be chairman of the county allotment committee. From two to four members of the board of directors of the association in addition to the president, will serve on the county allotment committee.

A vice-president, secretary and treasurer for the association will be elected.

Township directors who will meet at Garner Wednesday are: Ben V. Greiman, Liberty; Howard Barger, Avery; Alfred Josten, Ell; Victor Loebig, Boone; Miller Townsend, Britt; George Meinecke, Ellington; Ed Nedved, Garfield; Rudolph Beinert, Madison; A. C. Frederickson, Crystal; Fred Gerdes, Bingham; E. J. Andregg, Erin; Omar Maland, Amsterdam; Sam Barber, Twin Lake; Carl Woiwood, Concord; Edgar Clapsaddle, Orthel; Wm. Puffer Magor.

LOCAL COUPLE WIN TELEPHONE TROPHY SHIELD

At the telephone convention held at Des Moines last Wednesday and Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson were presented with the Trophy Shield for winning a recent contest among the exchanges of the Iowa Union Telephone Co. They won first place honors by adding more new telephone users than any other exchange in proportion to the size of Klemme.

A school of instruction for operators was held in connection with the convention.

SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT AT GARNER THIS WEEK END

Tourney Pairings Published Here; Shamrocks Meet Thompson

Pairings for the sectional basketball tournament to be held in Garner on March 1, 2 and 3 have been announced. A total of fifteen teams will compete, seven of them being Class A schools and eight from Class B schools. The tournament will get under way Thursday evening, March 1, with all of the first round games for Class A being played that evening. Belmond draws the bye for Class A and will not play in the first round. Britt vs. Buffalo Center at 7 o'clock; Forest City vs. Garner at 8; and Kanawha vs. Lake Mills at 9 to make up the Thursday evening menu. Class B games will get under way at 1:30 Friday afternoonnoon. March 2 when Corwith meets Crystal Lake. Goodell and Hayfield play at 2:30 and Klemme and Thompson at 3:30.

The class B first round games will be completed with a game between Ventura and Wesley at 7 o'clock on Friday evening with the Class A semi-finals following at 8 and 9 o'clock. Belmond will play the winner of the Britt-Buffalo Center game at 8 and the winner of the Forest City-Garner game will playthe winner of the Kanawha-Lake Mills game at 9. Class B finals will be played at 1:30 and 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The class B. final championship game will begin at 7:30 Saturday evening with the Class A championship game following at 9 o'clock.

Many fine evenly matched games are promised for this tournament. In the upperhalf of the Class A bracket. Belmond and Britt are expected to meet in the semi-final game Friday evening. These two teams met twice during the regular season, each winning on its home floor and this will be the rubber game between two of the strongest teams of this section. Garner defeated Belmond on the Garner floor during the regular season and must be conceded a chance to defeat Britt or Belmond if they can win their way thru to the finals.

The class B teams are so evenly matched as to make the prediction of a winner impossible. In fact, practically every one of the eight schools has a chance of emerging victorious. Wesley is reported to be quite strong this year, but whether or not they can defeat the best of the Hancock County class B schools and the Thompson team from Winnebago county remains to be seen. At any rate, these Class B games promise to be thrillers for those who like their games close.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS GIVES MEMBERS FAREWELL DINNER

The Good Fellowship class of the Methodist Sunday school gave a farewell dinner Sunday in honor of Ralph Ludeke and family. who are leaving our community. The affair was attended by thirty or more people and all enjoyed a fine dinner together. Talks were given by C. A. Larsen, president of the class and by Rev. Ralston. Mr. and Mrs. Ludeke both responded with talks.

Mr. Ludeke has been the teacher of this class for several years and Mrs. Ludeke has been superintendent of the primary department for the past four years. The Ludeke's have always been active in church work and they will be greatly missed. The best wishes of the Sunday School and the community go with them to their new home near Garner.

JESUS' TESTIMONY CONCERNING HIMSELF

LESSON TEXT Matthew 11:2-12.50

GOLDEN TEXT Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.—Matt. 11.28.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Shows He Is God's Son

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows He Is God's Son

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Who Jesus Was.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Tells Who He Is

I. How the Kingdom Was Received (ch. 11)

In showing the attitude of the people toward the king and his kingdom four classes of hearers are described.

1. The perplexed hearers, like John the Baptist (vv. 2-11)

John believed that Jesus was the Christ (v. 2) but was somewhat perplexed as to the manner of the establishment of the kingdom. In the Old Testament predictions two lines in the Messianic prophecies are presented. The one sets him forth as the suffering one (Isa. 53); the other as the invincible conqueror (Isa. 56:3). Indeed, in Isaiah 60:1, 2 we have the two advents in one view (Luke 4:17-21). The Baptist had in his preaching mainly emphasized the prophecies which made the king to be a mighty conqueror (Matt. 3:10-12). He said the axe is laid unto the root of the tree; that the chaff was to be separated from the wheat and the chaff burned. John saw Christ as the one who would remove the sins of his people by the shedding of his blood (John 1:27), but he failed to see the interval between the time of his suffering and the time of his triumph. John's faith was not failing him, neither did he send this deputation to Jesus for the sake of his disciples. He was a true prophet and a faithful man but was perplexed.

2. The violent hearers (vv. 12-19). These were willing to receive the kingdom according to their own way but were not willing to conform to its laws. They were ready to seize it with violent hands. Christ had told them before the coming of John the Baptist, the prophets and the law were the source of ascertaining the divine will and that if they would receive John, he would be the Elijah to lead them into the kingdom age. Their ears were closed to everything but their own selfish desires. They would not repent when called upon to do so by John, nor rejoice when called upon to do so by Christ (vv. 17-19).

3. The stout-hearted unbelievers (vv. 20-24). In Chorazin, Bethsaida, and Capernaum Christ had done most of his mighty works but the people deliberately set their hearts against him and his message. It was not for lack of knowledge and opportunity that they were unsaved but because of their purposeful rejection of Christ. Tyre and Sidon, Sodom and Gomorrha were filled with immoral profligates and idolators, but they will be more tolerably dealt with in the day of judgment than those who willfully reject Jesus Christ.

4. Hearers who are babes in spirit (vv. 25-30). There were some among the people who heard Jesus with child like faith. Christ invites these to come to him and receive rest.

II. The Antagonism to the King and the Kingdom (ch. 12).

The immediate occasion for their wicked determination was what Christ did on the Sabbath day.

1. Jesus' relation to the Sabbath (v. 21). The hungry disciples were plucking corn on the Sabbath. With this the Pharisees found fault. To their cavils Jesus replied and showed that God's purpose in instituting the Sabbath was to serve man's highest interests.

2. The Pharisees hold a council to destroy him (v. 14).

3. Blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, the unpardonable sin (vv. 22-32). The occasion of their blasphemy was the casting out of the demon. The effect of this work was twofold.

a. Upon the multitude (vv. 22, 23). They were amazed and cried out: "Is not this the son of David?" implying that his mighty works indicated him to be the Messiah.

b. Upon the Pharisees (vv. 24-32). When they heard what the people were saying their anger and satanic malice were aroused. They did not deny the miracle but sought to account for it without acknowledging him as the Messiah. Therefore they affirmed that he was in league with the devil. Christ exposes their folly and charges them with awful guilt. They attributed the work of the Holy Spirit to the devil. This Christ calls blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, for which there is no pardon.

The Highest Power

Everyone likes to be powerful. Religion wields the greatest power in the universe, the power of God. We are not praying at all unless we expect things to happen because of our prayers that would not happen otherwise.

MASON CITY IOWA

High School Notes

Miss Holstrom from the State University of Iowa gave the entire school an illustrated lecture on Dental Hygiene. Miss Holstrom stated that neglected, diseased teeth in the mouths of children are frequently the source of much poor health during childhood. The plan for Dental Health Education is a community project demanding the best effort of school, home and the dental profession.

Three points for good health and teeth were stressed: proper food, visit dentist and brush teeth. The lecture and free supplies were made possible because of Christmas Seal money. Bulletins, dental honor rolls and card were given to the school.

Lovella Bredbenner won first place in the dramatic section of the county declamatory contest at Garner last Tuesday evening. She had particularly hard competition as one other contestant had the same selection as she had. She brought back to the school a small silver loving-cup. The two other firsts were taken by Corwith.

There were not many left in high school Friday afternoon as we were well represented at the tournament at Britt.

Grades 1 and 2

The primary children were much impressed with the talk and series of pictures about our teeth given in the H. S. Assembly last week.

The 2nd graders are busy making a scrap book for our reading table.

Our hand work and language lessons last week were centered around Washington's birthday.

Laurence Bock, Julia Bell and Eunice Larsen were our star spellers last week.

Grades 3 and 4

The third grade are beginning a new supplementary reader. The Child Story Reader. This is their fourth reader this year. They are making workbooks to go with them.

The fourth grade is beginning the study of the South Central States in Geography.

Next month we will work on our March project which will include the study of Holland.

Grades 5 and 6

We began school on Monday with everyone present but Elnor Schmidt. We hope that she will be able to join us soon.

Grades five and six had a party in honor of Stanley Ludeke on Tuesday afternoon. Stanley is moving near Garner. We are very sorry to lose him.

Every one is spending all of his spare time studying for the home spelling contest which is to be held Thursday afternoon.

Dorance Grange and Donald Lemke went to Britt on Friday afternoon to attend the County basketball tournament.

RABBITS ARE GAME

One of the most often asked questions coming to the Fish and Game Department is that of the status of rabbits in the regulaions. The entire Leporidae group such as rabbits and hares are classified as game in the regulations. Consequently all laws or regulations pertaining to game apply to rabbits as well as other game. The question is often asked if jackrabbits are protected. The Leporidae graup or rabbit family declared to be game in the regulations includes jackrabbits as well as cottontails and the regulations apply.

MAY CATCH SUCKERS NOW

Action was taken at the last meeting of the Fish and Game Commission to permit the taking of suckers and red horse at any season of the year. The order takes effect at once. Sucker fishing is a popular sport in Iowa in the months of March and April. The sucker starts to run in our streams as soon as the ice goes out. When the water is cold the flesh of the sucker is rather firm and is considered a fair table fish if one does not mind the bones.

GAME MANAGEMENT PLAN DISCOURAGES BURNING

With spring at hand the thought of "cleaning up" enters the minds of almost everyone. Landowners think about their land and the burning of waste areas to clean the land. Some burning is necessary but the game management plan as outlined and being developed in Iowa frown on promiscous burning. Fence rows and odd field corners furnish the best nesting cover for our game birds and these should be spared. Many railroads have agreed to cooperate with the Fish and Game Commission in the game management plan by not burning the right-of-ways during the nesting season. The State Highway Commission has agreed not to cut or mow beyond the shoulder of the highways during the nesting season. Such cooperation is to be commended and now if every landowner, farmer and tenant will do his part 1934 can be made a banner year for a natural increase in the game population.

IOWA TROUT SEASON OPENS FIRST OF APRIL

Beginning at 5:00 a. m. April first, trout may be lawfully taken in Iowa. Iowa is possesed of numerout good trout streams, most of them being located in northeastern Iowa. The State Fish and Game Commission has designated more than 30 streams as official trout waters. These streams located in Allamakee, Clayton, Delaware, Dubuque, Fayette, Howard, Jackson, Jones and Winneshiek counties have been receiving a great amount of attention in the matter of improvement. Much work is being done to make these streams suitable to receive the stock of trout which is raised by the Fish and Game Department.

The 1934 trout fisherman is jubilant over the past year's activities for better trout fishing. The Fish and Game Commission has liberated 43,000 trout of different species in size from 7 to 1 2inches for the coming season. Deep holes and pool have been made in the streams, devices have been installed in many of the streams by the C. C. C. under the guidance and supervision of the Department's experts.

Most of the streams are cold spring fed which is the type of water needed by trout and the amount of fishing water is figured at near 200 miles. Trout stream experts from other states claim Iowa has trout fishing waters comparable to any in the United States.

The three species of trout to be found in Iowa streams are Brook, Rainbow and Brown Trout

The Brook Trout is the native species and is often referred to as "Speckled Trout". It is very highly colored and usually inhabits the smaller streams and headwaters of the larger streams. The average weight is from three-quarters to one pound and is considered the most palatable of the trout family. It is every inch a game fish and will rse to the artificial fly, responds to the action of spinners and small lures, and is extremely fond of the lowly earth worm.

The Rainbow trout is an introduced species to Iowa waters and has done remarkably well in its new environment Its highly colored stripe along each side with red and orange predominating distinguishes it from the other species. It is hardy and attains a good size, the average catch being from one to two pounds and furnishes a good battle when hooked. A ready riser to the fly, it inhabits most of our trout streams.

The Brown Trout is also an introduced specie and is well marked with the brownish background with bright red spots of fair size. It is very hard and adaptable to our streams and on account of the size it attains, furnishes a good battle when hooked. A deep hole in one of the larger trout streams usually produces a Brown Trout at the proper placing of an artificial fly. The average weight is from one to two pounds but has attained six pounds in our streams. An interesting result of a study of this specie shows it to be found in streams not considered as trout streams.

Trout are classed as shrewd fish and just any old method of fishing will not fill the creel. Application of art and science are necesary to obtain the best results. The proper placing of the right bait, lure or fly in the proper place at the right time in the proper manner is essential. Trout are to be outwitted to be caught.

ROAD NOTES

By O. F. Merten

You all know that the use of improved machinery has made it possible to build our roads at the low costs which I have given you in previous articles on grading and graveling. With antiquated machinery and methods our costs would be nearly the same as they were ten years ago or more than twice the present cost. You will no doubt be interested in knowing what it costs the county to operate the machinery we own so I have prepared the following table showing, these costs on motor equipment. All trucks and motor graders are reported by the mile while tractors are reported by the hour. In case several machines of the same type are operated the cost given is the average.

No. machs.	Type	cost per unit
3	Oshkosh 4 ton truck	.17 p. m.
4	Chevrolet 1½ ton truck	.0334 pm
2	Ford 1½ ton truck	.0296 p. m.
3	Motor grader	.18 per mile
1	Chevrolet pickup	.0218 p. m.
1	Ford Tudor	.0208 per mile
1	A. C. 75 tractor	1.47 per hour
3	A. C. 35 tractor	.89 per hour
3	Caterpillar 30 tractor	.92 per hour

Costs include gas, oil, grease, depreciation. repairs and storage. The county pays no license or interest so no charge is made for these items We buy our oil by the carload and getthe benefit of wholesale prices. The county receives a refund of all federal and state gas taxes and gets a quantity discount on gas so that we have a very material saving over privately owned machines. These things should be considered when comparing the above costs with those of a private operator. The costs do not include the wages of the patrolman operating the machine.

PLEASE FILL OUT WORK SHEET

Wanted Regardless of Whether The Farmer Signs Corn-Hog Contract

Whether a corn and hog producer intends to fill out a corn-hog contract of not he should fill out the corn and hog production work sheet, says Murl McDonald, assistant director of the Extension Service at Iowa State College.

Complete figures on corn and hog production are need from every farm in the state are needed before the campaign can be completed and payments made to signers, says Mr. McDonald.

The work sheet includes a report of the crop production on the farm in 1932 and 1933, hog production and sale during the 2-year base priod and a report on the use of the corn crop during that period.

Farmers who have not signed a corn-hog contract are being asked by their local committees to fill out the work sheets which previously were mailed to them.

CELEBRATE 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and Marian; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and son, Junior, drove to Swea City on Sunday to attend a surprise dinner given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell, who were celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Pesster; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis; Mr. and Mrs. Rollein and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Peterson and son, all of Swea City.

The friends gathered at the Curtis home and there a bridal party was attired and they all went to the Mitchell home and surprised them. A mock wedding followed with W. C. Keraus as the minister; Marian Waterman, ring bearer;; Mrs. Waterman, the bride; Hazel Rollein, the groom; Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson. best man and Charles Peterson, bridesmaid. The bride was attired in Mrs. Mitchell's own wedding dress, much to her surprise. The dress was of beautiful handkerchief lawn material and had been embroidered by her mother, Mrs. C. F. Keraus, twenty-five years ago. The dress measured over four yards around the bottom, but the sleeves were very much in style, with the big buff and tight wrists. A lovely two course dinner was served which included a beautiful heart shaped cake, with a smaller heart shaped cake on top, baked and decorated by Mrs. J. N. Day. The group presented Mrs. Mitchell with a three yard linen table cloth. The afternoon was spent in visiting and all departed. wishing Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell many more years of happy wedded life.

Dairying--

On The Way!

Price changes the past few weeks are very encouraging to the Dairy Farmer. The trend in the butter market has been steadily UPWARD! Like any market there may be slight changes up and down but the future looks like a steady upward climb for Butter.

These encouraging changes are in line with the thought we have tried to instill in the dairyman the past few months—"Stick to Dairying". Its always been good and always will be good for the farmers of this community.

NEW DENTIST TO TAKE OVER KLEMME PRACTICE

Dr. D. F. Bradshaw Will Retire And Move On Farm

By Arthur Wellemeyer ....

It seems there is a certain bug or germ that bites people and gives them a fever to move. Some families get this fever every year around March 1st and others have an attack less often, but every family gets it at least two or three times in a lifetime.

And now this bug has bitten Dr. and Mrs. Bradshaw and they will move to their farm 11 miles north west of Klemme where the Doctor will retire from his many years of dental work and spend the coming summer repairing the farm buildings. The Bradshaws were well liked and "Doc" had built up a nice dental practice here in Klemme. Many of their friends begged them to stay. Some of the bolder ones, in an attempt to keep them here, even suggested that maybe Doc would make a "bum farmer", but the bug had bitten them hard and away to the farm they go. They were a most neighborly pair and our best wishes go with them.

As soon as the word leaked out that Dr. Bradshaw was retiring, some twenty dentists from all parts of the state made inquiry in regard torenting the dental rooms. Klemme seems to have the reputation of being a good dental town. Some of these applicants were old men and some were young, just graduating from College. The problem was to pick the best man for Klemme. After several personal interviews and after discussing these applications with members of the Klemme Civic Club and asking advice from Dr. Bradshaw and from our other professional people we decided on Dr. E. G. Schaeffer as the best man for Klemme. He has accepted our invitation and will move here March 1st

Dr. Schaeffer was born on a farm near Forest City. He comes from an intelligent and successful family. His father is German and his mother is Scot. He is a graduate from the Dental School of the Iowa University and has been located in Webster City for the past year.

The best place in the world for a boy to learn honesty and industry is in the home of successful farm people.

Dr. Schaeffer seems to have learned his farm lessons well for the reports which reach us from his Iowa City School work indicate he was most thorough in his practiced work and his class room marks also among the best. Then we followed him to Webster City and found that he was well liked and was spoken of as a thoroughly good dental workman.

Dr. Schaeffer is a single man of a quiet kindly nature. He brings to Klemme the best set of dental tools and equipment which has ever been in the town. He likes Klemme and has the ambition to make his office a busy place. He has a new X-Ray machine which is especially built for dental work. With all this equipment he eliminates the "guess work" and will know just exactly what he is doing at all times.

We predict that you will like Dr. Schaeffer when you get acquainted.

FURTHER EXTENSION BEING MADE ON WATER MAINS

Workmen started digging trench this week on an extension of the water mains from the east side of the park. The extension will begin at that point and extend east on [illegible] Street about 400 feet and a hydrant will be placed near Mrs. Rosendahl's residence. With this extension the mains will then reach practically the full length of Main Street, or from the Rosendahl residence west to the Northern Lumber Co.

It's Spring—Fish Stories Growing!

When Walt Thada and Henry Lewis reported seeing angle worms on the side walk a few weeks ago, local fishermen began to think they were springing stories a bit out of season. Now comes Wallace Pavey with one that makes Walt's and Henry's story look like a back number Not being satisfied with mere angle worms to bait a hook Wallace produces a frog and to prove his story he has the frog in a glass jar.

Where did Wallace get the frog? Well, let him tell it!

"N-N" CLUB ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Jack Etchen entertained the "N-N" club at her home Wednesday afternoon. A very pleasant afternoon was spent with Mrs. Suntenbach receiving high score and Mrs. Martin Barz, low score. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

132 ATTENDED SECOND ANNUAL FATHER AND SON BANQUET

One hundrey thirty two men and boys attended the second annual Klemme Father and Son Banquet held at the Methodist Church last Thursday evening. The ladies aid of the church served a nice dinner.

After the dinner a varied program was given, consisting of a cornet solo by Max Barz, a clarinet duet by Carmen Kluckhohn and Milvern Barz, singing by a male quartet from Klemme and a men's chorus from Liberty. The address of the evening was given by Rev. Kanna of Des Moines. His talk was both entertaining and instructive to both men and boys. At the close of his talk he sang some old Negro songs which he learned as a boy in Mississippi. The evening's program was closed by Rev. Ralston who gave a short talk.

The second annual Father and Son get-to-gether was consdered a great success by those in charge. The affair Thursday evening was also in the nature of a George Washington party and the ladies of the aid carried out the table and room decorations with that in mind. A small silk flag at each plate served as a favor.

POPULATION DOES NOT JUSTIFY FARM OUTPUT

Final Solution Lies In Lowering Tariff Walls to Restore Trade

Our national farm plant is too large for our present population and, in spite of any reasonable reduction brought about by the various AAA measures, will continue too large unless we reestablish foreign trade.

Prof T. W. Shultz, Iowa State College economist, makes this analysis of the agricultural situation in a bulletin soon to be published at Ames. The bulletin is one of a series on "Prospects for Agricultural Recovery, being published by Iowa State College.

To reestablish foreign trade, ast. Your account will be applica associa ficient not av then gency gradual, yet definite scaling of the present tariff wall behind which America has barricaded herself against the world, is necessary. It would invole liquidation of some highly protected ndustries. But such a step, from a long time viewpoint, would be a desirable adjustment. It would ultimately give us a higher standard of living.

Consumption of food products (which make up the largest proportion of our agricultural products) does not decline much during a depression, nor does it increase much during good times. Therefore we can hope for little expansion of our markets for agricultural goods with a return of purchasing power in industry, even though agricultural prices and industrial payrolls do seem to bear a close relation to each other.

The gigantic surpluses of lard, wheat, cotton and other agricultural products are the result of a throttling of foreign markets by trade barriers. European countries grimly nationalistc and determined to be self-sufficient are trying to produce all their own foodstuffs. They nave raised high tariff barriers to keep our farm products out.

The United States' tariff policy, too has been to keep out foreign manufactured goods—the only method of payment for our farm products. Since we will not let other nations pay us in manufactured goods they have been unable (as well as unwilling) to buy from us.

First we must reduce production of major commodities. This part of the program is in operation . It is undoubtedly more than a one year job, for it is apparent that in most cases, our large stocks will not be back to normal that soon.

Second we must develop a sound commercial policy aimed at the reduction of those barriers that stand in the way of recovery of foreign trade.

As part of the second phase, Professor Schultz says we must determine which of our farm products are best suited for sale abroad. Where does lard, for instance, stand in foreign trade? Given a sound foreign trade policy, can we still sell large quantities abroad?

IOWA DAIRYMEN AGREE ON SEVEN POINT PLAN

Their Program for Relief of Dairy Interests Follows General Proposals of Wallace

Iowa dairy producers have submitted a seven-point plan of dairy production control to Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture—a plan essentially the same as the one proposed by Secretary Wallace at Madison, Wis., this winter. The plan was drawn up and adopted by a committee of 20 Iowa producers at Iowa State College last week. The committee was named by the Iowa State Dairy Association. The plan provides for:

1. Decreasing buttterfat production 15 percent by paying cash benefits to cooperating farmers.
2. Purchase of dairy cows in the surplus areas for distribution in the southern states providing costs are not taken from the processing tax fund.
3. A federal campaign to eradicate bovine tuberculosis to be financed by funds other than the processing tax.
4. Use of 100 million dollars of government money and 150 million dollars to be raised by a processing tax up to 5 cents a pound on butterfat and competing products to finance the program.
5. An educational plan to stimulate consumjtion of dairy products to be paid with 2 million dollars taken from the processing fund.
6. Cooperation with the Emergency Relief Corporation in furnishing dairy products for the needy providing other industries adopt the same policy.
7. Balance imports of vegetable oils with butterfat exports.

UNCLE SAM MAY HAVE CORN

Little Being Fed in Iowa, But Much Is Being Sealed

Uncle Sam is going to have a lot of Iowa corn on his hands next August unless livestock prices rise enough in the meantime to encourage Iowa farmers to feed out their corn and pay their loans.

Agricultural Economic Facts, Iowa State College Extension Service publication, points out the following facts in making this statement in the March issue.

Cattle, hog and calf marketings have been unusually heavy lately. There has been a predominance of light weights. This leads to the conclusion that farmers are cutting feeding operations.

Some of the heavy stock feeding counties of the state have doubled the amount of corn sealed on farms in the last 30 days.

Commercial storage of corn is about 70 million bushels as compared with 34 million a year ago. This indicates that eastern feeders are not buying so much corn.

If corn is sealed at the present rate (about 7 million bushels per week in Iowa) for the remainder of the sealing period, there will be about 140 million bushels cribbed in Iowa. This is more than the normal stocks on hand Aug. 1.

If livestock prices rise to any extent sealing may be slowed up and if they continue to rise, some corn will undoubtedly be fed out and the loans paid back. The condition of the 1934 corn crop will also be important in determining what happens to the sealed corn held on Iowa farms.

All report an excellent dinner and a fine time.

KLEMME CAGERS BATTLE THRU TO SECTIONAL SEMI-FINALS

The Shamrock cagers put on a spectacular finish to an exceedingly poor season and battled their way thru to the semin-finals of the sectional tournament at Garner last week. The Shamrocks played a splendid game to defeat the fost Thompson team 28 to 21 on Friday afternoon. Saturday p. m. in the semifinals they met the strong Wesley quintet and came within an ace of going into the finals. The boys got off to a slow start and trailed at the quarter 5 to 2. Wesley increased their lead to 15 to 7 at the half. The third quarter the Shamrocks found their stride and boosted the score 24 to 21. The fourth period found Klemme in the lead twice but during the last few minutes of play Wesley got loose for several set-ups and won 37 to 27.

The caliber of the teams in the sectional this year was exceptionally good and many exciting contests were played. Corwith, class B winner, had perhaps the best team at the tournament, regardless of class, and really deserved to win. They defeated Crystal Lake 28-25 in a heart-breaking contest that went into two overtime periods. In the semi-finals Goodell gave them a good run for three quarters; score at the half being 15 to 15 and at the end of the third quarter 22-22. Corwith won 33 to 22.

VAGABONDS BREAK EVEN IN SHEFFIELD ENCOUNTER

The Klemme Vagabonds met the Sheffield A. C. in a double header on the local floor Monday night, winning one and losing one.

The Vagabond Midgets won their game 17 to 16 in a fast encounter that was close all the way thru A side shot by Kluckhohn in the last 2 seconds of play proved to be the winning basket. The Midgets have set up a perfect record this year as they have won every contest. The personnel of the team includes: Stokesbary, Bridges and Smid, forwards; Voetberg and Drake, centers Keraus and Kluckhohn, guards.

The Vagabonds lost to the Sheffield regulars 36 to 22. The Klemme team had an exceedingly hard time trying to get the ball thru the hoop and the game was much closer than the score indicates. The Vagabonds played without the services of Lemke, regular guard.

CLOSING OUT SALE THURSDAY

Elsewhere in this issue you will find an adv announcing a closing out sale of W. O. Lassahn. The sale is this week Thursday. Peter Merkel and family are moving on the Bielefeld farm vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Lassahn. The latter are moving in with the Wm. Bell family for the present, or until Mr. Lassahn gets located.

This will undoubtedly be the last farm sale in this community this year and should draw a big crowd. Read the adv.

Lesson for March 11

THE PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 13:31-33, 44-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—Of the increase of his government and peace, there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this.—Isaiah 9:7.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Story Jesus Told.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Story Picture of the Kingdom's Success.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Our Religion Means to Us.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Pictures of the Kingdom.

In this chapter of Matthew the "mysteries" of the kingdom are unfolded (v. 11). By "mystery" in the Scriptures is meant truth undiscoverable by human reason, made known by revelation. The teaching set forth in these parables sets forth the admixture of moral and spiritual interests which characterize the period between Christ's rejection and his triumphant kingdom.

I. The Mustard Seed (vv. 31, 32).

1. Its unimportant beginning (v. 31). It begins as the least of all seeds. Not only was Christ, the king, of humble parentage, but his disciples were unlettered fishermen.

2. Its vigorous growth (v. 32). Though small at its inception, the work inaugurated by Christ, has become wide in extent and mighty in power.

3. Its lodging capacity (v. 32). The birds which find lodgment in the tree represent predatory individuals who have found shelter in the church but are not part of it. The birds which lodge in the branches are the "fowls" which devoured the seed that fell by the wayside (v. 4).

II. The Leavened Meal (v. 33).

1. The meal. Meal in the Scriptures means something nutritious and wholesome. Examples of its character and use are found in Gen. 18:6; I Kings 4:22; II Kings 4:41. Also it was used in one of the sweet savour offerings which typified Jesus Christ (Lev. 2:1-3 R. V.).

2. The woman. The woman is the administrator of the home. Her responsibility is to take the bread provided by the head of the home and prepare and distribute it to the children. Observe:

a. Her act. She hid the leaven in the meal.

b. Its issue. It leavened the meal. The meal was not turned into leaven but was affected by the leaven.

3. The leaven. In the Scripture leaven is invariably a type of evil (Exod 12:15, Matt. 16:6, 12; I Cor. 5:6-8; Gal. 5:8, 9). The teaching of this parable, therefore, is that in this age the truth of God and the wholesome institutions established by God would be corrupted by error, worldliness, and unbelief. The woman representing the administrator of affairs in the world would introduce false doctrine and thus corrupt the children's bread.

III. The Hid Treasure (v. 44).

1. The field (v. 38). Christ's own interpretation makes this to be the world.

2. The treasure. This doubtless means Israel, the chosen people (Ps. 135:4; Deut. 7:6-8).

3. The purchaser. This represents Jesus Christ (John 3:16).

4. The purchase price (I Pet. 1:13, 19). This was the precious blood of Jesus Christ, God's beloved Son.

IV. The Merchantman Seeking Goodly Pearls (vv. 45, 46).

1. The merchantman is Christ (Luke 19:10). The Son of Man came to seek and to save that which was lost.

2. The purchase price (Phil. 2:6-8). Christ impoverished himself in order to purchase the pearl of great price.

3. The pearl of great price (Col. 1:18). This is not Jesus Christ but the Church purchased by his blood.

V. The Dragnet (v. 47-50).

1. The sea. Sea in the Scripture denotes people and multitudes (Dan. 7:3; Rev. 17:15).

2. The dragnet cast into the sea (v. 47). This means the sowing of the Word by the Son of Man (v. 37).

3. The dragnet drawn to shore when full (v. 48). When God's purpose is made full concerning the present age, an account will be made.

4. The separation (vv. 48, 49). This separation is made by the angels, and will take place at the end of the age.

5. The destiny (vv. 49-50). The angels, God's ministers, shall separate the wicked from among the just and shall cast them into the furnace of fire where there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth. The good shall be set aside for the pleasure and service of the Lord.

Love One Another

St. John says: "Brethren, let us love one another, for love is of God." Matthew Arnold says a beautiful thing on the same matter, but from a different angle. "Brethren," he says, in effect, "let us love one another, for we

SEED LOAN OFFICE OPENED

The Klemme Times has received word that an emergency crop loan office has been opened at the Farm Bureau office at Garner, and farmers desiring loans should apply there.

According to regulations under which the crop loans are to be made this year, any farmer who secures a loan must obtain a statement from the county production council, where one exists, that he does not intend to increase his acreage or production in violation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program.

In counties where a county production council has not been set up before any application for a loan will be considered the farmer who is applying will have to give satisfactory evidence that he is cooperating with the production control program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The maximum amount of an emergency crop loan that may be obtained by any one individual is $250, the minimum is $25.

Applications for loans in any amount from $25 to $150 may be accepted by the emergency crop loan office provided the farmer does not have sufficient security to obtain a loan elsewhere

A farmer applying for $150 or more must first make application to the Production credit association for a loan from it. Rejection of this application by the Production credit association will be considered sufficient evdence that other credit is not available and the applicant may then make application to the emergency crop loan office.

FAT HORSES SELL HIGHEST

Good Coat Of Hair Needed Too; to Get These, Feed Extra Grain

If you have a horse that you are sure will sell this spring, it should be in the barn getting extra feed.

Prof. A. B. Caine of the Iowa State College Department of Animal Husbandry states that this will fatten up the horse and give him a good coat of hair. two qualities eagerly sought for by horse buyers.

Horses that are allowed to run in pasture during the winter are usually thin and have long, shaggy hair. Horse bupers like horses that have a ful mane and tail and have a normal growth of hair on the legs. Clipping is usually taken as an indication of staleness in a horse

Feet must be in good condition with no cracks or other faults if the horse is to bring a good price.

There is more demand for work horses this year than for many years past and farm chunbs and wagon horses are selling readily at good prices.

NURSE CROP GENERALLY IS ADVISABLE IN IOWA

Seeding Legumes or Grass Crops on Contracted Land Seems Best

Seeding clovers and grass crops with nurse crops on land taken out of corn production under the corn hog program is advisable under most Iowa conditions, according to the Iowa State College Farm Crops Department in a bulletin just off the press.

Administrative rulings on the cor-hog program provide that permanent pasture seedings of this spring may be pastured during 1934 if they are not planted with nurse crops. The statement said that there are very few cases in which the land is sufficiently free of weeds that seeding in this way will not be disappointing to the owner. A comparatively small amount of pasturage will be secured and there is much greater likelihood of losing the whole seeding entirely than when it is seeded with a nurse crop.

The farm crops men who prepared the report reccommended that the nurse crop be cut about 4 inches from the ground just before heading and allowed to remain on the ground as a mulch. If the small grain where allowed to grow until it was nearly mature, it might smother the clover or grass when cut, especially when grown on rich soils. There is an additional advantage in cutting early on poorer soil in that a larger amount of the moisture and soil nutrients may be used by the clover or grass.

The spring grains, such as oats and barley, if seeded thin—about one-third the ordinary rate—may in some cases be allowed to mature and fall down without cutting. This may be especially advisable with sweet clover.

Winter wheat or rye seeded in the spring as a nurse crop for clover or grass will not require clipping. the statement said. The grains make a good cover and a good nurse crop early in the season, but do not make sufficient growth to interfere with the development of the grass or clover crop as the season advances. They die out in the mid-summer months.

ITALY'S "DRUNKEN HOUSE" IS DOOMED

Built With Wine for Water by Tipsy Workmen.

Foggia, Italy.—The strange story of Foggia's "Drunken House" that was actually built with wine as the result of a curious feud between two rich Italian landowners in 1830 came to light here with plans to destroy the freak structure.

It was built in one night by the late Tommasco Antonio Bucci, famous vinegrower, with the aid of a friend's eleven sons—for the sole purpose of annoying Bucci's irascible neighbor, Don Francesco Saverio Figliola, wealthy cattle raiser and rural representative of the then king of Naples.

It appears that the fame of Bucci's wine spread far and wide and many people flocked to the vine-grower's place to get the product at its source—much to the annoyance of Don Francesco.

Exasperated by Don Francesco's complaints, Bucci finally decided to play a trick on him. Don Francesco's house commanded an imposing view of the city in which the landowner took a tremendous pride. Bucci determined to build a house on his own property that would just hide that view.

After he bought his building materials, he found his neighbor, official representative of the king of Naples, had ordered that no laborere take employment from him.

Bucci, more determined now than before, called into consultation his friend, Giovanni Raho, who volunteered the services of his eleven sons.

But as soon as Don Francesco learned of this, all the wells of the city were ordered closed and a guard stationed at each one.

But an ingenious idea came to Bucci. If plaster could be mixed with water, why couldn't it be mixed with wine.

That night there was a rumbling of rolling barrels in the Bucci cellar as his friend's eleven sons got busy. Barrel after barrel of the strong red wine for which Bucci was noted gurgled into mortar.

The result was a beautiful vermillion-colored plaster with which the eleven youths working through the night with frenzied energy put up the walls of a two-story structure that just concealed Don Francesco's view.

During the night the vapor of the boiling wine gave the eleven youths the equivalent of an all-night alcoholic jag and though they had refrained from touching a drop of the liquor they staggered drunkenly as the night wore on.

With the dawn there was a curious sight; a strange irregular structure with lopsided walls something like the lines in a futuristic drawing.

Finished Products Hold Lead in U. S. Exports

Washington. — Finished manufactured products constituted $624,908,000 or 39.6 per cent of United States exports totaling $1,576,821,000 in 1932, the Commerce department reported.

Crude materials accounted for the next largest group of exports, with a value of $513,649,000 or 32.6 per cent. These export groups compared with $1,119,675,000 and $566,791,000 respectively, during 1931, when exports aggregated $2,377,982,000.

The only imported products to show a percentage increase during 1932 over 1931, were crude foodstuffs and manufactured foodstuffs.

Meal of Antelope Costs Him $100 and 4 Months

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Dean Vandenburgh, twenty, of Fountain, Colo., had one of the most expensive meals ever eaten in this district.

It cost him $100 in money and four months of his time.

The reason the meal was so expensive was that the piece de resistance was antelope meat, and it is very much against the law to kill antelope.

The hunter was fined $100 and sentenced to four months in jail for the offense.

Drowns in Goldfish Bowl

Paterson, N. J.—The body of three-year-old John Pogano, of Fair Lawn, N. J., was found in the bottom of a concrete goldfish bowl at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Foster, neighbors. The bowl is seven feet across and two and a half feet deep.

Bee Parley Ends in Buzz and Sting

Boise, Idaho.—Near-panic resulted when a swarm of bees, accidentally set free in a Boise hotel, stung everyone from their owner, Mrs. H. H. Keck, to several state legislators.

The accident brought a stinging climax to the Honey Producers convention when a bellboy knocked the cage to the floor, freeing the bees. They swirled out, stinging the bellboy until he was forced to flee. Mrs. Keck was their next victim.

Then they made for the open hotel lobby where legislators were relaxing. Chairs were overturned and general chaos reigned for nearly an hour.

Finally R. W. Childs, hotel manager, leading a squadron of employees armed with fly swatters, drove the bees into another cage.

Retail Sales Tax Becomes Effective First Of April

FEULING STATES 3 POINT TAX LAW TO AID PROPERTY

Will Be Replacement If Law Is Up To Expectations of Legislators

The cost of operating the state government of Iowa will not be met with a general property tax after next January, if receipts from the new three point tax law come up to expectations of the general assembly, according to E. J. Feuling of New Hampton. chairman of the democratic state central committee.

The legislature has given the state what many tax experts regard as a model law, Mr. Feuling continued. He said lawmakers estimated the measure will raise $20,000,000 annually and the law itself as sponsored by Gov. Herring's administration specifically provides the new revenue shall be used to replace general property tax.

"The change," Mr. Feuling asserted, "is the first successful attempt to generally equalize the tax burden since Iowa's general property tax system was inaugurated in 1853.

Income Starts Soon

"When the new law is in full operation, the retail sales tax alone is expected to produce from 15 to 16 million dollars annually; the personal net income tax, $3,500,000, and the business tax on corporations, $500,000.

"Heretofore, more than 96 per cent of state and local taxes have been raised by the general property tax and less than four per cent from moneys and credits. The new law, by taxing personal and corporation incomes and retail sales, makes it impossible for intangible wealth to entirely escape sharing a cost of government.

"The income and corporation taxes have been made effective as of Jan. 1, 1934, but no revenue will be received from these sources until early in 1935 when returns for the present yar fust be filed. The retail sales tax will become effective April 1—less than one month hence—and the income will start almost immediately as retailers must report their business volume and pay the state accordingly every 3 months.

Will Aid Relief

"After a moderate administrative fund is created, the first $3,000,000 collected under the new law will be set aside to meet the federal government's requirement for dollar for dollar assistance in state welfare and relief work. Thereafter, beginning Jan. 1, 1935 a sum not to exceed $6,000,000 a year will be taken from the new revenue and paid into the general fund of the state. This $6,000,000, together with the other state revenues expendable for such purposes, is to pay all items of general expense of the state government and practically do away with a state levy.

"All other money received under the new tax law will be apportioned annually beginning July 1, 1935, among the 99 counties of the state on the basis of assesed valuation of property therein. The county treasurers will then re-apportion the money directly among the tax payers.

Time Limit Set

"The retail sales tax is actually an emergency measure as shown by the act that the legislature has specifically directed that it shall cease on April 1, 1937. Under this division of the new law, every retailer seling tangible personal property must do so with the understanding that 2 per cent of his gross receipts over every three month period is charged for, collected as and payable to the state as a retail sales tax. Gas, electricity, water and communication service and admisson to places of amusement and athletic events, as well as articles commonly purchased in stores or from retailers are subject to the 2 per cent tax.,

"The tax is applicable to any sort of transfers, exchange or barter, conditional or otherwise.

"Exceptions to the retail sales tax are sales of tangible personal property which the state is prohibited from taxing by constitutional provisions or federal statutes, transportation services, sales for the performance of contracts on public works executed prior to the taking effect of the law, and tickets to public fairs and ducational, religious and charitable activities providing such receipts are expended for educational, religious and charitable purposes. Credit will be allowed retailers on sales of tangible property upon which the state now imposes a special tax whether in the form of a license tax, stamp tax or otherwise and also on gross receipts represented by accounts found to be worthless and actually charged off for income tax purposes.

Time Contracts Considered

"Special provision is made for payment by retailers of the sales tax on time or conditional sales contracts. Retailers will not be required to pay the tax on any transaction which is nullified by the customer's return of any article for credit or cash.

"In a sense, every Iowa retailer will serve as an emergency tax collector during the period the sales tax is in effect. This responsibilty was literally given retailers, by the legislature when it provided that it should be unlawful for any retailer to advertise or hold out or state to the public or to any consumer. directly or indirectly, that the tax will be assumed or absorbed by the retailer or that it will not be considered as an element in the price to the consumer, or if added, that it or any part thereof will be refunded

"Furthermore, the laws says retailers shall, as far as practicable, add the tax or the average equivalent thereof to the sales price or charge and when added such tax shall constitute a part of such price or charge, shall be a debt from consumer or user to retailer until paid, and shall be recoverable at law in the same manner as other debts."

BANDITS ROB MASON CITY BANK OF $50,000

Seven bandits Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock held up and looted the First National Bank at Mason City of over $50,000 in cash. They escaped in a Buick automobile carrying a Polk county Iowa license. The bandits were armed with sub-machine guns.

Klemme People Interested In Bank Hold-Up

Mr. James, who was shot by one of the Mason City bank bandits, is a cousin of Postmaster John Day here. Mrs. Liebendorfer. sister of Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson, telephoned the Times this morning and told of how Mr. Liebendorfer was in the bank at the time and was forced to lie on the floor. He was nearly overcome by tear gas and was ill all night from it's effects. The bandits took twelve hostages with them and Mr. Liebendorfer was next in line, being the thirteenth. He now maintains that "13" is his lucky number.

Grades 1 and 2

The 2nd grade began reading in the Winston Second Readers on Monday.

Wesley Suckow, Julia Bell, Corrine Merkel and Eunice Larsen had 100 in spelling Friday.

We are studying March poems and stories this week and are working on a March sandtable. We are also having handwork correlating with this study.

The 1st grade began regular speling work last week and show promise of being good spellers. Patricia Kudje and Betty Blickenderfer had no mistakes and the others did very nicely.

Grades 3 and 4

The fourth grade have commenced reading in the Child Story Readers.

This week we are working on our salt table. It will be about Holland.

We have a new cupboard in our room.

Last week Louis Klotzbach had a birthday so he treated us to candy bars and peanuts.

Grades 5 and 6

Russell Wade has some new glasses.

In our window box last fall we planted some tulip bulbs and now we have a pretty pink tulip blooming. We also have some pussy-willows. Our room is beginning to look as if spring is on its way.

The fifth grade made old fashioned trains as part of their history work. Keith Stille's was chosen best of the boys and Jacqueline Kudje's was chosen best of the girls.

Grades 7 and 8

The seventh grade English class has been studying debating this week. For night school Tuesday night we debated on the question: Resolved, that the city boy has more advantages than the country boy.

The eighth grade gave a demonstration in arithmetic for night school.

Velma Kaduce, Irene Suckow and LaRayne Stille have been absent because of illness.

The eighth grade have been making a study of advantages and disadvantages of various occupations the past week. Monday we wrote themes on "What I should like to be." We find that one ambitious boy has the Presidency in view.

The bill to raise hunting and fishing license fees as a means to further Iowa's 25 year conservation program received final legislative approval when it passed the house with a bare constitutional majority, a 55 to 50 vote. It passed the senate a short while ago.

$2 Hunting License

Under the measure resident hunting licenses will cost $2 a year; a hunting license for persons under 16 years of age $1; resident fishing licenses $1; and combined hunting and fishing licenses $2.50. The present fee for a combined hunting and fishing license is $1.

From 1934 to 1938, inclusive, the state fish and game commission will be required to set aside $1.50 of the fee from each combined hunting and fishing license. the funds to be used for the propagation of fish and game and the establishment of refuges and public hunting grounds.

KANAWHA FARMER ANNOUNCES FOR SUPERVISOR

E. P. Cook Seeks Term Beginning January 1, 1935

E. P. Cook, farmer of near Kanawha is this week placing his announcement in the Times as a candidate for Supervisor on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Cook seeks the term beginning January 1, 1935. This is the term to which Mr. Oxley seeks re-election.

Mr. Cook has been a land owner in Hancock since 1909 when he purchased a farm near Kanawha. In 1911 he purchased the farm on which he now resides.

Mr. Cook is greatly interested in public affairs and takes an active part in the various organizations in this community. He holds the following offices: President of the Kanawha Creamery, the Farmers Elevator and Farmers Shipping Association and Vice President of the Federal Loan Association. He is a member of the board of Trustees and is treasurer of the Amsterdam school district.

Mr. Cook seems to be well qualified for the office, is a fine gentleman to meet and will no doubt make his opponents feel they have had a good race.

Lesson for March 18

JESUS RESPONDS TO FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 13:54-58-14:13 14-15 21-31.

GOLDEN TEXT—Ask and it shall be given you, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you.—Matt. 7:7

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Helps a Stranger

JUNIOR TOPIC—When People Trust Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Mother's Love and Faith.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Faith Tested and Triumphant.

I. The Unbelief of Jesus' Own Countrymen (13:54-58).

Jesus shared the common fate of men, unacknowledged in bis own country. Even his own brothers did not believe in him until after his resurrection (John 7:3-8; cf. Acts 1:14). Because of this unbelief only a limited work could be done there.

II. Jesus Responding to the Faith of the Multitude (Matt. 14:13, 14).

1. He retired to the desert (v. 13). The news of the cruel death of John the Baptist brought grief to the heart of Jesus and he withdrew to a place of quietness to commune with the heavenly Father. Jesus accepted John's death as typical of his own.

2. Followed by the people (v. 13). The people were so greatly interested in him that they followed him on foot out of the cities.

3. Jesus healing the sick (v. 14). Although the rulers had broken with him, he did not abandon his work. Though desperate and hopeless cases were brought to him, none was found too hard for him.

III. Jesus Responding to the Faith of a Woman of Canaan (Matt. 15:21-31).

1. The mother's awful distress (vv. 21, 22). Her daughter was grievously vexed with a devil. The daughter was the one who was afflicted, but it was the mother who carried the burden. No doubt this Gentile woman had heard of the fame of Jesus. His power to heal had come to her notice and doubtless many times she longed for him to come her way that her daughter might be healed. Now that he was in her neighborhood she came straightway to him.

2. The mother's fervent appeal for help (vv. 23-25). She humbly fell at his feet and pleaded for mercy. She besought him to cast the demon out. Her appeal may be considered as a model prayer

a. It was sincere and earnest. From the depths of her heart she cried to the Lord for help.

b. It was brief and definite. In a few well chosen words she besought the Lord in behalf of her daughter.

c. It was personal and humble. The Lord is pleased when we beseech him in behalf of personal friends as well as ourselves. She came humbly, for according to Mark's account she fell at his feet (Mark 7:25).

d. It was believing and persistent. Though she was outside of the covenant people, she believed the Lord would hear a cry of need. All who accept Christ are his covenant people. She persistently begged help of the Lord. She would not accept a refusal. The Lord is pleased with the soul who will not let him go until the blessing is granted (Luke 11:5-10, 18:1-8).

3. The woman's faith rewarded (vv. 26-28).

a. Jesus' apparent refusal (v. 23). He answered her not a word. This seems strange that to her distressing cry he was irresponsive. Scarcely ever did anyone have to ask the second time. Frequently he did not wait to be asked. The reason for his silence was that a real difficulty lay in the way. He was sent to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. This woman was a stranger to the covenant people. Her appeal was on the wrong basis. She addressed him as the son of David, which only a child of the kingdom, an Israelite, had a right to do.

b. The woman's quick response (vv. 25-27) As soon as she perceived the difficulty she worshiped him as Lord and cried for help. While only the Israelite could approach him as the son of David, all can come to him and own him as Lord She willingly took her place as a Gentile "dog," recognizing that salvation is of the Jews. The word for dog is a diminutive term used for the pet or household dog which had a right to the crumbs which fell from the table.

c. The glorious issue of her faith (v 28). She received more than she asked. Her daughter was healed at once while the instructions she received were worth much to her. She goes down in history with the Savior's commendation of her faith.

When Age Comes

Now they that are younger than I have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock. And now I am their song, yea, I am their byword.—

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEES GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS FOR APPRAISAL

Permanent township corn-hog committees in Hancock County who have received instructions on four points concerning the appraisal of contracted acres, are cautioned concerning overstatement of production and yield per acre of corn. according to information received here from Washington.

The extent of overstatement may be measured by making a comparison of the corn yield per acre from the county totals with the preliminary estimates of yields for 1932 and 1933 in the same county.

It is recommended that in making the appraisal for a given field, the committeemen should always keep in mind: the average yield of corn in the entire township; and the natural ability of this particular field to produce corn as compared with the average land on which corn has been grown in that township during the last 10 years.

In addition, it is recommended that the committee give consideration to the present condition of the contracted acres—whether they are in clover or other sod or whether it is ground on which for a number of years cultivated cash crops have been raised and removed. In the more humus sections of the corn belt, clover sod can be expected to make a better corn crop than land which has been in corn for several years. If the field is badly infested with thistle, morning glory, quack grass, or some other weed which would tend to seriously reduce the yield of corn in 1934, it should not be appraised at as high a figure as if it were comparatively free of weeds.

"It is especially important for committeemen to have a definite idea of the 10 year average field in their township and that they keep this in mind as they appraise the individua l fields from farm to farm. Whether or not the average of their appraisals checks with the average for the township should depend on whether or not they are getting land that is average or land that is above or below average of the township.

Local conditions affecting corn yields within the state or county should be given careful consideration. If land is subject to oveflow or conditions too wet to produce a crop of corn, the appraised yield on such land should not exceed one-half the yield that such land will make in years when it is not subject to overflow or wet conditions.

If a farmer specifies several small pieces of land as contracted acres to eradicate bad weeds such as thistle or quack grass, such fields should be appraised on the basis of what such land would produce in 1934 under average weather conditions and average cultural practices for corn in that locality, and not on the basis of what such land would yield with out the weeds.

A child's sorrow is as intense as it is brief.

SILVER PRECEDED GOLD

Silver was the standard unit of value in America before gold. The Continental Congress adopted as monetary unit a dollar containing 375.64 grains of pure silver.

"Consequently, the present movement to remonetize silver can't be called an untried experiment. It is simply designed to put an old economic instrument, which did necessary work well, back on the job again. Doing that, it would bring new life to an industry which has been one of our greatest employers, taxpayers and contributors to prosperity—mining.

ERIN GO BRAGH!

ST. PATRICK, as the patron saint of going to school, may not appeal very strongly to small scholars of today. But green shamrocks, white clay pipes, and little pink toy pigs are three memorials of him that make the seventeenth of March popular with children everywhere. And when you add a potato hunt and refreshments gay as a jig, you have the start of a St. Patrick's Day party that is sure to be the top of the afternoon.

Begin your party with invitations written on green cardboard shamrocks or pale pink paper pigs with green ribbons tied around their necks. Have these invitations read:

"Come all ye lads from far and near!
Come every gay Colleen!
For good St. Pat we'll dance a jig
A'wearin' of the green."

Friday afternoon Three o'clock
Come to John Bray's house
5 Eastwood Street

As soon as the young guests arrive, present each boy with a necktie made of green crepe paper and every girl with a colleen's head dress, a green mob cap or two green rosettes connected by a narrow band of wired green ribbon.

Spuds and Clay Pipes

The first thing on the program is a potato hunt. For this you need small well-scrubbed potatoes. They may be hidden exactly as you hide Easter eggs. To make the hunt more exciting, scoop out a few larger potatoes, put in them tiny trinkets wrapped in paper, and tie or glue the tops back on them. Give prizes for the largest collection of potatoes, the biggest potato, the smallest one, and for "the ould man," a funny bumpy potato with a face marked on it.

If the children are old enough you can make the potatoes into race horses and hold an Irish Sweepstakes. Write names like "Danny," "Brian Boru," "Dublin Boy," "Pride of Cork" and "Galway Gossoon" on slips of paper and attach one with a pin to each potato. Each child chooses a "horse," which he moves ahead by inches, according to the throws of a dice. For a large group of children, you can have as many as four or five different race courses, with four children assigned to each one.

If the children are too small for this exciting game, give each one a clay pipe and let him do honor to all the "little people" of Ireland by blowing soap bubbles as fragile and rainbow-tinted as an Irish fairy's wings.

Good Green Foods

Jigs, reels, and songs are "grand intirely" on St. Patrick's Day. And then come the refreshments on a table all green and gold. Cut the sandwiches in the shape of shamrocks, pipes and pigs. Wrap some square ones in green paper, and have some open-faced round ones spread with cream cheese colored pale green, with a green maraschino shamrock in the center.

In the box is a party menu and here are tested recipes for wholesome foods "all greened up" for the greenest day of the year.

Whole Wheat Nut and Date Bread: Sift together one and a half cups white flour, six teaspoons baking powder and one and a half teaspoons salt. Add a cup and a half of whole wheat flour. Add three-quarters of a cup of chopped vacuum packed nuts and one cup chopped dates, and mix with your finger-tips until pieces are well covered with flour. Add two-thirds of a cup brown sugar and two beaten eggs. Add one 6-ounce can of evaporated milk mixed with enough water to make a cup and a half. Pour into well-greased loaf pans, one very large, or two medium which is better. Bake in an oven at 325 degrees for about forty-five minutes (a little longer if you use one loaf pan). Two medium loaves will cut into about twenty slices, each.

Banana Ice Cream: Mix three cans condensed milk with one and a half cups water, and add one tablespoon vanilla. Add three cups mashed banana pulp. Add three tablespoons lemon juice and three cups of cream, well beaten. Freeze in refrigerator trays or in ice cream freezer. Serve with an iced animal cracker, preferably a pig, standing on top. This serves twenty-four.

OUR LINE OF STANDARD MACOMB POULTRY EQUIPMENT IS—Something to CROW About!

We handle the Standard Macomb Brooder and a full line of Poultry Equipment.

There is no competetive brooder in the same price class that will stand side by side comparison with our Macomb Oil-O-Stat. It uses no sand ring, no space wasting screen because none is needed. Instead it has the exclusive Heat Deflector, a formed solid steel shield, which hugs up close under the stove from edge to edge and STOPS the heat rays from getting to the floor. The man who runs this brooder as it should be run will find chicks BROODING all UNDER THE STOVE and making use of what was once both wasted heat and wasted space.

The Standard Oil-O-Stat burns cheap fuel oil or distillate and comes complete with oil tank, 60 inches of tube, necessary piping, Easy-Clean burner, automatic valve, shut-off, and draft adjuster. Most users place the tank outside to avoid carrying oil into the house.

BELMOND SCHOOL SUPT. SEEKS STATE OFFICE

Belmond Independent:—If executive ability plus force of character are needed qualifications for the best service in any position they must certainly be essential in the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction. School people and other voters who realize that need, will welcome the candidacy of Hazel V. Thomas for that position. All who know her fully realize the high leadership qualities which are hers.

If chosen by the voters to fill the office she seeks, Miss Thomas can be depended upon to be an actual leader of public school work in Iowa and in no sense will it be truthfully said of her that as a state superintendent she is a rubber stamp, nominally the leader by in merely the spokesman for some other group or clique. If chosen to serve the state the impress of her character and qualifications will be seen in Iowa public school work for many years to come. The present is no time for placing any one in public office who does not possess the ability to lead and direct the policies and plans of our great school system. This year as never before real,actual leaders are needed.

FEWER HOGS TO BE MARKETED

Hog supplies will probably run somewhat lighter at the principal markets for the next few weeks with some advance in prices. This shortage is largely due to a reduction in the spring pig crop of 1933 by the government purchase and slaughter last fall of 6 million pigs.

Supplies are expected to be somewhat lighter, also, because of the early marketing of hogs during November, December and January. Many of these pigs would have hit the market at a later date if the corn-hog ratio had not been so unfavorable to feeding.

This expected reduction in supplies however, may not amount to quite as much as it normally would snce there will probably be a tendency to market 1933 fall pigs at somewhat lighter weights also.

FABER TO ENTER RACE FOR SHERIFF

Kanawha Reporter—L. E. Faber has made it known that he has definitely decided to enter the race for the democratic nomination for Sheriff of Hancock County.

Mr. Faber became a resident of Kanawha when he purchased the feed mill here from Thos. Berhow. Previous to his coming here he was for several years a resident of Forest City. For twenty years however he was a resident of the north part of the county, coming to Hancock first in 1902, when he built a house in Miller. Later he purchased a farm, which he operated for a number of years and still owns. His farm is located near Miller.

Rumors of Mr. Faber's plans to run for Sheriff have been circulating here for several weeks.

REPORT OF HANCOCK COUNTY C. T. A. FOR FEBRUARY

E. J. Andregg and Virgil Cook have high herds for the month.

Mr. Andregg's herd average is 1161 pounds milk and 38.5 pounds butterfat. Mr. Cook's herd average is 1117 pounds milk and 38.5 pound butterfat. A. B. Thompson's herd average is 1018 pounds milk and 34.1 pounds butterfat.

Lyal Fox's herd average is 638 pounds milk and 30.0 pounds butterfat. Harold Quintus' herd average is 858 pounds milk and 29.5 pounds butterfat. Hans Mortenson & Son's herd average is 852 pounds milk and 29.5 pounds butterfat. R. V. Upmeyer's herd average is 533 pounds milk and 26.6 pounds butterfat. Ruoss Bros.' herd average is 906 pounds milk and 28.5 pounds butterfat. I. C. Hastings herd average is 798 pounds milk and 25.9 pounds butterfat. Albert Lange & Sons' herd average is 619 pounds milk and 25.2 pounds butterfat.

384 cows in the association average 634 pounds milk and 23.1 pounds butter fat. 16 cows were sold for slaughter this month.

HELP THROTTLE DEPRESSION

The construction industry has been virtually at the zero point—even below the general industrial level. Its most important branch, home building, practically disappeared. Last year it shared but little in the business pick-up.

But now the construction index is rising. It isn't going forward at a boom rate, but sound, well-established acceleration is ocuring. Much of this is due to governmental building. But private construction is likewise showing a substantial upward trend Many men have found jobs at good wages—and they are spending an appreciable part of their earnings in improving homes.

An inevitable result is an increase in construction costs. All the basic materials—lumber, cement, roofing, etc.— have made substantial gains over the extraordinary lows. But they're still pretty well down in the economic cellar. They are cheaper at this writing than they will be in the future. And the opportunity to build a home at low cost is still to be had.

So far as the home owner is concerned, building and repairing now is good business—it saves him money, and gives him something essential at bagain prices. And, when he builds, he is contributing substantially toward speeding recovery. He is giving jobs—he is sending needed dollars through a thousand industries—he is stimulating commerce. That's why an excellent motto is: "Build and repair now—save yourself money—and help throttle depression."

BOOK FOR CORN-HOG SIGNERS

College Prepares New Book In Which To Keep Accounts

A farm business record book, revised by the Extension Service at Iowa State College to give corn-hog contract signers a more usable account book, is being distributed to Iowa farmers, according to L. G. Allbaugh, farm management specialist in the Extension Service.

At three recent meetings held by Kenneth Whirrett, county agent in Clarke county, 139 record books were distributed and Whirrett has placed an order for 25 more. One hundred twenty books were started at the meeting and Mr. Allbaugh expects 175 farmers to start books in that county this year.

A similar plan to place the benefits of using farm record books before farmers is being used by other county agents. Because of the corn-hog program, demands of farmers or a suitable record book will increase tenfold in Iowa.

CHANCE TO BUILD UP PASTURE

An opportunity to build up Iowa's over-grazed pastures is offered in connection with the government's crop adjustment programs, according to E. S. Dyas, crops specialist in the Iowa State College Extension Service.

The tendency in Iowa has been to crop land "for all it's worth" with the result that most pasture land is over-grazed. Even with reduced numbers of livestock, Iowa can easily stand to have more land in pasture.

Now is a favorable time to expand and improve permanent pastures. Many farmers who have had to use their best land for cash crops may, under the AAA, profitably seed some good land to pasture.

Turning cultivated land into permanent pasture tends to decrease rather than increase the total supply of livestock products, according to crops specialists in Washington. This is because an average acre of pasture produces only about one-half as much feed as an acre of the ordnary corn-wheat-clover rotation of harvested crops.

Decreasing production in this manner actually increases net income. In a pasture experiment where cows were fed on harvested feed the daily milk production averaged 30 pounds per cow. When the same cows were turned on good pasture and the harvested feed was continued they produced only 27 pounds of milk a day.

When the cows were eating harvested feed they were eating expensive feed. When they gathered it themselves off the pasture they were eating cheap feed.

As a rule pasture feed costs only about one-fourth as much as harvested feed. The cost of producing a pound in this experiment was less and the profits correspondingly greater when the cows were on a good pasture than when they were on harvested feed.

ALLOTMENT COMMITTEE WILL DO BULK OF CORN-HOG WORK

Upon the shoulders of the Hancock County Allotment Committee will fall the bulk of the work in the local administration of the corn hog production control campaign, according to County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

The board of directors of the county corn-hog control association, however, has been delegated the power and authority in the local organization. The allotment committee will carry out its orders.

This committee, is composed of the president of the corn-hog control association and four other members of the board of directors of the association. The president of the association is chairman of the county allotment committee.

The vice-president of the association, though not a member ,will serve on the committee in the absence of any regular member, the county agent explained.

This committee may be paid up to a certain amount to be approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace depending upon what the association decides to do about holding down local costs.

The expense of the campaign in Hancock County rests entirely in the hands of the corn-hog control association in that it has the authority to incur local expense within certain limits set by the secretary of agriculture.

The duties of the county allotment committee will be to: check over and consider all contracts filed in the county; Make recommendations to the secretary of agriculture as to the advisability of accepting contracts; If necessary insert corrected and adjusted figures in contracts; certify to the corn-hog section of the AAA the total corrected figures for 1934, corn acreage, contracted acreages, corn production and corn reduction payments; carry out any other duties specified by the Corn-Hog Section.

The allotment committee may hold hearings and conduct investigations if necessary in performing its duties, according to the county agent.

Acrobatic Drum Majors Usually Get Good Hand

The gymnastic drum major was once a favorite feature of public processions, and these performers were often of national repute. Of recent years, however, there has been a more modest behavior at the van of the musical organizations, the time markers restraining themselves to sedate movements to guide the cadence of their followers. But old-style twisters of the baton came back into vogue and won the plaudits of the crowd.

People like to laugh, and they are quick to acclaim with mirth anything that is peculiar and out of the ordinary. The drum major who flings his baton high in the air while he executes a double shuffle, who struts with exaggerated pomposity and protruding chest, who cake-walks his way along the route, is sure of a "hand" from the crowded curbs. Certain bands cannot tolerate such behavior at their van, for they have reputations as musicians to maintain rather than as comedians. It has in the course of many years been noted that the drum major who wins the loudest applause usually leads the poorest band.—Washington Star.

Coldest Place, Between Hudson Bay and Alaska

The coldest part of North America is the tract between Hudson bay and Alaska. In the neighborhood of the Mackenzie river the temperature probably falls at times to 75 degrees below zero, states the author of "Climates of the Continents."

The 1926 government weather report of lowest temperature shows a drop of 76 degrees below zero in January, 1886, at Tanana, Alaska, and at Eagle, Alaska, during the same month a drop in the temperature to 75 degrees below zero. There is no record of the temperature falling as low as 80 degrees below zero in Alaska, but undoubtedly the temperature frequently drops to more than 80 degrees below zero in parts of Siberia.

The lowest temperature ever authentically recorded in the United States was 65 degrees below zero, which occurred at Fort Keough, near Miles City, Mont., in January, 1838.

Concave Mirrors

An ordinary mirror reflects light directly from its entire surface, but a concave or convex mirror reflects as if every distinct point of its surface were a separate and very small plane mirror. These mirrors produce upon light effects similar to those of lenses, except that the concave mirror corresponds to the convex lens and the convex mirror to the concave lens. Now, as in a lens, from whatever direction rays of light may fall upon a concave mirror, they are brought to a focus near the central ray, and if they fall obliquely from one side of the axis of the mirror, they will be reflected at the same angle on the other side of the axis. Therefore, the mirror will form an inverted image of any object placed before it, just as the lens does, and the image will be near or distant, and large or small, according to the divergence of the approaching rays, just as with lenses.

Grant Went Broke

General Grant left the Presidency of the United States a fairly well-to-do man. He toured the world after his retirement, and then three years later was defeated for nomination for a third term. Then it was that he invested what money he had in Wall Street and became a member of the firm of Grant & Ward. Three years later the firm went down in failure and Grant was bankrupt. He was forced to earn money by writing for magazines, and he provided for the future of his family by writing his memoirs. He persevered on his book despite grievous illness, and finished it only four days before his death.

View 300-Year-Old Creed Book

Thousands of Sikhs, a Hindu community in the Punjab of India, have been flocking to gaze upon one of the historic manuscript books of their faith. The book, known as the Adi Granth, was on display at the residence of the Guru, their spiritual chief, at Kartarpur. The Adi Granth was written by the fifth Guru more than 300 years ago, and it is said that only two men have read it. The Sikhs originally were a religious community founded by Baba Banak, who was born in 1469.

Stonehenge

"Stonehenge" is a name that applies to the huge monoliths. About the half of the word "henge" there is some difference of opinion. The Anglo-Saxon word "henge" means something hanging or supported in the air. It is possible that in some prehistoric time these great monoliths supported some kind of a ladder. Another theory with reference to the word is that Stonehenge was erected to commemorate some act of Hengist, one of the early rulers of a part of Britain.

Dead Sea Fruit

Dead sea fruit, which turns to ashes in the mouth, is not a mere legend. It grows on a tree about 15 feet high, is a bright yellow color, and is about the size of an apple. It looks very luscious, but is often attacked by a large black and yellow cricket so that that whole of the interior becomes dust although the skin remains unharmed. Thus, when it is picked it turns to tasteless powder.

SOW OATS AND BARLEY EARLY

Experiment Station Tests Show This Brings Higher Yields per Acre

Iowa's two main small grain crops oats and barley, respond well to early sowing, experiments conducted by the Experiment Station at Iowa State College the past 5 years show.

Many farmers say, "it doesn't make much difference whether you get your oats planted the first of April or the middle of the month."

Tests on oats showed. however, that an average delay of 11 days in sowing resulted in an average loss in yield of 11.76 bushels an acre. The advantage of sowing early varied considerably for different varieties—Iowa No. 105, a very high yielding oat yielded 17.1 bushels more when planted about the first week in April than when planted about the middle of the month. Hybrid D-67 only showed a gain of 3.9 bushels for early planting.

Ripening dates were delayed only two to five days by the 11 days delay in sowing.

Results were similar with barley sample planted, although there was more variation in yield of different varieties. The average loss in acre yield, because of 12 days delay in planting, was 7.64 bushels. The loss varied from nearly 15 bushels on some varieties to no loss on others.

When the planting was delayed 28 days, all varieties showed big losses and an average of 13 bushels loss for the 9 samples. Best results were secured about the first of April or last of March.

FIRE AT LAU RESIDENCE DID LITTLE DAMAGE

A fire caused from sparks lighting on the roof of the Lloyd Lau residence Sunday morning did but little damage. The blaze was seen by Ey Buntenbach, Lau's neighbor. Lloyd Lau extinguished the blaze with a chemical extinguisher before the fire department arrived.

The fire department boys had a little trouble in getting the truck started and were somewhat delayed in getting to the fire. Our Town Officials will do the community a good turn if they will furnish our volunteer fire department with some up-to-date equipment to work with. The present equipment should be replaced with a better outfit as a protection to the property owners of Klemme.

Dairymen To Hold County Meeting To Plan Program

DAIRY PRODUCERS TO MEET AT GARNER FRIDAY AFTERNOON

County Meeting Called To Plan Dairy Program

A meeting of dairy producers will be held at the Court House in Garner on Friday afternoon, March 23, at 1:00 o'clock to discuss what plans can be formulated to work out a dairy program under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, says Ben V Greiman, who has been instructed to issue a call for such a gathering.

This county meeting is expected to try and line up what they believe should be the state policy in order to get best returns to farmers interested in this part of agriculture. At the county meeting it is expected that a delegate will be chosen who will represent this county at the state meeting called for March 26th in Des Moines at Hotel Savory.

Last week in Des Moines, a group of dairy producers held an informal discussion of the present situation and they felt it was time for Iowa dairy farmers to begin thinking of their industry. No definite action was taken at the Des Moines meeting beyond issuing a call for the statewide meeting on March 26th.

Because the state Corn-Hog committeemen had a statewide organization, the dairy groups asked the sate committee to contact their field men to institute the local dairy meetings, says Fred Stover, local fieldman.

All farmers who are engaged in dairy production should attend the county meeting and take a part in the discussion.

Klemme High School Orchestra To Compete At Ames

As there was no class B competition in this district, the Klemme ool Orchestra will enter the state meet at Ames where the music contest will take place on April 6, 6 and 7. The orchestra will not go to Mason City this year as Klemme is the only class C orchestra to e ter this year.

MUCH DEAD SEED OATS IS INDICATED BY EARLY TESTS

Only Few Samples of Barley.. and Seed Oats Germinate Usual Test

Unless Iowa farmers test their seed oats and barley or have it tested before seding this year, they may discover that they have planted dead grain.

Ordinarily these small grains germinate 95 to 100 per cent, but only a few scattered samples tested in the Iowa State College Seed Laboratory have tested that high this year and some oat samples have been completely dead. There has been a that's a real man's feed!
the samples tested.

The explanation of this low germination lies mostly in two causes. These are over-heating in the bins due to molds and the presence of parasitic organisms.

Barley samples this year have shown much foot rot or spot blotch, as it is sometimes called. A few samples have had scab. These diseases hurt germination and reduce yields.

Oats and barley samples may be sent to the Iowa State College seed laboratory for testing. The test includes both determination of the presence of disease organisms and germination. A quart of seed should be sent in. A new pramphlet, "Barley Disease in Iowa" has ben published and may be obtained by writing to the Extension Service, Iowa State College.

Those who were listening to station WSUI on Monday evening heard a Klemme girl "on the air" when Miss Gracka Quandt played the piano accompianiment for Keith Webber, who sang four selections. Miss Quandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Quandt, is specializing in music at the Iowa University.

Fred Barz and family, Albert Barz and family and Marvin Barz and family enjoyed dinner Sunday at the Henry Barz home. Mrs. Lena Schroeder and Max Barz and Harvey Barz and family were guests in the afternoon.

Farm Bookkeeping Being Recommended By AAA

ADVISES CHECK ON FIGURES OF CORN-HOG CONTRACTS

County Agent S. J. Oberhauser, recommends that Hancock county farmers check carefully the production and marketing records of corn-hog signers which will be published in county newspapers. He suggests that mistakes in figures be reported to corn-hog committeemen.

"The fact that a man overstates his production of corn or hogs over the past two years," said Mr. Oberhauser, "does not necessarily mean that he is dishonest. Tests conducted with large numbers of persons show that everbody tends to exaggerate happenings of the past no matter whether it is the size of the fish caught temperature on a cold day or the yield of field corn."

Mr. Oberhauser went on to say that the success of the corn-hog program in which the majority of Hancock county farmers are participating, depends on an actual reduction in the production and marketing of corn and hogs. Each individual farmer he points out, has a personal interest to see that every other farmer makes the required reduction and that every farmer gets no more than his rightful share of the reduction payments.

BANK ROBBERY PICTURES!

As we go to press Mr. Marks, manager of the Avery Theatre at Garner, telephones the Times that he has made arrangements to show the moving pictures of the Mason City Bank robbery. This extraordinary feature will be shown at the Avery on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Marks also calls your attention to two outstanding pictures: "Little Women" which will be shown at the Avery this week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Then next week on Thursday and Friday "The Private Life of Henry the Eighth" will be shown. The stars in both of these pictures were recently given awards for outstanding acting in pictures this year.

THE TRAIN IS COMING BACK

Under the above title, Walter P. McGuire, editor of the Southside Virginia News, Peters, Va. says:

"Having blazed the permanent way across the continent—laid itself down for seemingly endless miles across the level land, bridged every little creek and spreading swamp and roaring river, climbed over the mountains or blasted its way through them. the railroad made, itself perhaps the largest single instrument of national development, servant of individuals and great industries—a great American institution."

He then points out how privileged competition, tax subsidized and unregulated, has crippled and nearly destroyed highly taxed and over-regulated railroads.

Out of this testing period, the railroads are emerging into a new era brought about by imagination and courage on the part of their managements. The Union Pacific, for example, is pioneering what is undoubtedly the world's fastest, long distance land travel method. It's aluminum train with every modern convenience has a speed of 110 miles an hour.

Editor McGuire is right. The train is coming back— and with a vengeance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas and son, Jimmie; Levi Ridder; Mike Tanner; Dutch Turgasen; A. L. Kingery and C. G. Waterman drove to Cedar Falls last Thursday to take in the State High School Basket Ball Tournament. Mr. Kingery, athletic director of the Klemme high school, remained in Cedar Falls for the duration of the tournament. The other Klemme visitors returned home Thursday night.

FARMERS URGED TO KEEP FARM RECORD BOOKS

S. J. Oberhauser, county agent, will attend a district training school in Clarion next week to secure information for Hancock County farmers on keeping farm records in connection with the corn hog program and on substitute crops.

The keeping of a farm record is not compulsory, said Mr. Oberhauser but certain data which will be eeded to furnish "proof of compliance" can best be kept in some form of record.

The new AAA record book, copies of which have been received, provides space for keeping data on the production and sale or disposal of basis commodities only. It will be provided free of charge by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to all farmers signing corn-hog wheat contracts.

Chester C. Davis, administrator of the AAA, suggests that farmers wishing to keep a more detailed account of the farm business, use the record already available from the State Extesion Service. The Iowa Farm Management Extension Service has two books available, according to Mr. Oberhauser.

The Iowa Farm Record Book provides a place for figures on production and sale of all commodities and blanks for a complete summary of the year's record and analysis of the farm enterprise which is not available in the AAA record book.

This analysis and summary enables the farmer to compare his farm with the average of the state compiled each year by the Extension Service from farmers keeping records in cooperation with the college. The Iowa record book shows the net cash ncome, net farm income and other measure of profit. Blanks for 'net worth statement' also are provided in the Iowa book showing the inventory value of the farm and its supplies and equipment at the beginning and end of each year. This is an important measure of the financial progress of the farm.

Approximately 3,000 copies of these record books already have been sent out for use in 1934. Interest in keeping of the book has been increasing and has been stimulated considerably by the neccessity of keeping figures on the production and disposal of basic commodities. Although the keeping of a farm record book is not mandatory, certain statistics which will be required in "proof of compliance statements" can best be kept only in some form of record book.

The Farm Management Extension Service also has a loose leaf account book available for farmers who wish to keep even more detailed records. This book provides a comparison of the business by months. more detailed accounts of cash expenditures and a home account.

J. R. BAGGS, GARNER, ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT N. C. I. S. T. A.

J. R. Baggs, Garner, was elected vice president of the North Central division of the Iowa State Teachers association at the closing session of a three day meeting at Fort Dodge last Saturday. He will be in direct charge of 20 counties in this part of the state. Other officers elected were: Miss Kate E. Skinner, Fort Dodge, president; Miss Hattie Wilson, Algona, secretary; and R. E. Nyquist of Mason City, treasurer.

Supt. C. A. Pease of Clear Lake will be chairman of the executive committee.

Resolutions expressed a feeling of optimism for the future of the schools.

Lesson for March 25

CONFESSING AND FOLLOWING CHRIST

LESSON TEXT--Matthew 16:13-26.

GOLDEN TEXT And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.—Matt. 16:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC--Peter's Answer to Jesus' Question.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Question and the Answer.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Putting Christ First.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC--What Think Ye of Christ?

In order to obviate a break in the studies in Matthew and still have an Easter lesson, the review should be omitted and the lesson for April 1 taken instead.

I. Jesus Christ the King, Taking Account of His Ministry (vv. 13-17).

1. The place (v. 13). It was at Cesarea Philippi, the northern limit of Jewish territory. It was significant that the announcement concerning the Church should take place in this region.

2. The time in Christ's ministry. It marked a turning point. His ministry was largely restricted to his disciples after this. The cross was a short time ahead. The Messiah had already been rejected. They had already charged him with being in league with the devil and sought to kill him It was highly important that the disciples should have clear views as to Christ's person in order to stand the test of the trial and crucifixion of Jesus.

3. Peter's confession of Jesus (vv. 13-16)

a. The occasion (vv. 13-15). Two questions asked by Jesus provoked this confession.

(1) As to the opinion of the people concerning him (vv. 13, 14). They recognized him as a teacher and prophet of more than human authority Today, as then, there is a diversity of opinion concerning Jesus. Some think that he is only a man; others that he is a great teacher but nothing more. It was his persistent claim to be the Godman, the very Son of God, that sent him to the cross.

(2) As to the personal opinion of the disciples (v. 15) It was not enough for them to be able to tell what opinion the people held concerning Jesus. It was necessary that they have clear personal knowledge.

b. The content (v. 16). It consisted of two parts.

(1) "Thou art the Christ." This means that Jesus of Nazareth was the Messiah, the fulfiller of the Jewish hopes and expectations.

(2) "The Son of the living God." This acknowledged him to be divine. It was the recognition of his glorious person in keeping with the Jewish hope (Isa. 9:6, 7).

4. Christ's confession of Peter (vv. 17-19). Peter had made a noble confession. Now Jesus confesses him. Those who confess Christ shall be confessed by him (Matt. 10:32, 33).

5. Christ's charge to the disciples (v. 20). He asked them not to tell any man that he was the Messiah. The time was not ripe for such testimony.

II. The New Body, the Church, Announced (vv. 18, 19).

Following the confession of Peter, Jesus declared his intention of bringing into existence a new body. To the members of this body he promised to give the keys of the kingdom. Peter was to have a distinguished place in this body. The keys entrusted to him were used at Pentecost and again in the case of Cornelius. Christ has the keys of Hades and death.

III. The King Predicts His Death (vv. 21-23).

This prediction was no doubt startling to the disciples. They did not yet realize that redemption was to be accomplished through the passion of the cross. So unwelcome was this announcement that Peter cried, "This shall not be unto Thee." Later Peter saw through the darkness the sunlight on the hill tops beyond the cross. Redemptive victory through Christ's death is yet the stumbling block to many.

IV. The Cost of Discipleship (vv. 24-26)

To follow Christ means suffering. To follow him is to turn one's back upon the world.

1. There must be denial of self. There is a wide difference between self-denial and denial of self.

2 "Take up his cross" (v. 24). This cross is the shame and suffering which lie in the path of loyalty to Christ. To do our whole duty will bring suffering (II Tim. 3:12).

3. Follow Christ (v. 24). This means to have the mind of Christ, to be like Christ. All such shall be rewarded when Christ comes in glory.

Religion Gives Confidence

Religion gives the religious soul the confidence born of close touch with the center of all things. "I can do all things," says the Christian, through Christ who strengthens me."

Is not this worth while?

The Raven and Crow Are Sisters Under the Skin

Poe's raven and America's crows, like Rosie O'Grady and the Colonel's Lady, are sisters under the skin. While the raven tapped doors, the crow taps eggs of nesting birds—the baneful influence of both the legendary emblem of death and the pillager of cornfields amounts to the same thing.

"It is doubtful," states a publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, "whether any other bird is of as great economic importance to the farmer as the crow. In food habits it is practically omnivorous; it takes anything from the choicest poultry and the tenderest shoots of sprouting grain to carrion and weed seeds. The fact that no less than 656 items have been identified in its food gives some idea of the bird's resourcefulness."

During the months when young crows are being hatched and reared, the parents are persistent hunters for the young and eggs of wild birds and poultry. The bureau of biological survey states in a report on crow damage at a federal waterfowl sanctuary: "The chief enemy of the ducks was the crow. This bird destroyed 36 per cent of the eggs."

There are four related species of crows: The Florida crow, fish crow, southern and western crow.

Dante, the Italian Poet, Was Native of Florence

Dante, the celebrated Italian poet, was born in Florence in the latter part of May, 1265; the date is uncertain. His family was an old one, his father an adherent of the Guelph party in the long feud with the Ghibellines.

At nine Dante first saw Beatrice Portinari, then only eight. The "Vita Nuova" is practically a history of his love for her. She enters also into the Divine comedy In 1287 she was married, but not to Dante, who expressed no disappointment at her marriage. She died soon afterward, at the age of twenty-four Dante himself married about two years later.

He became passionately absorbed in the love of country, and at the age of twenty-four fought on the side of the Guelphs at the battle of Campaldino. He was intrusted with several foreign missions and became an important factor in the Florentine government. Time modified his ardent partisanship, and he was occupied with plans for the reconciliation of the Guelphs and Ghibellines. In 1303 he abandoned his public career and spent the remainder of his life in wandering from one city to another and in study. He died at Ravenna September 14, 1321.

America B. C.

Whether the first human creatures roamed the wilds of Africa 20,000,000 years ago or whether man first appeared in the Gobi desert or some other region remains a puzzle on which geologists never cease to ponder, remarks the New York Sun. The controversy on man's first home does not overshadow in interest a report on ancient American culture presented by a representative of the American Museum of Natural History. Digging in their native soil, anthropologists of the United States turn up some of the most fascinating puzzles known to students of prehistoric man. When a quarry near Folsom, N. M., was examined the remains of extinct buffalo were found. Mounds in Kentucky have yielded skeletons and the remains of ancient dwellings believed to mark the site of a town which thrived in the South in 1068 B. C.

The Earth's Thin Crust

That the crust of the earth is only 40 miles thick, and that it must bend when loaded with ocean water, glacial ice, or deposits of sand or mud, is the opinion of a professor of Harvard university. The professor advances the theory that beneath the surface crust, composed mostly of crystalized rock, are 1,800 miles of glassy rock shells, which enclose the molten core of iron and nickel. The shifting of weight, caused by vast amounts of sediment being carried to sea by rivers, is one cause of earthquakes, he believes, for the earth's crust must adjust itself to the change of weight. Ocean depths, dry land and mountains are also accounted for by the bending of the earth's crust due to weights.

Billiard Table Said to Have Come From Spain

The billiard table is said to have found its way into America through the Spaniards about 1570. The English style of table and game was first adopted by Americans. Tables 6 by 12 feet, with six pockets, were [illegible] Soon the tables were reduced in from 6 by 12 feet to 5½ by 11 then to about 5 feet wide to 10 [illegible] long. All matches and tournament games are now played on tables 5 by 12 feet, which are popular in public rooms and clubs throughout the United States, while tables 4½ by 9 feet are used almost exclusively in private homes. Pool is played on a table 5 by 10 feet or 4½ by 9 feet with six pockets, generally with a gully attached. The English billiard table consists of a framework of mahogany or other hardwood, with six legs, and strong enough to bear the weight of five slabs of slate each 2 2-5 feet by 6 feet 1½ inches and about 2 inches thick. These having been fitted together to form a level surface, and a green cloth having been tightly strained over it, the cushions are attached, and the pockets, for which provision has been made in the slate, are adjusted. As the inside cushion is not perpendicular to the bed of the table, but is beveled away so that the top overhangs the base by about ¾ of an inch, the playing area of the table is 6 feet wide, but is 1½ inches short of 12 feet long. The height is 2 feet 8 inches, measured from the floor to the cloth.

Many Odd Superstitions Concerning the Cuckoo

A great many superstitious beliefs and legends concerning the cuckoo have been handed down from early times, observes a writer in the Detroit News. According to one old Irish superstition, an unmarried person should search the ground at his or her feet for a hair on first hearing the song of the cuckoo. The hair, when found, should reveal the color of the hair that person is going to marry.

A more widespread custom is that of turning over the money in one's pocket on hearing the cuckoo sing for the first time. This is supposed to [illegible] an increase in one's wealth.

Perhaps one of the oddest [illegible] concerning the cuckoo is one that [illegible] tioned in the works of Aristotle [illegible] cording to this authority, there in his time persons that believ cuckoo was changed into a [illegible] hawk in winter because the hawk invariably disappeared when the sparrow came and vice versa.

Where Coconut Is King

To the average American, a coconut is only a coconut, providing an occasional delicacy, to be eaten either raw or in a cake, pie or candy, but there are parts of the world where the coconut tree is the producer of almost all the necessities of life, says Field Museum News. Staple food, drinks, utensils, clothing and shelter are garnered from this unprepossessing fruit of the South Seas, and the islanders of those regions are perfectly happy with a menu of coconut, coconut and coconut, three times daily. Children of the tropics eat a strange candy made from part of the sprouted coconut which bulges into the center of the fruit and absorbs the meat and milk. This is a tender tidbit. Aside from its local uses in the tropics, the coconut is of great importance in the world's commerce as a source of copra, the dried coconut meat from which coconut oil is obtained for edible fat, and for use in soap making.

Vitamins in Food

Recognized vitamins in food include the following: Vitamin A, found in milk, butter, fresh cheese, eggs, green vegetables (such as spinach, watercress and turnip greens), yellow vegetables (especially carrots and yellow corn); vitamin B, found in germs of wheat and other cereals, liver, yeast, lettuce and raw peanuts; vitamin C, in lemons, oranges, grapefruit, raw cabbage, sauerkraut, sprouted grain or peas, tomatoes, lettuce, watercress, spinach, turnips and green peppers; vitamin D, in liver and cod-liver oil, egg yolk, snails, sunshine; vitamin E, German oil of wheat or other grains and many vegetable oils, fresh meat and animal fat, fresh lettuce; vitamin F, same as vitamin B; vitamin G (also called B2), in fresh or evaporated milk, liver, green vegetables (even if canned), bananas and yeast.

British Postage Stamps

British postage stamps have never borne the name of Great Britain, but only the legend Postage and Revenue and, with very few exceptions, the profile of the reigning monarch. Some stamps are more curious in that there is no indication on them of their value. An example of this was the newspaper stamp issued by Australia, 1863, which bore neither the name of the country nor the value. The design was a head of the Greek god Hermes, enclosed in a fancy border.

Trotting and Pacing

The difference between a trotter and a pacer lies in the movement. The trot is a progressive motion of a quadruped, in which each diagonal pair of legs is alternately lifted, thrust forward, and placed upon the ground with approximate synchrony, the body of the animal being entirely unsupported twice during each stride. The pace is a swaying gait characterized by the throwing of the weight of the body from the legs on one side to those on the other.

Funeral Services Held For Former Klemme Teacher

GEORGE G. WASHBURN, 88, DIED AT CLEAR LAKE SATURDAY

Was Superintendent Of Klemme Schools 26 Years Ago

Funeral services for Geo. G. Washburn, who died at a nursing home in Clear Lake early Saturday morning, were held at 9 a. m. Monday, March 26, in the U. B. Church at Ventura wth the Rev. Harry Derks in charge.

The Pastor spoke on these words "And even to your old age, I will carry you." He also spoke of the influence of a good teacher in shaping the lives of our youth, and he liked to think of "Daddie" Washburn, as he was lovingly called by his students, as being called home by the great Master Teacher to receive his reward and hear these words, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

For 50 consecutive years, Mr. Washburn served his generation of pioneers as a teacher in the public schools. In this work he was hopeful and progressive.

His last year in the school room was spent as Superintendent of the Klemme Schools in 1908.

Special music was furnished at the funeral service by E. S. D. Kahr Lawrence Bliss and Harry Derks.

After the church service the remains were take nby automobile to Hawarden, Iowa, 177 miles west of Ventura and interment was made in the family lot in the Grace Hill cemetery.

Harvey Kluckhohn and daughter, Ruth, LeMars, Iowa, J. L. Emerson, Des Moines, and other Hawarden friends met the funeral party at the cemetery.

Klemme relatives who attended the Washburn funeral were: Mrs. George Kluckhohn, Mrs. Sadie Turrasen, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn, Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Schaefer, W. C. Keraus and Frank Kluckhohn. The latter two men accompanying the Washburn family to Hawarden.

Obituary

George G. Washburn was born on April 22, 1846, and he died on March 22, 1934, at Clear Lake, Iowa. His age would have been 88 years, if he had lived one more month.

He was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Washburn, whose ancestors came from England three generations before.

He was born near Chicago, Ill., but his parents soon moved to Wattsburg, Pennsylvania, where they lived on a farm and conducted a store. He spent his youth and received his elementary education in Pennsylvania.

He was graduated from Dixon Normal School, in Dixon, Illinois, and did postgraduate at Drake University, in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. Washburn began his life work teaching in Pennsylvania and carried on this work for fifty years. He taught in rural and city schools of Pensylvania and Iowa, and was granted a first grade state certificate for life to teach in both states.

He was married June 27, 1893, to Emma L. Kluckhohn of Garner, Ia., at that place. They met at Hawarden, Iowa, where she was principal of the high school for three years while he had the position of school superintendent. There they became members of the Congregational Church, and always maintained a membership iin this denomination. Their first home was in Rock Valley, Iowa, where he was school superintendent for six years. He then taught in Paulina, Garner, Klemme and other Iowa schools. He served as instructor in many of the institutes which Iowa teachers were required to attend for summer sessions of 8 weeks.

He went into business in Algona, Iowa, and later at Ventura, Iowa, where his health began to fail. Last May he fell and fractured his hip, and has been bedfast ever since.

Mr. Washburn maintained a kindly interest in all of his students. He believed in them and his philosophy of life was based on a desire to help them in every way he could. He was extremely interested in all scholastic pursuits.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Dr. B. E. Washburn of Seatlle, Washington; three daughters: Mrs. J. L. Emerson, Des Moines, Iowa, Mrs. L. H. Snyder, Kansas City, Missouri, and Miss Georgia Washburn Ventura, Iowa; three grandchildren. He is to be buried in Grace Hill cemetery at Hawarden, Iowa, as he felt that would be going back home.

OLD AGE PENSION BILL

An old age pension bill was passed by the legislature and was signed by the governor. The law provides that starting Nov. 1, pensions of not to exceed $25 a month may be granted needy persons of 65 years or over. Revenue for payment of the pensions will be raised by a per capita taz of $1 payable on or before July 1 by all persons over 21 years of age and by a $2 a year tax thereafter.

The law lists as persons eligible for the pensions aged men and women who do not have an income of $1 a day.

The measure creates also a state old age pension board of three members and sets up county boards to receive the applications for assistance.

Henry Suckow, local Assessor, received the following information from Auditor Missal: "I quote you herewith. Sec. 35 of the Old Age Pension Law:

"Sec. 35. For the purpose of affording Old Age assistance, commencing Nov. 1, 1934 under the provision of this act prior to July 1. 1935 there is hereby levied on all persons pursuant to section 34, a tax of $1.00, payable on or before July 1, 1934. The Board Of Review is hereby directed to instruct the Auditors of the several counties of the state to have assessors submit lists of persons over twenty-one years of age, subject to ths tax in their respective districts and said Auditor to pass these lists on to the Treasurer of such counties for collection."

U-DELT-EM CLUB MET ON THURSDAY

The U-Delt-Em club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kingery. Bridge was played. Mrs. Fred Arnold and Mrs. Art Kudje were guests. High prize was won by Mrs. Arnold, as well as the traveling prize and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson won low prize. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. This is the last meeting of the club this season, except for the grand finale, when they will have a dinner, with their husbands as guests, followed by bridge.

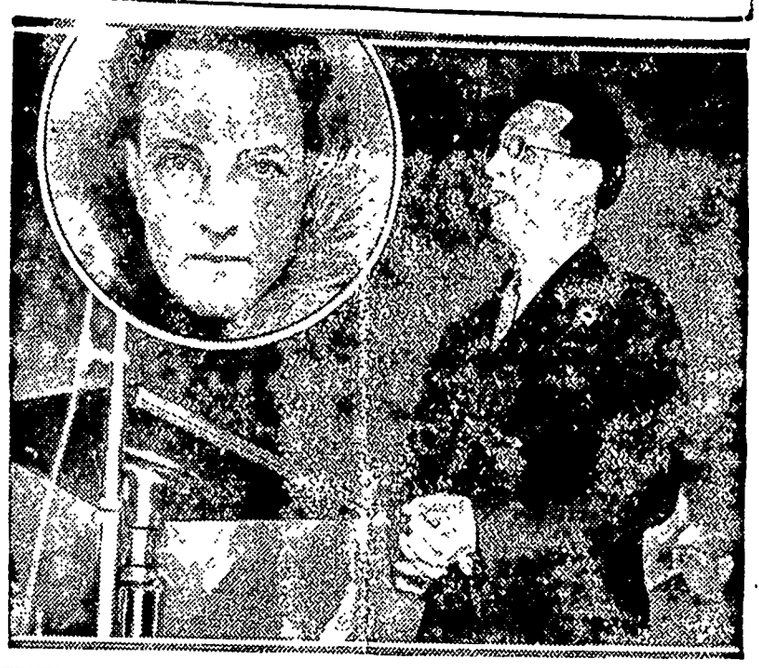
NO NEW CASES CONTAGIOUS DISEASE REPORTED HERE

The epidemic of chicken pox, mumps and measles which was quite general all over Iowa and of which Klemme had its share along with other towns in the vicinity, seems to be quite thoroughly checked here. No new cases of chicken pox have been reported the past week. No cases of mumps or scarlet fever. Now and then a case of measles is reported, but these have all been in light form.

KLEMME SCHOOLS WILL ENJOY SHORT SPRING VACATION

Teachers and students of the Klemme grade and high school will enjoy a few days of Spring vacation this week, on Wednesday Thurs,day and Friday. This treat comes as a result of the shortened Christmas and New Year vacation which did not run the usul two weeks.

Byrd Expedition to Hear Easter Sermon



WHEN Easter dawns in the Antarctic, there won't be any dress parade on the main street of Little America. Nevertheless, the members of Admiral Byrd's second expedition will experience a real touch of the Easter Spirit when Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted pastor of Riverside Church, New York, delivers a special sermon to them by short wave radio. The eminent clergyman's message will be heard by the 56 isolated explorers ten thousand miles away—and listeners in this country—at 10 p.m., eastern standard time, March 31, over the Columbia network. Young Local Couple Took Marriage Vows Today

MISS REVA ELDER AND JOHN WADDINGHAM MARRIED TODAY

Pre-Easter Wedding Solemnized At Methodist Church

The marriage of Miss Reva Elder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Elder, and John William Waddingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waddingham, took place today, March 28, 1934, at 2 p. m. in the Methodist Church in Klemme. Miss Ethel Wellemeyer, played nuptial music. Miss Ruth and Wellemeyer sang "Dreaming" Buchanan and Parish.

The Lohengrin wedding march was played while the bridal party took their places at the altar. The J. L. Ralston, pastor of the Church performed the ceremony. He entered from the right and was panied by James Carlson, who was best man and Mr. Waddingham the groom. Meanwhile, from the church, little Eunice Dispatch, dressed in pale pink organdy over ordinary carrying a beautiful basket of spread of ers, entered as flower girl, followed by Miss Clarice Wellemeyer, the bridesmaid, dressed in navy blue with white dotted silk crepe. She was followed by the bride, who was accompanied by her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride wore a navy blue dress of pique georgette, with blue hat and shoes to match, and white gloves. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses. The groom and best man were dressed in the conventional blue.

After the ring ceremony was performed, Mendelsohn's wedding march was played, while the bridal party descended to the dining room. The reception hostesses were Mrs. Ben Kafter and Mrs. C. A. Larsen, assisted in the dining room by the Misses Vella and Emily Paul. The bridal table was set with beautiful linens and sterling silver with two pretty tapering green candles beside the center peice of yellow daffodil's with streamers of smilax. Beside the bridal table were two other tables for the invited guests. Brick ice cream and cake was served. The wedding cake was a beautiful angel food cake baked and decorated in the pale colors of yellow and green as Easter trimmings.

Mrs. Waddingham is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elder. She graduated from the grade schools and the Klemme High School. She attended college at Ames where she took a course in Home Economics for one year. She has been a very successful teacher in the rural schools near Klemme for the past two years. She has been prominent in 4-H club work in the county and held several offices in the club.

Mr. Waddingham attended the use of tools and also the Ventura pared with using greater, tion of cultivated feed crops, can produce these products cheaply.

SERVICES AT GOODELL FOR MAYNE, FORMER RESIDENT

Funeral services were held Friday for C. C. Mayne, 84, who died at Fort Dodge. Mr. Mayne was born in Prussia, Germany and came to America with his mother in 1854. His mother died at sea and also his infant sister. Mr. Mayne and a sister four years his senior, continued the journey in care of their aunt. The voyage at this time consumed 34 days. They settled in Pennsylvania, later going to New York state and then to Iowa. He lived in Hancock county about 54 years. The last four years he had lived at Fort Dodge. A son, Cecil, lives in Fort Dodge.

A funeral service was held at Fort Dodge Wednesday in charge of the Rev. Arthur Peterson, pastor of the Epworth church. The Rev. Harry Herlein had charge of the services at Goodell.

Lived In Klemme

C. C. Mayne and family resided in Klemme for several years, living in the house now owned by U. G. Smid. Mrs. Mayne died while living in Klemme. Soon after the death of his wife Mr. Mayne moved to his farm west, of Goodell where he lived in a small house until he went to Fort Dodge.

WOLFE BARBER SHOP DAMAGED BY FIRE AND WATER

Roof Blaze Called Out Fire Department Satcrday Morning

A fire which originated in the roof of the Bachman building occupied by Carl Wolfe, barber, did considerable damage Saturday morning before the flames were brought under control by the volunteer fire department.

The extent of damage to the building is considerable. A new roof will have to be laid and the interior of the building replastered. But little damage was done to Mr. Wolfe's equipment as it was carried out of the building. Since the fire Mr. Wolfe has been working with Jim Thomas in his shop.

We understand the loss was covered by insurance.

County Legion Meeting At Britt Tuesday, April 3

Two meetings are ahead for local Legionaires. On Monday evening, April 2, a tri-county meeting will be held in Forest City at which time Leo Duster, state commander of the Iowa department will be the speaker. All Legionaires and Auxiliary members are invited. 25 cents will be charged which includes the lunch and dance.

On Tuesday evening the county meeting will be held at Britt and all Legionaires are invited to attend.

Follow-Up Meeting Held At Ms. Henry Barz Home Friday

The follow-up meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Barz Friday afternoon with nineteen ladies present. The lesson on prints and the classification of individuals was very well given by Mrs. W. L. Thada. A part of the lesson on patterns was given by Mrs. C. J. Wille. It used to be the small people thought they could better wear the larger figures, but now they are to wear the dainty patterns, while the larger ladies are to wear the prints with the geometrical figures in as well as the stripes. The lesson was very interesting. We understand this was the last meeting until next fall. A lovely lunch was served consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cookies and homemade ice cream furnished by Mrs. Barz.

STATE EXPENSES CUT BY THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION

Almost Three Million Dollars Less Expense in Last Quarter of 1933.

That the present Democratic state administration is saving the state of Iowa money, despite the costly special session, is shown by the following data submitted by State Comptroller C. B. Murtaugh. The cost of the Iowa state government for the last quarter of 1933 was $2,835,350.56 less han the corresponding period in 1932.

This total included a reduction of $1,025,251.10 in general fund expenditures and $1,879,790.77 in trust fund expense from which was subtracted $69,691.31 paid in interest on stamped warrants. The report, which the comptroller submitted to Gov. Clyde Herring, covered the period from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1933.

Despite Special Session

The comptroller reported that the $2,835,350.56 reduction was accmoplished despite a 1933 additional outlay of $140,361.61 for the November and December expenses of the special assembly session.

Total expenses for the 1933 quarter were placed by the comptroller at $8,483,630.83 as contrasted with a total of $11,318,981.39 for the same three months of 1932.

In the 1933 quarter expenditures from the general fund amounted to $3,197,474.46 and those from the trust funds to $5,286,156.37, while in the same period of 1932 the respective totals were $4,193,153.86 and $7,125,500.53.

The largest departmental reduction in the 1933 quarter was in the board of control institutions. Cost of operating the institutions was $865,473.65 below that for the same period in 1932.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Ye Editor was the victim of a real surprise Saturday night when he came home from Garner. On entering his home a group of friends greeted him with a loud "Surprise". They had plotted with our young son and secured a key to the house and were awaiting our arrival. Friend wife also entered into the plot by telephoning from Garner the approximate time of our departure from there so that everything could be put in readiness—it was!

The evening was spent playing bridge, after which we consumed a great share of the good things to eat which the "surprisers" had brought with them. Thus our grocery bill was kept intact.

We have to admit that they certainly put one over on us that time.

WILD ANIMAL RAISERS

At least two Klemme gentlemen are interested in raising fur bearing animals. Matt Smith has for some time owned two pairs of silver foxes which have been kept on the fox farm near Belmond. This week he brought the animals to Klemme.

For some time Sumner Trumbell has been raising Fitches and at this time has four pairs of these animals. In case you don't know what a Fitch is, we might add that they somewhat resemble a mink and a ferret. However, the odor they give out does not resemble Fitch hair tonic!

Lesson for April 1

THE CHRIST RISEN
(Easter Lesson)

LESSON TEXT—John 20:1-29.
GOLDEN TEXT—If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God.—Col. 3:1.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Living With the Living Christ
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Reality of the Resurrection.

The resurrection of Christ is one of the foundation truths of Christianity. It is the grand proof that Christ was what he claimed to be, the Messiah, the Son of God (Matt. 12:29-40; John 2:19-21).

I. The Empty Tomb (vv. 1-10).

John does not enter into a description of the resurrection of Christ, or give any proof other than the empty tomb and that Jesus had repeatedly manifested himself afterward. To see the body of Christ disfigured with a spear thrust and nail prints, and the empty tomb, was all that faith needed. In this lesson John describes the processes of his own conviction touching Christ's resurrection.

1. The testimony of Mary Magdalene (vv. 1, 2). This woman, out of whom Jesus had cast seven demons (Mark 16:9; Luke 8:2), announced the fact of the empty tomb to Peter and John. Prompted by great love to him for his kindness to her, she went early to the tomb even "when it was yet dark." She had realized great good at his hand, therefore she could not rest until she had done her utmost for him. The measure of one's service for Christ is the degree in which he realizes the benefits conferred.

2. Personal investigation by Peter and John (vv. 3-10). The news of the empty tomb which Mary brought so moved John and Peter that they both ran to investigate. Their investigation assured them of the reality of the resurrection. The removal of the stone from the sepulcher, and the arrangement of the grave clothes, convinced them that this would not have been done by an enemy.

II. The Manifestations of the Risen Lord (vv. 11-29)

1. To Mary Magdalene (vv. 11-18).

a. Mary weeping at the empty tomb (v. 11). Peter and John went home but Mary could not. She stood there weeping. She really should have been rejoicing that the grave was empty.

b. Mary questioned by the angels (vv. 12, 13). Through her tears she saw angels at the tomb who inquired as to the cause of her sorrow.

c. Jesus revealed himself to Mary (vv. 14-16). She first saw the angels and then her eyes lighted upon the Lord. She did not recognize him in his resurrection body but his voice was familiar to her. As soon as he called her by name she recognized him and fell at his feet weeping.

d. Jesus forbade her to touch him (v. 17). This showed that she was now coming into a new relationship to him. Besides this, the disciples were still in doubt and sorrow. "Go tell my brethren" was the message she must carry.

e. Mary's testimony (v. 18). She told the disciples that she had seen the Lord.

2. To the disciples (vv. 19-29). This is the first appearance to the disciples as a body. For fear of the Jews they met in a private room and barred the door. While they were discussing the strange happenings of the day, the Lord mysteriously appeared among them.

a. When Thomas was absent (vv. 19-23).

(1) His message of peace (v. 19). He did not come with censure for their failure and desertion. Their conduct merited censure, but his consideration was too tender for that.

(2) He showed his hands and his side (v. 20). Having calmed their fears he gave them unmistakable evidence of his resurrection.

(3) He commissioned them (v. 21). "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you." This commission was not simply to the eleven but to all the believers (Luke 24:33).

(4) He bestowed the Holy Spirit upon them (v. 22). He breathed on them and said unto them, "Receive ye the Holy Ghost." Only as empowered by the Holy Ghost can a disciple go far and as a successful witness for his Lord.

(5) The disciples' authority (v. 23). This authority was not by virtue of office but by virtue of having the Holy Ghost.

b. When Thomas was present (vv. 24-29). His absence deprived him of a vision of the Lord.

(1) The victory of sight and touch (vv. 24-28). Jesus graciously supplied the evidence which Thomas needed.

(2) Greater blessing for those who see only by faith (v. 29).

ABSENT VOTERS BALLOTS MUST ARRIVE EARLY

Senate File 223, passed in the special session and making important changes in the absent voters' law, is now in effect and will control absentee voting in the coming municpal and school elections in Iowa, as well as in the primary and general elections. The purpose of this act is to require that all absentee ballots shall be in the hands of the county auditor or municipal clerk prior to election day. It is intended to relieve the local election officials of the burden of distributing these ballots to electors in the rush of an election day.

The practice of sending out these ballots by deputies on election day has grown up in a number of Iowa counties. It never has been specifically authorized by the law and has been carried on under a rather liberal interpretation of the absent voters, chapter, throwing an unnecessary burden upon the local election officials and opening the way for abuses of the absent voters privilege.

The new law will correct this situation. Under its provisions; any elector, who expects to be absent from this county on election day or to be prevented by physical disability from attending the polls personally, will cast his ballot either personally at the office of the auditor or clerk or by mail prior to the day of election. Under this act the auditor or clerk has no authority to receive these ballots on election day.

SENIORS WIN ANNUAL CLASS TOURNEY

The finals of the annual class tournament were played last Friday night with the Seniors taking the championship game and the Juniors taking consolation honors.

In the first round games on Tuesday night the Sopohomores defeated the Freshmen 23-16. E. Barz was high for the sophomores with 11 points while Keeper of the Freshmen was next with 6 points. In the second game the Seniors won from the Juniors 29-17. Keeper, Senior forward totaled 15 points and Stokesbary, Junior forward, rang up 9 points.

Perhaps the most outstanding of the players who were not out for basketball this year was the six foot freshman center, Ted Kaduce. This boy handles himself with the natural grace of a born basketball player. Some of the Shamrock regulars might have been looking for another berth this year had this boy been on the squad. In any event, should he decide to try out for the team next year he is almost assured of a varsity berth.

Fair Competition

In the re-adjusting of prices of various commodities we want to express our views on what we think should be done in fairness to the farmer-dairyman and his friend, the Creamery.

We believe that the price of "oleo" and other butter substitutes should be taxed an amount that would make them the same price as butter. With the price then the same the consumer has his choice of which he wants to use—butter or "oleo". The dairyman would then be protected on the product he sells.

The profits thus gained by the government could be used for farm relief, or any other good cause.

In the meantime we are keeping up our campaign in telling you to "EAT MORE BUTTER", as there is no substitute for Wholesome, Nourishing Butter—use more butter and help your own community and dairying in general.....

FOREIGN BEEF SOLD HERE

Livermor e Gazette: — Foreign canned beef has stirred up the ire of the Swea City farmers. When the North Kossuth Livestock Shipping association met last Friday afternoon at Swea City, someone presented a can of corned beef bought in Swea City that was labeled as raised in South America.

After investigation it was discovered that local merchants had on their shelves beef from Uruguay and Brazil. After deliberation the association passed resolutions asking Swea City merchants to buy no foreign canned meat and to use this influence to stop the importation of foreign canned meat in the community. The merchants stated that they had not assumed the meat was an un-America product, and had not examined.

The association also asked their secretary to write Secretary Wallace, asking him to explain why we are asked to cut down production while foreign products are being brought in.

FORT DODGE CCC CAMP TO BE TRANSFERRED TO PILOT KNOB

General Development Work Planned In Winnebago, Hancock Site

Ames:— The civilian conservation corps camp located at Dolliver state park south of Fort Dodge will be transferred to Pilot Knob state park on the Hancock-Winnebago county line, for the next six months enrollment period, Prof. G. B. MacDonald, Iowa Director of emergency conservation work, announced Friday.

The transfer will be delayed until May 1 so that the Dolliver unit can complete its tree planting program there. The camp will undertake general development work in the Hancock and Winnebago county park.

The Dolliver camp, which spent the first enrollment period last year in Rochester, Minn., was recently named the outstanding CCC camp in Iowa in competition for the 7th corps area award.

IOWA STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

How To Disinfect After Quarantine!

Terminal disinfection shall mean the exercise of those processes which will render the person, the personal clothing and the immediate physcal environment of the patient free from possibility of conveying infectious agents, at a time when the patient is no longer giving off infectious material.

(1) Terminal disinfection of all clothes, bed clothes, thermometers, rectal tubes, dishes, glassware, etc., which have been exposed to the patient while giving off infectious material shall be boiled for a minimum of ten minutes or soaked in strong disinfectant for 2 hours.

Terminal disinfection of the person, rooms or dwelling shall be carried out by the use of chemicals, soap and water, fresh air and sunlight as is found necessary for he individual case.

Bedsteads, Chairs, Tables, Floors, Doors, Woodwork, Windows, etc., shall be thoroughly washed with soap and hot water.

All bed clothes, pillow slips, sheets, nightgowns, towels and any other cloth or clothing of any kind that has been in contact with the patient shall be disinfected as in section 1.

If a case of communicable disease has to be nursed at home, All unnecessary Furniture, Drapings, Curtains, Rugs, Eetc., should be removed from the room where the case is to be treated or quarantined, especially all furnishings that cannot be readily cleaned and disinfected as described in these Rules and Regulations.

As far as possible only such books papers, magazines and toys should be given the patient as are of little value, and can be destroyed by burning when the case is released. Valuable articles or books that the patient may have handled before he was known to have a communicable disease should be taken, in charge by the Local Board of Health to be disinfected immediately, if of such a nature that a disinfectant may be used without injury to them; otherwise they are to be exposed as competely as possible to air and sunlight in a place where inadvertent contact with them would be impossible, for such a length of time as will satisfy the Local Board of Health that they can no longer be the means of conveying disease.

FUMIGATION IS NOT REQUIRED. "By Fumigation is meant a process by which the destruction of insects, as mosquitos and body lice, and animals as rats, is accomplished by the employment of gaseous agents."

HISTORIC TREE CUT DOWN

Charles Walker, 81, last week cut down a burr oak tree in Algona that has a history. This tree was quite a tree 79 years ago. It stood in the dooryard of one of the first cabins built in Algona in 1885. The tree stood over 60 feet high and measured 15.5 feet in circumference two feet above the ground. Three large branches spreading out from the tree were as large as ordinary trees and gave the tree a spread of 80 to 90 feet.—Ringsted Dispatch.

Is the world growing more intelligent? We can't say. There are still a lot of old men who believe in hair tonic and a lot of young men who believe in women's promises.

The forests have their porcupines the desert the prickly cactus, and at that the easiest place to get deflated is in the cities.

MORE BLUEGRASS MIGHT SOLVE SURPLUS PROBLEM

A return to bluegrass pastures will be one of the most effective ways of adjusting the agricultural program of the Corn Belt, according to J. F. Cox, chief of the replacement crops section of the AAA who was on the Iowa State College campus last week.

The use of land plowed during the war in the production of wheat corn and tobacco, now surplus crops is held by Mr. Cox to be one of the chief factors responsible for the present unbalanced agricultural program. Return of this acreage to permanent pasture, he said, would aid in balancing production.

It is estimated that 45 million acres of pasture were plowed up and placed in intensive production during the war period, Land to be retired from production of basic crops under the reduction program of the AAA will represent a large share of this acreage, and the replacement crops program permits planting new and additional pasture and meadow crops on contracted acres.

"That farmers of Iowa and other Corn Belt states are using bluegrass and other pasture grasses with their standard hay crop mixtures in order to regain acreage of permanent pasture is evident from the numerous letters we are receiving," Mr. Cox commented.

Individual farmers are giving careful thought to the most practical way of regaining these valuable pastures and to adjusting their farm programs to make effective use of them. Considering the small amount of labor and expense needed in handling permanent pastures, farmers realize that no better use can be made of the land in many farms.

While old meadows in the course of years may naturally develop into bluegrass pastures in the region to which bluegrass is adapted, much more rapid pasture development and imtroved pastures will result from sowing bluegrass seed.

Permanent pastures will not produce as much total feed per acre as corn and grain or other cultivated crops. The cost to the farmer is low, however, in feeding livestock on grass pastures. He will not be able to produce as much meat or milk for the market when making use of substantial acreage, as compared with using greater, proportion of cultivated feed crops, but he can produce these products more cheaply.

FERTILIZER PROVES HELPFUL

Convincing evidence that income per acre can be greatly increased by fertilizer treatments is shown by the results of an experiment conducted by the soils subsection of the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with J. W. McIntosh, a farmer living southeast of Keosauqua in Van Buren county.

H. R. Meldrum, of the experiment station, compiled and summarized the field data. He said that the increased yields due to fertilizer treatments reduced costs per bushel on the total crop. Thus total production of the farm might be reduced by taking some acres out of production, with an actual increase in farm income.

The 4 year rotation of corn, corn oats and clover was used. Corn yields responded most to the application of 8 tons of manure per acre once during the rotation, supplemented by enough limestone to correct the acidity of the soil and rock phosphate applied at the rate of 500 pounds to the acre.

The advantage of the limestone is mainly that it sweetens the soil so that the clover will do well, increasing the nitrogen content of the soil.

This treatment resulted in a five year average corn yield of 55.1 bushels to the acre as compared with 34 bushels when no treatment was used. Superphosphate alone and superphosphate and muriate of potash instead of the rock phosphate also resulted in greatly increased yields. Complete commercial fertilizer with manure and limestone gave almost equally good results.

Oat crops, as well as red clover and timothy hay crops, were much larger when these fertilizers were used. Manure alone resulted in a 20 percent increase in corn production per acre.

This thirty hour a week program is going to create a tremendous demand for fish worms if carried through the summer.

It looks now, as though the government would have to put a processing tax on politicians. The tremendous output shows signs of cheapening them.

WILL PUBLISH CORN HOG DATA AND NAMES IN PAPERS SOIN

Names of Hancock County corn-hog producers and the principal production figures contained in their adjusted contracts will be published soon in the newspapers of the county, Ben V. Greiman, chairman of the county allotment committee, has anounced.

The publication of names and production claimed by contract signers is one of the methods the AAA is using to secure a check on corn-hog data before the contracts go to Washington for final accept- by Secretary Wallace.

The figures to be published include: Acres in farm, 1932-33 corn acreage, number acres rented to government, litters farrowed, number of hogs produced for market and number of feeder pigs bought in 1932-33.

Finding of errors does not necessarily mean intentional misrepresentation on the part of the contract signer. In the wheat campaign many farmers themselves made voluntary corrections of mistakes they had made in figuring past production or acreage records.

Any person who sees a mistake in his neighbor's production figures may report it to the allotment committee, said Mr. Greiman. This report will be kept confidential and the committee will investigate to see if an error has been made and if any adjustment is needed.

The publication of names is an added check on the accuracy of the contracts, gives the public a chance to approve the production data and helps insure a fair deal to all concerned since an overstatement in one contract secures an excess benefit payment at the expense of other farmers.

Declares the Atom Still Bundle of Uncertainties

What does an atom look like? Thirty years ago, says New York Times, it was supposed to be a miniature solar system—a nucleus of mixed electrons and protons (hydrogen hearts) around which other electrons revolved. Such a structure could be drawn on paper and imagined. But Prof. Niels Bohr shattered it and won the Nobel prize in consequence. He showed that the electrons, instead of revolving around the nucleus in an orderly planetary way that could be predicted, actually jumped in a very unplanetary way from one orbit to another. In the process they emitted [illegible] electric waves and perh[illegible] of energy. From that [illegible] effect disappeared, for there [illegible] way of predicting what an electron was doing from one moment to other. It turned out that the[illegible] were only average positions.

What an atom is only the mathematicians can tell us, and their equations deal only with leaping electrons. In the California Institute of Technology Professor Bohr advised his hearers to forget about atomic models. All that we can do is to discuss masses and changes, and these cannot be pictured on paper. Models imply certainty. The atom is a bundle of uncertainties. The advice is not comforting but sound. It is better to have no picture than one which is totally wrong.

Psalm Book Was First Published in America

The first book published in America was a psalm book, published at Cambridge, Mass., in 1640, twenty years after the landing at Plymouth Rock. This was the first book published in what was sometimes called English America, in contradistinction from the Spanish possessions. It was known as the Bay Psalm Book, being intended for use in what was then called the colony of Massachusetts bay, and it was printed by a pious Puritan of this period, named Stephen Dane. A small printing press and a font of black-faced type were brought over from England, and the versified psalms were printed as then sung in England, in the quaint spelling and phraseology of the period. The edition consisted of 1,700 copies, and served to supply the colonies for quite a long time. In 1908 ten copies were known to be extant, and as they were in libraries or the hands of book collectors who knew their value, they probably still are in existence.

Firefly Is Efficient

The firefly is many times more efficient as a manufacturer of light than the most modern of human installations, according to a professor who lectured on "Infra-Red and Wireless Waves," at the Royal Institution, says the Montreal Herald. "Even in the very best lamps," said the professor, "only about 10 per cent of the radiation is visible to the human eye; the remainder is wasted as infra-red or heat radiations. An economy fortune awaits the man who will discover how to make 'cold' light on an industrial scale. So far the most efficient makers of the light are the luminous insects and bacteria, which know how to carry on chemical reactions to produce cold light. Experiments show, for example, that the firefly produces light which is all within the range of human visibility."

Our National Emblem

The eagle became our national emblem when it was placed on the Great Seal of the United States adopted by the Continental congress on June 20, 1782. As a national emblem, the eagle is not peculiar to the United States, but is the emblem of several modern countries, and was the principal device on the standards of a number of ancient nations. The eagle as our national emblem was suggested by William Barton of Philadelphia. However, he suggested the crested eagle and not the American or bald-headed variety. The secretary of congress, Charles Thompson, who modified the design of the Great seal, put the eagle as the central figure and specified that it should be an American eagle.

Labor Is a Blessing

Work is an honor. The dishonor is in not knowing how or in shirking your share, says a writer in the New York World-Telegram. One man takes his work as a stone around his neck and sinks to failure. Another takes it as a stepping stone and mounts to success. Nothing but work provides lasting satisfaction. Work has a pleasure value of much worth, as is illustrated by the fact that children like best the toys that call not for mere observation but for self-activity. Work, and work alone, can give continuing pleasure. We soon grow weary of play, find the delights of the scenes short-lived, but labor is a blessing of outstanding significance and magnitude.

Switzerland's Languages

The principal languages of Switzerland are German, spoken by 71 per cent of the people; French by 21 per cent, and Italian, by 6 per cent. Other languages are Romanshe and Ladin. By the federal constitution of 1848 and 1874, German, French and Italian are recognized as national languages, so that debates in the federal parliament may be carried on in any of the three, while federal laws and decrees appear also in the three languages. The old dialects of Romanshe and Ladin do not have any political recognition by the confederation.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE

A small boy went up to another land in the street and said: "Can you tell a fellow how to teach a girl to swim?"

"Oh," said the other kiddie, "you goes up to her gentle like, takes her hand gentle, leads her gently down to the water, puts your arm gently around her waist—"

"Oh, g'wan!" interrupted the boy "What's the matter wid yer? She's my sister!"

"Yer sister? Oh, shove her in!"

ST SAMPLES OF SEED CORN TESTED ARE GOOD

Few Samples Germinated As Low As 70 PerCent

ests on samples of Iowa seed at the Iowa State College seed ratory indicate that in general for 1934 planting is in good lition.

lthough a small number of sam- tested as low as 70 percent mination, others were as high as per cent. A considerable num- of samples carry dry rot disease. armers should have their seed supply ready by at least the dle of April so as to make care- selection before the spring rush small grain planting. It is al- s advisable to know in advance planting the condition of seed . This may be determined on farm or at the Iowa State Col- seed laboratory.

preferable method of obtain- samples for test is to select 100 from the corn set aside as , which to all outward appear- es are satisfactory. Next remove m four to six kernels from each and send the bulk sample to laboratory for test. From 100 200 kernels or the bulk sample be used for test on the farm if rable.

ests may be made on the farm n incubator or in a room at or- ary temperature. A galvanized tray two feet square, reinfor- with boards on the sides, and d one-half full of clean sand, make a satisfactory seed bed ter results are obtained if a e of bleached muslin is laid on of the sand. This should be stened thoroughly, the kernels placed on top of the cloth, and tray covered with a peice of s or galvanized iron.

he best temperature is from 70 75 degrees F. Within 6 or 7 days test may be read. If the com- te sample shows less than two cent dead kernels and not less n 90 percent strong seed it may treated with a chemical dust to ure a satisfactory stand.

J. A. CHAMBERS IS CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

J. A. Chambers resident of the Corwith vicinity for fifty years, is this week placing his announcement in The Times as a candidate for Representative on the republican ticket. The editor has known Mr. Chambers for several years and we believe that he is fully qualified for the office. The following article from the Britt News-Tribune gives our readers the necessary historical "background":

"Mr. Chambers has aspired to this position for some time and two years ago decided to wait until 1934 to be a candidate. He is a farmer and his entire life has been spent in agricultural pursuits. He came with his parents to the Corwith vicinity in early youth and has spent most of his fifty-two years there. Finishing school at Corwith, he entered Iowa State College Ames and graduated therefrom in 1907. For a year following he managed a big dairy farm with 250 milk cows in the Imperial Valley of California; then went to Utah for a time to develop a 900 acre irrigation project.

"But the memory of Iowa's rich soil and abundant crops called him back to the home state and he has been here farming since. Aside from being a school director at Corwith at Corwith Cosolidated School he has never held an elective office. Mr. Chambers has been associated with all movemets for the betterment of agriculture and the working out of intricate problems of our own Hancock County farmers. Ho is one of the leaders in this respect well qualified, a good thinker, a pleasing personality, a man who people can tie to in confidence.

Mr. Chambers is married, has one son and one daughter. The son is finishing school at Corwith this year and is an outstanding student. The girl is a sophomore. So far Mr. Chambers is the only man who has announced for representative in Hancock County."

THE PURPOSE OF INCREASED LICENSE FEES

Under the new law which changges the hunting and fishing license schedule, the following provisions made in the law for the use of the increase derived from the sale of licenses.

During the years 1934 to 1938 inclusive, the Commission shall set aside from each $2.00 resident hunting license, the sum of $1.50 and from each $2.50 resident combination license, the sum of $1.00 which amounts shall be expended by the commission prior to the first day of January, 1940 for acquisition, establishment, and maintenance of public shooting grounds, acquisition and restoration of marsh and lake areas suitable for breeding areas for migratory water fowl, establishment and improvement of upland game refuges and producing areas and game management areas nd development of new lakes and improvement of present lakes."

From this provision it can be readily determined that the legislature had in mind the fullfillment of the 25-year conservation plan.

When the program is fully under way, the 25-year survey estimates a total expenditure of approximately $500,000 a year by the Fish and Game Commission to successfully carry out their part of the program. with this fund available approximately 15 years will be required for completion of the program.

The Fish and Game Commission received in 1932 about $250,000, largely from hunting and fishing license fees. The 1933 total was consderably less.

To successfully carry out the 25 year conservation plan and to increase the amount of area to be used by hunters and fishermen in pursuit of their recreation and sport, an increased revenue is necessary,

1470 PERSONS GIVEN JOBS IN IOWA THE PAST WEEK

Hans C. Pfund, director of the national reemployment service at Des Moines, today anounced that during the week ending March 24, the reemployment service in Iowa placed 1470 persons in gainful employment. Of this total, 789 persons were given work on public works jobs, and 690 persons were placed with private employers. This constitutes an increase in placements of 25 per cent over the previous week.

The increase for the week, says Mr. Pfund, is partly due to seasonal demand, but also has resulted through the fact that employers are becoming acquainted with the reemployment offices and are finding that the reemployment service is a "no charge" organization maintained by the United States employment service and that there is no incentive on the part of reemployment offices to refer any but the very best of qualified applicants to the employer from the many registrations of highly qualfied and experienced persons on file.

Mr. Pfund also states that a number of towns and cities are getting their remodelling and repairing programs under way for the annual spring "clean up" and that reemployment offces are requested to furnish large numbers of experienced workmen for such jobs. Farmers are calling on reemployment offices for skilled farm labor as well.

Mr Charles Merten, chairman of the Hancock county national reemployment committee, also advised that he had just received information that in Hancock county, the PWA, state and county financed projects either approved of uder contract will require the services of 132 men for 1054 weeks.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HELD FOR MRS. JOHN WADDINGHAM

Misses Ethel and Clarice Wellemeyer and Jane Dutheridge entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. John Waddingham Saturday at the Art Wellemeyer home. The afternoon was very much enjoyed. A mock wedding took place with the following taking parts: Bride, Elsina Albers; bridesmaid, Gertie Trampel; Groom, Henrietta Nelson; Best Man, Carrie Swalve; preacher, Valeria Koerner; Flower Girl, Vella Paul. Adela Schroeder played "The Prisoner's Song" for the wedding march while the Misses Ruth and Nora Wellemeyer sang "Tired". Several games were played. The bride received a great many beautiful and useful gifts. Lovely refreshments were served by the hostesses.

DRIVERS LICENSES EXTENDED!

Under the date of Feb. 14, 1933, the 45th General Assembly of Iowa amended the drivers' license law, making the expiration date of all operators' licenses December 31, 1935.

Any operator who has obtained a driver's license in the state of Iowa need not make new application for a license at this time as all licenses are in force until December 31, 1935, unless revoked for violation. A license issued in one county is good in any other county.

The particular act covering the extension of driver's license is as follows: "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa: Section 1. That section forty-nine hundred sixty-d-thirty (4960-d-30) Code 1931, be and the same is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following: "Every operator's license issued hereunder and not heretofore revoked, and expired on December 21, 1933, is hereby extended to December 31, 1935'."

It is hoped this will clear up the matter and give assurance to motorists of this vicinity that their PRESENT DRIVER'S LICENSE IS GOOD FOR 1934 And 1935.

242 BILLS PASSED BY ASSEMBLY WERE SIGNED BY HERRING

DES MOINES:—Bills passed by both houses of the recent special assembly session and signed by the governor numbered 242, the final edition of the legislative ndex showed.

Of this number 130 originated in the senate and 112 were house bills The record placed the total number of bills introduced at 689, including 329 in the senate and 360 in the house.

Twenty-five senate bills passed the senate but not the house, while 47 house bills went only half way through the legislature.

An unusually large number of bills died in committees at the end of the session, which found the senate sifting committee holding 156 measures and the house steering committee holding 100.

Auxiliary Meets Next Week On Thursday Evening

Auxiliary meeting will be held next week Thursday evening, April 12th at the home of the Pres. Mrs. Carl Wolfe. Mrs. Wolfe wishes to announce a fine radio program tomorrow, April 5th over WHO, Des Moines, at either 2:30 or 3:30. The National President, Mrs. Wm. H. Biester, Jr., is the speaker.

ONE YEAR MEN MAY NOW SIGN WHEAT CONTRACTS

Every farmer who grew wheat in any of the years 1930 to 32 may sign up in the reopened wheat program, if he has not already done so, according to County Agent S. J. Oberhauser. He says that the reopened program closes next week, April 15.

The requirements for contract eligibility are practically the same as they were in the former campaign except that certain changes in the rulings have been made to care for the so-called one-year men.

A farmer who grew wheat in only one of the base years, may sign up but, of course, he cannot expect to receive the same bnefits as the farmer who planted wheat in two or all three of the base years.

A one-year man may get a contract by using his production in the one year as his base, reducing his acreage by the same percentage as other contract farmers do, and accepting an allotment of one-fifth of 54 percent of the actual production or the year his wheat was produced. He is entitled then to receive 1933, 1934 and 1935 allotment payments on this allotment.

Mr. Oberhauser illustrates it this way: If a farmer has 100 acres of wheat producing 10 bushels to the acre, his base acreage would be 100 acres and base production would be 1000 bushels. His reduction would be 15 acres. His allotment, upon which he would receive 28 cents a bushel for 1933, less local costs, and whatever payments are made in 1934 and 1935, would be one-fifth of 54 per cent of his production. His production would be 1000 bushels and one-fifth of 54 percent of this would be 108 bushels. This allotment would entitle him to adjustment payments of about $30 for 1933.

Mr. Oberhauser points out, that although the allotment for the one year man is smaller, he gets the full 1933 payments and is assured of the same rate of payment on his allotment for the remaining years of the wheat contract as other farmers receive.

CCC WORKERS PLANTING TREES

Erosion Control of Gullying Land Is Objectivo Sought

Iowa's CCC camps went into action as Jack Frost departed and the men have begun planting millions of trees.

All 22 camps of the state mobilized their forces into one big reforestration army and bent their efforts toward tree planting in the gullies where they have built temporary erosion dams.

The huge reforestration project is the last act in Iowa's erosion control program to effect permanent control of eroding gullies. Promiscuous planting on Iowa farms is not planned. The trees will not be used for general reforestration work, even on poor land. Reforestration work of "erosion camps" is restricted entirely to control of ditches already partially checked by dams and seeding with rye last summer and fall.

DRAWINGS MADE FOR COUNTY BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

Supt. Hunter, of the local schools and Supt. Fish, of Goodell, enjoyed a ride in the former's new V-8 and attended the meeting of the County School Masters Club at Garner. The following officers of the club were elected for next year. Supt. Hunter, president; Supt. Zwald, vice pres.; and Supt. Craft, secretary and treasurer.

Drawings were made for the County Baseball Tournaments at Corwith April 27th and 28th as follows:

Friday Afternoon

1:00 Goodell vs. Kanawha
2:00 Crystal Lake vs. Klemme
3:00 Corwith vs. Hayfield
Woden vs. Bye

Saturday Morning

9:30 Winner 1 vs. winner 2.
10:30 winner 3 vs Woden

Finals will be played either Saturday afternoon or evening depending on the weather.

The tourament favorites are Goodell and Corwith, although both Woden and Crystal Lake are conceded a chance to come through to win.

The County Track and Field meet will be held at Garner, May 1. Supt. Hunter will act as official starter and referee.

SALE OF NEWSPAPERS NOT TO BE TAXED

News Ruled To Be Service By State Assessment Review Board

DES MOINES:—Recepts from the sale of newspapers are not taxable under Iowa's new retail sales tax, the state board of assessment and review ruled Thursday.

The ruling held that the value of a newspaper is principally in the news item it contains and that this was in the nature of a service and not to be taxed.

The tax attaches to the sale of all magazines, journals and periodicals, the board held further, while in the case of trade publications for free distribution the printer is liable for the tax.

The ruling follows:

Rule 60—Newspapers. Receipts from the sale of advertising service of newspapers, which advertising appears in the newspaper sold, are not taxable as this is purely a service. Newspapers in themselves are tangible property. That is, the paper is tangible personal property. However, the value of the newspaper consists in the news items gathered from throughout the world which is infinitesmal compared to the value of the service. The paper itself being such a minor part of the value, the newspaper when sold to the public is not taxable.

In case of trade publications when they are distributed by the publisher free of charge the publisher is the consumer and the printer, as the seller, is liable for the tax.

The tax attaches to the sale of all magazines, journals and other periodicals.

167,200 FARMERS HAVE SIGNED CONTRACT TO CUT PRODUCTION

AMES:—With the corn-hog sign up drawing to a close officially this week, 167,200 farmers have contracted to reduce production, Murl McDonald, Iowa extension service director, estimated today.

Of this total, 132,900 contracts have been tabulated by county agents in 78 counties.

In 22 counties appraisal of contracted acres has been completed, and appraisal work is nearly completed in the remaining counties.

The Klemme Times

R. A. JORGENSON, Editor & Publisher

Published every Wednesday at Klemme, Iowa. Entered at th Post Office at Klemme, Iowa a ssecond class matter.

AN EDITORS LAMENT

The editor of a rural weekly unbooms himself in the following way: Getting out a high class family journal is no picnic. If I print Jokes, folks say I'm silly; if I don't they say I'm too serious. If I publish original matter they say I lack variety; if I publish things from other papers they say I'm too lazy to write. If I don't go to church they say I'm a heathen; if I do go I'm a hypocrite. If I stay in the office, I ought to be out rustling the news, If I rustle the news I am not attending to business at the office. If I wear old clothes they say I'm a sloven; if I wear new ones, they say I must be making a pile of money, or the clothes aren't paid for. What in thunderation is a poor editor to do anyhow? Like as not somebody will say I swiped th s article from some other paper. So I did."

BOARD PROCEEDINGS

TENTH ADJOURNED JANUARY MEETING

Garner, Iowa, March 28, 1934.

The Hancock county board of supervisors met in session on above date with Supervisors G. E. Klipping, F J. Oxley and F. J. Schoun present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

We want to thank everyone that made the Easter Services in our church the splendid services that they were. There were sixteen who made a public confession of Christ and were received into the church. This makes 26 who have been taken into the church this conference year. There are others that should openly confess their Lord and not be ashamed to forsake their sins. Jesus said, "If ye are ashamed to confess Me before men, I will be ashamed to confess you before God" It seems such a little thing to do for Him when He has done so much for us. Decide for Christ.

The Algona Women's Foreign Missionary Society will meet at Kanawha, April 10th. There is a splendid prgoram planned. All our women who can possibly be in attendance ought to plan to be there for the all day meeting or as much of it as you can.

Do you know that in our church in the Pacific Japanese Mission we have 35 workers; that in this mission our total membership advanced from 3,682 to 4,056, last year with 310 baptisms and 4,438 S. S. scholars and 1,751 Epworth League members. This work is creating a better understanding between Japanese and Americans on the Pacific Coast because men are taught we are all brothers in Christ.

New Hampton:—The town of Bassett in Chickasaw county claims the youngest mayor in the state. Voters elected Ronald Boyd, 21, to succeed Mrs. Irene Tucker, who declined to run again after she had sreved five terms.

We just unpacked three new parlor suites, two new dining room suites, and a number of items in new bedroom furniture.

Another truckload of Used Furniture arrives this week. The demand continues to be active in this department of our business.

We certainly are gettingthe Rug business from far and near. They come to us for three reasons:—

1st—Our stock is large. We have more patterns on display than "Monkey-Ward" show in the catalog.

2nd—We display every rug. We would not ask a Customer to buy a rug from a picture book, nor would we ask you to select a rug while rolled up in a small paper tube. No "Cat in the Sack" here. You see just what you are buying.

3rd—Our prices are low. We meet or beat competition and practically sell at mail order prices, with several items at less.

BE SURE TO PRUNE GRAPES

Fruit Is Produced on New Shoots From Year-Old Canes

If you are one of the many people who have a grapevine or two which yield little or no fruit, listen.

Your old vine may be made to yield the fruit it should by pruning —providing you do the pruning properly. The best time to prune is just before the sap starts flowing in the spring.

Grapes are produced on new shoots which grow out from one-year-old canes. It is important therefore, says Prof. J. C. Schilletter, of the Iowa State College Horticulture Department, to save one-year-old canes for the season's crop. The best type of cane is about the thickness of an ordinary lead pencil.

The average grape vine can support about 35 to 50 buds. So four or five canes will be selected for fruiting purposes. About 10 or 12 buds may be left on each cane. The growth may then be traced back to the main trunk. Any wood that may be cut out without removing the selected canes may then be pruned away. It is desirable to keep the fruiting wood as low on one trunk and as close to the trunk as possible—but it may take several years to accomplish this.

Klemme Worker Sends Laundry Home To Be Washed

A young CCC lost his BVD,
So the PTA sent an SOS
To the CWA who was OTQ,
As the FRA had put the CAN
To the PWA with a near KO.
And the NRA was all FOB,
So the AAA sent it COD,
But the USA wired PDQ
To the RFC for its IOU.
Now its all OK at the MTC,
For the CCC go his BVD.

The camps,especially those in southern Iowa where erosion is a serious menace, will concentrate on tree planting for about 5 weeks. Iowa will continue to have 22 camps during the next 6 months, 11 for forestry and 11 for park work.

Much Uncertainty Over Correct Plural of "Bus"

"The Listener" discussing in the Boston Transcript the plural of "bus," says: The approved plural of "omnibus, of which word "bus" is a contraction, is "omnibuses," and by some it is assumed that the same rule applies to "bus," but it should be evident, in the Listener's opinion, that another rule should apply in the case of the contraction. The doubling of letters for plurals or for the indication of other parts of speech is influenced by pronunciation as well as by etymology and in the case of the word "bus" the accent being on the first syllable, there is no occasion for doubling the final "s" in the plural to prevent a mispronunciation. But in the contraction "bus" there is distinctly occasion for the doubling, for "buses," with the single "s' would naturally be pronounced to rhyme with "abuses," or "sluices." As it is to be pronounced "busses," it should be so spelled. The fact that "buss" in the singular may mean a kiss, as well as a vehicle for the transportation of passengers, need not influence the case at all since in the English language there are many words which have different meanings.

Siddons, Famed British Actress, Born in Wales

Sarah Siddons, famed as the greatest of British tragic actresses, was born in Wales. Her father was Roger Kemble, manager of a theatrical company, and from her childhood Sarah worked on the stage.

She was married to William Siddons, a member of the company, when she was seventeen, and soon afterwards she was recommended to Garrick, resulting in her playing Portia in the "Merchant of Venice," at Drury Lane, her salary being £5 a week. She did not win unqualified success, and was not engaged for the next season. For the next six years she worked in the provinces.

Invited to return to Drury Lane because of the reputation she had now achieved, she played Isabella in "The Fatal Marriage," and won an immediate and permanent success in London, her histrionic ability being considered perfect.

She left the stage in 1812, and lived in retirement for twenty years. A statue of her, by Chantry, is in Westminster abbey.

Bermuda's Blue Laws

Gaming, dicing, even "merry songs" were strictly prohibited on Bermuda Sabbaths during the reign of the Puritan Cromwell in the little English colony's mother country. Plays were banned and swearing met with summary treatment throughout the week. A writer gives an account of the measures taken to enforce virtue in Bermuda during the Commonwealth. "The Bermudian church wardens, 'upright, honest and sober in their carriage,' were instructed to look into the 'lives and conversations' of the people, and, on Sundays, after the reading of the lesson, to leave the church and having stopped anyone loitering in the churchyard, to 'search the worst and most suspected places' with the purpose of sending to divine service all who were not compelled by circumstances to be absent."

Hark, Hark! the Scientist!

Though one can imagine nothing of less consequence than a popular tendency to exaggerate the duration of the skylark's song, there is always somebody at liberty for every little pinpricking job. One of South Shields, England, being intellectually hurt by the assertion of unthinking persons that skylarks often sang for half an hour and sometimes for as long as an hour, went to the outskirts of South Shields and held a stop watch on skylarks of the neighborhood. His doing are recorded in Nature, the British scientific publication, which brings the astounding news that this breaker of bubbles, this destroyer of illusions actually held the stop watch on 549 songs and found their average duration to be 2.22 minutes. The greatest duration of any single song was nineteen minutes.—New York Sun.

Ant-Lion a Trapper

The ant-lion, as its name suggests, is a ferocious insect in the kingdom of comparative-sized insects. It is the larvae of a flying insect common in the United States. It derives its name from its strong, cruel jaws and the equally strong pincers at the ends of its front legs. When it is out feeding it traps its victims by means of a funnel-shaped hole which varies from 1 to 2 inches in diameter. Lying in a gallery leading off from the bottom of the tunnel, the ant-lion extends its claws into the base of the funnel and waits. Ants and other insects falling or crawling down into the holes are seized in the strong pincers of the ant-lion and dinner is served forthwith.

Hereditary Weaknesses

Many characters in man have proved to be hereditary. Among the very interesting ones is a tendency to excessive bleeding when the injury that causes the hemorrhage to start is very small. In such individuals the abnormal condition, known as hemophilia, is due to a chemical change in the blood which prevents its clotting. This condition, which is very rare in women, can be transmitted by an apparently normal woman to approximately one-half of her sons. This type of inheritance is well known among the lower animals which are used in laboratory experiments.

Standard Bearers Have Shower On Mrs. John Waddingham

The Standard Bearers met for heir regular meeting last Wednes- day evening with a supper at the R. W. Elder home. After the regu- ar business, the evening was spent having a shower for one of the members, Mrs. Reva Elder Wadding- ham. The girls presented her with m scellaneous gifts for the kitchen and also a beautiful butterfly quilt top, with all the materal necessary for quilting. Mrs. Henry Suckow pieced the quilt top for the girls to give to Reva, and now they plan on helping her quilt it, when she gets settled in her own home. The even- ing was very much enjoyed and they departed wishing Reva much hap- piness.

SKIMPY SOW'S RATION WILL CUT PIGS' FEED

Self-Feeding May Provide Solution to Diet Problem of Sow and Litter

If there seems to be a general lack of milk production in the sow herd, the suckling ration is prob- ably inadequate, suggests A. L. An- derson, of the Iowa State College Animal Husbandry Department.

Self-feeding of the sow has been found to be economical and practic- al after the litter is well started. A ration of shelled corn or oats and Trinity mixture(meat meal tankage linseed oilmeal and alfalfa meal) can be self-fed successfully. Wheat or by-products of wheat are good in the suckling sow ration, and skimmilk or buttermilk can replace the protein supplement. Alfalfa or alfalfa meal should always be in the ration if pasture is not available.

When the pigs are about 2 or 3 weeks old, they will begin to eat other feeds besides the sow's milk. A pig creep is usually desirable at this time. The creep is an arrange- ment to prevent the sow from eat- ing the special feeds provided for the little pigs. A little area fenced off with uprights to keep out the sow, yet placed far enough apart to let the pigs enter will turn the trick.

Ground corn, dehulled oats and milk by-products are the best feeds for starting the young pigs Some times a mixture of feeds or a pig meal is used. Wheat middlings, 35 parts, with Trinity mixture, 65 parts (Bg Ten mixture) is a good supplemental mixture when fed in addition to corn. Dehulled oats may be substituted for the wheat mid- dlings. About half of the ration should be corn.

Weaning the pigs, which usually takes place from 7 to 10 week after birth, is simple when self-feeding on pasture is used. The self-feeders are shut away from the sows while the pigs have free access to the feed through a creep arrangement. Thus the milk flow is dried up gradually and the pigs practically wean them- selves.

GIVE CALVES COLOSTRUM MILK

Contains Protective Substances That Starts Calves Off Properly

The first few weeks of a calf's life are the most dangerous—if it can be carried safely through that per.od, the chances are good that it will live to be a healthy animal.

The most important measure in attempting to prevent losses of calves during this critical period is to make sure that the young ani- mals get their mothers milk from the start. Colostrum. as the first milk following the birth of a calf is called, contains protective sub- stances which combat disease or- ganisms that may find their way into the calf's body.

It has been learned in experi- ments that colostrum does not con- tain as many of these protective agents when the cow has been milk- ed right to, or within a day or two of the birth of the calf. Efficient dairymen recommend giving the cow a dry period between lacta- tions. The colostrum factor is an additional reason for this rest per- iod.

The young calf's blood does not contain any of these substances when born and the only way it has of obtaining them during its early days is through the milk of its mother. After the first few days the calf acquires some immunity itself and the colostrum is not so important.

In addition to nature's method of protecting the young animal from disease, modern sanitation is a great help in preventing contamin- ation and sickness.

ROBBERS WRECKED SAFE AT NORTHERN LUMBER CO. OFFICE

Klemme Auto Co. Garage Broken Into The Same Night

Robbers Friday night or early Saturday morning forced their way into the Northern Lumber Company office by prying open the door and gained access to the contents of the safe by battering the combination off the door and blowing open the safe. About $6.85 was the net re- sult of their labor. The robbers ran- sacked drawers and took a Colt's 45 cal. revolver which lay in one of the desk drawers. A .38 cal. auto- matic was overlooked by them, as well as a sawed off shot gun and mother gun standing in a corner.

Entered Garage

The robbers entered the Klemme Auto Co. garage office by jimmying open the office door. About 35 cents in small change was all of the reward they gained for their ef- forts there. A check-up failed to reveal that anything further had been disturbed.

The deputy sheriff was on the job Saturday morning gathering what clews he could obtain. A pair of suspicious looking men were seen loitering around the street Friday evening and a good descrip- tion of them was turned over to the officials, as a possible clew that they may have been the thieves.

Klemme Grade News

Grades 1 and 2

We went on a hike Friday after- noon to notice all the signs of spring. Then we talked about it in our Language class Monday.

The first grade completed their Finston 1st Readers and began work in the Child Story 1st Readers last week.

The 2nd grade completed their Sand Table and Store projects last week and enjoyed working on them

Grades 5 and 6

Maxine Shoaifstall is back in school again after being absent the past week.

Word was received Friday morn- ing that Cecil Leitzinger. a former classmate of ours who now lves near Garner is in the hospital at Mason City. For language the fifth and sixth grades wrote him a letter.

Wayne Buseman has been absent this week.

Jacqueline Kudje and Elnor Schuldt, members of the orchestra, enjoyed a trip to Ames Saturday to the music contest.

Grades 7 and 8

Edith Bachman is absent from the seventh grade because of meas- les.

We are reviewing for the six weeks tests which will be given on Thursday and Friday.

The eighth grade are making products maps for Iowa History this week.

Several people from our room enjoyed the trip to Ames Saturday with the high school orchestra.

Local Corn-Hog Contracts Are Published This Week

PHOTOGRAPHS OF DR. GEORGE ZINN

The Times has had many requests for pictures of Dr. Geo. Zinn. We have at last secured a very good likeness and have had a sample made up. The original is kodak pic- ture, which has been enlarged and the print mounted in a nice folder.

Any who desire a photo- graph of Dr. Zinn may call at the Times Office and leave their order. The photographs are $1.00 each. All orders must be placed this week, as we will not re-order again.

NO FEAR OF MILK SHORTAGE UNDER ADJUSTMENT PLAN

Consumers need have no fears that the dairy adjustment program which farmers in Iowa and other states are now considering will create a milk "famine" or even a shortage of milk for children and other consumers in the cities, ac- cording to AAA officials.

They believe that the consump- tion of fluid milk in cities should be increased rather than decreased since the plan calls for an expendi- ture of $5,000,000 to provide milk for underfed children.

The proposed reduction from the 1932-33 sales quotas would come primarily out of the surplus milk supplies and would not exhaust that surplus. Statistics compiled by the AAA show that farmers producing for nearly all the larger cities are now forced to sell from 10 to 40 percent of their milk as surplus for manufacture into butter, cheese, evaporated milk and ice cream mix. Farmers receive lower prices for this milk than they receive for first class milk.

In addition the proposed plan seeks to hold gross sales of dairy products about where they are now. The reduction is sought from the high average of 1932-33. Without such a reduction, AAA officials say, there is a threat of a flood of milk which would further undermine dairy prices, drive herd owners out of business and leave consumers facing a problem as to future milk supplies.

It is estimated that at least 100 million pints of milk and perhaps more, could be supplied to under- nourshed children with the $5,000, 000 fund proposed for this purpose. Another $5,000,000 would be spent in transferring cows to needy farm families which are now without adequate milk and food supplies. This would increase rather than de- crease the present use of milk by the consuming public.

Should the present program be adopted Iowa would rank fourth in the benefits received. Iowa's esti- mated share of the payments would be $9,240,000. Wisconsin. New York and Minnesota would receive larger total benefit payments under the proposed plan.

EDITORS OF COUNTY MET WITH CORN-HOG COMMITTEE

Newspaper publishers of Britt, Garner, Klemme and Kanawha met with the Corn-Hog committee at the County Agent's office at Gar- ner last Wednesday evening to dis- cuss plans for publishing the Corn- Hog Contracts. A plan was mapped out and the Committee gave a list to each paper in the county.

The Klemme Times is publishing the lists of contracts for Ell and Liberty Townships. Other papers in the county are publishing like lists of other townshps.

Look over the list in the Times this week and compare the state- ments. Every precaution has been taken by both the Committee and the Publisher to have the list cor- rect. However, if an error should appear in any one contract it will be corrected. There are approxi- mately eighteen hundred names and ten sets of figures for each naime, and it will be a wonder in- deed if an error does not creep in somewhere in the list for the coun- ty. The Times is publishing some over two thundred contracts.

KLEMME SCHOOL ORCHESTRA MADE GOOD SHOWING AT AMES

Klemme can feel that the school has a very good orchestra, which is under the direction of Miss George Ford. The orchestra entered the contest held at Ames last Saturday and made a very commendable showing in Class C, competing against seven other schools in that class who had already won a chance to go to Ames. Although the Klem- me school orchestra is not large, never-the-less their playing was very good and the judges there gave them a rating of "Good". The ex- perience gained in state competition should help them in competition again next year.

"Memorial to Valor of Soldiers of the South"

The United States half dollar bearing the picture of Grant and Lee, with the inscription, "Stone Mountain" on the face, and on the reverse, "Memorial to the Valor of the Soldiers of the South," year 1925, is a commemorative coin, issued in 1925 by the United States mint at the request of Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association. This organization, founded in 1916, was sponsored by the Daughters of the Confederacy, to perpetuate and honor the memory of the soldiers of the Confederacy, and Robert E. Lee, in particular. Money for the memorial was raised by the Daughters, largely in the South. One unofficial statement says that 2,314,709 pieces were minted, and sold for $1.00 each. The association had asked for 15,000,000.

Stone mountain is 16 miles from Atlanta, Ga. This particular memorial depicts Grant and Lee on horseback, and is carved on the side of the mountain. The original sculptor was Gutzon Borglum, who had trouble with some of the association, and was discharged. His plan was carried out by Augustus Lukeman, who completed it in 1928, in spite of the opposition of some of the northern veterans. It was unveiled and dedicated April 9, 1928, on the sixty-third anniversary of the surrender of Lee to Grant. Robert E. Lee, IV, great grandson of the general, pulled the cord that released the curtain.

Every Word We Know Is Stored in Small Space

Science is revealing many wonderful things about the human brain. It long has been known that different parts of the brain perform different functions, but science is relating the parts and the functions, so that the exact location of an impairment may be determined before an operation. A small section of the brain may be a storehouse for a specific thing. A professor of Latin and Greek suffered a blow on the head. He remembered everything else, but could remember nothing about Latin and Greek. This and many other strange experiences from head injuries are related by a writer in Popular Science Monthly. One injury left the victim with perfect sight, but printed words meant nothing. Another, after a similar experience, had perfect hearing, but spoken words had lost their meaning. "In one small patch of gray matter, hardly larger than a nickel," says this authority, "is stored every word we know."

Birds That Laugh

Our green woodpecker is famous for his ringing, laughing call, but of all birds it is the kookaburra, or laughing jackass, a large Australian kingfisher, which laughs most heartily. Australia has also a laughing owl, as the white-throated nightjar is called, with notes so like pealing laughter that one laughs to hear them. The lyre-birds of Australia imitate the laughter of the kookaburra, and any other sound they hear—human laughter, the screams of a pig in its death-throes, the noise of a horse or dray, complete with the rumbling of wheels and the rattle of chains, the buzzing of a saw or the swish of a coach driver's whip. Several of our gulls have a laughing cackle, while the penguins called "jackass" utter a laughing, braying note all through their nesting season, laughing from dawn till dusk.

England's Oldest House

Minster abbey is reputed to be England's oldest house. According to tradition, the picturesque dwelling, which is located on the Isle of Thanet, near Margate, in the southeastern corner of England, dates back to King Egbert of Kent, who lived in the early part of the Ninth century. Egbert granted half the Isle of Thanet to his niece, Domneva, and she erected Minster abbey as a nunnery. Later it became the property of the monks of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, remaining in their hands for five centuries, or until the dissolution of the monasteries. James I sold the abbey and it has since been used as a private residence.

Death Granulates Cells

Cells in the body become granulated after death, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told. Actual "life" in the cells is called cytoplasm and it is invisible. Methods of using stains that have always made invisible matter visible fail to work in the case of cytoplasm. It cannot be seen until after death and the granulation begins to take place. A cell dying slowly has more chance to come apart and fat or oil comes out of the cell most often, in droplets. Cells dying of starvation use up all their reserve food supply and then digest part of the cell's living material to keep the rest alive. This also happens in fever.—Answers Magazine.

Goldfish From Carp Family

Goldfish had their origin with the Chinese who are and have been famous fish breeders. They were devaloped from the carp family and their size decreased with domestication. They are said to have been introduced to Europe about 1691. Goldfish as we know them do not exist in a wild state but those so-called goldfish found in Chinese rivers and in one or two in this country have reverted to their natural state. They are not only darker, but range from five to twelve inches long, resembling their ancestors, the carp.

FISH DROWN AND DIE OF THIRST IN WATER

"You may not have ever seen a Dream Walking, but did you ever see a fish drown or dies thirst in the water?" Well, scientists did. The American Game Association has the authority of no less an eminent scientist than Dr. Ansel Keyes of Harvard that fish taken off hooks with dry hands and replaced in the water die of thirst and drowning. Wet hands will save them.

The cause of death of the fish from dry-handling is that the skin or scales are ruffled and the protective surface is broken. In salt water the fish then dies of thirst; in fresh water it literally drowns to death, according to the findings of Dr. Keyes, who has just finished a series of investigations into the breathing and drinking mechanism of fishes.

Other scientists have declared that disturbing of the "slime" protective coat allowed fungi to attach to the disturbed places, killing the fish. Wet hands, however, will save the fish no matter what the cause.

DRAKE RELAYS PROMISE BIG EXHIBITION OF TRACK STARS

Des Moines, Iowa. April 11 (special)—With the Drake Relays just two weeks in the future, entries of many universities and colleges of the middlewest were in the office of Franklin P. Johnson, director of the twenty fifth annual Drake relays, this week.

In every department, the Silver Anniversary relays will be the greatest in the 25-year history of the games. Tentative plans call for the greatest exhibition of track prowess at any meet, outside of the Olympic games, for more than a decade.

Major John L. Griffith, founder and director of the relays for eight years, will serve as official referee of the meet this year. Major Griffith has attended every relay event with the exception of 1919 and served as honorary referee in 1920. He, with Alonzo Stagg, veteran foot ball coach, are the only men to be honored twice by the relay committee.

Willis Ward, University of Michigan Negro and one of the outstanding track stars of the nation, will provide fans with an opportunity to see a coming Olympic star in action. Ward virtually won the Big Ten track championship for Michigan several weeks ago. Orginally a high jumper, he has done 6 feet 5 nches indoor this winter, runs the 100-yard dash in :09.7, broad jumps around 24 feet, is a splendid hurdler and runs anchor man on the Michigan relay teams.

Another great Negro athlete is Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette. who will compete in the 100-yard dash for his third consecutive year here this month. He has won the event both years, and will be seeking a new world's mark this spring. Metcalfe holds world's marks in almost a dozen short distances and has lost but one or two races this year.

Indiana. one of the track centers of the nation, will send a squad featuring two Olympic stars, Charles Hornbostel and Ivan Fuqua, both middle distance men, to the local relays.

Records established in indoor track meets this winter would indicate that a large number of new relay records will be set before the onslaught of track stars this month. Although the Drake marks rank favorably with world records in many events, brilliant competition threatens the existence of many of these marks.

Iowa track fans will find reduced railroad rates in effect for the week end of April 27-28, while reserve seat ticket information may be had by writing Fred L. Turby, Drake University, Des Moines.

M ACCOUNTS ESSENTIAL

Should Precede Keeping Of Household Records

ld John Farmer start out ar keeping both household rm accounts?

answer is "No," according to Allbaugh, farm management ist in the Extension Serbice a State College, who says: perience with several hun-owa farmers leads us to be-hat a farm business record come first" —unless, of the assistance of Mrs. John can be enlisted.

After the details of keeping a farm record become easy because of habit, then is the time to start keeping a personal record. Farmers are encouraged to form the habit of keeping personal records. Many good farm managers fail to accumulate any wealth because of excessive personal expenditures—rather than through failure to obtain a large net income.

FARMERS TO RECEIVE SECOND WHEAT CHECKS ABOUT JULY 1

Hancock County farmers will receive their second and final adjustment payment on the 1933 wheat crop beginning about July 1, according to a statement received by County Agent S. J. Oberhauser from Murl McDonald, assistant director of the Iowa State College Extension Service.

Before checks are sent from Washington, however. farms under contract will be inspected to ascertain the manner and degree of compliance with the contract. Inspection work will start when the wheat is fairly well grown, or sufficiently gron so as to be distinguished standing alone or in a mixture of other grain.

The high points of the inspection of farms for certification of wheat acreage adjustments are:

Each local wheat production control adjustment will recommend the names of men qualified to serve as local farm inspectors on the basis of one man for every 50 farms under contract. From this group the Wheat section of the AAA will select a group of men and train them at county seat training schools for inspection work.

Then the wheat section will appoint inspectors employed on the basis of one per 100 farms. Local inspectors will be assigned to areas other than their own neighborhood. The duties of each inspector will be to ascertain who the wheat producers are at that time; to measure the wheat land in the contracted acreage, and to fill out a "certificate of performance" while on the farm.

After the first inspection has been made there will be a checkup inspection. This will be made by a special force of inspectors appointed and paid by the wheat section. It is expected that in most counties it will not be necessary to inspect more than five per cent of the farms.

Carelessly and improperly inspected farms will be gone over by the second group of inspectors who will be equipped with measuring devices for measuring the acreages.

If the 1st inspection checks with the second, reports of the second inspectors will be given to each association and attached to the certificate of performance or contracted farms. The cost of the second inspection will be borne by the Wheat Section.

Mr. McDonald said in the statement, "Before a contract signer plows up any wheat to plant another crop on the same land, the land involved should be examined by a representative of the county allotment committee and official permission should be given by the committee to the cooperator in writing, authorizing him to plow said wheat. If this procedure is not followed the cooperator may have some difficulty in getting the adjustment payments."

GUN, LIGHT AS RIFLE, SHOOTS 700 TIMES PER MINUTE

SAN FRANCISCO:—A machine gun hardly heavier than a child's air rifle—claimed to be capable of firing 700 shots a minute at the effective range of a 30.30 army rifle —with almost no recoil and no possibility of overheating, was shown for the first time today by its inventor, Clyde Farrell.

The gun, complete, weighs only 3½ pounds. Farrell said a few of them in the hands of concealed men could protect terrain in invaded territory from a whole army.

The bullets on a revolutioamary principle, will receive only a limited impetus from the firing pin and generate their own energy in flight —releasing whatever energy they have left on contact with any obstacle.

Bullets, joined together with an aluminum wire, feed from an endless chain, which can be cut to any desired length, allowing for bursts of firing or a continuous feed of bullets.

Your Travel Funds

Carrying cash in your hand-bag or pocket is a temptation to thieves and a cause for uneasiness when traveling. Our banking service provides a safeguard through the issuance of—

AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELERS CHEQUES

The plan is simple—you sign the cheques at the time of purchase and again when spending them. If lost or stolen before the second signature is affixed, the amount involved is refunded. The denominations are $10, $20, $50 and $100. This protection costs 75c for each $100 purchased.

We Have These Cheques On Sale

First National Bank

Deposits in this Bank insured in the manner and to the extent provided under the Banking Act of 1933.

Axminster Rugs

Velvet Rugs

In the good old days we carried a stock of 50 room size rugs in Axminister and Velvet rugs of different styles and quality

But for the last three years we reduced our stock and carried just a few rugs of each kind.

And now, all of a sudden, came a sharp demand for wool rugs and our customers just "cleaned house" with our stock and purchased all but one rug in a few days.

But, "cheer up", we have ordered a new stock of Axminister and Velvet Rugs. Watch next weeks paper! A big Rug Sale is what we have in mind.

Plant Sale

Just as soon as the ground is warm you will want to "make garden". As usual we will carry a complete stock of garden plants such as, cabbage, tomato, peppers, Egg plant, ground cherry, cauliflower, sweet potato, etc.

Our cabbages are large enough to plant now and the greenhouse people who raise our plants have them outside every day in the cold. This makes them hardy and "frost proof".

From now until Memorial Day, May 30, we will carry a complete stock of Plants and Flowers.

ncient Parable Given New Slant By Crane

THE PARABLE OF THE BURDENED TAX PAYER

nd it came to pass during the n of King Franklin in the year our Lord 1933, that there was ch distress and poverty and con- ating of land and the govern- t used up all the letters of the habet naming relief measures yet the people were far from sfied or relieved.

nd in that part of the land call- Iowa, ruled over by one, Herring tax burden was oppressive and people imploringly cried out for ef and even threatened riots and ed resistance against mortgage eclosures, but many were depriv- of their farms and their homes. nd the demand for tax money not lessened and the demand it became as galling as the yoke the ox. In the end the tax sale postponed which gave the peo- temporary relief which did not sfy, and it transpired that the n of wealth were putting more more of the tax burden onto perty. And this unfair and un- rranted distribution of the tax den stirred resentment and ill ling among the people and the t that so many people were es- ing their fair share was as rais- a red flag before a bull.

nd Herring, the chosen ruler of province, called together the makers of the land chosen of people that they might give tax ef. And it came to pass that they e of many minds, each having et relief of his own. And the rul- Herring, forwith caused to be ced before them a bill drawn by Brookings Institute, costing ,000 of tax payers money, but it sfied not. Whereupon the chosen makers of the land followed characteristics of the ox for ey chewed and swallowed land n chewed and swallowed many es and it became not a law. And dawned upon the people that se law makers were drawing a stipend and were in no great ry to be gone since it was not time to work in the plowed ds.

nd as the days lengthened there e a time when the tilling of the was not far distant so this bill, doubtful resemblance to its for- r self, became a law but it pleas- not the people for it relieved perty but little and imposed new strange taxes and they called n their God, Jehovah, for relief, in vain.

he ways of the Lord are myster- s and arrive when least expected in a manner no man knoweth through this period of depress- taxes there was a wonderful and tax system devised and the d of it was being broadcast thru length and breadth of the land. some of this seed fell upon ny and barren soil and bore no it, but other seed falling on the of the oppressed tax payer, k firm root and multiplied and ame prolific in its production many were teaching and aching the doctrine of the new which promised equal and just ation. And there was one among m who stood out as a leader for spoke as one with knowledge and derstanding and in a manner t brought many converts.

nd it came to pass that this man many ardent followers and they se in their strength and said not make of him a ruler so t all may be dealt with alike in a fair and just manner so t no rank of people shall bear an just share. And the urge of the ple was that he become a ruler ich was met with favor on every d and when the time drew near votors were of one accord that should be elected so that he ld establish this wonderful new tem known throughout the land the Gross Income Tax, dedicated fairness to all and favoritism to- rds none.

And when the ballots were counted it was found that the people throughout the land had voted as one man and Clarence Knutson was elected Governor of the province of Iowa.—C. F. Crane, resident of Clear Lake.

LIBERTY TWP. FARM HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Art Knoke House Burned to Ground Last Wednesday Morning

The house on the Art Knoke farm about four miles southwest of Klemme, was burned to the ground last Wednesday forenoon. Flames were discovered on the roof at about 10:30 o'clock and in about an hour's time the house was burned to the ground.

Household goods on the first floor and canned fruit and vegetables from the basement were removed. Dense smoke in the upstairs rooms made it impossible to save bedding and clothing.

The house, which was a two story frame structure was located on the south side of the yard, with barns and other buildings to the north. Fortunately the strong wind was from the north and so other buildings were not endangered.

The house was one of the land marks of Liberty township and will be remembered by some of our readers as the old Fred Schuldt homestead. Insurance covered part of the loss.

Licenses went on sale April 1 and all licenses expire on April first, 1935. All licenses other than hunting, fishing and trapping are issued at the office of the Fish and Game Department.

TROUT FISHING REPORTED FINE

Reports coming from northeastern Iowa where Iowa does its trout fishing tell of many fishermen who caught the creel limit of eight trout on the opening day in spite of the rain which continued to fall throughout the day. Deleware, Fayette and Clayton County streams produced a greater number of Rainbow trout while the other streams gave the anglers more battles with Brown trout. However. Brook. Rainbow and Brown trout were caught in goodly numbers and the fishermen seemed happy. Approximately 150 fishermen were reported angling in the trout streams in the Backbone State Park on Sunday morning by N. L. Moe of the State Trout Hatchery located in the park. The Hatchery has released 43,000 adult Brook, Rainbow and Brown trout in these streams for the 1934 season. These fish are from 7 to 12 inches. all above the legal catching size.

CULTIVATE STRAWBERRY BED

Should Begin In Spring As Soon As Plants Are Set Out

Should a strawberry bed be cultivated?

The answer is "Yes," according to Prof. J. C. Schlieter, of the Iowa State College Horticulture Department, "and it should begin as soon as the plants are in the ground."

All blossoms on the newly set plants should be removed and when the runners begin to grow, they may be placed in position. Vacancies in the row may be replanted with newly formed plants as early as possible. This transplanting is done when the ground is moist, moving each plant with a ball of earth.

Runner plants that form in later summer and early fall on varieties like the Warfield and Senator Dunlap should be removed.

ANOTHER DREAM SEEN WALKING

Owls swimming is absurd, says you nevertheless that alibi was used by a sportsman (the kind that sneaks up on poor unsuspecting little ducks in the spring when they are supposed to be secure from devastating gunfire and tries to kill as many as he can with one shot). When questioned by the Deputy Warden as to his strange activities, the hunter explained he was hunting owls and that one was liable to find owls almost anywhere at this time of the year.

The Deputy Warden expressed his appreciation for this new and startling information as to the evolution of owls into waterfowl and had to admit that if the owls were to be seen swimming on the pond one could expect to find them most anywhere.

We now have only six more weeks of school. Our schedule is beginning to fill up and these will be busy weeks.

Franklin Kluckhohn and Milvern Barz completed a history of Klemme which they started to write last fall. They interviewed several Klemme residents who had interesting information about Klemme in its earler days. We appreciate the help they gave.

The juniors feel that they are becoming veritable book-worms. They have completed their text in literature and now are competing to see who can read the greatest amount of work of recognized authors. At this time, however, spring fever is slightly halting the process of reading.

Alida Schubert is in school again after an absence of six weeks during which time she had the mumps and then helped take care of other members of the family who were ill.

The glee club is working on commencement music.

Those in the seventh grade who wrote perfect or 100 papers in our six weeks tests: Arithmetic, Doris Johnson and Lowell Ralston; geography, La Rayne Stille; spelling, Doris Johnson and LaRayne Stille; reading, Lowell Ralston.

In the eighth grade Paul Schuldt wrote a 100 per cent paper in arithmetic and Buster Jorgenson in Iowa History.

WATCH SEED POTATO TAGS

Some Seed Offered To Growers As Certified That Is Not

An "epidemic" of seed potatoes not officially certified but being tagged to make the purchaser think he is obtaining certified seed is present in Iowa.

Certified seed from the Red River Valley of North Dakota and Minnesota bears a large rectangular blue tag sealed across the mouth of the bag with a lead and wire seal or one like those used on freight cars. The bags cannot be opened without breaking the seal.

On the bags are the imprints of that state government; statements that the field from which the seed came was inspected twice during the growing season; that it was found practically free from disease that the crop was again inspected at the warehouse or at the car door or both and passed the state government inspection.

The certification system, which has resulted in purity of variety, better yields and improved table quality, is fundamental to potato growers and users. While the informed grower can protect himself, the people in Iowa cannot afford to tolerate such deception.

Certified seed is much more productive than the average uncertified seed. It no only yields more the 1st year, but the crop it produces if used for seed will yield much more than the second crop from uncertified seed.

Both produce dealers in the north and some Iowa seed potato dealers are putting tags on uncertified seed with the apparent intention of deceiving the purchaser. One of tags being used is blue and contains statements about the seed the uninformed might think was an official statement.

Another of the deceptive tags submitted to the State Department of Agriculture of Minnesota by C. L. Fitch, extension professor of vegetable crops at Iowa State College, was declared illegal.

GOOSE NOT SERVED AT GOOSE DINNER

It was to be served for dinner, in fact is was on the stove cookingw when Deputy Warden Courtwright knocked on the door of the home of John Hanson on a farm near Onawa to serrve a warrant for Hanso'ns arrest for violating the game laws.

Courtwright reqeived the information that Hanson had shot a wild goose and armed with the warrant and accompanied by special Deputy Warden of Sloan, they went to the farm. While reading the warrant at the door. Courwright noticed Mrs. Hanson remove a pan from the stove and run upstairs. The deputies searched the house and found the partially cooked goose hidden among some clothes. Hanson admitted killing the bird but implicated Wm. Riley of Castan.

Th plead guilty and Hanson was sentenced to 10 days in jail and Riley was fined $25.

Wool Rugs

SALE STARTS TODAY

Continues 10 Days

Closes April 30th

WHY and WHEREFORE

It's a shame to say it, but we were getting so used to this depression that we didn't know it was over until our customers walked in, one after another, and said, "I'll take this one" "I'll take that one" and thus, in the first few days of April our entire stock of 9x12 Axminister Rugs was sold.

So then, we walked right up to the Agent of the Rug Factory, and says we, "We want a half hundred room size rugs in good Axministers and in good V for a 10 day special Sale at low prices, all unsold rugs to be shipped out at the close of the sale.

The Rug Man "hemmed" and "hawed" and scratched his head, but in the end he did just what we wanted, and this big shipment of wool rugs is now in Klemme.

SALE STOCK and PRICES

We have 8 patterns of all wool, seamless 9x12 Axminister Rugs, in such well known brands as Victory, Kildare and Concord. Regular $37.50 value; are offered for 10 days at—

$29.00

The heavy nap "Graylocks" and the beautiful "Amsterdams" which sell in a regular way for $55.00 are offered in 9x12 size for 10 days, at—

$39.50

The long wearing "Mohawks" in new colorings, with an oriental sheen to their all wool nap, $65.00 values, are offered at this sale in the 9x12 size for 10days only at

$49.00

We also make the same deep cut in price on others sizes, such as: 27x52; 36x63; 6x9; 7'6"x9; 8'3"x10'6"; 9x15; 11'3"x12; 11'3"x15. Special prices on Rug Cushions, too.

CUSTOMERS OPPORTUNITY

We want to do this thing. We want to give each of our customers a chance to buy a good wool rug for their living room at a low bargain price.

We feel that we want to do this to show our appreciation for the hundreds of "hard rugs" which you and our other customers have purchased here during the last three years.

This is naturally a cash sale, but our customers can talk this over with us. If most of the sales are for cash, we can arrange to take care of a few on short time terms if they can make a substantial down payment.

All Rugs to be Delivered at the Close of the 10 Day Sale!

Gross Income Tax Will Take Tax Off Property

TAKE TAX OFF REAL ESTATE WITH GROSS INCOME TAX

The Situation

In Cerro Gordo County, Knutson's home, seven thousand pieces of real estate were offered for sale on the Court House steps at the December 1932 tax sale. A like condition existed in every Iowa county. In December 1933, a repetition of this wholesale confiscation of Iowa property was postponed by a threatened revolution. This tragic situation presents the greatest problem since Iowa became a State.

Iowa Property Can Be Saved From Bankruptcy

It is time to elect a Governor pledged to a definite plan of tax relief. 67 per cent of Iowa wealth escapes taxation and leaves 33 per cent to carry the entire burden, loading down real estate with taxes until it is facing bankruptcy. and all business connected with Iowa farming is at a standstill. This situation can be corrected with Clarence Knutson's Gross Income tax plan. It takes the tax off property and places it on the dollar. Taxing Gross Income taxes Iowa wealth equitably in a manner that is fair to all

Place the Tax on the Dollar

Elect Clarence A. Knutson Governor! His platform is the repeal of the 2 percent Retail Sales Tax and the enactment of the Gross Income Tax to replace property taxes.

Why should the home which produces no income pay a tax?

Why should vacant buildings pay the same tax as a like property that is rented and profitable?

Why should the farmer who loses his crops from drouth or storms, or his hogs from cholera pay the same tax as his more fortunate neighbor who markets a bumper crop?

The Gross Income Tax puts the tax on the dollar and the taxes you pay are based on your dollars of income.

A Sad Story

Many Iowa farms, the past three years, have failed to pay interest and taxes and we stand by witnessing the forced sale of many such farms for less than the cost of their improvements. But this isn't the whole sad story. National and State debts are increasing. More and more tax exempt bonds are being issued and sold to the public. With wealth turning to these tax exempt securities ,the tax burden on Iowa real estate continues to pile up. Cost of government must be paid, and the home and farm are under this heart breaking load.

A Sound Plan Of Taxing All Iowa Wealth Fairly

Knutson asks the voter—"Why should the home be sacrificed to taxation and tax exempt bonds continue to be sold to Iowa wealth?" The Gross Income Tax Plan will meet this grave situation and give real relief. It will lift the burden from property and spread the tax justly to all wealth. It will reduce taxes on real estate at least fifty per cent in its first year of operation. This is not an empty political boast, but a sound plan of taxation that will dispose of our present unfair system and give all Iowa wealth a square deal.

Return Iowa Farm Land To Its Rightful Place

Iowa's greatest asset is its farm land. Heavy taxes and high interest rates have made farm ownership undesirable. The average tax on Iowa farm land is equivalent to a first mortgage of $30.00 per acre Take this tax mortgage off property and Iowa farms will be restored to their rightful place as the most desirable investment, and wealth will again invest in them at new low interest rates.

Not "Another Tax"

This is not "another tax". Every dollar raised by the Gross Income Tax will apply to replace the property tax. It is an economical tax; simple in enforcement. It does away with an army of assessors and their individual ideas of value. It has none of the difficult and complex requirements of present taxes. It treats every citizen fairly. It is sound and equitable.

A Protection To Iowa Ownership

The Gross Income Tax plan will stimulate home ownership. It will allow a man to build or buy a home without being immediately penalized for so doing. It will encourage owners to improve their property because they will know that such improvements will not mean added taxes. It will recognize and encourage thrift. The farmer who improves his place, builds new fences paints and repairs his buildings, will feel secure in the fact that such improvements will not lead to increased taxes that may later confiscate his property.

Knutson Meets The Greatest Issue Before Iowa

Knutson presents a common sense solution for the greatest problem which has faced our homes our farms and our business enterprises in the history of our State. His Gross Income Tax Plan will revive business and do more to bring back prosperity than all other relief measures combined. It will give labor employment. It will restore the buying power of the public. It will start the wheels of industry. It will lift the tax burden from the citizens who most need the goods of our factories and the labor of our unemployed. And above all else, it will stop the confiscation of Iowa homes.

Vote for Clarence A. Knutson for Governor in the Republican June primaries!

TEACHERS PROVIDED WITH NEW TYPE CERTIFICATES

Among the many acts of th 44th General Assembly one of particular interest to educators is the act providing for the certification and training of teachers in the public schools.

The purpose of the article is to bring to the attention of all persons now holding teachers certificates, whether or not they are engaged in the educational work or not, the right that they may have in converting their certificates to the new type.

The new certificate law sets up two bases upon which certificates are to be issued. The permanent basis is upon a record of training. The temporary basis is upon five years of experience. The important thing now is to see that persons eligible to exchange ther present certificates for those of the new type on the experience basis receive this information and are aware of the fact that the expiration date is July 1, 1934.

This refers to persons holding. State Certificates; Special Certificates; First and Second Grade Uniform County Certificate and Normal Training Certificates.

Section 3872-e13 provides for the following conditions for the transfer of certificates on the basis of experience: Five years of successful experience; Iowa Certificate in force June 30, 1933; Application filed before July 1, 1934; Kind of certificate to be issued upon experience depends upon holders last employment.

Blanks for converting certificates based on experience may be secured at the office of the county superintendent of schools. These blanks when properly filled out together with the fee of $1.00 should be sent to the Board of Educational Examiners, Des Moines, Iowa.

For any further information desired please write to the Department of Public Instruction at Des Moines.

LITTERS COUNT IN CORN-HOG CONTRACT COMPLIANCE

If this full allotment of litters is farrowed this year, but the number of pigs saved and raised or market from such litters is below the pig production allotment under the contract, the producer will not be permitted to farrow additional litters to fulfill his pig allotment, according to County Agent, S. J. Oberhauser.

Paragraph 2 of the contract states that the producer must reduce his hog litters in 1934, as well as the number of hogs produced for market, by not less than 25 percent It should be kept in mind, however that the producer who signs the contract gets his hog reduction payments even though he should lose al of his hogs through disease in 1934.

An amendment to paragraph 3 relating to feeder pigs provides that Cooperators may purchase this year feeder pigs in excess of the adjusted average number purchased by him in 1932-33, if: he files a signed request with the County Allotment committee; if the feeder pigs were farrowed on farm in same county and bought from contract producers

An amendment to Administrative Ruling No. 12 permits a "new producer" to have two litters in 1934 and hogs produced therefrom if he is unable to obtain a hog base by transfer as permitted in ruling. He is permitted to buy two sows or gilts for the purpose of having such litters.

Windy Weather In North Iowa

For the past week and more it has been very windy in Iowa. The wind reminds one of the Dakotas and dust storms occur every day. Where the wind gets a good sweep along a plowed field it has drifted the fine dirt and sand into dunes the fine dirt and sand into dunes that in some places have filled the ditches and in others it has drifted into piles nearly as high as the fence posts. What is Iowa coming to anyway?

KLEMME CIVIC CLUB HELD MEETING MONDAY EVENING

Community Projects For Summer Were Put On Program

The Klemme Civic Club, oomposed of business and professional men of Klemme, held a meeting in the basement of the First National Bank Monday evening to elect officers for the coming year and to map out the summer's program.

Andrew Wellemeyer, president and Wm. C. Keraus, secretary, were re-elected to serve another year. Dr. H. G. Voetberg was elected vice-president. The president will name an executive committee to transact business and keep the program moving. This committee has not as yet been named.

Outline Summer Program

It was decided to again put on free moving picture shows in Klemme during the summer months. Talking pictures will be shown this year and the committee is at work on this project.

The Club again endorsed band concerts for the summer and named Paul Mueller and Art Kudje to take this matter up with the town council.

The Club voted to extend full cooperation to the American Legion and Auxiliary in observing Memorial Day.

About twenty-five business and professional men were present at Monday's meeting.

OLD RESIDENT WILL PAY ASSISTANCE TAX

Wellsburg:—R. D. Rieken, 101 years of age, of Wellsburg, Grundy county. is probably the oldest citizen of Iowa who has been or will be called upon to pay the 1934 old age assistance tax of $1.00 which is now due and payable by all citizens of the state over 21 years of age, except inmates of county and state institutions. Though Mr. Rieken is 36 years older than the eligible age of 65, he will not receive an old age pension for he has sufficient means to support himself.

Creepy noises, eerie lights, the screams of frightened women and clutching claws that snatch unsuspecting characters off the stage right before your very eyes are only a few of the thrills you will experience when you see the mystery comedy, "Tiger House", to be presented by the senior class May 4-5.

Klemme Students Write History Of Community

The following history of Klemme was prepared by Franklin Kluckhohn and Milvern Barz, Klemme high school sophomores. Information herein was gained through interview with Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn. Mrs. Martha Bredbenner, Mr. Lew Lewis, Mr. Arthur Wellemeyer and Mr. Frank Gruetzmacher.

About fifty years ago there was a small switch called, Porter Siding, about a mile and a half north of the present site of Klemme, where farmers of the vicinity unloaded their grain. The switch held about a half dozen cars. Mr. Lew Lewis, the oldest resident in Klemme, was then in the hay business there. A Mr. Marshall, of Porter Siding, thought that he could make money and built a tile factory with the intention of making brick from his clay soil. However, the venture was unsuccesful.

Before Klemme was founded the nearest towns were Belmond and Garner and farmers were obliged to go to these towns to trade. Because of bad roads, Mr. H. J. Klemme conceived the idea of building a town here.

H. J. Klemme had one hundred and sixty acres of land and in order to finance the project, began selling lots for the town. Land at this time was worth about twenty dollars an acre. The H. J. Klemme residence, now occupied by Martha Bredbenner was formerly located where Arley Blickendorfer now lives. Mr. Klemme planted the maple trees on the edge of this property. When the town was founded Mr. Klemme moved his house into town and started the lumber and coal business.

Among those in business about forty-five years ago in Klemme were A. B. Shaeffer who started a grocery store. Mr. Dowe took over the business after Mr. Schaeffer was accidentally killed. Henry Lau bought grain and hay and sold coffee, sugar and prunes. Knapp and Bastian ran a general store. Henry and Charlie Gruetzmacher sold groceries hardware and farm implements in the building now occupied by E. F. Jacobs. E. R. Schaeffer sold furniture and later became the undertaker. He was located on the now vacant lot between the Wellemeyer and Lau buildings. The first elevator was run with horse power, by Walter Bloom.

E. R. Dowe was the first postmaster. Jim Elder was the first banker. Each morning he would bring the day's funds from Garner, put in in a safe in the building where Henry Lewis now has the chicken business, and in the evening, ride back to Garner with the money. Will and Herman Stille had a store in J. N. Day's building. About 40 years ago Frank Gruetzmacher sold harness and shoes. George Kluckhohn had the first butcher shop. Two years later he built the restaurant now occupied by Conrad Quandt. Mrs. John Josten had the first millinery shop where the Wolfe barber shop is located. J. L. Harr was the first druggist and the first blacksmith shop in Klemme was operated by Mr. Pitske while Henry Schoper had the first implement shop.

The Klemme children first went to school in the country two miles north and two miles east of town. This section became independent and the Klemme residents moved a schoolhouse in from the country. In order for the school to be independent it had to have ten scholars, so it was necessary to include the three-quarter section east of Klemme to get the required number of pupils. The school was moved to its present site, the land being donated by Mr. Klemme. A new schoolhouse was built later which was destroyed by fire about 1900. A new building was put up and in 1925 and addition was built, forming the present school building.

The first church was the German Methodist located north of the present Methodist parsonage. The English Methodist was situated on the site of the present Methodis church. The German Reformed church was built on the present location, the land being donated by Mr. Klemme. In 1930 the Reformed and Methodist congregations both built new churches.

The hotel which burnt down in 1924 was thirty years old. When the town first started, a town well was situated in the middle of the corner where Wellemeyer's store is now, and people got all of their water there.

Other interesting facts are: Mr. Lew Lewis is the first citizen of Klemme still living and Frank Gruetzmacher is the second. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are the first oldest couple still living in Klemme and Charlie Lewis was the first boy born in Klemme. Mrs. Amanda Kirkwood who ran a boarding house was the first woman in Klemme. Land for the City Park was donated by Mr. Klemme. Henry Terhufen was the first mayor and Mr. Lewis was the first school director.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE RULES ON POLL TAX CREDIT

The following letter was received by Fred C. Missal from the office of the Attorney General:

Dear Sir:

In compliance with your telephone request, this date, we quote below an opinion rom the attorney general's office.

Perhaps no section of S. F. 99, Acts of the 45th General Assembly in extraordinary session, has occasioned more inquiries to come to this office than Section 35. This is to advise you that a ruling on this question has been handed to this department from the Attorney General's office, under date of April 11, and is hereby quoted or your convenience and information:

"Section 35, in our opinion, because of its wording and the special provisions made for the setting up of the Commission, should be paid without the credit on poll taxes. * * * * It was, undoubtedly, the intention of the legislature by making a special provision in Section 35 for the initial payment to create a fund whereby the Commission could afford assistance commencing November 1, 1934, and placing this provision in a separate section in the act undoubtedly was for the purpose of having this payment in cash and allowing NO CREDIT, as the credit on poll taxes is treated in section 34 of the act in connection with the $2.00 payment to be made each year."

This is our opinion based on the opinion just quoted from the attorney general's office: There is to be no credit given for head tax or poll tax in the payment of the $1.00 payable on or before July 1, 1934.

REGULAR APRIL MEETING
Garner, Iowa, April 2, 1934

The Hancock county board of supervisors met in regular session on above date with G. E. Klipping, F. J. Oxley and F. J. Schoun present.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion by Schoun and second by Klipping, T. R. Riehm is appointed steward and Mrs. T. R. Riehm stewardess, at the Hancock county home for one year from March 1, 1934, to March 1, 1935, at the following salaries:

T. R. Riehm—$72.90 per month.

Mrs. T. R. Riehm—$60.75 per month.

Carried.

On motion by Schoun and second by Klipping the gasoline contracts of Bock Oil Co. and the Britt Oil Co., for March 1934, are aproved.

Carried.

On motion by klipping and second by Schoun the bond of C. R. Sweigard, assessor, is approved.

Carried.

On motion and second the quarterly reports of the Clerk of Courts and County Auditor are approved.

Carried.

In the matter of Chas. Merten, county engineer recommending a letting on casting, blading and incidental work on certain Hancock county roads.

Be it resolved that Chas. Merten's report be approved and the auditor be and he is ordered to advertise a letting to be held at the court room in Garner on April 20, 1934, at 1:30 p. m.

Carried.

In the matter of refunding primary road bonds of Hancock county.

Whereas Hancock county, Iowa, has outstanding bonds issued for primary road improvement purposes in the aggregate sum 45th G. A. of Iowa, it is deemed to the best of $80,000, which by their terms are optional for retirement as of May 1, 1934.

Whereas pursuant to senate file No. 105 of the acts of the special session of the interests of the county that said outstanding bonds in the sum of $80,000 be refunded by issuing a like amount of primary road refunding bonds bearing a lesser rate of interest.

Be it further resolved that the board of supervisors of Hancock county, Iowa, fix the date at April 14, at 9 o'clock a. m. at which time proceedings will be instituted and action taken for the issuance of primary road refunding bonds of said county in said principal sum of $80,000

Be it further resolved that the treasurer of Hancock county be and he is hereby ordered to call the afore mentioned bonds for redemption as of May 1, 1934, in order that same may be refunded and publish and serve notice to all holders of said bonds of said redemption as required by law.

Carried.

This being the day heretofore set for a letting on medical care and medicine at the county home, there were two bids on file as follows:

C. V. Hamilton, M. D.—$100.00

Thos. McMahon, M. D.—$92.50.

Thos. McMahon's being the lowest and best bid,

Be it resolved that bid of Thos. McMahon be accepted and he be given a contract for the medical care and medicine at the county home for one year from April 1, 1934, to April 1, 1935. All other bids are hereby rejected.

In the matter of Enoch J. Westerberg asking that a school fund loan on the following described real estate; the w½ nw¼ and 1 acre nw corner of ne¼ nw¼ sec. 8-77-23, be extended for a period of five years from the 18th day of April 1934. Extension agreement having been properly executed by Enoch J. Westerberg.

Be it resolved that Enoch J. Westerberg be granted an extension of five years and the auditor is hereby directed to make such entry on his school fund register.

Carried.

Whereas, A. C. Fredrickson assessor, Crystal township, an affidavit stating that he made an error in listing the sw¼ 36-97-25 for taxation and,

Whereas, George Newman asks that same be corrected and taxes of $14.88 erroneously assessed be remitted.

Be it therefore, resolved that a correction be made and Geo. Newman be remitted taxes in the amount of $14.88 and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to make such correction on the tax lists of Hancock county.

Carried.

In the matter of the purchase of gasoline for the month of April for use by Hancock county.

Be it resolved, that Hancock county enter into contract with the Standard Oil Co. to furnish gasoline for Hancock county for the month of April and F. J. Oxley is hereby authorized to sign said contract in behalf of Hancock county.

Ayes, all.

Carried.

Be it resolved, that an agreement made and entered into between Hancock county and John W. Johnson, whereby Hancock county purchased gravel from John W. Johnson, be cancelled and held for naught and the county recorder is hereby directed to cancel the above contract of record.

Carried.

Whereas, A. C. Carpenter, et al, have filed a petition and bond asking that a road described as follows: Commeneing 450 ft. west of the se corner of section No. 20 Twin Lake township, which point is at the west end of the bridge across D. D. 1 and 2, running west on north side of section line 1,896 ft. to the north end of East Twin Lake dam, thence north 21 degrees 52 minutes, west 598 ft., thence south 8 degrees-9 minutes west 898 thence north 29 west 850, thence north 19 degrees and 32 minutes west 227 ft. right of way to include curves of 100 feet radius at all angles including north angle of its junction with road 297 and terminating at road 297 a distance of 472 ft. south of road 475 be located provided however, that that part of road 475 lying between west end of above described bridge and junction of roads 475 and 297 be vacated but not until the above described road has been located and built to grade and made passable

Whereas, Gus O'kreug, commissioner, has reported in favor of such location and vacation of above described road.

Be it resolved that all claims for damages and objections to snch location and vacation be filed in the auditor's office before noon of the 5th day of June, 1934, and hearing thereon will be given at 1 p. m., June 5, 1934.

Carried.

Whereas, an error was made in carrying on the tax list of Hancock county monies and credits assessed to J. L. Abele, sr., and Albert Sorenson due to the fact that said monies and credits do not now nor did have at the time of listing any value whatever.

Be it resolved that auditor be and he is hereby ordered to strike from the tax lists of Hancock county the afore mentioned monies and credits.

Ayes, all.

Be it resolved, that the claims hereinafter set out be allowed in amounts designated thereon and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to draw warrants on the several funds of Hancock county in payment of such claims in amounts set opposite each claim.

Carried.

On motion and second board adjourned to April 6, 1934.

Carried.

High School Notes

The freshmen entertained the sophomores at a roller-skating party at Clear Lake Tuesday evening. This is in return for the party given them after initiation last fall.

Friday the senors made posters for their class play "Tiger House", which they will present May 4 and 5. They have been working on the stage for some time, as a new set had to be built for this play. "Tiger House" is a mystery play which has been played by more than a thousand schools after a long, successful run on the professional stage.

The freshman English class is reading the play, "Julius Caesar". by Shakespeare. Last week the home economics girls originated a salad which they named "Julius Caesar."

Mildred Lemke, class of '32, visited in high school Friday afternoon.

Harold Jost who has been elected the outstanding senior boy intending to go to college, will attend the Veishea at Ames, May 11 and 12. Rooms in fraternities and dormitories will be furnished a representative of each school.

Klemme Grade News

Grades 1 and 2

Laurence Bock, Wesley Suckow, Julia Bell, Barbara Johnson, Eunice Larsen, Corrine Merkel, Junior Buntenbach, Edward Barz, Patricia Kudje, and Betty Blickendorfer, were on the 100 list in spelling.

The 1st grade had a vocabulary test Thursday. The results were good.

The 2nd grade has been making a study of flower poems and stories in their language work and did free hand illustration work.

Grades 3 and 4

Those on the honor roll in the third and fourth grades were: Betty Jean Etchen; Eugene Johnson; Elwyn Jacobs; Billy Grosshuesch; Margaret Ralston; Garland Brinkman and Melvin Coobs.

Nine people in third grade received above 90 in spelling this six weeks, eight having above 97. Eugeno Johnson and Phyllis Klotzbach received 100. Eugene has made 100 twice in succession.

All but one person in the fourth grade had above 90 in spelling this time. And all but one of these had above 96. Garland Brinkman has had 100 twice in succession. Totaling the grade in Spelling seventeen out of 22 had above 96. We think this is a very good record.

Last week we began our Spring gym work. This will consist of singing games, jumping rope, exercses, games and stunts such as "chinning the bar" and "line pull."

Grades 5 and 6

On Monday we had a perfect attendance. This is the first for a long time. We are glad everyone is well enough to be in school again.

Those who received prizes for having spelling grades above 90 were Jacqueline Kudje, Keith Stille Shirley Johnson, Marjorie Lemke, Arlene Blickenderfer and Dorance Grange.

Grades 7 and 8

The seventh grade reading club gave a short program of poems and book reports Tuesday morning.

The seventh grade received a letter from the seventh grade of Gunnison, Colorado, this week. Some time ago we wrote to them to get information about their climate, industries, etc., for our geography class.

Avis Barz was absent Monday because of illness.

ODD ACCIDENTS

It is always best to examine pens closely, acording to Herman C. Green, of Virginia, especially if you pick them up in a bank. He says he was seriously injured when an imitation fountain pen loaded with tear gas exploded in his face when he tried to write a check.

A curious case in which a fish shot a man is reported from the province of Ontario, Canada. Clarence Geno laid his rifle in the bottom of his canoe while fishing. He pulled in a big one which flopped around until the line became entangled with the trigger and set off the rifle. Mr. Geno was shot through the heart.

READY

TO WALK ON IN 6 TO 8 HOURS

You'll find that LOWE BROTHERS NEPTUNITE QUICK-DRYING FLOOR VARNISH dries very quickly. In from four to five hours it is dry enough to recoat and in from six to eight hours it can be walked on safely. Moreover, the hard, durable surface of this floor varnish is not easily marred nor harmed by hot or cold water.

Liberty Schedule

Sunday School at 10:15 A. M.
Morning Worship at 11:30 A. M.

We had a good day in the church last Sunday both morning and evening. Miss Leir, one of our missionaries from India gave two fine addresses which told of the mission work in India and took the Thank offering. The play at night was given to a packed house.

There was a fine attendance at our Sunday Schools, two hundred forty-nine being present. We are designating the month of May as Sunday School attendance month. Let us loyally boost for a larger attendance and let us start next Sunday so we will get in the habit of planning to be there every Sunday in May. Your religious life oughtn't to depend on the weather. Go to church and Sunday School next Sunday.

MAY REBUILD GARDEN SOIL

Clay Needs Manure and Lime. Sand Requires Organic Matter

Naturally you don't pick your home because of the type of garden soil—ou just have to take what is already there. So, if you are unlucky enough to have a heavy clay r some other kind of soil that does not lend itself well to gardening, there is only one thing to do: Improve the fertility and physical condition.

It's not a hopeless task. Suppose you have a heavy clay—you'd bethaul in some well-rotted barnyard manure to provide some organic matter. And then it might not be a bad idea to haul in some good top soil. Lime also helps to make the soil more porous, open and easy to work.

Sandy soils are highly prized by truck gardeners, but they must be well watered and provided with organic matter and fertilizers. All residues from the garden should be turned under ever year and not removed to the alley and burned up.

Frequently garden soils may be acid due to lack of calcium in the soil. The remedy for this condition is to give it a good dose of lime.

Smithsonian Institution Given by an Englishman

The Smithsonian institution is located in Washington, D. C. The institution is an adjunct of the government, established by act of congress in 1846 to take advantage of the terms of the will of James Smithson, an Englishman, who left his entire estate to the United States to found an institution bearing his name and intended for "the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

It is controlled by a board of regents who may accept gifts without action of congress, in furtherance of the purpose of the institution. It has also acquired numerous of its collections.

The board of regents consists of the Vice President of the United States, the chief justice, three members of the senate, three from the house and six private individuals named by congress. The members, under the act accepting James Smithson's gift and creating the institution, are the President of the United States, the Vice President, the chief justice and the cabinet.

Bell of the Lost Lutine

The bell of the lost Lutine—the ship that was once the pride of the British navy, which went down off the island of Terscheling in the North sea on a night in October more than 100 years ago, with all hands save one, retrieved by Lloyd's, which attempted the salvaging operation in 1857, hangs today at Lloyd's in Leadenhall street in London, and a chair and a table made from the rudder, which was brought up at the same time, stand in the room where the directors meet. For years the bell has rung to announce the arrival of a missing ship at some port, or the news that one more ship has been lost. Three strokes of the Lutine's bell are taken in marine and legal circles to mean that underwriters must settle, and money owing to the crews must be paid over to their heirs.

Origin of Military Colors

The origin of military colors can be traced to the dim beginning of history, a fact which is confirmed by excavations in India bringing to light evidence that there was a "cult of the standard" over five thousand years ago. These primitive symbols were made of metal or wood. They are frequently mentioned in the Bible: "The children of Israel shall pitch every man by his own standard, with the ensigns of their fathers' house." It os not until just prior to the Christian era that we find standards made of cloth, silk or damask. The standards of Julius Caesar's army were made of metal, usually surmounted by an eagle.

Scotch, Scots, Scottish

In the United States the adjectives Scotch and Scottish are ordinarily used almost interchangeably, although literary usage prefers the form Scottish. In Great Britain the modern tendency is to use Scottish or Scots instead of Scotch, the first being favored in literature when applied to the nation or its institutions except law, which is known as Scots law. It is correct, however, to speak of the literature of the Scots or of Scottish literatures. Scotch is used of bonnets, caps, collies, mists, terriers, thistle, tweeds, or whisky, and other things. The people are Scots or the Scottish people.—Literary Digest.

Early Fashion Plates

In the days before the advent of the fashion magazines and fashion plates the designers of modes in France sent dolls dressed in the newest styles to England to show the mantua makers there what French dressmakers were doing. These "sample" dolls were also sent to America regularly, but not so often as to Great Britain. They occasioned great excitement among the inhabitants of our rockbound New England coast, for even in those early days women wanted to be small replicas of the fashionable of Paris and London.

Joe Miller came over from the county farm Monday and spent several hours visiting with old Klemme friends. Joe called at the Times office and we had a nice chat. Joe is looking and feeling fine.

Paint Demonstration

Saturday, April 28

You will do some painting in the near future and we would like to serve you and show what can be accomplished with DEVOE'S Paints. Our office acquired the DEVOE line of paints for several reasons: first, because they have been in the paint business for 180 years, the largest makers of paints, varnish and etc, and that their products are outstanding. This we will prove to you.

Come in on the 28th of April. Don't forget to clip the coupon on the pink bill. Come down to the office any time of the day or evening of the 28th. NO OBLIGATION ON YOUR PART!

If you are going to paint your buildings, the house or the barn, or do some inside work, we know that if you will come in we will be able to save you some real money on the paints, varnish, etc., bought that day. These high grade paints and varnishes will be sold on the 28th at a price that you will not want to pass up.

Explanation Given On Recent Acreage Ruling

FREE OR ORPHAN ACRES MAY PRODUCE SOYBEANS

Many Farmers Confuse Rulings On Orphan and Contracted Acres

Recent changes in administrative rulings and interpretations on "free or orphan" acres have been confusing to some farmers. Paul C. Taff, assistant director of the Iowa Extension Service, says that only a few minor changes have been made regarding contracted acres.

A farmer has two general methods of using contracted acres in fitting them into the emergency program as well as into a more permanent plan for controlled reduction. He may ether seed the land to permanent pasture or he can use it to grow soil-improving and erosion-preventing crops to maintain and increase soil fertility. The first method will permanently retire from corn production an area of the farm and provide more acres for grazing and raising hay.

Contracted acres refer to those which a corn-hog or wheat contract signer rents to the government. Free or orphan acres occur when the maximum feed crop permitted under the contract has been planted and there is additional cultivated land which needs to be cropped.

Under recent rulings and interpretations soybeans may be planted to be used for any purpose on these additional acres. Oats, if pastured or cut for hay well before maturity, may also be used on the free acres. Additional crops classified as non-feed crops which may be used on such acres include flax, sweet corn for canning factories, pop corn for commercial use, truck crops and emergency hay crops such as timothy and millet.

A special administrative ruling made recently permts the use of oats, rye, barley, field peas and cow peas for use as pasture or cut green for hay on land seeded to clover in 1933 which was killed out.

Sweet clover for use in 1935 may be sown this year with or without a nurse crop, but this legume cannot be pastured is 1934. When any of the other crops permitted under the administrative ruling are seeded without a nurse crop on contracted aere the land may be pastured this year.

Another profitable way in which to handle contracted acres is to carry on a weed eradication program this year by cultivation and seeding smother crops. The retired acres may also be planted to woodlots.

Creamery Repainted Past Week

The Klemme Creamery is a clean sanitary looking place since it has been repainted with a nice, glossy white paint. George Lawhorn, local painter, was kept busy most of the past week painting at the creamery. The job was rather difficult and Mr Lawhorn did most of the work at night and when the machinery was not running.

The Annual Convention of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Algona District will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church, at Garner, Iowa, May 4, beginning at 8:45 a. m. and closing with a banquet at 6 p. m. The principal speaker of the day will be Miss Hannah P. Miller, National secretary of Young People's Work. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

HANDLING OF UNDERSIZED FISH RULE CHANGED

"Any fish taken that are less than the legal size or which cannot be legally taken shall be handled with wet hands and RELEASED UNDER WATER immediately with as little injury as possible," is the new regulation announced by the Iowa Fish and Game Commission for the handling of undersized fish.

REFORM SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS GOOD RECORD

Sunday, April 29th, marked the closing of the year for the Reformed Sunday School. The new officers who will take charge next Sunday were elected April 15th. The following are the newly elected officers: Supt. Herman Schmidt; Asst. Supt. Ewald Josten; Sec. Werner Priebe; Board members, Mrs. Alvin Goll, Mrs. L. Griffen, Mrs. Fred Barz.

The following teachers were appointed by the board for the new year: Primary, Mrs. Alvin Goll, Mrs. Paul Goll; 1st grade, Mrs. Carl Krause, Mrs. Emil Krause; 2nd grade, Mrs. Albert Barz, Mrs John Bock; 3rd grade, Mrs. Ed Becker, Mrs. Fred Becker; 4th grade, Harvey Barz, Ronald Barz; 5th grade, Ethel Baack, Norma Baack; 6th grade Mitchell Bock, Viola Thieman; 7th grade, Norma Stromer, Emma Goll; 8th grade, Mabel Schuldt, Gertie Trampel; Junior Young People, Raymond Barz, Edwin Thieman; Senior Young People, Dr. A. H. Dulmes; Adult Class, Rev. C. Grosshuesch; Secretaries of Adult Class, Alvin Goll and Mrs. Wm . Kirkwood; Pianist, Mildred Thieman.

The Sunday School has made good progress during the past year under the leadership of Mr. Albert Priebe the Superintendent. New scholars were enrolled and the average and total attendance shows a gain over last year.

The attendance records for the last eight years show a steady gain from year to year:

Year (April 30)	Average Attendance	Total Attendance

Klemme Graduating Class Number Twenty-Two This Year

The twenty-two photographs of the Klemme High School graduating class on display in the Thada Store window draw a lot of attention. The pictures, which are enlargements and then colored and mounted are "not hard to look at." Klemme high school has a fine lot of graduates this year and the pictures on display are good liknesses.

TEACHERS ENTERTAINED AT CLEAR LAKE COUNTRY CLUB

The Misses Agnes Galbreth, Georga Ford, Marian Roberts, Florence Wilson, Norma Barz and Lorna Sanders entertained Supt. and Mrs. D. L. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kingery, C. G. Waterman and family and R. A. Jorgenson and family and A. J Kudje and family to a lovely , three course, chicken dinner at the Clear Lake Country Club last Thursday evening.

The table was decorated with a beautiful boquet of mixed yellow flowers for a center piece and May baskets were used for place ards. Following the dinner the party drove to Mason City where they were again entertained at a theatre party.

EXPLAIN FISHING LICENSE REQUIREMENTS

Due to some confusion relative to fishing license requirements the Iowa Fish and Game Commission explains that female residents or male residents under 16 years of age are not required to have the fishing license. In other words, only male residents 16 years of age and over are required to possess the resident fishing license which sells at $1.00, also all non-residents of the state regardless of sex or age must have the non-resident license should they desire to fish. The non-resident fishing licenses are sold in two different types. One is issued for 6 days use and the fee is $1.00. The other is issued for use longer than 6 days and the fee is $3.00.

One exception to the license requirements is that ALL persons wishing to use throw lines or trot lines must be in possession of a fishing license.

COUNTY BASEBALL MEET WAS TAKEN BY CORWITH NINE

The Hancock county baseball tournament held at Corwith Friday and Saturday was won by the Corwith team. Klemme advanced to the second round when they defeated the Crystal Lake team. After holding Goodell to a 2 to 1 score for five innings, they weakened and lost 13 to 1.. Results of the games were: Goodell 6, Kanawha 5; Corwith 10, Hayfield 3; Klemme 5, Crystal Lake 3; semifinals: Goodell 13, Klemme 1; Corwith 13. Woden 0; final: Corwith 4, Goodell 3. One extra inning was played. Evans. Corwith pitcher, struck out 21 men. Carpenter, for Goodell struck out 18 men.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bachman Were Surprised On Silver Anniversary

A large number of relatives and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. John Bachman at their home Tuesday evening in honor of their 25th or silver wedding anniversary. The evening was spent socially and in card playing, after which a delicious lunch was served. A beautiful decorated wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Lela Welker.

Those attending were: John Lass and family; Wm. Waddingham and family; Verner Nelson and family; Wm. Bell and family; Fred Bachman and family; George Griggs and family; Jake Bachman and family; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed; Adolph Schlichting and family; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Fritzel; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Waddingham; Mrs. Lela Welker and Junior; Wm. Bachman; Mart Bachman and family; Ed Bachman and family; Chris Anderson and family; Adrian Bielefeldt and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bachman received many useful gifts including a purse of silver. The guests all departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Bachman many more happy years of wedded life.

Mrs. Fred J. Arnold Entertained Bridge Club

Mrs. Fred J. Arnold entertained the U-Delt-Em Bridge Club last Thursday afternoon. A delicious lunch was served at the close of playing. Mrs. C. G. Waterman won high score; Mrs. A. J. Kudje, low; and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson won the traveling prize.

Fish & Game Commission Made Several New Rules

Mystery Daughters Entertain Their Mystery Mothers

Some time late last fall the girls of the Standard Bearer Society, who are really Missionary girls, decided to draw names and have Mystery mothers. The Mystery mothers were ladies in the vicinity who did not belong to the Missionary society. It was much merriment all winter, as special days would arrive when the Mystery Mothers would receive Xmas Cards, Valentine Gifts, etc., from their Mystery daughters. It was a complete mystery as to who the daughters were until Friday evening, April 27th when the daughters entertained their Mystery mothers at a six-thirty banquet in the parlors of the M. E. Church.

Menu

Smothered Steak — Mashed Potatoes
Brown Gravy — Buttered Peas
Perfection Salad
Pickles — Rolls
Angel Food Cake — Coffee

All during the dinner music was played by Mildred Johnson and Marie Stille on their violins, accompanied by Mrs. Hevilin on the piano.

Program

Toastmistress ..... Florence Wilson
Red ..... Jane Dutheridge
Green ..... Clarice Wellemeyer
Purple ..... Marion Roberts
Violin numbers .... Jacqueline Kudje
Blue ..... Reva Waddingham
White ..... Mrs. Paul
Girls Trio .... "The Master's Garden" Clarice and Ruth Wellemeyer and Vella Paul
Address .... Mrs. Tompkins, Garner

The first three colors represented in the toast program are missionary colors, while the last two are standard bearer colors. The program was very much enjoyed and well rendered.

The W. F. M. S. members of the church prepared and served the banquet for the Standard Bearers and the dinner was very much enjoyed and well served.

The long table was very pretty and seated thirty-two guests. As the colors were blue and white, a long strip of blue crepe paper down the length of the table with a pretty blue vase of yellow flowers in the center. The favors at eaoh place were made to resembel a candle by taking a marshmellow and placing a "life saver" in the side for the handle and a blue candle in the center. The menu and toast programs were very novel, white paper tinted with blue with the writing in blue and made so as to stand erect, making the tables very attractive.

The Mystery Mothers departed, thanking the Mystery Daughter's for being such lovely hostesses and wished they might continue the idea for another year.

SEVEN WILL GRADUATE FROM GOODELL HIGH THIS SPRING

Goodell high school will hold commencement exercises May 22 when the Rev. A. S. Kilbourn, Eagle Grove, pastor of the Congregational church, will speak. The baccalaureate sermon, May 20, will be given by the Rev. Harry Herlein, Goodell, pastor of the United Brethren church.

The graduating class consists of Richard Carpenter, Roy Boller, Eunice Wiles, Helen Miller, Raymond Quigley, Maurice Zielie and Cortland Buchanan.

The school board is composed of A. M. Ahrenkeil, president; Edgar Mayhow, Ralph Hofer, L. E. Avery, Len Wilson.

Membres of the high school faculty are Russell N. Fish, superintendent; J. K. Kissinger, Ruth Barclay, Grayce Relf.

Mrs. Wm. Smith fell on the cellar stairs of her home last week Tuesday and in the tumble injured her arm by cracking a bone. She is getting along fine and feels that she is fortunate that it was not more serious.

NEW FISHING REGULATIONS IN EFFECT MAY 1ST

A new set of fishing regulations containing several minor changes became effective May 1st, according to an announcement made by the Iowa Fish and Game Commission. Under the new regulations there is no closed season on carp, buffalo, quillback, gar, dogfish, bullheads, redhorse, dace, chubs, shiners or suckers and may be taken at any season of the year. Trout may be taken from April 1st to September 1st and may be fished for from one hour before sunrise to 9:00 p. m. each day. All game fish including rock, silver and black bass may be taken in any of the waters of the State between 5:00 A. M. June 15 and midnight November 30th.

Dates Vary In Certain Waters

Any game fish except rock, silver and black bass, crappie, bluegill and sunfish may be taken from 5: a. m. May 15th to midnight November 30 in the following waters: Clear Lake in Cerro Gordo county; Spirit Lake, East and West Okoboji lakes, Upper and Lower Gar Lakes, Minnewashta Lake, Silver Lake, and Swan Lake in Dickinson County; Tuttle Lake and Iowa Lake in Emmet county; Crystal Lake in Hancock county; Medium Lake, Silver Lake and Lost Island Lake in Palo Alto county; Black Hawk Lake in Sac County; Cornelia Lake in Wright county and their connecting waters and tributaries.

In all waters of the state except those listed above, all game fish, except rock, silver and black bass and trout may be taken from 5:00 a. m. May 15th to midnight November 30th.

Catch Limits Listed

It shall be lawful to take during open seasons in any one day not more than twenty-five (25) game fish including bullheads, of which not more than fifteen (15) in the aggregate may be black bass, silver bass, rock bass, sand pike, wall-eyed pike, great northern pike, salmon, pickerel, crappie, catfish, perch, sunfish, bluegill, and not more than eight (8) of which above fifteen (15) may be black bass, silver bass, rock bass, trout, sand pike wall-eyed pike or great northern pike. Not more than the legal catch limit of two days shall be in the possession of any person at any time.

Size Limits Changed

Great northern pike or pickerel not less than 15 inches long; Wall-eyed pike, not less than 13 inches long; Catfish, not less than 12 inches long; Black bass or sand pike not less than 10 inches long; Rock Bass, silver bass, trout, crappie, and perch, not less than 7 inches long; Bluegill, not less than 5 inches long and on all other species there is no size limit.

Tackle Which May Be Used

Two lines may be used [illegible] no more than one hook on each. Casting, trolling and use of spoonhook or artificial bait permitted. Persons in possession of fishing license may use one throw line or trot line containing not more than 15 hooks in the inland waters of the state, except in waters closed to the use of throw lines or trot lines. Persons in possession of a fishing license may use one throw line or trot line containing not more than 25 hooks in any of the boundary waters of the state. One end of the throw line or trot line must be attached to the shore and must be visible above the shore water line. No person shall leave any lines set but must be in constant attendance at all times.

For drawing we have been making some May baskets.

Grades 7 and 8

Velma Kaduce was absent from the seventh grade Monday.

The 8th grade are making maps of Hancock County, showing towns rivers and lakes, townships and railroads.

The seventh grade expects to fin- their Arithmetic this week. We will then begin reviewing the work of the semester.

WATCH FOR TINY MANGE MITES

They Cause Heavy Losses In Pigs Each Year, Dr. Stouder Says

Thousands of dollars may be saved by the Iowa hog industry this spring if producers watch their spring litters closely for the first symptoms of tiny mange mites, says Dr. K. W. Studer, Iowa State College extension veterinarian.

Young pigs suffer most because their tender skins are easier for the mites to attack than are the tough, thick hides of the more mature animals. The mites which produce the rough, wrinkled, scabby skin multiply rapidly. When the female burrows into the skin to feed she deposits from 10 to 25 eggs which hatch in 4 or 5 days.

The new mites migrate and dig burrows in the skin, causing an intense irritation. Pigs suffering from the mange are constantly rubbing and scratching and their skins become red and sore. Because of lack of rest and sleep young pigs lose flesh and condition and may die, particularly in cold weather.

Repeated trials show that lime-sulfur in water—1part of liquid lime-sulfur to 25 parts of water—will kill mange effectively. Hogs may be dipped or sprayed; the important thing is thorough application. Ten gallons of waste crank case oil mixed with a pint of liquid creolis compound will also kill the mites.

Then, in addition, the building walls, as high as the hogs can reach, rubbing posts and every place where mangy hogs have touched should be treated.

FARM HOME MAY RE "DRESSED UP" WITH ONLY LABOR

A great many improvements requiring nothing but labor may be done to make farm home grounds attractive and orderly and to provide an area for recreation of the farm family.

Home grounds improvement need not be expensive—generally the greatest improvements are those which require only labor and time. The first step in home beautification should be to clean up the yard.

All rubbsh—tin cans, ashes and other trash can be removed without a lot of effort. Worn-out machinery may be removed from the yard and dismantled for parts which may be stored for future use. Firewood may be neatly stacked and screening it from view is desirable. Sticks, stones, dead leaves and grass and other debris may be raked from the lawn.

Driveways and walks, which are important in the farm layout, often make farm work more difficult and detract from the appearance of the grounds because they are poorly constructed. Gravel or crushed rock makes a neat drive for a farm home and a definite edging will do away with the ragged appearance of the lawn where it borders the drive. A well-kept fence, particularly around the home adds a lot to the farmstead's appearance. Lattice work below a bare porch makes a big improvement.

The following essentials in farmstead planting are suggested: A good lawn, shade trees, shrubs and perennial flowers. Keep the following principles in mind when planning farm landscape development: plant in masses; plant close to the house to tie the structure to the ground; plant trees to enframe both the house and the view from it; plant flowers in borders with shrub backgrounds, not in circular moon or star-shaped beds; and simplify rather than attempt a complicated, faddish planting.

Most farmers have access to native shrubs and trees, such as wild plum, wild crab, smooth sumac, red twig dogwood, buck brush (snowberry), hazel, bittersweet, wild grape, New Jersey tea, wild roses and gray dogwood; if funds permit, about $10 worth of shrubs are sufficient to use in making plantings.

PROUTY-BOWLER LAUNDRY SOAP

Has Had No Equal

Only the highest grades of PURE VEGETABLE OILS are used in the manufacture of this remarkable soap, and these oils retain all of their natural glycerine content. The COTTONSEED AND COCOANUT OILS employed are of the same grade and purity that go into the manufacture of foodstuffs, such as: Salad Dressings, Butter Substitutes, etc. Nor are they contaminated by any animal fats or impure undesirable greases.

The careful selection and choice of these ingredients combined with modern processing produce a truly remarkable Soap that lends itself to all water conditions, be they Hard or Soft, Hot or Cold.

All Laundering is more speedily and economically accomplished,
Woolens suffer less shrinkage,
Table Linens and White Goods become more white,
Dainty Lingerie and Laces take on a Lustrous newness,
Glassware, Silverware and Dishes take on a new sparkling lustre, when PROUTY-BOWLER WHITE LAUNDRY SOAP is used, and the most delicate skins do not resent its cleansing and healing influence.

Avail yourself of the opportunity to purchase TWO BARS of this wonderful Soap from your neighborhood grocer for the price you would ordinarily pay for ONE. A Bar of Prouty-Bowler White Laundry Soap weighs 8 oz. or more. 8 ounces of soap not padded with fillers or moisture. Don't be confused by the size of a bar. Practical use will demonstrate Prouty-Bowler White Laundry is the most economical.

Your dealer will sell to you TWO BARS of PROUTY-BOWLER WHITE LAUNDRY SOAP for 5c when accompanied by this certificate duly signed by you.

Hurricanes Not Called Cyclones at Beginning

Hurricanes originate in the tropics. If they become large enough, hurricanes become cyclones. But the term cyclone seldom is used, because people in areas usually visited by destructive storms have become accustomed to heeding the hurricane warnings and would be confused, and possibly lulled into a feeling of security, if the less ominous term of cyclone were used in describing the approach of a storm.

A tornado is in the cyclone family, however, because all of the destructive windstorms begin with high, temperatures and areas of low pressure, which start the circulation of air. Thereafter, the fury of the storm is cumulative.

Tropical cyclones generate and rage in the Carribean sea near the West Indies, in the China sea and in waters near the Philippine islands. The Fillipinos know such storms as baguios, while a similar storm ou the China sea is known all over the world as a typhoon. The wind direction in all such storms is horizontal and circular. In tornadoes, water spouts and twisters, the motion is vertical and circular.

Weather experts, aided by traditions of the sea and actual observation, have found the center of hurricane origin as "the doldrums." The doldrums was the prison of many a ship in the days of sailing vessels. It is a spot in the sea off the northeast coast of South American which becomes calm in late August or early in September.

Word "Yankee" Believed to Be of Indian Origin

The exact origin of the word "Yankee" is vague, but since the early English Colonists of Massachusetts were first called that it is commonly accepted that Yankees, or Yenghees was the Indian's effort to pronounce "English," says Pathfinder Magazine. Others say it was the Indian corruption of "Anglais," the French word for "English." If the latter is the case the name must have originated with the Canadian Indians, since they were the first to come in contact with the French. The word was used by the British soldiers about 1775 as a term of contempt for the New Englanders. During the Civil war the southerners applied it generally to all northern people, while in Europe it is quite common to refer to all Americans as Yankees. Properly speaking, it applies only to a citizen of the New England states.

Uniform Postage Rates

Agitation for a uniform and cheap rate of postage between countries led to a conference at Berne, Switzerland, where on October 9, 1874, the General Postal union was created. This union included, besides most of the European countries, the United States, and succeeded in lowering the average rate from 30 to 5 cents. A second conference met at Paris in 1878, changed the name to the Universal Postal union, and adopted a code known as the "Convention of Paris." Nearly all civilized countries are now members. In 1924 Switzerland issued special stamps to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the code. The stamps show the building in which the 1874 conference met. Switzerland occupies a peculiar position in the union, for the government of the Swiss confederation is the chief executive of the U. P. U.

Fishing for Lost Anchors

One of the strangest industries that has grown up around large harbors in various parts of the world, is that of fishing for lost anchors. So valuable are these anchors that ships often mark the place where they lose them on their charts, and engage salvage companies to recover them. It is not at all uncommon for a ship to lose an anchor, owing to the enormous strain upon it and the chain. While modern science has eliminated most of the hazards of the sea, vessels must still heave-to when mountainous waves and howling winds put too great a strain on the hull for continued headway. There is then only one thing left for a vessel to do—drop its heaviest anchors. Despite all modern devices for ship's safety, the anchor is still the emergency brake.

American Boys Grow Fast

American boys grow faster than those in any other country in the world, says an investigator at the University of Virginia. Up until he is seven years old his growth is much greater than the German boy or the boy of eastern Europe. From the age of seven to the adult period he finds that in many cases the growth of the American lad is as much as 200 per cent over the Europeans and 67 per cent greater than the negro who is his closest rival. His slowest period of growth is from twelve to fifteen years.

Natives Preserve Heads

Natives make models of the heads of the important men of their country after their death in southern Malekula in the New Hebrides islands. If the man is important enough they may even glue his hair fast to the dummy head and provide a body. The heads are then placed on posts or kept in the men's clubhouses.

Most Successful Melodrama

"A Celebrated Case" was one of the most successful melodramas ever produced in this country. It was from the French and was written by Adolphe Phillippe D'Ennery and Eugene Cormon, who wrote also "Two Orphans." Sheridan Shook and A. M. Palmer, partners and managers of the Union Square theater, New York, obtained it for production for their theater. It was presented for the first time on January 23, 1878. A. R. Cazauran, a New York journalist and linguist who was Palmer's house dramatist, and literary adviser, was responsible for the translated or paraphrased version which became so famous in this country.

"Short" Sale on 'Change

"Short" sale on the Stock Exchange involves the sale of any security not actually owned by the individual making the transaction. The broker borrows the stock that is to be sold and requires the same amount of margin that he would require on a purchase, but not less than $10 a share, the minimum margin acceptable under Stock Exchange sales. The short seller hopes to benefit by a decline in price, and if the stock goes down makes the difference between the purchasing level and the sales level, minus the commission charges and federal and state taxes. When the stock is bought back the operation is known as "covering."

Most Famous Midget

Gen. Tom Thumb was a well known circus midget whose real name was Charles Heywood Stratton. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn., January 4, 1838, joined the P. T. Barnum shows in 1852 and married Lavinia Warren, another midget, in 1863. General Thumb died July 15, 1883. Mrs. Thumb continued with the circus and a few years later married Count Magri, an Italian midget. She died at the advanced age of seventy-eight years.

"LOAFING" HENS SHOULD BE MARKETED NOW

A poor layer in a poultry flock is worth less than none at all so far as profitable egg production is concerned For that reason County Agent S. J. Oberhauser, suggests that early May is a good time for farm poultrymen to sell the loafers from the flock while prices are reasonably good.

Many unprofitable hens went to market during March and some more during April, but Mr. Vernon, Iowa State College poultry extension specialist is of the oponion that flocks can be profitably culled again. Farm poultry records show that the present daily average of farm flocks is about 40 eggs from 100 hens while good laying flocks should be producing 60 percent or better at the present time. While some people believe that all hens lay well during the spring months farm poultry records prove this is not the case.

It is well to economize on the feed bill by disposing of poor layers now because although feed prices relatively high, poultry and egg prices have shown only moderate improvement. Close culling of the hen flock is the logical step to take.

Just now every farmer could well be using the catching hook every morning before the birds are turned out in order to cull out a coop of "loafers" to market once a week. Although hens cannot be culled very easily at night, poor layers may be identified easily during the spring months. Hens possessing small combs and wattles may well be cooped.

Yellow skinned birds will have yellow beaks and shanks if they have not laid well during the winter. These birds should be examined further, if the bird is a poor layer its abdomen will be rather firm and its vent hole small and dry Poor laying, white-skinned birds such as Orpingtons and Minorcas, must be detected by observation, of the size of comb and wattles, the firm abdomen and the small dry vent.

If there is no Devil many things are unexplainable.

Many Different Species of Catfish in the Nile

In the Nile system are almost 300 different species belonging to the catfish group and more than 50 species closely allied to the carp. Some of the catfish run well up to six feet; with long dorsal fins extending two-thirds the length of the body they present a very strange appearance. In fact, they are strange as any animals found in the mysterious heart of the black continent.

Some of the great African fishes have very peculiar characteristics. One of the catfish tribe reaching up to four feet in length has been known to bed down in the mud at the bottom of pools when they dry up in the dry season. The big electric catfish is one of the strangest of all of fishes of the Nile and though a sluggish creature can deliver a powerful shock.

The tiger fish is one of the most voracious fishes in the world, equipped with very muscular and powerful jaws and armed with formidable teeth on the outside of its mouth. The "tiger fish" is able to bite in two heavy leaders of iron or copper wire and will often break the strongest of three-inch steel hooks.

The tiger fish is as great a bait robber as is the barracuda. Instead of taking the whole bait in his mouth he merely seizes it in his teeth and dashes off. When the fisherman strikes to set the hook, the tiger fish merely bites the bait in two and disappears with his trophy.

Custom of Bowing Mark of Respect Used by All

When Greek meets Greek there isn't always a tug of war, especially if they happen to be friends. They have quite a reputation as business men and so one politely asks the other: "How are you getting on?"

There isn't really much difference between the American and the English methods of salutation as the people of both countries say: "Hello," "How are you" and "How do you do."

Turks are very ceremonious and greet you with a grave, "God grant you his blessing" while the Persian quaintly wishes, "May your shadow never grow less."

French people ask you, "How do you carry yourself?" The Dutch "How do you travel?" The Swedes inquire. "How can you?" while the Spaniards want to know, "How are you passing it?"

The custom of bowing to another as a mark of respect is one that is used in nearly all countries of the world.

Motoring at 11,000 Feet

Fall Rive Pass carries a magnificent government highway over the continental divide between Estes park and Grand lake. The road in question is perhaps the highest continuous highway in North America, extending for nearly 10 miles above timberline, which in that region is at an altitude of approximately 11,000 feet, according to the Kansas City Times. Trail ridge, along which the road has been built, is so open as to leave the motorist virtually exposed to any blizzard that may sweep across the divide there, but the highway is so wide and the grade is so easy, that even in a storm he is not likely to feel any sense of danger. From a scenic point of view, this highway that crosses the watershed between the Atlantic and Pacific slopes is one of the wonders of the modern world, which of course, is hard for Americans to believe, because it happens to be at home.

Ancient Babylon

The history of Babylon ends with the removal of the inhabitants to Seleucia in 275 B. C., although religious sacrifices were still performed there 100 years later. The walls and other defenses of the city were razed by Xerxes and have never been rebuilt. The city received its start about 3,000 B. C. when the Euphrates river changed its course and left Kish far inland, the people of Kish deserting it and building the new city of Babylon by the water. Sennacherib destroyed the city in 699 B. C., but King Nabopolassar and his son, Nebuchadnezzar, built the city whose ruins may now be seen. During the reigns of those two kings Babylon was the chief city of the world and capital of the Babylonian empire.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Indian Pennies

Indian cents were coined from 1858 to 1909, inclusive. A few rare ones, made of nickel, aluminum or unusual alloys are at considerable premium, but they are never seen in circulation. The Lincoln cents were first issued in 1909. Some of those of that year bear on the reverse the initials of the designer, Victor D. Brenner. These were removed before the end of the year. Under the date on many Lincoln cents appear the letters "S" and "D," indicating that they were made at the San Francisco or Denver mints. The 1922-cent is the rarest of all modern ones. It sells at a premium of a few cents and is seldom to be seen in circulation. Only a few more than 90,000 of that date were issued.

Talking Crows

Splitting a crow's tongue to enable it to learn to talk is not only a cruel practice, but also a needless one based on an old popular belief, according to a pet fancier. "A crow can be trained to talk in just the same way as a parrot," says he. "The crow, however, is not as apt a pupil as a parrot and much time and patience is required.

Doctor—Mrs. Layton, I would advise you to take frequent baths in salt water, get plenty of fresh air and be sure and dress in clothing that is suitable.

Husband (an hour later)—What did the doctor say?

Wife—He said I ought to go south for some sea bathing, then to the mountains—and that I should get some light new gowns at once.

"Now, dear, you positively must forget business when you go out with me into society," remarked the wife of the preoccupied physician.

"What have I been doing that was wrong?" he asked.

"Why," answered his good wife, "you start to feel the pulse of every one you shake hands with."

MORE THAN 50% LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE in the NEW Firestone HIGH SPEED TIRE FOR 1934

THE new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is the greatest tire Firestone has ever built. With its wider, flatter tread, greater thickness, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, and greater non-skid contact with the road, you get more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

This new development is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, whereby the cotton fibers inside the high-stretch cords are soaked and coated with pure liquid rubber. This provides greater strength, safety and blowout protection.

Firestone engineers pioneered and developed the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and it is only natural that Firestone would lead in the further development of tire construction to meet the demands of the high-powered high-speed cars of today.

The new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, have already proved their worth by constant testing on the Firestone fleet of test cars over all kinds of roads and highways throughout the United States.

Firestone High Speed Tires are further subjected to the most severe tests known on the greatest proving ground in the world — the Indianapolis Speedway. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the annual 500-Mile Indianapolis Race for fourteen consecutive years — conclusive evidence of Firestone's outstanding leadership in tire development and construction.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

"Tiger House," the three act comedy-mystery play given by the Senior Class Friday and Saturday nights, was one of the best class plays ever presented in Klemme. A number of electrical and mechanical accessories added to the effect of the play. The character parts were all well played both nights.

A packed house was played to both nights and over $90 was taken in.

HELPFUL FISHING HINTS

Minnows will remain alive longer when being used for bait if the hook is placed through the upper lip only. This permits the fish to breathe. In hooking a bait fish through the back, be careful not to injure the backbone. The most satisfactory way to hook a crawfish is through the tail.

FISHING SEASON OPENS ON TUESDAY, MAY 15TH

Five o'clock a. m., Tuesday, May 15th, is the zero hour for hundreds of Iowa fishermen. After this hour and until midnight November 30th, anglers may lawfully catch certain species of fish.

In explaining the new regulations which became effective May 1st, the Iowa Fish and Game Commission urges every fisherman to become thoroughly acquainted with the laws. All game fish, it is explained, except rock bass, silver bass and black bass may be taken from any of the waters of the state on May 15th, except that in addtiion to the three species of bass, crappie, bluegill and sunfish may not be taken from Clear Lake in Cerro Gordo county; Trumbull Lake and Lost Island Lake in Clay county; Spirit Lake, East and West Okoboji Lakes Upper and Lower Gar Lakes, Minnewashta Lake, Silver Lake and Swan Lake in Dickinson county; Tuttle Lake and Iowa Lake in Emmet County; Crystal Lake in Hancock County; Medium Lake, Silver Lake and Lost Island Lake in Palo Alto County; Black Hawk ake in Sac County and Cornelia Lake in Wright County, their tributaries and connecting waters until June 15th.

This means that wall-eyed pike, northern pike, sand pike, pickerel, perch and catfish may be lawfully taken in all waters including those named above and crappie, bluegill and sunfish in addtiion may be taken in waters not named above, on May 15th. The season on rock bass, silver bass and black bass opens 5:00 a. m. June 15th thruout the State. The open season for trout is from April 1st to September 1st. Carp, buffalo, quillback, gar, dogfish, bullheads, redhorse, dace, chubs, shiners and suckers have no closed season and may be taken at any time.

Catch Limits Explained

Some confusion has been held on the catch limits for the 1934 season. The total daily catch limit has been placed at 25 according to the regulations where bullheads have been included in the catch. A fisherman is permitted to catch 25 bullheads in one day. If he desires to catch other game fish in the same day he cannot add the 25 bullheads to his total catch of other game fish. He may not take more than fifteen in the aggregate of black bass, silver bass, rock bass, sand pike, wall-eyed pike, northern pike, pickerel, trout, salmon, crappie catfish perch sunfish, and bluegills. Of these 15 not more than 8 may be black bass, rock bass, silver bass, trout, sand pike, wall-eyed pike, or great northern pike.

For an example, a fisherman could lawfully catch 8 sunfish, 7 crappies and 10 bullheads, making a total of 25 fish for the day.

The Commission warned fishermen that fish which are undersized or which cannot be lawfully taken must be returned to the water immediately with as little injury as possible. They must be handled with wet hands and released under water. Too much care in handling fish cannot be given. The greatest factor in conserving fish is to follow the rules, explains the Commission.

Fame Of Klemme Hunting Dogs Reaches New York State

Henry Ward, Klemme farmer, who raises and trains Chesapeake dogs for hunting purposes, has sold many fine dogs in the past to hunters and sportsmen in nearby states. Monday morning he shipped one of his fine hunting dogs to Dr. Roy F. Herrmon at Rochester, New York. Mr. Ward always finds a ready market for his dogs, but this is the longest distance order he has ever filled.

CROPPING PRACTICES ACCOUNT FOR VARIATIONS IN YIELD

Variations in average county corn yields which the State Board of Review is using in adjusting appraised corn yield may often be explained by the fact that some counties have less of their crop land in corn, grow more legumes and pratcice better crop rotation. A county having 75 percent of its crop land in corn will naturally have a lower yield per acre than one with half or less of its land in corn and a fourth in legumes.

The board is not suggesting adjustments to county committees on the basis of assessor's figures alone. Census figures, crop reporter's figures and actual market records are used as the basis of adjustment as well as assessors figures and other statistics in the office of Leslie M. Carl, Des Moines, federal statistician and chairman of the board.

Examples of mathematical error in several townships where the listing sheets show corn acreage larger than the total cultivated crop land have been found by the board. By taking the overstatement out of individual contracts many of the adjustments may be made. Errors most of them unintentional, are being found in numerous contracts.

If the board were too lax in approving production figures the reduction effected might not be enough to raise prices, which would partially defeat the purpose of the program and annul to some extent the work of local committees and other corn-hog workers. Every attempt is being made to be fair, but a few more or less acres or hogs should not be allowed to stand in the way of securing a reduction large enough to raise the farm income to a reasonable level.

LEONARD LAU MARRIED TO NEW YORK CITY GIRL

Leonard Lau, of Klemme, and Miss Ethel Koblenz, of New York City, were married at Mason City on Tuesday, May 1st.

Mr Lau, who is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Blank, and Mrs. Henry Lau, attended the school ror the deaf at Council Bluffs. He met Miss Koblenz when both were students at Gallaudet College at Washington, D. C.

The couple have gone to housekeeping in the house at the E. J. Arnold farm. Mr. Lau is working at the Wellemeyer store.

The bride was educated in the public schools of Bridgeport, Conn. She spent two years at the New York school for the deaf and then entered Gallaudet College, (Washington, D. C. She has been employed by the Central Life Insurance Co. and spent the past year traveling in the West. She is a member of the Contract Bridge Club of New York City and a member of the Brookling Skating Speed club, holding a record in the 400 yard race.

Mr. Lau was president of the preparatory class at Gallaudet and a member of Kappa Gamma Fraternity, national collegiate honorary fraternity for the deaf. He establish the unique record of winning two letters in track in one season, as a runner and as manager. Mr Lau graduated in 1930 as a Bachelor of Science and then took a year of mechanical engineering at Iowa State College. For the past two years, he has been employed in an Antique Furniture Store in Fort Dodge.

The Times joins with the friends and relatives of the couple in extending best wishes.

New Churn Installed at Creamery

A new churn was installed at the Klemme Creamery last week. The old churn had seen a lot of service and was beyond repair.

The creamery looks spic and span as the entire interior, including churns, vats, etc., have been painted with a glossy white paint.

EARLY PAYMENTS WILL TOTAL ABOUT $95,000 FOR COUNTY

Checks totaling $38,000 will soon be received from Washington by Hancock County farmers who signed "early payment" contracts County Agent S. J. Oberhauser, local representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, announces.

"Transmittal" sheets for early payment contracts in this county will be forwarded to the AAA this week by the state board of review, according to Leslie M. Carl, Des Moines chairman of the board. Contracts will then be expressed to Washington by the County Allotment Committee.

Early payment contract signers are in line to receive benefit payments as soon as the county transmittal sheets are sent to the state board for forwarding to the corn-hog section of the AAA and the contracts are sent to Washington.

County quotas for the regular payment contracts are now being determined by the state board. All of the county figures had to be in and checked before the work was begun. The board is finding the last listing sheets containing corn and hog production figures in better shape than the earlier ones.

FEDERAL STAMP REQUIRED OF DUCK HUNTERS

A recent law enacted by Congress makes it unlawful to hunt migratory waterfowl without purchasing a Federal stamp. The Federal stamp is required in addition to hunting licenses as may be required by the various States. Iowa duck hunters should acquaint themselves with the new law which is as follows.

"That the stamps required under this Act shall be issued and the fees therefor collected, by the Post Office Department, under regulations prescribed jointly by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Post Master General: Provided, That stamps shall be issued at the post office or post offices of all county seats in the several states, at all post offices in all cities with a population of two thousand five hundred over and at such other post offices as said officers may by regulation prescribe. Each such stamp shall, at the time of issuance, be affixed adhesively to the game license issued to the applicant under State law, if the applicant is equired to have a state license, or , if the applicant is not required to have a State license, to a certificate furnished for that purpose by the Post Office Department at the time of issuance of such stamp. For each such stamp issued under the provisions of this Act, there shall be collected by the postmaster the sum of $1. Each stamp shall expire and be void after the 30th day of June next succeeding its issuance.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Some people have the idea that minnows are small fish, both game and otherwise. This is not true. Minnows are a distinct species of fish and do not grow up into large game fish. The important part of this story is that only the minnows may be seined and used for b. All small game fish which are caught in the minnow seine must be returned to the water without injury under penalty of the law.

TO OPEN NEW FAIR MAY 26

Lower Cost to Visitors; Miles of Free Exhibits.

Chicago.—A new World's Fair will open here May 26.

It is not simply an encore of the 1933 Century of Progress Expos'n. In addition to many startling new features it retains all those of last year's Fair that were too important and popular to leave out—but even they have been enlarged, changed and improved.

This summer's Fair will cost little to see and little to get to. There are 84 miles of interesting free exhibits. The Exposition will look after the visitor's comfort hospitably, efficiently and inexpensively. Last year the average visitor spent only $1.17 a day inside the grounds.

World's Greatest Fountain.

Workmen have torn down more than 100 of the old buildings. New ones have replaced them. The entire physical appearance is different, with new color and new landscaping everywhere. New lighting effects at night, even more daring than those of the 1933 Fair, surpass anything of the kind ever attempted anywhere. Scores of new exhibits have been added, one of them the largest ever built. Virtually every exhibit held over has undergone considerable change.

Comparable to the ferris wheel of the 1893 Fair and the sky ride of 1933, the outstanding single feature is the largest fountain ever built. It has a flow of water sufficient to serve a city of 1,000,000 population and its spectacular lighting, in five colors, draws as much current as an average city of 150,000.

Visitors "Tour World."

Fifteen "foreign villages" twelve of them new, all of them patterned after the lovely Belgian village of the 1933 Fair, make the Exposition more truly worthy of the name "World's" Fair than any predecessor ever was. They offer the visitor the unique opportunity of making, in effect, a tour of the world in a single day.

Eleven of the villages are on a street of their own, where the Midway stood last year. The old Midway has disappeared and a new and more thrilling one has been built on the Northerly Island beach.

On the street of foreign villages are reproductions of life and scenes in North Africa, England, the German Black Forest, Colonial America, Ireland, Italy, Tunis, Belgium Paris and Spain; there is also a village peopled entirely by midgets. Elsewhere on the Fair grounds are a Dutch village, a Swiss village, a Mexican village and the Streets of Shanghai.

Ford, Packers New.

New to the Fair is the exhibit of the Ford Motor company, with its $1,500,000 exposition of the drama and progress of transportation, spread over eleven acres. Not the least important among its exhibits will be that of Henry Ford's own solution to the farmer's problem; he will show the farmer exactly how he can bring relief to himself by raising and processing soybeans.

The great packing companies, represented jointly last year, have come in separately, and in a big way Swift and Company has the entire 23rd street bridge for exhibits, and has built a huge band shell and amphitheater for free concerts. For ten weeks, beginning July 1, the Chicago Symphony orchestra will play there twice a day. Armour and Company tells the story of the progress of the industry in its large new building in the lagoon. Wilson and company has part of a packing plant actually in operation.

Standard Oil (Indiana) will present daily, in a new arena, a daring animal act with thirty-three lions and tigers performing in the same cage at the same time. Science will be made to perform seeming miracles every day in a scientific revue in the court of the Hall of Science. There will be plenty of free entertainment elsewhere on the grounds.

Railroad Rates Lower.

The new Fair has more restaurants, better equipped to serve tremendous crowds. Meals will be lower in price; in fact it will be possible to buy a meal on the Fair grounds for as little as fifteen cents.

Rates for buses, lagoon boats, rickshas and roller chairs have been reduced; in some cases they have been cut in half. Eighty per cent of all the toilets will be free.

Eastern, western and central railroad lines have announced that rates, in general, are even lower this year than last, in many cases with special-rate tickets honored in Pullmans as well as in day coaches. Bus lines have announced special low rates and so have air lines.

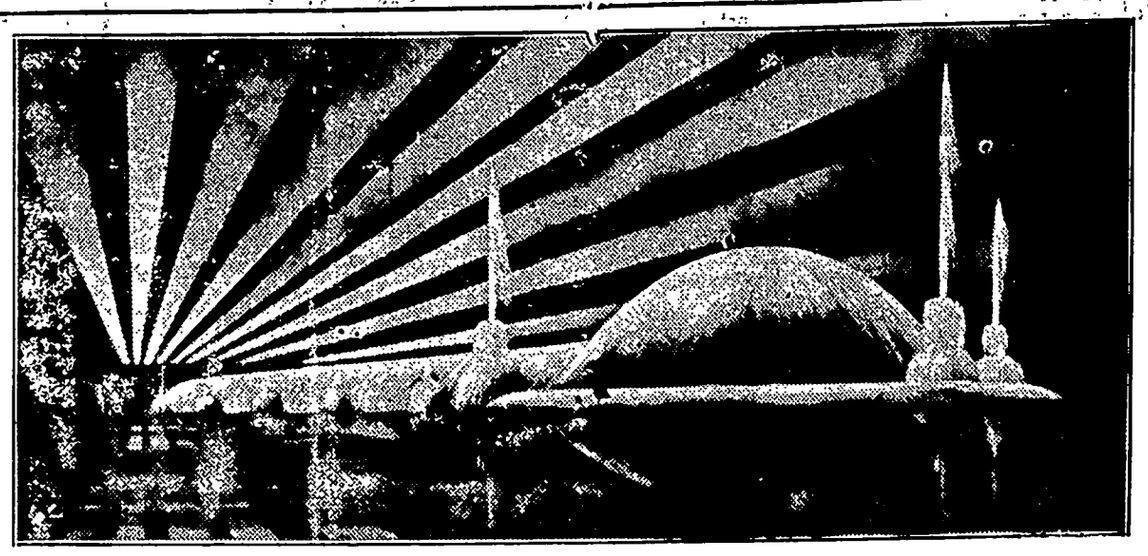
Aid Auto Travel.

Hotel accommodations can be had in Chicago for as little as one dollar a day. Auto camps and private homes will accommodate visitors at correspondingly low rates.

Fourteen major highways lead to Chicago. Eight thousand Ford dealers throughout the United States have been organized into a giant travelers' aid organization to assist people in planning trips to the Fair. Oil companies have turned their gasoline stations into World's Fair information booths.

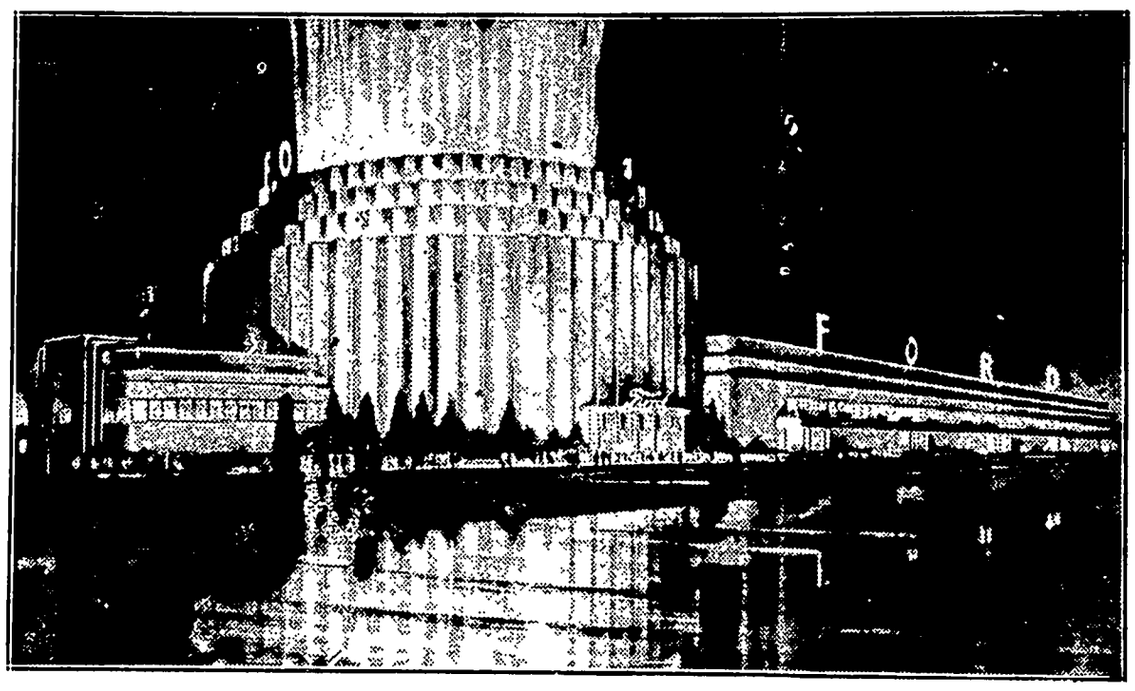
Everything possible has been done to make it easy and inexpensive for the throngs who will visit the new 1934 edition of A Century of Progress.

World's Largest Fountain in New Fair Feature



The largest fountain ever built will be the outstanding single feature of the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. Its flow of water will be enough to supply a city of 1,000,000, and its spectacular lighting, in five colors, will use an electrical load sufficient for a city of 150,000. Fifteen foreign villages, music, fireworks and free entertainment will be among the major attractions of the Fair. There are 84 miles of free exhibits. Cost to visitors will be low. Reduced rail and hotel rates are in effect. Chicago is easily accessible by automobile through fourteen major highways. A program of especial interest with music, parades, fireworks and special features has been arranged for opening day. That will be an interesting time for a first visit.

Ford's Drama of Transportation at New Fair

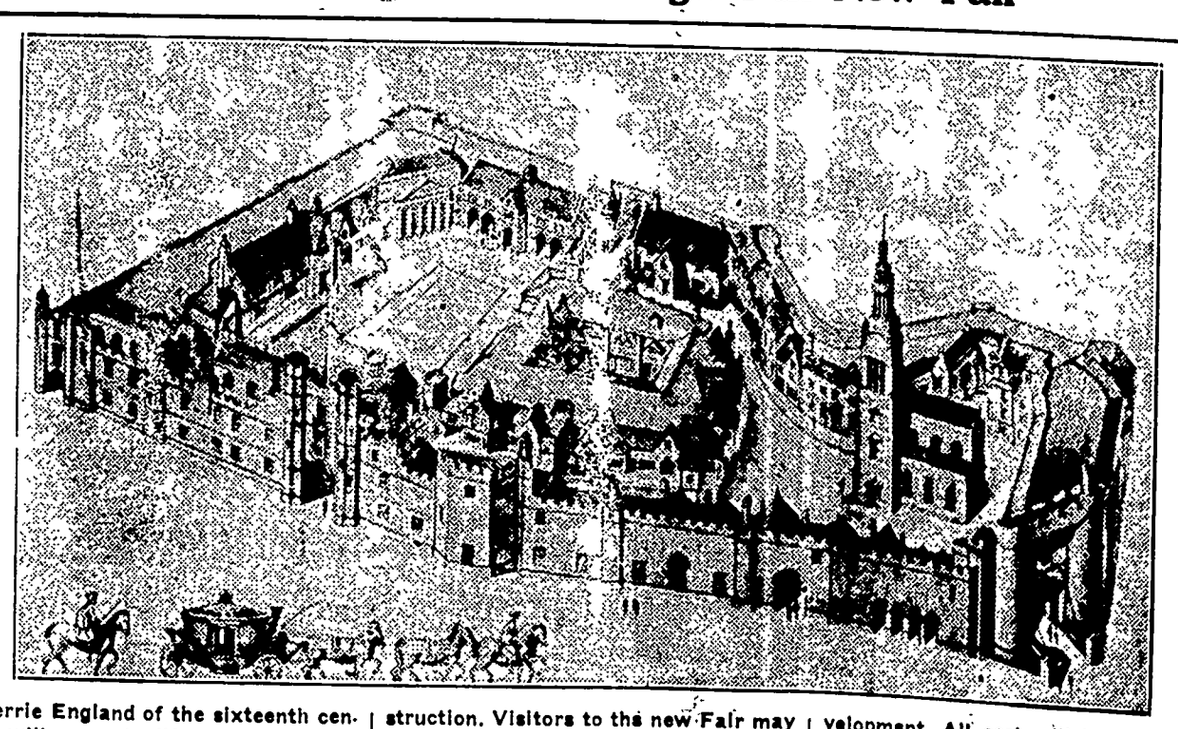


In the largest exhibit ever built for an exposition, the Ford Motor Company will tell the complete story of transportation from the beginning of time, in the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. A special part of the exhibit will demonstrate Henry Ford's own solution to the farmer's problem. With 84 miles of free exhibits, the new Fair will again be a spectacular international attraction. Special attention will be paid to the comfort and convenience of visitors. Low railroad and bus rates, and low rates in Chicago hotels will cut the cost of a World's Fair vacation even as compared with the low costs of last year.

Land of Wooden Shoes at New Fair

Windmills, dikes and canals of the Netherlands will be reproduced in this Dutch village of the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. It is one of fifteen "foreign villages" which will offer the visitor a "tour of the world" in a single day. The new Fair will have 84 miles of free exhibits. Music, fireworks, free public spectacles and free entertainment will be attractive features. Cost to visitors will be less than last year, when the average visitor spent only $1.17 a day inside the grounds. Chicago's beautiful June weather makes that month an opportune time to visit the entirely completed Fair and see it while it is fresh.

Merrie England Lives Again in New Fair

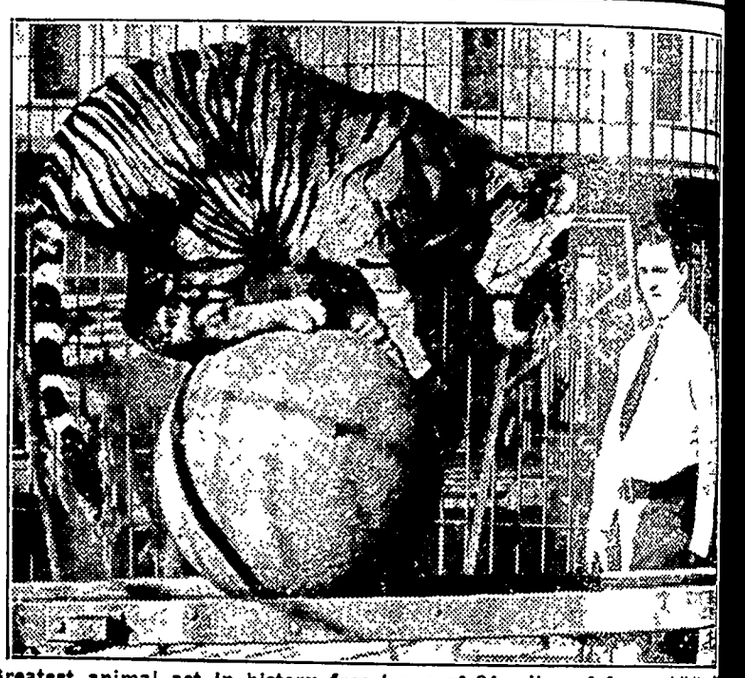


Merrie England of the sixteenth century will come to life on the "Street of Foreign Villages," a new feature of the new Chicago World's Fair which opens May 26. Many buildings famous in poetry and prose will be reproduced in this and the fourteen other foreign villages now under construction. Visitors to the new Fair may accomplish a world tour by strolling through these charming and authentic reproductions of old Europe. There will be 84 miles of free exhibits, all new and startling. Music, dancing and fireworks will be daily features in addition to exhibits of new scientific development. All cost will be kept very low. The average visitor last summer spent only $1.17 per day, inside the grounds. Week-end trips offer inexpensive and enjoyable excursions for people living within a few hundred miles of Chicago to be made by train or auto.

New Fair Opens May 26

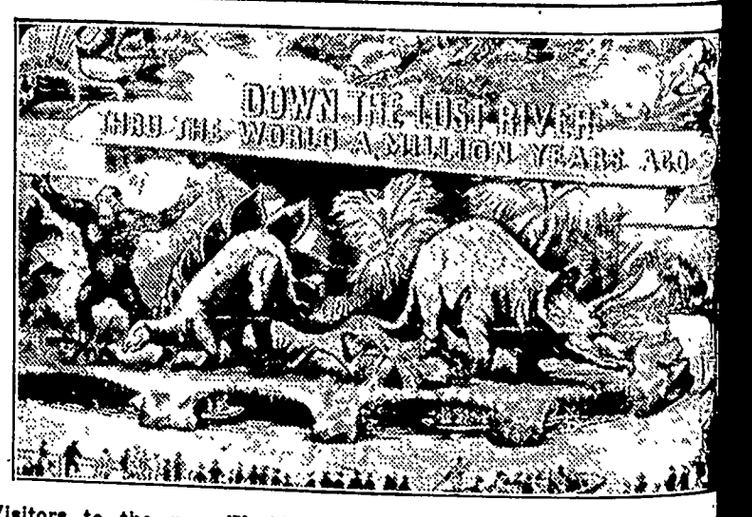
Here is the famous Avenue of Flags which will again be an outstanding feature of the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. The colors on the standards have been changed and new flags provided to thrill the pleasure seeking throngs which will visit the new Fair. There will be 84 miles of free exhibits and a series of fifteen foreign villages. The villages will provide a world tour for visitors this summer. Low cost be the watchword. Meals will low as fifteen cents. The averag itor spent only $1.17 inside the grounds last summer. Fourteen highways lead into Chicago. There ample tourist accommodations parking space to be found near Fair grounds.

Jungle Cats New Fair Thrill



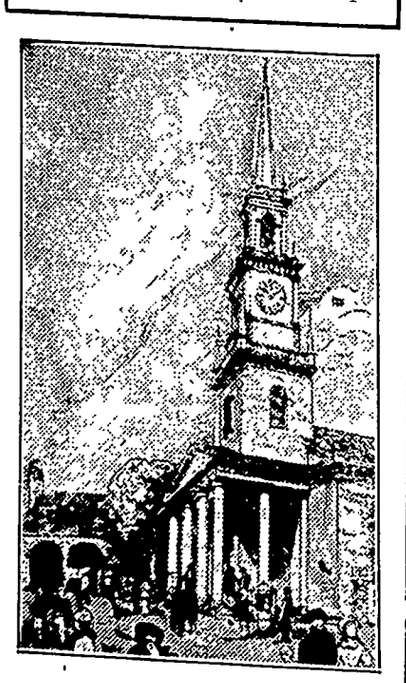
Greatest animal act in history free to visitors to Chicago's new World's Fair which opens May 26. The great cat balances on the huge ball under the watchful eye of trainer Allen King, as part of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana exhibit this summer, featuring thirty-three lions, tigers and pumas in a single act. This is only one of 84 miles of free exhibits, features will be fifteen reproduc of actual foreign villages giving position-goers a world tour rig the Fair grounds. New low rail bus rates to the Fair have bee nounced. There is ample parking for auto tourists just outside the grounds.

Fair Visitors to Explore 'Lost River'



Visitors to the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26 will float, in a boat pushed by a prehistoric man, down the "Lost River" through the world of a million years ago in this new exposition feature located on the new Beach Midway. This is one of all the new, startling features offered to Fair visitors summer, at low cost. The prehi monsters reproduced will be ani in some cases by as many as motors. They will move, hiss and There are ample tourist accom tions and parking space adjac the Fair.

Fair Landmark



Old North Church, a dominant landmark of Colonial Village, new feature of the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. The Colonial Village is but one of fifteen villages which actually will be reproductions of famous old world towns. Visitors to the new Fair, in effect, will accomplish a world cruise by a tour of these entrancing spots.

As Far As Possible

Thee dry weather during the winter and spring has caused many wells to go dry. A number of towns in Iowa are facing serious problems in obtaining an adequate supply of drinking water.

Mayor Stille states that the water level in the Klemme well has lowered several feet and urges every water user to conserve the supply and not to waste an water. The water is low and the pumps cannot be run to normal capacity.

In some towns it has become necessary to fine users for wasting water by sprinkling lawns and washing automobiles. Mayor Stille hopes that the people of Klemme will co-operate so that this action will not become necessary here. So far as possible conserve the water and use it only for household use.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Mr. W R. Hamilton from the Hamilton School of Commerce, at Mason City made his annual visit to our school last Tuesday and gave us a very fine address. Mr. Hamilton talked on the advantages of education for those who wish to be able to take their places in the after depression period. He stressed the points that those who were especially psepared for their particular kind of work were the ones who would have the greatest chance for success. We are always grateful to Mr. Hamilton for one of these addresses.

The invitations have been issued for the junior-senior banquet which will be given Friday night of this week in the Reformed Church parlors. The mothers of the juniors are preparing the banquet.

Franklin Kluckhohn and Mlvern Barz received a very nice letter from Mr. Klemme of Belmond, commenting on their history of Klemme which was published a few weeks ago in the Klemme Times.

The state academic tests are being given Tuesday of this week.

Supt. and Mrs. Hunter entertained the faculty at a steak fry at State Park, Clear Lake last Wednesday evening. The weather was ideal and everyone had a delightful time.

Grades 1 and 2

Barbara Johnson, Eunice Larsen, Corrine Merkel and Betty Blickenderfer were on the honor roll for spelling for the week.

The 1st grade are having a general rev ew ovor their years work in numbers.

Both grades have completed all their regular readers and are enjoying some new supplementary work, easy dramatization, story telling and vocabulary drill.

2nd grade had a set of health rules in their reading lesson. Each child found good pictures to illustrate each rule and used them in making a health picture.

Grades 3 and 4

We have a begun very thorough review of the major subjects of both grades. Each fourth grader is keeping a record of all questions asked.

Monday the children wrote riddles, pretending they were some character in some familar story. Then we all went to the park and played the Land of Make-Believe.

The third grade has begun reading their fifth reader.

There are 15 spelling booklets up this month.

Grades 5 and 6

Dwaine Johnson, Elnor Schuldt. Wayne Buseman and Dorance Grange were absent one day last week.

We have completed most of our text books in grades five and six and are going to spend the rest of our time this year in reviewing.

Grades 7 and 8

The seventh and eighth grades took the state test in English Correctness Tuesday.

Ruben Grosshuesch is absent from the seventh grade as he has the mumps.

The seventh gradeexpect to finish their Readers and Arithmetics this week. The eighth grade have completed their Iowa History work books.

LIBERTY NEWS

MORE HAY, PASTURE, LEGUMES HAVE THREE BENEFITS

A production program providing more pasture and hay, especially legumes, and less grain would be gainful to Hancock county farmers in three ways.

Corn and small grain claim about 85 percent of the tillable land in the state. Iowa can not go on at this rate and expect to maintain a profitable state of productivity on its farm land. Of 368,640 acres in this county 244,000 are in crops of some kind. 122,30 acres are in corn. Under the AAA programs farmers may get paid for growing more legume hay or pasture—a practice which the Extension Service and County Agents have advocated for years—and at the same time reduce the surplus.

Additional hay or pasture. especially legumes, will result in higher soil fertility and less erosion. Higher soil fertility will mean more grain per acre on land cultivated: thus lowering the cost per bushel. Adequate high protein roughage will decrease feed costs. And in turn, fewer acres of grain will mean lessening the suplus and helping solve the problem of low prices.

If present methods of production continue, everything points to the probability that the total market, domestic and foreign, will not absorb the production of our agricultural plant, reports of Department of Agriculture committee appointed by Secretary Wallace to study the possibilities of a major shift in the national production schedule.

The committee advocated less intensive methods that will reduce the volume and also reduce the cost of production. The trend in that direction is well marked in some sections.

Tree of Heaven Ancient Product of Mystic East

The ailanthus—Chinese sumach or tree of heaven—is a beautiful creature when it is loaded with seeds and stands like a blushing school girl, its feathery leaves suggesting the tropics and long dreams of Cathay. It is the tree on which the Chinese silkworm originally fed, notes a writer in the New York World-Telegram, and its substance has been transformed by those magic and sacrificing creatures into delicate fabrics that have wrapped the world in elegance and luxury. The seeds—round dots in the center of oblong wings shaped like the propellor blades of a motor boat or airplane—held one of the secrets of flight wrapped up in their artistic shapes for untold ages waiting for men to progress to the point of development where the problem of flying could be solved. The tree, like many weeds, has lived long with mankind; being an ancient resident of the mystic East, where it must have known intimately the beginnings of some of the oldest races. It is most successful as a back-yard tree in dense cities, being often the first tree that millions of children, herded in towns and cities, see. In the dense centers of population it shares starved back yards of tenements with the clothesline trees and is called by children "the stink-weed tree." Flowering in early summer, the staminate flowers are very evil-smelling.

Barbering Youngest Art, Oldest of Professions

Barbering is the oldest of the professions and the youngest of the arts, says a correspondent in the Modern Thinker. It has seen many vicissitudes. It was indirectly controlled by church and state long before it fell into the hands of the more whimsical decree of fashion, or conflicted in any way with the laws of sanitation.

It was an ancient craft before union shops were thought of, and in some Oriental countries the barber still plies his trade by the roadside, or wherever it is convenient for his patrons to sit.

Barbers were our first surgeons, first dentists and the first to make a practical application of the science of oralogy. Combined with these duties, the barber was also a specialist in phlebotomy (the operation of bloodletting), and when under Henry VIII the Company of Barbers was incorporated with the Company of Surgeons, the barbers were still permitted to draw teeth and to let blood, while the surgeons were forbidden to do any "barbery."

Siamese Twins Died in U. S.

The famous Siamese twins, Eng and Chang, were, as their names imply, born in Siam, being joined to one another by a band of flesh growing from chest to chest. They were early taken into the show business, being put on display in Europe and America. They finally settled in North Carolina, but were ruined financially by the Civil war. While residing in North Carolina they married sisters. Following the war they again returned to exhibition, touring Europe in 1869. They finally returned to North Carolina, where they died on January 17, 1874, the second dying two and a half hours after his brother. They had lived altogether 63 years.

When Pins Were a Luxury

Before the advent of that necessary little contraption, the pin, skewers of silver, wood, and bone were used, and very clumsy they must have been, too. In 1543 when the common or garden variety of pin was invented it was considered a luxury, and, although it was intended for the upper classes, all women became avid for it. Preparing for the day—there were certain ones during the year—when the makers of pins sold their wares women of all degrees set aside coins they called their "pin money" for the event. Thus was born the phrase we hear even to this day.

Arcturus

Arcturus is some sun. It is 230 times as bright as our little sun which you complain so much about when you have to work out in it. The astronomers' name for Arcturus is "Alpha Bootes." "Alpha" (A in the Greek alphabet)) means that it is the brightest star in the constellation of Bootes. "Bootes" means the Bear Hunter. Bootes, in the ancient mythology, was supposed to be chasing the Great Bear around the pole, with his hunting dog.—Answers Magazine.

Wild Horse Graceful

There is a beauty and grace about a wild horse, and a pride of movement, with a bounding, unfettered spirit and redness of nostril and flashing of eye, which pass like a shadow when they are captured and "broken." And though they may go wild again, after returning to their unfenced home, this beauty and spell never return to them. Once the withering touch of man has reached them it never departs.—Our Dumb Animals.

In Many Languages

The finest collection of printed scriptures in the world is contained in the library of the British and Foreign Bible society's headquarters in London. These volumes are in 800 languages. Amongst them are several volumes that are worth a great deal of money, one being a complete collection of the High German Bibles printed before the time of Luther.

SPARROWS

By Art

Klemme has a flock of several hundred English sparrows who live and nest in the ivy vines on the east side of the Wellemeyer Store. Every time a car is parked the sparrows hop down and clean the bugs and grasshoppers out of the radiator. This is much easier than in the horse drawn days when they were obliged to scratch in the street for oat kernels.

Did you know that sparrows also eat cabbage? Some days ago Mr. Wellemeyer received a truck load of plants for his big plant sale and placed them on the lawn east of the store. The sparrows immediately swarmed down and ate ten dozen large plants out of the several kinds. They did not touch the tomato or the celery but they devoured cabbage like a Dutchman would eat sauerkraut. Luckily, the next day the trees began to leaf out and the sparrows left the cabbage and ate the young leaf sprouts on the trees.

Firestone LEADERSHIP

"The Ultimate Test of Leadership is Performance"

FIRESTONE has maintained its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, flatter contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

Firestone also developed the first all-rubber non-skid tire, and has always been first to give motorists the benefits of new discoveries in non-skid design, providing more traction and greater non-skid safety.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership — as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety—longer mileage—and greater blowout protection.

Mayor Orders Halt On Wasteful Use Of Water

KLEMME WATER SUPPLY IS GETTING LOW

Water Users Urged To Conserve As Far As Possible

Thee dry weather during the winter and spring has caused many wells to go dry. A number of towns in Iowa are facing serious problems in obtaining an adequate supply of drinking water.

Mayor Stille states that the water level in the Klemme well has lowered several feet and urges every water user to conserve the supply and not to waste an water. The water is low and the pumps cannot be run to normal capacity.

In some towns it has become necessary to fine users for wasting water by sprinkling lawns and washing automobiles. Mayor Stille hopes that the people of Klemme will co-operate so that this action will not become necessary here. So far as possible conserve the water and use it only for household use.

LUCILLE GERK AND EMIL BARZ TO MARRY MAY 29TH

Waterloo Daily Courier, May 9:—

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Lucille M. Gerk, secretary to A. A. Zimmerman of Pike, Sias, Zimmerman and Butler, attorneys, for the past four years, and Emil M. Barz Cedar Rapids, was made at a dinner given Tuesday evening at Black's tearoom by Miss Gerk. The marriage will be solemnized May 29. The party was given on the birthday anniversary of the bride-elect's mother the late Mrs. Laura L. Gerk of Waterloo.

A pink and green color motif was utilized in the table appointments. A mirror plaque with a water lily and pink swans was the centerpiece decorations. Pink tapers were used in the candelabra.

Among the 21 guests were the following out-of-town visitors: Miss Ethel Barz. of Klemme, Iowa; Mrs. Ed Cummings of Buckingham and Mrs. John Hackman of Burlington. Bridge followed the dinner.

Miss Gerk wore a wrist corsage of roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride-elect attended West High schol and graduated from Gates Business College. Mr. Barz graduated from the Mason City Business College and is employed by the Lefebure Corporation of Cedar Rapids

TEACHERS ENTERTAINED AT ANNUAL COTTAGE PARTY

For several years C. G. Waterman and family and R. A. Jorgenson and family have entertained the Klemme teachers at the Keraus cottage at Ventura Heights. Monday the members of the teaching staff, Mrs. Hunter and daughter, Delores, Mrs. Kingery, Dr. Schaeffer, Dr. Voetberg and Miss Fannie Wilson of Cromwell, Iowa. were entertained. A "treasure hunt" was staged. A trail had been laid for a half mile through the woods and the group was divided into parties of three and four persons and started on the trail at intervals to find the treasure, which proved to be a big bag of peanuts hidden under a small bridge.

Miss Sanders Given Shower

Another feature of the party was a "kitchen shower" for Miss Sanders who will be married in June. The gifts were hidden around the lake and woods and as each package was found it had a note directing Miss Sanders to the next hidden package.

For supper hot waffles and pancakes were served with maple syrup salad, angel food cake withe strawberries and coffee. After supper games were played.

POPULAR KLEMME COULE WED AT REFORMED CHURCH

Miss Viola Freie And Mr. George Lawhorn Married Last Thursday

The marriage of Miss Viola Freie and Mr. George Lawhorn was solemnized at the Klemme Reformed Church last Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, May 10th. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Jacobs.

Both of these young people are well known in this community, having spent practically all of their life here. Mrs. Lawhorn is the youngest daughter of Mr. Henry Freie. She is a talented musician and her services are in great demand by orchestras playing in this part of the state. She plays both the piano and the piano-acordian.

Mr. Lawhorn has been in the painting and decorating business in Klemme for a number of years and enjoys a good business in that line. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hod Lawhorn, of Garner, who at one time lived on their farm near Klemme.

The newly-weds took a short wedding trip to Cedar Rapids for a visit with relatives and friends. Later they plan to take a more extensive trip for a visit at the World Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawhorn will make their home with Mr. Freie. They extend best wishes for a happy married life.

NEW BASIC CROPS ARE NOT INCLUDED IN CONTRACT

Farmers who have signed production adjustment contracts need not consider the six new "basic commodities", added by recent AAA amendments in their compliance with such limitations on "other basic commodities" as appear in the contracts. Announcement of this ruling has been made by the AAA.

The seven basic commodities listed in the act as originally passed were cotton, wheat, field corn, hogs tobacco rice and milk and its products. In the case of most of these original basic commodities, adjustment contract signed by grower include a prohibition against increasing production of any of the others, above the level of 1932 or 1933, whichever was the higher.

Recent amendments to the Adjustment Act added six new basic commodities — beef cattle, grain sorghums, flax, barley, rye and peanuts—and questions have been raised as to whether production of these new commodities would invalidate the contracts already in force or in process.

Limitations on basic crop increases in contracts signed before June 1, 19v4, will be interpreted as applying only to the original basic commodities and not this year to the production of the new commoditiees added by the amendments.

Because the new basic commodities were not designated until farmers had their plans for 1934 well under way, it has been decided that increased production of them will not constitute violation of the contract so long as there is no violation of its general provisions, which forbid increases in the total acreage of feed crops other than grain or hay, and increases in the total average acreage of crops planted for harvest.

"Stub" Lewis and "Dutch" Turgasen became hermits Monday afternoon when they went to Clear Lake and pitched their tent on the shores at Ventura Heights to spend a few days fishing.

MORE DUST STORMS PAST WEEK

Old timers report that the dust storms we experienced the past week were the worst that they had ever seen, or could recall. However the rain Saturday cleared the air. Scientists claim that the fine dust particles will remain in the upper strata for perhaps three years as the fine dust was forced up beyond the cloud area.

An old timer is any Klemme man who can remember the time when scraps from the table were chicken feed instead of salad.

Coming Week Is Busy One For Klemme Senior Class

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET WAS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The junior-sentior banquet was served Friday evening in the parlors of the German Reformed Church. The banquet was prepared by the mothers of the juniors and served by the freshman girls.

The senior colors, green and gold were used in the decorations. Walls of crepe paper streamers enclosed the space in which the tables were arranged. The large table for those who gave toasts was placed in the center with the smaller tables at either side and at the ends. A bouquet of yellow roses and yellow tapers along with the yellow rose nut cups and menu-cards formed the table decorations for the center table. The centerpiece for each of the smaller tables was a yellow candle and sprays of fern and roses. One feature of the decorating was an illuminated sign showing the senior motto.

Melvin Schlei, as toastmaster, introduced the various members of the two classes and Mr. Kingery and Mr. Hunter, who were on the toast program. A five piece orchestra made up of members of the school orchestra played throughout the banquet and Dolorys Cook and La Vonne Sherwood sang a duet

Thejuniors appreciate the use of the church and thank the mothers and all those who helped in any way with the banquet.

MISS ELVIRA STILLE ANNOUNCES APPROACHING MARRIAGE

Mrs. Will Stille entertained sixteen young ladies Saturday afternoon at an announcement party in honor of her daughter, Miss Elvira, who is a teacher at Floyd.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and visiting, after which lunch was served. The anouncement of Miss Stille's approaching marriage to Mr. Lee Anderson of Charles City, was revealed on the place card at each guest's plate.

Out of town young ladies who were present were: Miss Adella Schroeder of Alexander; Mrs. Jim McKew of Mason City; Miss Mabel Schaefer of Rowan; Miss Bernice Tanner of Crystal Lake and Miss Edith Kalvig of Kanawha.

WINDSTORM SATURDAY MORN DAMAGED FARM BUILDINGS

A heavy wind storm and rain Saturday morning damaged buildings on a large number of farms in this vicinity. The path of the worst of the wind seemed to take in a stretch several miles wide and extending clear across the county. The damage by the wind in this community was in the path about two miles north of town. Wooden silos fared the worst as they were dry and easily blown apart. Roofs were blown off some barns and sheds, small buildings tipped over and large trees uprooted.

Rain Was Welcome

A heavy rain fell which seemed to come just at the right time to benefit parched pastures and lawns and provide moisture for grain, corn and vegetables.

The rain was followed by cool weather.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

It would be appreciated if a search were made in each home for school library books. It is especially easy for books from the high school library to be taken without any recrd being made and these are sometimes mislaid or forgotten and not brought back. We would like to have all the books returned before we take our inventory.

Grades 1 and 2

Laurence Bock Wesley Suckow, Julia Bell, Eunice Larsen, Corrine Merkel, Junior Buntenbach, Edward Barz, Emily Johnson, Patricia Kudje Betty Blickenderfer and LaVonne Hammitt were all on the 100 list in spelling.

Both grades enjoyed some rhythm band work in music last week.

The 2nd grade have had some easy story writing work in language class. This week they are going to write letters.

The 1st grade are having little tests every day over their year's work in numbers.

SECOND ADJOURNED APRIL MEETING

Garner, Iowa, April 14, 1934.

The Hancock county board of supervisors met in session on above date with F. J. Oxley, G. E. Klipping and F. J. Schoun present.

RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUE OF $80,000 PRIMARY ROAD REFUNDING BONDS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, IOWA.

Whereas, the county of Hancock, in the state of Iowa, is a body corporate, duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws and constitution of the state of Iowa, and,

Whereas, said county now has an indebtedness outstanding evidenced by bonds issued for primary road improvement purposes as follows:

Bonds numbered 651 to 730 incl.; date issued, Feb. 1, 1928; amount, $80,000.00; interest rate, 4¼%.

Which bonds by their terms are optional for retirement as of May 1, 1934; and,

Whereas, said indebtedness was contracted and incurred by order of the board of supervisors of said county for the purposes authorized by law, and in the form, time and manner as required by law; and said indebtedness was incurred in full compliance with all laws restricting and regulating the contracting or the incurring of indebtedness of that character and in particular the law as now contained in chapter 241, code of Iowa,

Whereas, none of said indebtedness has ever been adjudicated to be invalid and no litigation is pending, prayed or threatened involving the validity of any of said indebtedness, and said indebtedness thus evidence is a legal valid and binding obligation of said county, and said indebtedness thus evidenced is in such form and of such character that it can be legally retired and refunded (and in the manner hereinafter provided); and,

Whereas, it is deemed advisable and for the best interests of said county that primary road refunding bonds of said county be issued as proposed and notice of the proposed action by this board of supervisors to initiate proceedings and authorize the issuance of primary road refunding bonds in the amount of eighty thousand dollars ($80,000.00) has been duly given by publication of such notice at least once in a newspaper of general circulation within said county at least ten (10) days before this meeting, and no appeal pursuant to said notice has been filed.

Now therefore, be it and it is hereby resolved by the board of supervisors of Hancock county in the state of Iowa;

Section 1. That for the purpose of retiring and refunding the indebtedness of said county in the amount of eighty thousand dollars ($80,000.00) referred to and proposed to be refunded in the preamble of this resolution, there are hereby authorized to be issued 80 negotiable primary road refunding bonds of said county, to be numbered consecutively from 1001 to 1080, both numbers inclusive, to be of the denomination of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) each, to be dated the first day of May, 1934, each bearing interest from and after the date thereof until paid at the rate of two and ¼ per cent (2¼%) per annum, payable November 1 1034, and semi-annually thereafter on the first days of May and November of each year, such interest to be evidenced by negotiable coupons attached to each of said bonds; both principal and interest of said bonds are hereby made payable at the office of the county treasurer of said county, in the city of Garner, state of Iowa. Said bonds shall become due and payable in numerical order as follows:

Bonds Nos. 1001 to 1020 incl., $20,000 on May 1, 1935.

Bonds Nos. 1021 to 1040 incl., $20,000 on May 1, 1936.

Bonds Nos. 1041 to 1060 incl., $20,000 on May 1, 1937.

Bonds Nos. 1061 to 1080 incl., $20,000 on May 1 1938.

Section 2. That upon presentation at the office of the county treasurer of any of said bonds, same may be registered as to ownership in the name of the owner on the books of said county treasurer, such registration to be noted also on the reverse side of the bonds, and thereafter the principal of such registered bonds shall be payable only to the registered holder, his legal representatives or assigns. Such registered bonds shall be transferable to another registered holder or back to bearer, only upon presentation to the county treasurer with a legal assignment duly acknowledged or approved. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 8. The bonds hereby authorized shall be in form and recitals substantially as follows:

(Form of Bond)

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, STATE OF IOWA, COUNTY OF HANCOCK, PRIMARY ROAD REFUNDING BOND

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That the county of , in the state of Iowa, for value received, promises to pay to bearer or if this bond be registered to the registered holder hereof, one thousand dollars ($1,000) lawful money of the United States of America, on the first day of , 19 , and to pay interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of per cent (%) per annum, payable November 1, 1934, and semi-annually thereafter on the first days of May and November of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due. Both principal and interest of this bond are payable at the office of the county treasurer of county; in the city of , Iowa, and for the prompt payment of the principal and interest hereof when due, and for the levy of taxes sufficient therefor, the full faith, credit and revenues of said county are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds issued by said county pursuant to and in strict compliance with the provisions of section 4763-a14 and chapter 266 of the code of Iowa, and all laws amendatory and supplemental thereto, and in conformity with a resolution of the board of supervisors of said county duly passed for the purpose of retiring and refunding a like principal amount of the bonded indebtedness of said county issued for primary road improvement purposes.

This bond shall be negotiable and pass by delivery unless it has been reistered in the name of the owner on the books of the county treasurer of said county and evidence of such registration endorsed on the back thereof. Thereafter no transfer of this bond shall be valid unless made on said books and similarly noted hereon, unless the last registration shall have been to bearer, in which case transferability by delivery shall be restored The registration of this bond shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached, which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof

And it is hereby certified and recited: That all acts conditions and things required by the constitution and laws of the state of Iowa to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond and precedent to and in the incurring of the indebtedness hereby retired and refunded, were and have been properly had, done and performed in regular and due form and time as required by law, that the indebtedness hereby retired and refunded was a valid, subsisting, legal and general obligation of said county, that adequate provision has been made for the payment of the principal and interest of this bond as the same will become due and that, the total indebtedness of said county, including this bond, does not now and did not at the time of incurring the indebtedness, hereby retired and refunded exceed the constitutional or statutory limitations

In testimony whereof, said county, by its board of supervisors, has caused this bond to be signed by the chairman of said board, and countersigned by the county auditor with the seal of said county affixed and the coupons hereto attached to be executed with the facsimile signature of the county auditor, and said county auditor, by the execution of this bond, does adopt as and for his own proper signature, his facsimile signature appearing on each of said coupons, all as of the first day of May, 1934.

F. J OXLEY,
Chairman, Board of Supervisors.

BUSINESS IS BRIGHTER

But is YOUR Store Brighter?

During the depression commercial lighting suffered a drastic reduction and it has not been restored in keeping with other business recovery.

If you are an alert, aggressive merchant with adequate window and store lighting your business is better. The busy store is the well lighted store. The next few months is the season when tourists and shoppers will visit your community and their impressions will depend on general appearances as well as the individual attractiveness of displays.

LIGHTNESS OF HOMES DEPENDS ON COLOR USED IN DECORATING

The color used in finishing the wall, woodwork or floor of the home determines, to a large extent the lightness and cheerfulness of its rooms, said Ada Raake Gaede, home demonstration agent for Hancock county in an interview on home improvement.

The CWA rural housing survey conducted in Iowa the past winter indicated that the largest percentage of farm women, if they had the money to spend would paper or paint interior walls, ceilings and floors.

Mrs. Gaede suggests that smooth plastered walls may be either painted, papered or calcimined. On rough plaster, however, it is best to use vaint or calcimine. Paint is easy to clean, economical and durable. Calcimine is cheaper but one cannot paper or use oil paint without first removing it. If the wall is re-done several times with calcimine it will finally blister.

Paper many times may be used to conceal certain defects in the wall. A rough surfaced paper will cover cracks more easily than will a smooth paper.

Mrs. Gaede suggested the use of light colors such as cream, old ivory, lightwarm grays, light grayish green, putty and light yellow in rooms that the owner wishes to appear lighter and in rooms which are naturally dark. A light warm yellow gives the effect of sunlight and is best suited for north rooms.

In refinishing woodwork soft woods of uninteresting grains may be painted or enameled to good advantage. Hard woods having an attractive and beautiful grain may be stained, waxed or finished with oil to preserve the beauty of the natural grain. Varnished may be used if rubbed down down to a dull finish.

In a room where the woodwork is unevenly spaced, it may be best to paint it the same color as the wil but of a little darker shade. A small amount of woodwork, however, appears more interesting when painted color that harmonizes with the wall color but which does not contrast too strongly.

Cucumber Tree Hardiest of the Magnolia Family

The cucumber tree is the hardiest magnolia native to eastern North America. In appearance it suggests a tropical tree, for its leaves and flowers are large. It is found from western New York to Illinois, Georgia and Arkansas. A rich, moist woods, with abundant sunlight is its favorite home Good wood, rapid growth, few foes are among its principal merits. It is a beautiful tree for lawns and parks The leaves are simple, thin, egg-shaped, four to twelve inches long, pointed at apex, smooth along margin. They fall in response to first frost. The flowers are large, upright, solitary, bell-shaped, about three inches long, greenish, tinged with yellow, difficult to see among foliage. The fruit is a red cucumber-like mass, two or three inches long, containing scarlet, pea-size seeds, suspended by long, slender white threads at maturity. The bark is grayish to brown, and breaks up into long furrows. The twigs are smooth, shiny, bitter, rather stout, brown, marked with crescent shaped leaf-scars. The buds are conical, sharp-pointed, about one-half of an inch long, and pale silky. The wood is soft, weak, brittle, and light yellowish to reddish-brown in color.

Balkan States, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia

The Balkan states comprise Jugoslavia (the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes), Albania, Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania. Though Rumania is not geographically a part of the Balkan peninsula, it is politically a Balkan state.

Austria is a republic, its status as a republic having been proclaimed on November 12, 1918. It is made up of the provinces of Vienna, Burgenland, Lower Austria, Upper Austria, Salzburg, Styria, Carinthia, Tyrol and Vorarlberg.

Hungary, like Austria, is also a separate independent country, but comprises only about one-third of the area of the former kingdom. It was proclaimed an independent republic on November 16, 1918.

Czechoslovakia is another country having a republican form of government in consequence of the World war. The Czechoslovak state came into existence on October 28, 1918, and consists of Bohemia, Moravia, Slovakia, Silesia and Ruthenia (sub-Carpathian Russia)—territories which formerly lay chiefly within the empire of Austria-Hungary, with slight additions of territory formerly German and Russian.

District of Columbia

When the District of Columbia was formed in accordance with the act of congress approved July 16, 1790, and amended March 3, 1791, there were already two town sites laid out within the present boundaries of the city east of Rock creek. One, south of the Capitol in the vicinity of the United States Engineers' headquarters, was known as Carrollsburg, and the other, not far west of the White House, was known as Hamburg or Funkstown, a part of which is well known to old-timers as Foggy Bottom. The plat of Hamburg was recorded at Upper Marlboro, Md., October 28, 1771, and both towns, therefore, came into existence, at least on paper, prior to the War of the American Revolution. Hamburg was laid out by Jacob Funk, and for this reason is frequently referred to in early records as "Funkstown."

Death Holds No Terror

The Cochiti Indians believe that the universe is ruled by a Supreme Mother, much of the legendary history revolving about the Mother. In the early days when the people came out of Shipap, the origin of all peoples, one child became sick, a new experience to the people. They called upon the chiefs of the Shkoyo, the curing society as they were called, to go back to Shipap and the Mother to cure the child or take away the trouble, as their legend describes it. The Mother, however, answered that the child died and that no fear should be held concerning that development. "If you do not die," she said logically enough, "soon the world would become so crowded there would be no place to live. When you die, never fear, for you will simply come back to live with me in Shipap."

Mule Tougher Than Horse

The mule, offspring of a female horse and a male ass, is more easily kept, can subsist upon a greater variety of food and endure heat, hunger and thirst better than the horse. It also generally lives to a greater age and is less susceptible to diseases. Moreover no other beast of burden is so sure footed and so capable of enduring fatigue. Although a male horse is sometimes crossed with a female ass to produce what is known as the "hinny," the mule is far superior to this last-named hybrid in size and strength as well as in appearance.

The Southern Cross

The Southern Cross is the popular name for a southern constellation situated near the Antarctic circle. It consists of four bright stars. The two brilliant stars which mark the summit and foot have nearly the same right ascension. The constellation, therefore, is almost vertical when passing the meridian, and these two stars act as pointers to the Antarctic circle. The Southern Cross is visible all over the southern hemisphere and in the northern hemisphere up to about latitude 25 degrees N.

TIME TO SPRAY FRUIT TREES

Calyx Spray Should Be Applied Just As Petals Have Fallen

The Calyx Spray should be applied on fruit trees just as the petals have fallen, which in Hancock County will be the last of the week of May 14th or early the next week, according to County Agent S. J. Oberhauser, who has sent out a notice to this effect to Hancock County fruit growers. This spray is one of the most important needed during the entire season to conrtol fruit pests.

The hot winds of early May brot out the bloom so rapidly that many growers did not get get the cluster bud spray on their trees. It so happened that it was so dry up to blossoming that no disease could develop. However, if rainy cool weather overtakes the trees before the petals have fallen scab will develop very, rapidly on the apple. Consequently. he suggests that in the case of the person who did not get on the cluster bud to commence his calyx spray when three-fourths to 9-10 of the petals have fallen if we have a heavy rain. In case it remains dry, this spray can be delayed until the petals have fallen but should be applied within five days afterwards.

This spray should be applied to apples, plums, pears, cherries, currants, gooseberries and black raspberries, using 1½ pounds of lead arsenate plus 5 quarts of liquid lime sulphur (or 4 to 5 pounds of dry form) to 50 gallons of mixture. If weather is over 75 to 80 degrees add 2 pounds of hydrated lime to prevent burning. For results, it is essential to completely cover all parts of the plant. The 15 to 20 year old apple tree requires from four to five gallons of diluted spray material to completely cover it at one application.

DROUTH HOLDING BACK CROPS

Amount of Subsoil Moisture Is Low, Affects Even Deep-rooted Crops

The drouth which has prevailed in the Middlewest since last fall has already done considerable damage to crops and will become more severe as the season lengthens, unless Mother Nature donates some moisture.

The first crop of alfalfa—in Iowa at least, is going to be short. Alfalfa's long roots can ordinarily get water from the subsoil when other crops wuld fail. But lack of moisture since last fall has reduced the amount of reserve in the subsoil.

Timothy and clover and other pasture crops are likewise in poor condition and will be short, even though good rains are provided from now on.

Pastures are looking pretty lean. Farmers are advised to graze their stocks lighly on these pastures until the grass had a chance to get a good start.

Small grains have been delayed so much by dry weather that the yields are likely to be considerably smaller than usual. Oats are likely to be "spotty" in some fields because of the differences in amount of moisture in different parts of the fields. The effect the drouth so far has been almost exactly the same as a delay in planting.

Corn, likewise, has been damaged by the drouth. Heavy rains within a few days would prevent serious losses, however, in some parts of the state at least. Even though the soil is hard and cloddy, corn should be planted now; in fact should have been planted somewhat earlier. Then when rain does come it will be ready to take full advantage of the moisture.

The lack of hard rains has prevented the soil from packing and it is dry and powdery in many fields. Rains should, therefore, soak in without much run-off, and be all used by the crops, when and if they come.

Picnic Friday Closes School Year Activities

LAST DAY OF SCHOOL YEAR IS COMMUNITY AFFAIR

Commencement Is Thursday Eve This Week At School House

This week winds up school affairs for the year with two great events slated: Commencement on Thursday evening and the annual school picnic on Friday.

Rev. William Galbreth, pastor of Olivet Methodist Church of Mason City will deliver the Commencement address to twenty-two seniors at the school auditorium Thursday evening. His subject is "Making A Living or Making A Life."

Seven pupils of the eighth grade will also be presented with certificates entitling them to continue their work in high school.

Picnic Is Friday

The annual school picnic will be held Friday. This is a community event and a large crowd will be present for the last event of the school year.

BOARD HIRES NEW TEACHERS

Miss Sylvia Ahrends, whose home is at Alexander, and who taught last year in Tama County has accepted a teaching position in the Klemme High School. She will instruct in domestic science and typing. She will also have charge of music and will teach part time in the 7th and 8th grade.

Miss Ford, 7th and 8th grade teacher, will teach part time mathmatics in high school next year.

Miss Ruth Thorne, who taught school at Crystal Lake has accepted a contract to teach in the Klemme grades one and two. Miss Thorne comes well recommended and her work at Crystal Lake was very satisfactory.

Fifth And Sixth Grades Had Picnic And Movie Party At Garner

Miss Norma Barz, fifth and sixth grade teacher in the Klemme school took her twenty-three pupils to Garner Friday afternoon where all enjoyed a picnic on the Barz lawn. Afterwards Miss Barz entertained her pupils by taking them to the Avery theatre. All said they had a fine time.

Seventh and Eighth Graders Had Picnic Supper At Bayside

The seventh and eighth graders and their teacher, Miss Georga Ford went to Bayside Park Friday afternoon after school and enjoyed roller skating at the park rink, after which they enjoyed a picnic supper. Clarence Kluckhohn, Raymond Barz, Calvin Grosshuesch and R. A. Jorgenson provided the transportation. All had a fine time.

Fishing Poor On Opening Date

Fishing at Clear Lake on the opening day and since, has been none too good. Local fishermen who have been trying their luck the past week have brought in but small catches.

The water level at Clear Lake is twenty-eight inches lower than it was a year ago. Boatmen at the lake say that the water level fell eight inches in one week in the early part of February. Where all the water disappeared is more or less of a mystery.

REFORMED BIBLE SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

The Bible School of the Klemme Reformed Church will open a five weeks session Monday morning, May 28th. School will commence at 8 o'clock in the morning and be dismissed at twelve noon. Miss Ethel Baack will be in charge of the Primary Department, Miss Mabel Schuldt of the Junior Department, Miss Norma Stromer of the Intermediate department and Rev. C. Grosshuesch of the Senior department. Miss Adela Schroeder will be in charge of the music department, with Miss Mildred Thieman, pianist.

So far the following have volunteered their services as Leaders for the Bible School. Silvean Barz, Leo Brinkman, Carmen Kluckhohn, Arlene Krause, Esther Knoke, Wilma Swalve, LaVerne Hammit, Margaret Wicks, Max Barz. The Bible school will again offer the same courses that were followed during the last years. Special emphasis is laid on Bible Study, Bible History, Catechism and the singing of Christian songs and hymns. Children from 5 to 15 years of age are invited to enroll. Young people who wish to take a "post graduate" course are invited to enroll as leaders.

SALES TAX BUSINESS PERMITS WILL BE ISSUED SOON

The Board of Assessment and Review today stated that distribution of permits under the Sales Tax Act will be made as rapidly as possible. The public is requested not to make inquiry as to date they will receive these permits as the additional correspondence will cause unnecessary delay. If proper application and remittance is on file at the Sales Tax Office the Permit will be received in due course of time.

BAND MEETING MONDAY NIGHT AT SCHOOL HOUSE

Band Directed By Miss Johnson Is Preparing For Summer Concerts

Miss Mildred Johnson, who is directing the Klemme band, asks all who are interested in playing in the band this summer to come to the School house Monday evening for the first rehearsal.

All former players who would like to play in the band this summer are cordially invited.

KLEMME BLUES OPEN SEASON SUNDAY AGAINST GOODELL

Former Team Mate Will Oppose Locals On Mound

The Klemme Blues will open their 1934 baseball season this coming Sunday, May 27th, against the newly organized Goodell Town Team. Goodell has a fast snappy club and are led by the mound ace, Carpenter, who worked for the Blues last year. However the local players feel that they are sufficiently acquainted with his style of pitching, as to cause him plenty of trouble.

Negotiations are being made at the present time with "Butch" Harris, Thornton high school hurling sensation, to perform mound duty for the Blues this year.

Tentative lineup for the Blues will be C. Kluckhohn, c; Voetberg, 1b; K. Kluckhohn, 2b; Keraus, ss; Johnson, 3b; Turgasen, lf; Drake, cf; and Thieman rf. However, Sunday may see changes as positions so far are only temporary.

Two Klemme Couples Are Married Past Week

GERALD KOERNER MARRIES DOW CITY YOUNG LADY

Couple Are Now In Charge Of The Telephone Exchange At Lyle, Minn.

Mr. Gerald Koerner, of Klemme and Miss Bernice Rulle of Dow City Iowa, were married by Justice H. Suckow Saturday evening. Thus a romance of several years was consumated.

Gerald, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Koerner is strictly a Klemme product, having spent practically all of his life in this community with the exception of the last few years. He graduated from the local high school with the class of 1925 after which he was in Chicago for a time and then was employed by the telephone company. For the past few years he was employed as lineman at Storm Lake and it was there that he met the young lady of his choice, who was an operator at the Storm Lake exchange.

Mrs. Koerner graduated from the Dow City high school and then was employed as telephone operator at Storm Lake, which position she has held for the past eight years.

Mr. and Mrs. Koerner left Sunday for Lyle, Minnesota to take charge of the telephone exchange there for the Minnesota Union Telephone Co. Mr. Koerner will manage the exchange and take care of line work and Mrs. Koerner will be in charge of the switchboard. Both are skilled in telephone work and will be "right at home."

The Times takes this opportunity by joining in with the many relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Koerner in wishing them happiness and prosperity in great measure.

MISS JANE DUTHERIDGE AND HAROLD SHOAFSTALL MARRIED

Were Wed Saturday In Presbyterian Church At Albert Lea, Minn.

Miss Frances Jane Dutheridge and Mr. Harold D. Shoafstall, Jr., both of Klemme, were married at the Presbyterian Church at Albert Lea, Minnesota, Saturday afternoon, May 19th at 1:00 o'clock. Rev. Robert Lee King, pastor of the church performed the rites which were witnessed by Miss Clarice Wellemeyer and Mr. James Carlson, both of Klemme.

The bride wore a yellow silk crepe dress with a yellow taffeta jacket with navy blue dots, white hat and shoes and carried a white purse. A shoulder corsage of sweet peas completed her costume. The groom wore the conventional blue.

After the wedding ceremony the party enjoyed a dinner at on of the Albert Lea hotels, after which the bridal couple drove on to Minneapolis on their honeymoon trip, returning to Klemme Monday evening.

Mrs. Shoafstall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dutheridge, who reside on their farm southeast of Klemme. She attended the Klemme High School and after graduating from there taught school in Avery township.

Mr. Shoafstall is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Shoafstall of Klemme. He is a telegraph operator by trade and was an operator at Traer for several years. During the last year or more he has been assistant at the Klemme post office, which position he now holds.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoafstall have gone to housekeeping in the apartments above Dr. Missman's offices in the State Savings Bank building.

The Times joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Shoafstall in extending best wishes for a happy future.

DECORATION DAY

By

Frank Chester Cheever

Above the silent city of the dead
Where sleep the brave and true,
Our flag of freedom proudly waves
—The red, and white, and blue,

We hear again the muffled drums,
The bugle call so clear,
While softly rests a nation's dead
With those we love so dear.

No strife or bitter pain is theirs,
Their battle days are o'er,
And now eternal peace prevails
Where war is known no more.

To us who hold the torch of life
They speak from unknown graves
And plead for loyalty and right
Where freedom's flag still waves.

Not greed or selfish pride be ours
When duty gives the call,
But lifting high the flag of truth
And watching, lest it fall.

God grant that we may never be
Unworthy of our post,
But serve with truth and loyalty
The land we love the most!

Elmer Raw, clerk of the district court, who has been critically ill with pneumonia for the past several days, was reported to have passed the crisis Saturday and was slightly improved Sunday.

PROGRAM WILL BE HELD AT KLEMME PARK

Legion And Auxiliary Services Will Be Given At Cemetery

Wednesday, May 30th is Memorial Day and appropriate services will be observed in Klemme with a program to be given in the park, followed by a procession to the cemetery and services will be given there by the Legion and the Auxiliary of Klemme.

Rev. William Galbreth of Mason City will deliver the address of the day at the park and will speak from the band stand at 10:00 o'clock. The program will be carried out approximately as published.

Memorial day is an occasion of various aspects and it may be approached from many different psychological angles. Its most obvious significance, of course, is that of a time set apart for the corporate and institutional expression of the nation's gratitude to its fallen sons, of affection and appreciation for their memory. But as the years pass the public concept expands to include an increasing number of others who have served their country's good until at last all dedicated, generous and unselfish lives may be admitted to the roster of those commemoratively honored.

A day of peace, it likewise prompts renewed thanksgiving for the security, harmony and freedom which the dead have earned for the living. The heart, conclous of the debt, throbs with acknowledgment of the benefaction which they have bestowed, the blessing which they have conferred, and the mind, no less aware of the obligation, soberly faces the problem of preventing further armed strife, of banishing fratricidal conflict from the world.

A day of patriotism, it challenges the attention for its demand upon each citizen, its implied prescription that each individual career shall be of use and value to the national welfare. Perhaps it is in this regard that it has most compelling significance—it summons the rank and file of the land to labor and live in obedience to the noblest of ideals. It scorns lip-service, claiming instead honest ,sincere and unfaltering dedication. No other date in the calendar makes a more drastic requisition upon the soul.

Above all a day of consecration, a day of prayer, a day to pledge renewed allegiance, it gives opportunity for the expression of brotherhood and love for living and dead alike.

Stores Will Close

Andrew Wellemeyer, president of the Civic Club announces that the various places of business in Klemme will remain open until 10:00 o'clock and will then remain closed for the balance of the day and evening.

Those who have shopping to do will arrange to transact their business before closing time and should bear in mind that the stores will not be open Wednesday evening.

CONTRACTS OF CORN-HOG SIGNERS NEED CHECKING

Will Aid In Making Paymonts To Farmers More Promptly

Prompt and thorough final checking of corn-hog contracts by local committeemen is a vital part of the 1934 reduction campaign, Dr. A. G. Black, on leave from Iowa State College and chief of the Corn-Hog Section of the AAA, said recently while in Ames.

If the corn yields or hog numbers in contracts are excessive and they are sent through for payment without correction, farmers will not be reducing corn acreage by a full 20 percent and hog production by a full 25 percent.

Reduction by given percentages from figures which are too high in the first place would result in a smaller-than-expected reduction and the total benefits from the program ,which include anticipated higher market prices, consequently would be smaller than expected. Failure to make necessary adjustments that come to light in the final checking might mean slightly larger reduction payments now but would be more than offset later by a smaller than expected improvement in hog price and income.

When the sum of the contract figures for a community exceeds the government figures the contracts are returned to the local committeemen, who then will take up the matter of adjustment with individual contract signers. Federal and state production figures are not available on the individual farm but their reports by areas are the most accurate source of data available and serve as the basis for determining how much adjusting needs to be done by committeemen.

Efforts to effect any necessary adjustment by careful consideration of each contract, rather than by a flat cut of all contracts, will protect the farmer who turned in accurate figures properly substantiated, and it will assure that both crop reduction and benefit payments are equitably shared by all signers.

FIELD DAYS REPLACE TOURS

A series of four field days to take the place of the county tours held in past years has been announced by officials at Iowa State College.

Farmers and their families are invited to visit the college June 18 and 19 and June 21 and 22. Each day's program will be complete and farmers may come any day they choose.

The day's program will be similar to that of the county tours, including visits to various parts of the campus, experimental farms and laboratories. Visitors will have a chance to see the college at work. Results of experiments will be explained.

The field days will provide an improved program over that offered for county tours.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE TAX

Des Moines:—Hancock County, according to the 1930 census has 8,048 citizens over 21 years of age who are liable for old age assistance.

Of this number 1.2 percent have paid the tax since the so-called Iowa old age assistance law went into effect, both by individual payments to the county treasurer and by collections made by employers who remitted directly to the treasurer of state, as shown by figures in the hands of the old age assistance tax commission in Des Moines.

A greater number of persons in Worth county had paid the tax up to May 16th than in any other county in the state. Of a total of 6,231 citizens of Worth county who are liable, 7.2 percent had paid the tax. Winnebago was next with 5.6 percent and Crawford county third with 4.7.

The total figures for the state show that 87-100 percent of the persons liable for the payment of the supporting head tax have paid into the old age pension fund.

Keep Cool and Peppy All Summer Long While Losing Fat The Safe Way—The Right Way

Out of the thousands of letters received we give you this one from a grateful young man.

"I am 23 yrs. old. I weighed 210 lbs. about one year ago when I started to take Kruschen Salts off and on for nine months. I lost weight alright so I began to take it regular for the last 3 months. I now weigh 145. I feel better, look better and I am O. K. in every way. I also eat anything I want." Mr. J. C. Record, Miami, Fla.

While losing unsightly fat with Kruschen you gain in health for Kruschen acts on liver, kidneys and bowels and helps keep body free from poisons and acid.

Keep cool and full of pep this summer by taking one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning. Get it at P. M. Wilson's or any druggist.

ABANDONED SOIL CAN BE PLANTED

Soy Bean Crop Will Not Violate Corn Pact

Planting abondoned oats acreage to soy beans or sorghum will not violate the feed crop acreage limitation of the corn-hog contract, the Iowa corn-hog committee was informed Saturday by the agricultural adjustment administration.

R. M. Evans, chairman of the state committee, said that the ruling was requested in answer to many questions from farmers who plan to replant their acreage of oats or other small grain as a result of drought or chinch bug damage.

The ruling does not apply to contracted acres, the land rented to the government not being available for any crop for harvest this year.

KNOW ANY BIGGER?

The experience of George N. Kaufman in Kansas was so sad he had to move. He finally settled in The Dalles, Ore. Perhaps his experience will help someone, especially if it gets hot this summer. This is what happened to him: While living in Kansas some years ago, he had an exceedingly large crop of popcorn. When he gathered the corn in the fall it filled cribs to the brim. It was awfully dry that year and so it happened that the cribs caught on fire one night The heat naturally grew so intense the corn began popping at a great rate. In fact it popped so fast that in no time at all the whole farm was covered to a depth of two or three feet.

Next morning when he let the cattle out of the barn, the poor deluded creatures, thinking it was snow and being entirely unprepared for it in their summer coats, froze to death. You may think it was a joke to see all the cattle frozen in a popcorn bed, but to him it was a very pitiful sight.

Painting With Cheap Paints

Or "How To Get The Least For Your Money

Most of us are attracted by bargains It is human nature to try and secure something at the lowest possible price. Taking advantage of this many of the stores are doing a large business in cut rate paints.

The buyer really pays more for such paint than he would for good paint, because it is a fact that it takes about one-third more time to apply the cheap paint and needs replacement that much oftener. Sometimes even when replacement is necessary one has to burn off or scrape because of the condition this poor paint leaves the surface. The Better Business Bureau of Minneapolis went out and bought a number of these bargain paints and turned them over to reputable chemists for analysis. Their reports on tho various paints were as follows:

PAINT "A"

Not suitable for outside use. Would do better if used inside. Amount of inert filler and water too high. Would chalk in a short time if used outside. Only about one-third pigment used that had any protection qualities. (A Filler Paint)

PAINT "B"

Caked badly in can, impossible to use without adding oil. Fair grade of outside paint, but high content of silicates etc. Silicates do not protect the oils from the sun's rays, resulting in a breakdown of the film, causing rapid chalking and streaking. Paint job, no doubt, will look good until sun destroys the oil.

PAINT "C"

Analysis does not agree with formula. The pigment being composed of iron oxide and clay does not have a high covering capacity and no doubt would chalk in a very short time. Contained 9 percent water and 20.3 percent volatile thinners.

PAINT "D"

Good inside paint, but should not be used for outside. Calcium carbonate in excess. Amount of oil and resins too low for service. 9.7 percent water. 49.5 percent of the pigment in this paint had no covering power, the sun would soon disintegrate and a poor job is tho result.

Be very careful when buying paints. Buy a good standard grade. See that the surface on which the paint is going to be put is prepared and if you use good paint you should have a good job. Painting is a trade and there is no doubt the man who has spent most of his life painting, knows how to handle the surface which is to be painted. We would, therefore, advise ,if possible, to have a painter look your job over. He will be able to help you with your painting troubles.

KEEP FARM RECORDS UP TO DATE; SAVE TIME AND WORRY

A stitch in time saves nine in keeping farm records, according to S. J. Oberhauser, county agent and local representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, who suggests that farmers spend a few minutes each week keeping their accounts up to date.

Such a procedure will save considerable time and worry when the operator sets down to make up a month's or 6 week's record. According to L. G. Allbaugh, extension farm specialist an average of 5 minutes or less per day will keep farm records up to date. The inventories of course, require an extra hour or two at the beginning and end of the year.

Even though many farmers are starting their 1934 records late, bringing them up-to-date can be done more accurately now than next fall. It will probably require only a third to a half as much time if done now Here are a few suggestions for farmers who keep records:

Develop a regular habit and set a definite time each day or each week for making entries and checking over the books. Make it easy by keeping a pencil tied to the record book. Paste an envelope to record in which to file sales slips Remember that time spent on the record is time and money saved in the end.

Give your boy the advantage of working on your farm record book help him to avoid mistakes when he gets in business for himself.

THE "SILVER SPOON" SAYING
Everybody has heard the saying, "he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth" but few know anything of its orgin. It dates back to the time of the Tudor and Stuart reigns in England when apostle spoons were given as christening presents. These spoons which were made with an image of one of the apostles on the end of the handle, were very expensive and within the reach of only the wealthiest families. This meant that only the children of the rich would receive such christening presents—hence the saying.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD THURSDAY EVENING

Seven Eighth Grade Students Were Presented With Diplomas

Commencement Exercises were held at the school auditorium last Thursday evening with a large crowd present to witness the ceremony in which twenty-two seniors received their diploma for successful completion of high school study and seven students of the eighth grade received certificates entitling them to further continuation of study in high school.

Roy Arnold, Saluatorian, gave a short talk preceding the address by Rev. Wm. Galbreth, of Mason City, Novella Bredbenner, Valedictorian, gave an excellent talk following the main address.

The class was presented by Supt. Hunter by H. F. Jost, president of the board. Mr. Jost had the honor of presenting a diploma to his own son, Harold. Miss Ford was accorded the honor of presenting the 8th grade class with their diplomas. The members of her class are Raymond Jorgenson, Juanita Pavey, Paul Schuldt, Avis Barz, Ruth Blickenderfer, Elaine Buntenbach, and Wayne Shoafstall.

Following is a short write-up of each of the graduating Seniors. More feature stories of the Class of 1934 will be published next week.

Verle Keraus

"Bub" was one of our foremost athletes, spending his Junior and Senior years as a member of the baseball and basketball squads. He held down the third base position on the baseball team as well as being one of the leading hitters. In basketball he developed into an outstanding guard. He was president of the class this year and had the added distinction and honor of being president of the Student Council He was also treasurer of his class in the freshman year. He also took part in dramatics having played in the Junior and Senior class plays. All in all quite a versatile lad.

Roy Arnold

Roy was a member of the basketball squad four years and displayed exceptionally ability in the guard position. He spoke in declamatory his Junior and Senior years; took part in the Junior and Senior plays and was in the high school operetta his sophomore year. He is the class Saluatorian.

Howard Baack

"Wheezy" is vice president of the class. He was a member of the boys glee club this year and also took part in dramatics, having been in the junior and senior plays and two school operettas.

Mildred Thieman

"Susie" spent three years in glee club work and so was in three operettas. She was elected secretary of the class her freshman year and was also a member of the travel club. Her character portrayals in the Junior and Senior class plays were exceptionally good.

Helen Albers

"Toots" put in two years of glee club work and participated in two operettas. She was cast in the junior and senior plays and was also a member of the Travel club her freshman year.

Hilda Keeper

Hilda was a member of the glee club four years and spoke in declamatory her freshman year. She had leading roles in the junior and senior class plays and took part in three operettas.

Marie Stille

"Staley" spent four years with the glee club and four years with the orchestra, besides taking part in three operettas. She was in the Junior and Senior plays and spoke in declamatory her freshman year. Elected treasurer of class junior and senior; class reporter, freshman and sophomore. A musical miss!

Kermit Smith

"Smithy" was one of our outstanding students. He took part in the class play his Senior year. A lot of perserverance in this lad.

LaVern Drake

With the writing of this resume ends the regime of the Drake brothers in Klemme high extra-curricular activities. "Little Duck" spent four years as a member of both the basketball and baseball squads, and has one year of track. His work as catcher on the high school nine was outstanding and he played a dependable game at any position on the basketball quintet. He was a member of the boys glee club this year and took part in the operetta and the Junior and Senior class plays. A swell guy!

Lynford Back

"Lindy" participated in 2 operettas and was a member of the glee club two years. He was cast in two plays and was a member of the band his senior year. He was vice-president of the junior class. Everybody knows "Lindy!"

Marie Greiman

"Tootie" was secretary and treasurer of the sophomore class and secretary and treasurer of the travel club. She took part in the Senior class play. One of the "Constant Companions".

Alvin Keeper

"Keep" was another of our athletes having four years of basketball and baseball. He alternated between 2nd base and pitcher on the baseball team and was a high scoring forward on the basketball team His "miracle shots" kept the Shamrocks in the running many a game. He was in the junior and senior plays and took part in one operetta.

Lillian Brown

"Brownie" spent four years in the glee club and took part in the two operettas. She spoke in declamatory and was in the junior class play. She was president of the freshman class and secretary when a senior.

Ethel Swanson

"Swanie" was a member of the glee club two years and took part in two operettas and the Junior class play. She was a member of the Travel club her freshman year. The other "Constant Companion."

James Larson

"Jim" played baseball his Senior year and basketball as a sophomore His sport however was track, at which he spent his sophomore and junior years, representing Klemme in two meets. He was in the junior play and was president of his class this sophomore year.

Dale Schlei

"Schlei" was a member of the boys glee club his senior year; a member of the orchestra his sophomore year and in the band his freshman and senior years. He was in the Junior class play and spoke in declamatory as a senior.

Fay Neuberger

"Flax" was a member of the glee club three years and was in three operettas and the Junior play. She spoke in declamatory one year and was a member of the story telling club. She was elected vice-president of the class during her freshman year.

Frances Sandrey

"Sandy" was in the junior and senior plays and took declamatory work as a Freshman. She joined the Travel club the same year.

Asa Gibbs

Asa was in the junior and senior class plays. He was a member of

BLUES LOSE GAME TO GOODELL INDIES 8 TO 5

The Klemme Blues lost their first game of the season to the Goodell nine on the local diamond Sunday afternoon 8 to 5. Only seven innings were played due to the fact that the Goodell team did not arrive until late in the afternoon.

Keraus, Klemme moundsman, struck out 9 men, walked one and allowed 8 hits. Hamilton, who started for Goodell struck out 7, walked 1 and allowed 2 hits in the three innings he worked. Wesenberg, who relieved him the first of the fourth frame, struck out 4, walked 4 and allowed six hits. A number of errors by the Klemme team accounted for the difference in scores.

SOON BE TIME FOR THE FIRST COVER SPRAY

The first cover spray, so essential in controlling the apple worm, should be applied during the latter part of the week of June 3 or the beginning of the following week in Hancock County.

This cover spray should follow the previous one, the calyx spray in from 10 to 20 days, in most cases about 2½ weeks. Mr. Oberhauser xplained that the proper timo for this spray depends to great extent on weather conditions. During wet seasons, it should be applied not more than ten days after the calyx In a normal season about 14 days should elapse, but if it remains dry as it has to date this season, the spraying can be put off nearly three weeks.

The drouth this spring has prevented any scab development. The few showers that have fallen have not caused much scab as it has turned dry again immediately after every shower. Unless there is a rainy spell, followed by cool, cloudy weather, very little scab may oe expected. At the same time it is safer to add the fungicide (lime sulphur) to the spray mixture to control scab.

The spray should be mixed with: 4 quarts of liquid lime sulphur (or 3 to 4 pounds of the dry form) plus 2 pounds of hydrated lime plus 1¼ pounds of lead arsenate to 50 gallons of water.

Spray only the trees with fruit, but be sure to get all sides of the fruit covered with the spray.

AVERY AMBITIOUS ARISTOCRAT 4-H CLUB MET SATURDAY

The Avery Ambitious Aristocrats met at the home of Irene Marshall Saturday afternoon, May 26th. The meeting was called to order by the president, Alzada Mullen and five members answered roll call by naming a one part song form. Four visitors were present and two new members, Evelyn Buchanan and Francis Kearney were taken into the club.

Mrs. Gaede assisted with the music memory work and plans were made for Rally Day. After the meeting was adjourned, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

GROSS INCOME TAX EXPLAINED AT MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

S. P. Walker, Clear Lake, Explained Knutson's Platform In Detail

A large number of interested people were at the Klemme park Monday evening to hear what Mr. Walker, of Clear Lake, had to say regarding the Gross Income Tax and why Clarence Knutson of Clear Lake should be elected Governor of Iowa.

Mr. Walker not only covered just what Knutson stood for, but gave a good explanation on what the other candidates for Governor were campaigning on. Walker's talk was clean-cut, free rom mud-throwing and abuse of the other candidates. Those who heard him are more convincod than ever that the Gross Income Tax is Iowa's salvation.

Knutson is the only candidate in the race who came out from the very start with a clear-cut platform and has stuck to it without a change during his campaign, according to Mr. Walker.

After his talk Mr. Walker satisfactorily answered some puzzling questions on the Gross Income Tax.

Neighborhood Shower Given In Honor Of Mrs. Shoafstall

A gathering of neighbors in Avery township was held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. August Trampel in honor of Mrs. Harold Shoafstall, Jr. The affair was given as a miscellaneous shower and all the neighbors and their families in that vicinity were present. A social time was enjoyed and a nice lunch was served.

DO NOT LOSE YOUR LICENSE!

Hunters and fishermen are asked to care for their hunting or fishing licenses by either pinning them in their pocket or placing in a safe place so as not to lose it. The law governing hunting and fishing licenses does ot provide for the issuance of duplicate licenses. Persons losing or permitting their licenses to be destroyed are required to purchase new licenses if they desire to hunt or fish.

OPEN AIR THEATRE EXPECTED TO DRAW LARGE CROWDS

Band Concerts Will Be Feature For Every Wednesday Night

Klemme business men are again planning to entertain the public on two nights during the summer months. A free, open air picture show, which has proven so popular during the past summers, will again be presented to the trade territory patrons of Klemme.

First Show This Week

The first of the open air movie shows will be shown this week on Saturday night in the "open air theatre" on Main street. High class pictures will be shown and a free, twohour program is put on for your entertainment. All that the business men of Klemme ask is that you tell your neighbors and friends to come to Klemme. Bring your famly, it's all free.

Band Concerts This Summer

Arrangements are being made to have the weekly band concert every Wednesday night. Miss Mildred Johnson, director, has been putting her musicians through lots of hard practice to make this Wednesday night feature entertainment of the very best. If you like good music, come to Klemme on Wednesday nights for the band concert.

Blaze In Basement Of Idle Hour Discovered Tuesday Morning

A blaze in the basement of the Idle Hour building was seen by Mrs. Quandt Tuesday morning, but was easily extinguished with a couple of buckets of water lustily heaved into the fire by Conrad Quandt and W. F. Pavey.

The old building is in a sad state of dilapidation and with doors and windows broken out the wind blows paper and rubbish into the building. The blaze Tuesday morning was probably started from flying embers from a bonfire alighting in the rubbish in the building.

TO POOL WOOL MAY 31ST

The Hancock County Wool Growers will pool their wool on Thursday May 31st, according to S. J. Oberhauser, county agent.

It is planned to truck the wool to Des Moines the same as last year, collecting the wool at various points in the county. This will help the farmers in that they will not have to drive so far to load the wool. Wool growers will be notified to the exact places of loading.

Approximately 8,000 pounds of wool were pooled by the wool growers in the county last year and the present indications are for a far greater amount this pear.

If there are any wool growers in the county that are not receiving the notices and are interested in this project notify the Farm Bureau office and your name will be added to the list.

For Fat Women—And Men, Too
Read It—Please

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly a year for my health and for high blood pressure and rheumatism and it helped both. My blood pressure was as high as 290 when I started to take Kruschen. I weighed 255 and now I weigh 214, that is losing 41 lbs. in about nine months and I feel fine. Wouldn't go without Kruschen Salts in the house." Mrs. W. Eckoff, Saginaw, Mich.

Besides melting away ugly, excess fat Kruschen constantly keeps the bowels regular and free from waste that is always apt to poison the system.

Fat folks should give Kruschen a month's trial—it never disappoints—you'll feel so much better after taking one inexpensive jar which you can get at P. M. Wilson's or any drugstore in the world—keeps you cooler in hot weather. 2

I again respectfully ask the republican voters for support in my candidature for supervisor term beg January 1, 1936.

TO THE VOTERS

Of Hancock County

cially To Those That I Haven't Been Able To Meet!

When we go to vote, we like to know something of the for whom we are voting and I am taking this means of cing myself to you.

I was born on a farm in Robertson county, Kentucky, April 869. After completing my school work there, I went to sburg, Ill., where I was employed on a farm. I worked long h to buy a restaurant where I stayed for two years. During time, I married Neva Hughes. We moved to Iowa in 1917, on a farm near Corwith and in that vicinity to March 1, then moving on a farm one-half mile west of Kanawha where ow live. I am farming 400 acres of land and doing well under igh pressure we are now living in. I have three children, rt 21, Louise 19, and Donovan 16.

This is my first offense in the political field so I am still lared honest. I have always taken an active part in comty work, including farm bureau and school work. I am also mber of the Baptist Church of Corwith and the Odd Fellows of Kanawha and I take an active part in both.

It has come to my ears several times in going over the ty that Mr. Oxley had me running to split the votes so as to e it better for him. Now I want to tell you friends that there solutely nothing to such a statement. It is just a friendly way Republican opponent of Kanawha has in helping me out in campaign. I want to make this statement that if I can't get office of Supervisor honestly and remain honest while in office out reflecting on the characters of my fellow opponents, I abdly do not want it. They say that a good knocker makes a booster but I doubt it as we all make mistakes without g to acknowledge them. As long as there are rubbers on ks, there will be mistakes and there will be ways of correctthem.

You have no doubt had the county receipts and disburseits explained to you enough lately to know how we stand and re the money goes to. It seems that some of our money is to a disadvantage, especially to the taxpayers who are conntly reminded of taxes during this particular period. I can see re we could save money for the county and you see where it be saved, but we can't all look at it alike. Therefore, we find wise to change our officers occasionally.

I think some of the mileage expenses could be cut down by ing in office the Supervisors who are in the best localities to e the county most economically. As we have one in the center one on the north side, it would cut down mileage to have the r located in the south side of the county to eliminate more exes for the taxpayers. Of course everyone is aware of all the e we have to pay now without adding any more to it.

I believe we should investigate the character and reputaof our candidates before we vote, as a Supervisor is in a tion to make or break the county. I would like to have you t me before June 4th and if I am not worthy of your support, 't support me. I want to say that if elected, I can't go into e with a lot of promises to certain localities of what I will for them, but I will promise, that if elected, I will put the ey where it is most needed to serve the people and to spend as conservatively is if I was spending my own. I personally it your support if I qualify to your specifications.

BENEFIT PAYMENTS DEFINITE PART OF INCIME FROM HOGS

Corn-hog contract signers should regard the open market price as only a part of their total income from hogs because they will receive part of their net income during 1934 and 1935 from three substantial reduction payment checks from the Federal Government, Chester C. Davis, administrator of the AAA points out to County Agent Oberhauser.

Under the adjustment program the processor pays money into the federal treasury out of the proceeds from the sale of his finished product in order to build up funds for benefit payments to co-operative producers. The cooperating producers receive benefit payments from the money collected as taxes and for which they make contain adjustments in production designed to raise the total value of the hogs they sell. The open market price was all that producers received before processing taxes and benefit payments came along.

Now the portion of the hog growers income which comes in the form of benefit payments under the adjustment plan is just as real as if it were all paid out directly to him at the time of sale in the form of higher prices for hogs. The processing tax and the whole adjustment program is likely to be misunderstood unless reduction payments are regarded as part of the price for hogs to which producers are entitled as a result of their adjustment efforts.

When the processing tax is taken into account, it appears that the packers at Chicago actually paid more for hogs during the November 5-April 2 period, from $1.06 to $2.83 per hundredweight more from week to week than was paid during the corresponding weeks of 1932-1933. But because the tax was gradually raised from 50 cents per hundredweight to $2.25 during the winter, the open market from week to week registered a more moderate increase, ranging from 14 cents to $1.10 per hundredweight higher than for corresponding weeks a year earlier. The increase in the rate of the processing tax tended to take up, for issuance as benefit payments to cooperating members, a large part of the improvement in hog values which was noted through the winter. Because cooperating producers share in reduction payments and non-cooperators do not, the tax constitutes an effective protection for the contract signer.

tection for the contract signer.

Farmers should not conclude from these facts, however, that the price of hogs today would be higher by the amount of the tax if no tax had been levied. On the contrary, the sum of the open market price of hogs plus the tax now undoubtedly exceeds substantially what the open market price of hogs would have been had no tax been levied. If no tax could have been levied, the emergency pig and sow marketing program of last summer could not have been carried out and relatively heavy hog supplies which otherwise would have prevailed during the winter and early spring months would have kept hog levels at a lower level than they have been.

WILD FLOWERS DISAPPEARING

True lovers of nature will be deeply alarmed by the announcement of the American Nature Association, of Washington, D. C., that many of the once numerous species of American wild flowers are becoming noticeably scarce. The thousands of motorists who allow their desire for bouquets of wild flowers to turn them into vandals are stripping many of the fields each year of nearly all of their blooms.

The bloom is essential to the reproduction of the plant since it is the part which later on in the season bears the seeds. If no new plants are started to take the place of the old ones as they die out the species must of course become extinct. Unless everybody will listen to the plea of the association not to pick the flowers we may be sure that in a few years the countryside will be bare of many of its most beautiful and most fragrant posies since they are the ones usually sought by the "pickers."

DON'T PASTURE OATS TOO SOON

Crop Should Be 7 or 8 Inches High Before Stock Is Turned On

Farmers who are planning on using oats or some other small grain as a pasture crop should wait until the crop is 7 or 8 inches high before turning dairy cows or other livestock onto the field.

Because of the drouth this spring it is even more important than in an ordinary year that the pasture crops be allowed a good start before they are used for grazing purposes. The drouth may prevent the small grain from growing much higher than 8 inches this year, however, so it may be feasible to pasture the crops before they reach that height.

Second or third year alfalfa should be allowed a good start before pasturing. The danger from bloat to livestock on alfalfa or clover should be recognized during May and June.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT WALLEYES

We say "wall-eyed pike" but it is not a pike even though we call this fish by that name. Pickerel, northern pike and muskelunge are all of the true pike family and wall eyes are nothing more than perch, but plenty of sport to catch and good to eat. Iowa has her share of wall-eyes in the several major lakes and wall-eyes furnish a great share of Iowa's fishermen with their favorite pastime.

To catch wall-eyes one does not apply pike fishing methods. Perch fishing methods are used and right here is where most fishermen who have not fished for wall-eyes are puzzled.

Wall-eyes are deep water fish and run in schools like the perch. They like to "hang around" deep rock bars, gravel bars and sand areas, especially when they are in deep water. They lay close to the bottom. Minnows are the most used bait for wall-eyes However, numerous artificial lures are considered good and used exclusively by a great many anglers With the minnow a spinner arrangement is most always used. The sinker which is fairly heavy to get thel ure or minnow to the bottom is important and a hook siz. from 2-0 to 5-0 should be used. On light rods smaller hooks and sinkers should be used.

The golden shiner or chub perhaps comes first as a minnow bait and the wall-eye likes the larger size minnows. Three to four inch minnows will entice large wall-eyes.

Most wall-eye fishing is done from boats, except where bars can be reached by wading and in stream where the wall-eyes are found in deep holes or eddies Let the boat drift over the area to be fished and while thiey may be found on a rock or gravel bar at about 15 feet, most wall-eyes are taken at 20 to 40 foot depths.

Wall-eyes range over a large area around the bar and your first drif over may not produce, but if you are sure of the bar and its depth, row back and try a little deeper.

While this specie is more often found in the deeper waters, it does seek the weed bed margins under certain conditions and casting a frog or artificial lure at these times may produce some good catches.

FISHIN'

Supposin' fish don't bite at first,
What are you goin' to do—
Throw down your pole, chuck out your bait
And say your fishin's through?
Bet you ain't; you're goin' to fish,
An' fish an' fish an' wait,
Until you's ketched a bucketful
Orused up all your bait.
Suppose success don't come at first
What are you goin' to do—
Throw up the sponge and kick yourself
An' growl an' fret an' stew?
Bbet you ain't; you're goin' to fish,
An' bait an' bait agin,
Until success will bite your hook,
For grit is sure to win.

For COUNTY ATTORNEY

States The Following Reasons For Asking Your Support:

1. That is has been customary to accord the successful cndidate the courtesy of a second term without apposition.

2. That he has been a loyal tax paying citizen of Hancock County for the past twenty-seven years.

3. That his record, as a public official, as revealed by Summarized Report for 1933 recently released for publication, shows that the affairs of the office have been efficiently and effectively handled.

4. That if re-elected, he promises the intensive application of his time and services to the duties of the office.

5. That it is always well to bear in mind that a job with a construction crew is much more to be desired than a job with a wrecking crew.

Clarence A. KNUTSON

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

IF ELECTED GOVERNOR MR. KNUTSON WILL FIGHT FOR THE REPEAL OF THE 2 PER CENT SALES TAX!

He will fight for the enactment of the gross income tax which is the only method of taxation that will replace the present unjust property and sales tax.

Mr. Knutson is the only candidate that has a constructive program to offer the people of the state.

The other candidates have spent their entire time throwing mud at each other while Mr. Knutson has devoted himself to the most important subject before the voters today—that of taxation.

Mr. Knutson has a constructive program. The other candidates have been destructive, offering nothing upon which the taxpayer could base any hope of tax relief.

This tax plan is a positive property replacement tax and not another tax.

A vote for Mr. Knutson is a vote to equally distribute the tax burden to everyone therefore taking the unfair load from all forms of real property.

(Paid for by Knutson for Governor club of Hancock Co.)

Faithful To His Trust

It has become so popular for the public to criticize public servants that it is astonishing when one finds a public servant receiving praise for his constant and every day work in giving the public his very best service. It is so popular to shout "Graft!" at every opportunity that it is rare that a person occupying official position is given credit for doing the straight and honorable thing.

All of these things are overlooked and the public devotes its entire time in trying to find some speck that they can point to, showing there is some sinster motive back of their acting.

We have a Supervisor in the person of F. J. Oxley who has served the county faithfully for two terms, who has but the one objective in view—that of faithfully serving the public..

F. J. Oxley, as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors has let nothing go through that body without the most careful scrutiny.

When exhorbitant bills and unjust claims were presented, he has'nt hesitated to call the claimant on the carpet.

He has driven good bargains for the county and saved tax payers thousands of dollars.

All this the public knows little about.

The voters of the county should appreciate the faithful service of F. J. Oxley and renominate him for membership on the Board of Supervisors at the Primary Election June 4, 1934.

Attended Memorial Day Races

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ridder returned home Monday afternoon from Chicago where they had been visiting for nearly two weeks at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beatty. Mr. Ridder went to Indianapolis where he witnessed the Memorial Day Auto races. While in that city he visited with Fred Duesenberg, famous race car manufacturer. Mr. Duesenberg and Mr. Ridder are old boyhood day friends and they enjoyed their visit very much. Mr. Ridder enjoyed the races a great deal.

SHOWER AT WM. STILLE HOME FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Elvira Stille's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Lester Stille and Mrs. Harvey Stille, gave a shower in her honor at the Wm. Stille home Friday afternoon. The time was spent in hemming and embroidering dish towels for the bride-to-be. The gifts were presented in a clever manner. A cousin,, Miss Marie Stille was dressed as a negro wash lady, who came into the room, put up her clothes line and hung up the wash-ing. The washing consisted of pillow slips and in each one the bride-to-be found many and useful gifts. A very nice lunch was served.

KLEMME BLUES IN ACTION THIS WEEK THURSDAY AND SUNDAY

The Klemme Blues will meet the Garner Red Sox on the Garner diamond Thursday eve in a twilight game at 5 o'clock. Garner was defeated Sunday by the Goodell team 6 to 2 and a week ago Sunday the Klemme team lost to Goodell 8 to 5. so the two teams appear to be fairly evenly matched.

Arrangements are being made to book a game with the fast O. C. C. nine of Forest City on the local diamond for this Sunday, June 10th. This should be a good game as the "3C" boys play a clean, snappy brand of baseball.

The Woden Semi-pro team comes to Klemme Sunday, June 17th and on June 24th the Blues play a return game with Goodell on the Goodell diamond.

VERNON TURGASEN HEAD OF NEW DES MOINES LABORATORY

Vernon Turgasen, who has been chemist at the Armour Co. plant at Louisville, Kentucky, for the past three years, was transferred to Des Moines, May 1st, where he and his family are now residing.

Mr. Turgasen, who is the eldest son of Mrs. Sadie Turgasen of Klemme, for a number of years has been interested in the creamery work. He took chemistry and dairying at Ames and then went to the Armour plant at Louisville, where he has been for the past three years

The new chemical laboratory at Des Moines is the central one for the Armour organization. All of the equipment from the Louisville laboratory has been moved to Des Moines and Mr. Turgasen has been appointed superintendent for entire district comprising a number of states.

SHOWER ON MRS. LAWHORN AT GARNER FRIDAY

Mrs. Hod Lawhorn, of Garner, invited in the relatives Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. George Lawhorn of Klemme. The afternoon was spent socially. Mrs. Lawhorn was presented with a fine Mix Master Mixing Set in honor of her recent marriage. A very nice lunch was served.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY LEWIS ENTERTAINED IN HONOR OF NEICE

Last week Friday evening, May 25th, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis entertained a large crowd to a lawn party and pre-nuptial shower in honor of their neice, Miss Fern Brooks, of Clear Lake. Forty people were present at the party and the evening was spent in playing games on the lawn. Mrs. Lewis served a delightful lunch at the close of the evening's activities. Miss Brooks received many fine gifts.

Miss Brooks was wed to Mr. Claytus Melcher at East Orange. New Jersey, June 2nd. Mr. Melcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Melcher of Garner and is employed as a salesman at East Orange. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lillian Brooks, of Clear Lake.

Standard Bearers Gave Shower

The Standard Bearers met at the home of Mrs. Harold Soafstall on Thursday evening. The affair was a shower and Mrs. Shoafstall, a former member, was presented a butterfly quilt. A delicious lunch was served.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Board of Directors of the Klemme Independent School District of Klemme, Iowa, will receive bids from bidders for a new steam furnace, capacity to correspond to American Ideal S-36-T8. Bids will be opened July 2, 1934 at 8 o'clock p. m. and should be listed to include furnace and complete installation charge. Right is reserved to reject or all bids.

TWO HUNDRED NINETY TWO VOTED IN KLEMME MONDAY

Two hundred and seventy-three republican ballots were cast and nineteen democrat ballots were cast at the polls in Klemme Monday for Ell township. This was a very light voted as compared with former years. Two years ago there were over three hundred and twenty-five republican ballots cast.

Werner Schlawin Wins By One Vote

For assessor for Ell township the race was very close and but one vote named the winner. Werner Schlawin received 48 votes and John Bock received 47. A spoiled ballot, which otherwise would have been counted would have tied the vote with 48 all.

HIT BY BALL, BROKEN JAW BONE IS RESULT

Clarence Lemke was the victim of a painful accident Decoration Day when he was struck by a baseball and his jaw bone was fractured. "Tudor" was playing with the Garner nine at Garner and before the game the boys lined up getting some batting practice. A foul ball struck him, fracturing the jaw bone and now he is all done up in bandages and looks very much like an Arabian Shiek.

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN COME HOME FROM IOWA COLLEGES

The past week many Klemme young men and women who have been away attending college, have returned home to spend the summer vacation. Klemme has a fine representation this year in the following schools:

Iowa University: Byrnes Missman Gracka Quandt, Dorance Day.

Iowa State College: LaVonn Larsen, Nellie Stromer, Wilbur Arnold.

State Teachers College: Ethel Barz, Irene Harms.

Boston Seminary: Harvey Nelson.

Klemme has another group of fine young people who are in the teaching profession and who are now home or have gone elsewhere for the summer. Our teachers are Elvira Stille, Floyd; Mabel Schaefer Rowan; Bernice Tanner Crystal Lake; Adella Schroeder, Alexander; Glenna Gruetzmacher, Chapin; Ethel Wellemeyer, Buffalo Center; Gladys Wilson, Clarion; Adolph Lauritsen, supt. at Ledyard; Earl Josten, music director at Estherville. Besides these we have a host of young ladies who are successful teachers in the rural schools.

ALL FISH SEASONS OPEN JUNE 15TH

All species of fish may be lawfully taken from any of the waters of the state after 5:00 a. m June 15, according to the new fishing regulations of the Fish and Game Commission. Rock, Silver and Black Bass may be taken after his date as well as crappies from all waters

MINNOW SEINING PROHIBITED IN CERTAIN LAKES

Through recent action of the Fish and Game Commission the following lakes have been closed to minnow seining. Free Movies--Band Concert Every Week Here

DRIVE CAREFULLY

By Art

On two nights each week thruout the summer season, the main street of Klemme literaly "swarms with children", mostly small, active boys and girls who come to town especially to hear the Band or to see the Free Movies.

We ask the drivers of cars and trucks to please take your time driving through our main street on these busy nights, Wednesday Band Night and Saturday Movie Night. Remember there are a thousand children scattered along main street any one of which may take a notion to dodge out into your path of travel. On these three blocks of main street keep your car under control so that in an emergency you can stop in one or two car lengths.

And children, no matter how small you are, you can learn to cross the street at the crossing. A driver may be blinded by light and not see you if you cross at an unexpected place.

The Town Marshall has warned several of our fastest drivers, mostly young folks in their "teens". No place to go in particular but crazy for speed. However, most of the drivers are very careful and this town has been lucky not to have had many accidents on main street.

LARGE CROWD AT SCHOOL HOUSE TO HEAR SPEAKER

A large crowd of farmers and townspeople were at the Klemme schoolhouse last Thursday evening to hear a talk given by Mr. Henry Curbo, Clear Lake attorney, who spoke on his views as to the cause of the depression and the money situation in general. He was a forceful speaker and his speech was interesting and instructive. He placed the blame for much of our present financial trouble on the Jews, proving his points by reading newspaper and magazine articles.

Mr. Curbo gave a similar talk to a large group in Liberty township a few weeks ago. His appearance here was sponsored by the Farmers Union.

Light Rains Bring Some Relief To Parched North Iowa

With temperatures last week soaring up to around 110 degrees in North Iowa vegetation wilted, pastures scorched and crops were approaching a serious drouth condition.

Most of North Iowa was benefitted by good showers Sunday morning and forenoon and this community had another good shower Monday afternoon.

The rains were light but should benefit pastures. Oats will not amount to much here, but corn looks good. It will take several nice soaking rains to reach very far into the ground.

AN APOLOGY

The Times last week was forced to leave out a number of items that were sent in as we printed a day early on account of Memorial Day. Some items arrived too late for publication and lack of last minute space accounted for others not appearing.

DES MOINES: Copy for the application blanks, to be used by applicants for old age pensions, has been sent to the state printing department and will be off the presses in a few days, according to Byron G. Allen, superintendent of the old age commission. These forms will be sent to the auditors of the various counties on or about July 1st. The distribution will only be through the counties and the blanks will not be available at the state offices in Des Moines.

FIRST OPEN AIR MOVIE BRINGS LARGE CROWD TO KLEMME

Band Concerts On Wednesday Night Will Be Popular Attraction

That the free, open air movies have proven popular in the past was forcefully demonstrated again Saturday evening when the "open air theatre" was packed to capacity with a crowd eager to see what Klemme had to offer in the way of froe entertainment. The free open air movies will be put on every Saturday night in Klemme. The business men of Klemme are paying for this feature and it's free to all. Come and enjoy it

Summer Band Concerts

The Klemme Band this year is bigger and better than ever. Thirty five young, talented musicians will give a concert in Klemme every Wednesday night during the summer. This big band is under the direction of Miss Mildred Johnson, who has built up an organization that is now able to play concert music that you will enjoy.

OLIVE TREE GROWS IN KLEMME

Frank Carpenter, who resides in northwest Klemme, Monday afternoon brought to the Times office a small branch from an olive tree which is growing in his yard. From all indications of the sample given us the tree has a good chance of bearing a lot of fruit. The tree is full of blossoms, which are tiny, yellow pear-shaped flowers. The leaves are small and grayish color. Frank says the tree is about five feet high.

Miscellaneous Shower Monday Eve

The Misses Ethel and Clarice Wellemeyer successfully carried out a miscellaneous shower for their friend, Miss Elvira Stille, Monday evening at the Wellemeyer home. After the guests arrived a mock wedding took place. Those taking part were: bride, Bernice Tanner; groom, Nova Koerner; minister, Valeria Koerner; bridesmaid, Thielma Kluckhohn; best man, Lenora Larson; flower girl, Leona Lau; bride's father, Mrs. Harold Shoafstall; brides mother, Ruth Bailey. Many other games followed. Finally the lights were turned out and a gypsy lady came, who spent much time in telling each one's fortune. This gypsy lady was Marie Blank. When it was time for the bride-to be to find her gifts, alarm clocks went off in various parts of the house and in answering these she found many beautiful and useful gifts. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

LUCILLE GERK AND EMIL M. BARZ WED ON TUESDAY

Waterloo Courier, May 29— Miss Lucille Gerk, secretary to A. A. Zimmerman of Pike, Silas, Zimmerman and Butler, attorneys, for the past four years, and Emil M. Barz, Cedar Rapids, were united in marriage at a ceremony performed at 7 a. m. Tuesday by Rev. E. J. Dougherty.

The bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a shoulder bouquet of Talisman roses and white sweet peas. Attendants were Mrs. Leo Rossauer and A. C. Glessner. A wedding breakfast at Hotel President followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Barz left on a two weeks' trip to Chicago and points east and will be at home at 1002 Western avenue in the near future.

The bride graduated from Gates Business college and is a former West High school student. Mr. Barz, graduate of the Mason City Business college is employed by the Lefebure corporation of Cedar Rapids.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '34

Twelve years ago on the morning of September 4, 1922 six children walked up the steps of the Klemme Public School to begin their school career. These six children were Howard Baack, Novella Bredbenner Melvin Buseman, Alvin Depping, Verle Keraus and Irma Sampson. Out teacher was Miss Florence Ever let. Howard Baack only stayed in our class for about three weeks for he then moved away. However, the day Howard left Virginia Irving joined our class. So we still retained six members. The school year closed May 25 with a school picnic in Koerner's grove.

The fall of 1923 found these six scholars in the second grade with Miss Gladys Buchan as teacher. This year the grades were shifted from three grades to two grades in a room. We enjoyed this school year very much. Again the school year closed with the picnic in Koerner's grove.

When we started as third graders in 1924, Fern Palmby joined our class. Our personnel was then seven and this year Miss Neva Lovrien was our teacher. During the year Melvin Buseman and Fern Palmby moved away Marvin Griffen and Ross West entered our class so we still had seven members. This year a picture of the entire school was taken. The school year closed with the annual school picnic.

In the fall of 1925 the same seven scholars enrolled in the 4th grade. Miss Neva Lovrien was again our teacher. Lloyd Lebeck joined our class for a short while. During the winter Virginia Irving, Alvin Depping, Marvin Griffen and Ross West moved away leaving only Irma Sampson, Verle Keraus and Novella Bredbenner to complete the school year. This school year again ended with a picnic.

The fall of 1926 found us enrolled in the fifth grade. We felt very grown up because we were on the second floor and had two flights of steps to climb. This year Hilda Koerner and Harold Jost joined our class as they preferred to graduate with the class of '34. Miss Marie Gauger was our teacher. Thlane Thompson and Howard Wood joined us for a short time. During the year Ross West again reentered our class and was welcomed as an old member. This year our room had a picnic in C. A. Larsen'e grove and we also had the usual school picnic.

The sixth year of our school found James Larson a member of our class as he also preferred to graduate with us This year our teacher was Miss Phyllis Root. This was a jolly year for most of us. However, we lost one of the charter members of the first grade as Verle Keraus left us to move to Traer. Edna Beivens was a member of the class part of the year. Ross West left our class again. However we gained a new member as LaVern Drake moved here from Iowa Falls. The school year closed with the school picnic.

The next year of our school life found us in Junior High School. We could study in the assembly, use the high school class rooms, and also had the high school teachers—Miss Wilma Trumbell, Miss Lenabelle McGinnis (Mrs. E. F. Bock, of Garner) Mr. M. F. Penrod, Mr. Donald Lewis and Mr. Carl Heiden. the latter being our room teacher. This year Marie Stille joined our class, moving to town from the country Asa Gibbs and Alvin Keeper also joined our class as they wanted to graduate wth us. John Kaduce and Melvin Buseman were with us part of the year. We were initiated into Junior High at a Hallowe'en party given to us by the 8th grade. We came through the initiation all right and were then truly Junior High students. We seventh graders gave the eighth grade a return party in the spring at the Stille [illegible]. The school year closed with the annual picnic.

The fall that we enrolled in the eighth grade the Junior high system was abandoned. so that once more there was only one teacher for the room again. It seemed very strange for we had become accustomed to Junior high. Our teacher was Miss Ford. This fall August Josten came in from the country to join our class. Verle Keraus rejoined our class as he moved back from Traer. The members of our graduation class were LaVern Drake, Alvin Keeper, James Larson, Irma Sampson, Hilda Keeper, Marie Stille, Novella Bredbenner, Asa Gibbs, Verle Keraus and Harold Jost. Our colors were rose and green; our motto, "Keep the Goal in Sight"; and our lower was violets. We were now ready to enter high school. This year the picnic was in Larsen grove again.

High school! We had forever left the grades and were now full-fledged high school students even if we were only green freshmen. Our long dreaded initiation came all too soon. The Sophomores made us dress ridiculously and we were certainly funny looking specimens. In the evening the Sophomores gave us an initiation party at which we had a very good time.

The annual high school party was held September 12 at Bayside. We first attended a baseball game at Hayfield and then went to Bayside roller skating. A rain storm appeared but that only added to our fun. Coming home during the rainstorm, Mr. Penrod drove across the corner of the Clear Lake park and the truck in which part of our crowd was riding also followed across the corner—all unintentionally.

We freshmen had a Hallowe,en party this year. We also gave the Sophomores a return party February 28th.

The members of the Freshman class were LaVern Drake, Alvin Keeper, James Larson, Irma Sampson, Hilda Keeper, Marie Stille, Novella Bredbenner, Asa Gibbs, Verle Keraus, Harold Jost all coming from town school; Fay Neuberger, Mildred Thieman, Lynford Back of Ell twp. No. 7; Ethel Swanson, Helen Albers, Howard Baack, Ell No. 8; Dale Schlei, Francis Sandrey, Dorothy Neuhring, Twin Lake 1; Lillian Brown, Liberty 8; Marie Greiman, Liberty 6; Roy Arnold, Overy 1; Victor Grieman, Ell 4; Esther Pals, Union 9; Lauritz Peterson, Twin Lake 5; Donald Baack and Lloyd Ax—twenty-seven in number. Donald Baack and Lloyd Ax joined us the second semester. However, Lloyd quit before school was out.

The following were the officers for the freshman year: sponsor, Mr Penrod; president, Lillian Brown; vice-pres. Fay Neuberger; secretary Victor Greiman; treasurer Verle Keraus.

We had thought in the grades that semester tests were hard but we discovered that there could be much harder tests. For this year we [illegible]

Our teachers this year were Mr Penrod, Miss Trumbull, Miss McGinnis (Mrs. E. F. Bock of Garner) and Mr. Brietske

The last day of school we had the moving up exercises at school and then attended the picnic at the park.

In the fall of 1931 we were silly sophomores and by this time felt like "old timers" in high school. Those missing from our class were Esther Pals and Victor Griehman who left us to go to Garner High. Lauritz Petterson quit school the second semester.

We had an entirely new staff of teachers this year, namely Mr. Hunter, Miss Garbreth, Miss Dallenbach (Mrs. Orion Moe) and Mr. Grove.

Now instead of taking our revenge out on the class that initiated us, we could take it out on the freshmen of 1931 by initiating them. In the evening we gave them a party at the schoolhouse. Everything went along smoothly until water started flowing a little too freely and Mr. Hunter put a stop to the fun by dampening some of the sophomore boys.

The Freshies gave us a return party at the Goodell woods. There was some misunderstanding about having the party but it really turned out to be quite a party.

The high school faculty enertained all the high school at a Xmas party at the school house. During the winter the high school students also entertained Blanche and Thomas Gimer at a farewell party as they moved to Renwick.

We had some good times on the field trips we made for Agriculture picking seed corn, judging horses and cows, etc.

Our class officers for the year were president, James Larson; vice president, Donald Baack, secretary and treasurer, Marie Greiman; news reporter Marie Stille; class sponsor, Mr. Grove

This year the school picnic was held at the school house due to bad weather.

In the fall of 193p we were jolly juniors. This fall Donald Baack was not in our class as he had moved to Kanawha. But we gained a new member as Kermit Smith moved here from Goodell. Lillian Brown attended school at Clear Lake the first semester but joined us again for the second.

Our class officers for this year were Harold Jost, president, Lynford Back, vice pres.; Roy Arnold, sec. and treas.; Novella Bredbenner representative to student council; and Miss Galbreth, sponsor. We had the same teachers as during the previous year.

The high school had a party in the fall at the Goodell woods. We had a treasure hunt and a weiner roast after which we played games at the school house. During the winter we Juniors had a bob sled party. We also presented a play Shirt Sleeves" in order to raise funds for the Junior-Senior banquet. Then came the banquet itself. It was held in the Methodist church parlors which were decorated as a ship in the colors crimson and white ,the colors of the class of 1933.

Just before school closed we invited the Seniors to go along with us to a baseball game at Swaledale and a picnic supper at Clear Lake Methodist camp after which we roller skated at Bayside.

This year James Larson and LaVern Drake went to Iowa City to compete in the track meet held there.

This year also Novella Bredbenner received a high enough score in the American Literature contest to go to Iowa City to compete in the final state test.

The school year closed with the picnic at the park.

Seniors! This is our last year of high school and our last year together. There has been plenty of of hard work but plenty of fun to go along with it. Almost at the beginning of the school year, Irma Sampson left our class, moving to Des Moines. We Seniors had a farewell party for her—a watermelon party at the old dump. Frances Sandrey left us for awhile but again joined our ranks.

Our class officers this year were Verle Keraus, pres.; Howard Baack vice pres.; Lillian Brown, secretary and Marie Stille, treasurer; Fay Neuberger and Roy Arnold members of student council. Our teachers were Mr. Hunter, Miss Galbreth, Miss Roberts and Mr. Kingery.

This year Novella Bredbenner won a loving cup for Klemme High by winning first place in the dramatic section of the County declamatory contest.

Asa Gibbs entertained our class at a May Day party at this home on May 1st.

We gave our senior class play "Tiger House" May 4 and 5.

[illegible] ed us at the Junior Senior banquet at the Reformed Church. It was carried out in green and gold, our class colors. May 17 was Skip Day. We visited the Odd Fellows home near Mason City and then ate our dinner at East Park. In the afternoon we visited the Globe Gazette printing office and various other places. In the evening we roller skated at Bayside.

May 20 our Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev. Grosshuesch in the Reformed Church.

May 22 our class day program was presented at the high school gymnasium.

May 24 was our Commencement. Rev. Galbreth of Mason City delivered the address of the evening.

May 25 the annual school picnic was held at the park.

Our class colors are green and gold; our class flower the yellow rose; our motto "The Higher We Rise, The Broader Our View"; our valedictorian, Novella Bredbenner; our salutatorian, Roy Arnold. Verle Keraus was president of the student council this year.

The members of the class of ,34 are Helen Albers, Roy Arnold, Howard Baack, Lynford Back, Novella Bredbenner, Lillian Brown, La Vern Drake, Asa Gibbs, Marie Grieman, Alvin Keeper, Hilda Keeper, Verle Keraus, Harold Jost, James Larson, Dorothy Neuhring, Fay Neuberger, Francis Sandrey, Dale Schlei, Marie Stille, Kermit Smith, Ethel Swanson and Mildred Theiman. Twenty-two in number—eleven girls and eleven boys.

Out of the class that started here twelve years ago there are three graduating in the class of '34. They are Verle Keraus, Novella Bredbenner, and Howard Baack. Novella Bredbenner, however, is the only one who has gone to Klemme high school the entire twelve years, the rest having attended other schools for a time.

Ethel Swanson and Helen Albers of Ell No. 8 came to Klemme High and have gone to school for the twelve years together. Frances Sandrey and Dale Schlei of Twin Lake No. 1 and Mildred Thieman and Fay Neuberger of Ell No. 7 also have the same record of having been classmates for 12 years.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior class of 1934, of Klemme High School, Hancock Co., State of Iowa, having a well balanced cranium and being able bodied do hereby make, publish, prescribe and give our first and last but not least, yill Please do not open until December 25th. T'was the night before Christmas and all throcgh our "supposed-to-be minds" bright ideas came trooping along, until we tho't we had better give some of our talent to the on-coming specimens.

To our class sponser, Mr. Hunter we extend our sincere thanks for being so kind to us dumb animals and hope that he will recover from the tremendous strain which he had in trying to make the best out of all of us.

To the junior class we give the freedom of speech and press that we get every little twice in a while. Also we take great pleasure in presenting our seats in the assembly to the jolly juniors.

To the sophomore class we will our unused brain matter, because, when they have to study Socrates, or the number of degrees in a round square, they will be more than glad to thank us for the much-needed brain matter that we give to them.

To the Freshman Class we will our intelligent looks, because, as you all know, we are educated, now and do not need such things as intelligent looks nowadays.

To our English teacher, Miss Galbreth, we leave all our cute little bright remarks and our quiet dispositions, so that when she misses the seniors of '34, she will always have something to remember us by.

To our coach, Mr. Kinge have some rules in how to a good athlete, also to get the right side of bed if yo right handed and the left you are left handed. Never bed before 2 a. m. because muscles are apt to become you are in bed too long. have a few cigarettes before to become fit.

Asphalt Roof Repairing

TO THE BUSINESS MEN:—If your roof is in need of a coat of asphalt now is the time to do it. Why have outsiders come in and charge two or three prices to put on asphalt that does not cost much. We have the hard asphalt which is necessary to melt down before putting on. Our local men can do this; it's no job to do a job of coating. If your roof is bad, then it must be built up with felt and hot asphalt. Watch Pavey's roof. He is putting on a coating of this "Hot Asphalt." SEE US IF YOUR ROOF NEEDS FIXING!

Paints, Oils & Varnishes

WARNING!

Know What You Get When You Buy Paints. Many paints are put on the market at a very low price which contain such fillers as Clay (Aluminum Silicate) Sand (Silica and Silicates) and Chalk (calcium and magnesium carbonates). These are put in to provide bulk and weight. Many paints contain little White Lead or Zinc and only a small percentage of Linseed Oil and the paint industry indicates that these are the most important ingredients of an outside paint.

Investigate before putting on a cheap paint loaded up with filled. If you want bargains you surely can get them but after a few years it's pretty hard to tell who got the bargain. Ask those who have had one of these bargains. If YOU have had trouble with paints why not try a pure paint. OUR PAINTS ARE PURE LEAD And ZINC.

CLASS PROPHECY OF 1934

Ladies and gentlemen, let me take you on my magic carpet. We shall call at strange lands, and see stranger people, namely the now long forgotten class of 1934. Hop aboard and hang on tight.

Across the continent to New York City the magic carpet takes us. On the roof of the tallest skyscraper, under an imitation palm tree, we see Miss Frances Sandrey, the eminent authoress, contemplating on her new book, which she is just bringing out. Th book is biographical in nature and is entiled "Husbands I have Shot and Missed."

We drift down to Broadway and here we see great banners proclaiming the name of the great dancer, Miss Hilda Keeper, who has gained fame by leaps and bounds. She is now appearing in her latest song hit, "You Tell 'Em, Webster, You've Got the Words."

The magic carpet now whisks us up into the center of the northwoods in the state of Maine. Here we find "Walloping Duck" LaVern Drake, who has here established his training camp, training for his forthcoming bout with the "Walloping Bo From Barcalona", by chopping down trees with a double edged axe. We are convinced that Drake would make a good fighter if he could take on axe into the ring with him.

Back to Chicago our magic carpet whips us where we find Justice of the Peace Dale Schlei, who gives away a quart of honey to each couple he marries. He says this symbolizes one of two things: either sweetness or somebody is getting stung.

Rochester, Minn:- At the hospital we find Howard Baack, the high pressure salesman, recovering from seven broken ribs he received while leaning over the back of a streetcar sar. Hereafter he will buy his own evening newspaper.

Los Angeles:- Here we find Miss Lillian Brown who is advertising a correspondence course in Lion Taming. She advises, "Before entering he cage be sure the lion recognizes the diploma".

Salt Lake City:- Here we find Asa Gibbs, who has opened a health resort. He is an expert osteopath and says his way to the grave is just as short, painful and costly as any other.

Back to Klemme, and here we find the only member of the class of 1934 who loved her Alma Mater so much she couldn't leave. We find Miss Marie Greiman the manager of a garlic farm. We didn't think she would go in for anything quite so strong.

Across the continent and out over the great Atlantic, the wonderful magic carpet carries us. In the distance we see Uncle Sam's great fleet steaming proudly along. In the forward ventilator of the majestic battleship, the U. S. S. Matilda we find Kermit Smith asleep in the sun, and he hasn't got his day's work done, but he can get by with it for he is a Big Gob in the navy.

We flash on to the great city of London where we find Mr. Jim Larson, the second Clark Gable, starring in "Hamlet's Night Out." He has set up a canning factory on the edge of the city where he uses up all the cabbages and other vegetables he collects while he is on the stage.

We cross the English channel and flutter down to Paris where abides the great fashion expert, Miss Fay Neuberger, whose latest creations are braided sandles of gold kid and steel wool. She also advocates manicuring the tonsils to match.

Berlin, Germany:- The great mump specialist, Mr. Alvin Keeper, greets us with a million $$$$ grin. He is now employed in the German division of medical science and is having a Swell time.

At Vienna the beautiful capital of Austria, we find Miss Novella Bredbenner, who is giving daily exhibitions at the world's fair by jumping from a stratosphere rocket ship with a parachute. She has just made the astounding discovery that jumping without a parachute is more hazardous than with one.

Our magic carpet now sails toward Switzerland. Here in the heart of the Alps we find the former Miss Mildred Thieman, whose husband goes in for big things. He's a mountain climber. She manages a gift shop specializing in hand-painted bath-tubs and other brik-a-brak.

We now take you to the heart of Africa, where in the darkest jugles we find Miss Marie Stille, who while in search of tropical scenes and the missing link, gave up civilization and is now living with the head-hunters.

The magic carpet now skims out over the great Sahara desert and in the heart of it we find Miss Ethel Swanson who has answered the call of the wild and while exploring here discovered a longlost race of sheiks.

In Turkey we find a little maid who has revolutionizeeed all Turkish stock raising. The successful and famous, Miss Helena Albers, owner and promoter of the only cat farm of it's kind in the world at Angora, Turkey.

Now we drop down to the small continent of Australia, where we find Mister Bub, alias Verle Keraus. We find him all rigged out with chaps, pistol, larriat, horse and ten gallon hat, cowpunching American style on a flee ranch.

The magic carpet now whisks us across the wild wastes to India where at Gangkuk we find Miss Dorothy Neuhring who is making a fortune after erecting the "Spit-a-cuda-gum" chewing gum factory and is now selling gum to the natives.

Chew Tuff Chow, China:- Roy Arnold, we learn, is employed here, counting out soy beans for chop suey. He has great mathematical ability.

We flash now across the Pacific to the Hawaiian Islands where we find Mr. Lynford Back. His home is a little grass shack and he lives on pineapples. He makes his spending money by playing as a drummer in a hula-hula band.

In crazy spirals our magic carpet hauls us to the South pole where in a subterranean cavern we find the hermit named H. R. Jost. He is thinking of the day he was initiated into K. H. S.. He thinks of the piece of raw liver he was almost compelled to eat. He snickers when he thinks of how he threw it over his shoulder when no one was looking. And there it sticks to this day, just west of the second window about one foot from the bottom, and may it forever, stand a monument to the senior class of 1934.

CHOOSE THE TIRE CHAMPIONS BUY

Firestone

Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

FOR 15 CONSECUTIVE YEARS

EVERY winner in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race — the most gruelling tire test in the world— drove to victory on Firestone High Speed Tires.

Race drivers know that heat generated by friction inside the cotton cords is the greatest enemy of tire life. These men will not risk their lives on any but Firestone Tires, because they know the high stretch cords in every Firestone Tire are protected by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Gum-Dipping soaks the high stretch cords in liquid rubber and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords, counteracting destructive friction and heat. It provides greater adhesion between the plies of the tire, and between the Gum-Dipped cord body and the tread.

Firestone chemists and engineers kept pace with new car developments by building stronger, safer tires to meet the exacting demands. Drive in today and equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, with deeper, thicker, flatter, and wider non-skid tread, more and tougher rubber, more traction, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Remember, in Firestone High Speed Tires there is Greater Strength — Greater Safety — and Greater Blowout Protection than in any tire made.

THE ADHESION TEST

Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This greater adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Note how the rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and insulated with rubber. This causes friction and heat within the cords, resulting in separation.

Descendants Of Liberty Pioneers Met Sunday

GATHERED AT HERMAN GAST HOME SUNDAY

Sunday a gathering of members three of the pioneer families— Beier and Lenz— of German, Liberty township met at the comfortable farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gast and family to new acquaintanceship and to become acquainted with some of the newer members of the relationship. The gathering was planned for this time in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lenz; Mr. and Mrs. Denis Leiren and Miss Gwendolyn Gast, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gast, all of Beltrami, Minn., who are visiting here. Mrs. Leiren will be remembered as Miss Helen Beier.

After church services the group of more than one hundred gathered at the Herman Gast home where tables, chairs and benches were arranged under the shade trees and no effort had been spared in making it pleasant for the guests. The lawn setting was ideal for the occasion. Well filled baskets were soon unpacked and during the afternoon, while the younger folks enjoyed their play, others were enjoying themselves sociably.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibbs and family; Mrs. Amelia Arnold; Miss Minnie Lenz; Mr. and Mrs. Will Gast; Kenneth Lenz and family; J. J. Stille and family; Elmer Schaefer and family; Martin Stille and family; Arthur Nelson and wife; Kenmit Stille and wife; Mrs. Ralph Janssen and family; Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Weber and George Kramer; Fred Meckstroth; Roy Stille; Earl Stille and family; Chester Stille and family; Miss Gwendolyn Gast; Paul Gast and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Haefner and family; Clarence Cook and family; Mr. and Mrs. Denis Leiran; Fred and Ruth Beier; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Beier; Elmer Beier and family; Wm Kulper and family; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beier; Lydia Beier; Mrs. Herman Bridges and family; Mr. and Mrs. August Ridder; Frank Ward and family; Ben Ridder and family; Harold and Walter Ridder; Mable Schaefer; Wes Lenz and family; Harold Habercamp and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lenz.

COUNTY QUEEN TO BE SECRET UNTIL RALLY DAY, JUNE 15

Mrs. Ruth Webster Brown, clothing specialist from Ames met with the 4-H club leaders and their demonstration teams on Friday, June 8th, to help the girls outline and find material for their demonstration which will be given on Achievement Day, August 17th. Each club in the county was represented by a team.

During the general meeting at noon the County Queen was chosen from the following local club delegates:

Margaret Habercamp, Liberty; Anita Richards, Garfield; Vivian Robinson, Concord; Adeline Greiman, Eli; Doris Gelner, Madison; Dorothy Jensen, Britt; Mildred Peterson, Bingham; Marion Olson, Ellingtin; Alzada Mullins, Avery; Kathryn Dickson, Madison consolidated; Carol Rinehart, Orthel.

EQUIPMENT IS MOVED FOR GARNER PAVING WORK

The Wright Construction company of Des Moines, which has the contract to pave the overhead crossing on highway 15 west of Garner, began moving equipment from Wright county Monday. Pouring of cement will start as soon as the equipment is in place and material arrives. The same company has the contract for relocation on highway 18 at the east edge of Britt. When this is completed two dangerous curves will be eliminated.

LIBERTY AND KLEMME WILL HAVE JOINT CHURCH PROGRAM

Next Sunday will be an unusual day in the Methodist church. The children's Day program and general church dinner will be held at the Liberty church at 10:30. All the children of the Daily Vacation Bible School will be in this program, which will be varied with part of what has been done in the School.

Each family is requested to bring two covered dishes and sandwiches. Coffee will be furnished. We want every child of the Sunday School and families and friends present. Bring dishes for your iwn family.

The Epworth League will also be at Liberty, led by Harvey Nelson at 7:30.

Next Monday evening, June 18th the community birthday social will be held at Liberty at 7:30.

$75,000 TO EARLY PAYMENT CONTRACT SIGNERS

Four hundred and seventeen Early Payment Contracts were approved by the Contract Records Section and checks will be given to the farmers this week. Of this amount $31,905.15 is corn benefit payment and $42,170 hog benefit payments will be paid to farmers reducing their corn and hog production.

This amount is only 40 percent of the total payments. The second payment comes in November and the final payment in February of 1935. The Regular Payment Contracts are completed and will be typed in a few weeks and will be ready for final signatures by the producers.

Bass Season Opens Friday

Bass fishermen are anxiously awaiting Friday, June 15th, when they may legally take black and silver bass, as well as crappies and bluegills. All of the spawning grounds, which are now closed to fishing, will be open on that date, we understand, and the signs removed from the areas which have been closed during the spawning season.

P. H. M.'S MET AT HOME OF MRS. CLARENCE GREIMAN

The Progressive Home Makers of Eli Township met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Greiman, Monday, June 4.

The meeting was called to order by the president and nine members answered roll call by naming the vegetables they liked best.

Jeanne Thada and Ruby Wille were chosen for a demonstration to be given Achievement Day.

Talks were given by Norma Wille and Bernice Weaver. Arrangments were made for Rally Day and the girls studied music for the music memory contest. The meeting was adjourned and delicious refreshments were served.

COUNTY AGENT WILL AID FERA WORKERS IN DROUTH RELIEF

County Agent, S. J. Oberhauser, who recently received his appointment as AAA county director of drouth relief said yesterday that his present work consists of keeping in touch with W. A. Lee, county emergency relief officer of the Federal Emergency Relief Association, who has charge of distributiug feed and supplies to distressed farmers.

Mr. Oberhauser has received word from R. K. Bliss, director of the Iowa Extension Service and newly appointed state director of drouth relief, that it will be the policy of the AAA drouth relief workers to work in closest possible cooperation and harmony with the FERA.

Everything will be done to aid farmers destitute of feed for livestock and who have no money to buy it to see what the FERA can do in the way of providing feed.

AAA drouth relief comes actively in the picture when the county is designated as a drouth area.

DROUTH BROKEN IN IOWA; HAD GOOD RAINS PAST WEEK

Gardens And Crops Looking Better Here After Heavy Rains

Good soaking rains in Iowa the past week have broken the drouth and a serious condition has been averted.

One of the heaviest rains in this community fell Thursday night and local "weather fans" claim that nearly two inches of rain fell during the night.

With cloudy and cool weather following the rains the moisture was given a good chance to soak down into the ground.

Although it will take several days to take full effect, however pastures and small grains are already beginning to show the effect of the rain. Corn will be more than "knee high" by the Fourth. Garden truck has perked up considerably since the rains of the past week.

ATTENDED YAHNKE RE-UNION

On Wednesday June6, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Katter and sons, Mr. and Mrs. C. A Larsen and family, Mrs. Hattie Leach of Dows, and Harold Abele left for Wells, Minnesota, to attend the G. C. Yahnke descendants reunion, which was held in the beautiful park there. On account of threatening and rainy weather there were but 80 friends and relatives there this year. It began to rain while they were all enjoying the fine picnic dinner. So everyone went to the grandstand where a short program was rendered. Mrs. Ben Katter, of Garner, was elected presdent and Mrs C. A. Larsen, of Klemme, secretary and treasurer, for the coming year.

4-H RALLY DAY IS FRIDAY

KLEMME BLUES WIN AND LOSE GAMES THIS WEEK

The Klemme Blues ended the week with a .500 percentage, having won a game and lost one. On Thursday night they journeyed to Garner and absorbed a 14-0 trimming, practically handing the Garner boys the game by making a number of plain and fancy errors.

Sunday afternoon the team suddenly discovered their batting eyes and slugged their way to a 15 to 14 victory over the fast Forest City CCC team in a game that was a real thriller to watch. Keraus, local moundsman gave 16 hits, 4 walks and struck out 7. Preuse, on the hilltop for the CCC boys, gave 17 hits, 2 walks and also struck out 7.

WAS BITTEN BY DOG

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus returned last Thursday from near Alden, where they had been for more than a week visiting with relatives. Mr. Keraus was bitten on his right hand by the dog at the farm where they were visiting. Mr. Keraus had been out in the field and returning to the farm yard walked by the dog, but just as Mr. Keraus attempted to enter the house the dog bit him, tearing the flesh from his hand. Mr. and Mrs. Keraus are now at the lake at their cottage at Ventura Heights.

P. M. WILSON'S CELEBRATED SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Local Druggist And Wife Married At Clarion Twenty-Five Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Wilson observed their twenty-fifth or silver wedding anniversary Sunday when they entertained at a three course dinner at noon, followed by an outing and lunch at Clear Lake.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wilson, Bobby Wilson, James Wilson and Beth Wilson, of Vinton; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Muhl, Marcella Muhl and Margaret Muhl. Vinton; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Terry. Jimmie Terry, La Porte; and Mr. J Vendelboe, Garner.

Saturday, June 9th was the exact date of their anniversary, but the event was celebrated Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were married at Clarion, Iowa, on June 9th, 1909, where they resided for about nine years. Mr. Wilson was then in the drug business. From Clarion they moved to Vinton, Iowa, where Mr. Wilson was engaged in the drug business for about seven years. They then came to Klemme, having purchased the drug store here about nine years ago.

Their daughter, Gladys, graduated from the Klemme High School and then attended Drake University, the college where her father received his training in pharmacy. Miss Wilson has been teaching at Clarion the past few years.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson extend congratulations and best wishes, with the hope that they may enjoy the next great milestone in their wedded life—their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

MR. AND MRS. EMIL BARZ WERE VICTIMS OF SURPRISE SUNDAY

All the Barz families of this community and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lau of Tracy, Minn., met at Eagle Lake State Park Sunday and had a big picnic dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Barz. Miss Adela Schroeder had baked a big strawberry pie (Emil's favorite dessert) and topped it off with whipped cream, decorated with two large red hearts.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and all departed for their homes as the real surprise had been planned for the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barz. Miss Ethel called Emil and asked that he and his bride come out.

Much to their surprise, when they stepped from the car tto go into the house all the relatives came around the house and began to charivari them with cow bells, discs, pots and pans. Many games were played in the yard, and when dark all were invited into the house where in the spacious dining room the tables were adorned with two large wedding cakes, baked and decorated by Mrs. Henry Barz and Miss Adela Schroeder. And between the two cakes on the tables the bride and groom found many useful and beautiful wedding gifts After a few more games, the bride and groom cut their cakes, which were served with delicious home made ice cream.

Those present were: Will Barz and family: Herman Barz and two sons: Fred Barz and family; Henry Barz and family; Albert Barz and family; Mrs. Lena Schroeder, Miss Adela and Max Barz: Harvey Barz and family: Walter Rosendahl and family; Marvin Barz and family; Martin Barz and wife; Rev. Grosshuesch and family; John Book and family; Grandma Schroeder; Carl Klutzner, of Wisconsin; and Clarence Brouwer.

To our glee club teacher Miss Roberts we will our beautiful cracked tenor, worn-out bass, high pitched soprano and long drawn-out alto voices because we found out that glee club was alright before tones came into fashion.

Fay Neuberger is so kind as to give her much used talent, known as "speaking without permission". Ten cents, one dime (no postage stamps wanted) is all that is needed to recieve full instructions on her great specialty. But for a sample she gives her advice to George Stokesbary all for nothing.

Hilda Keeper leaves her talent of getting along in the world with not much of anything and even less of nothing, to her successor, Lucille Stille.

Dorothy Nuehring presents the are of chewing gum "by gum". Think of it, knowing how to chew and chew and chew to your hearts content. She leaves the secret with much care to Franklin Buseman.

Novella Bredbenner gives some real sound advice to Bonnie Buchman. "Never do today what can easily be done tomorrow". Please follow carefully for best results.

Kermit Smith will his bad behavior to Melvin Schlei.

Jim Larson is glad to leave his temperament to Melvin Schlei.

My chucky farm to "skinny" Bessie Larson—Helen Albers.

Dale Schlei gives his rules and tips about the art of flying on a trapeze to Loren Gast.

Mildred Thieman wills her brilliant extraordinary, magnificent idea on "How to become Educated"— If you just follow a few simple rules! —to Bennie Schaper. She says "I know from experience" and wills her advice without cost or obligation

Howard Back leaves the formula to the answers n the State Academic tests. They are as follows: always use the numbers 2-3-1-2-1 and believe me the system works fine. You ought to see his State Exams for proof. The formula goes to one who needs it most—Jeanne Thada.

Lillion Brown gives her little goo goo specks to Paul Lau.

Frances Sandrey leaves the privilege of setting by Mr. Hunter at the banquet to Lucille Stille. She also gives her "lady-like" manners to Carmen Kluckhohn and her cute play mate "Harold" to Mary Lange.

Roy Arnold would like to leave to Jeanne Thada the art of having a few reserve pencils on hand, so that she may never have to speak to anyone about a little lead pencil.

Harold Jost leaves the clue to find the "Diumal lepidopterous" insect, which abounds only in the Physics experiments, to the one and only Elmer Jensen.

Marie Stille wills her mute little musical cough to Ruth and her much used fiddle to Max Barz.

Bub Keraus wills his accomplished art of bluffing to Tiny. Also his new system of short hand writing and abbreviations to Bessie Larson.

Ethel Swanson and Marie Greiman leave their ability to write notes to Lida and Merle. They are sure they will need it.

Alvin Keeper is such an expert at throwing papers wads that he wishes to extend his talent to Ted Kaduce.

LaVern Drake wills his wavy hair and romantic nature to little lonesome Loren Gast.

Asa Gibbs would like to give his talent or spending the noon hour with a cute little girl to Earl Rietz.

Lynford Back is so generous as to present his ability to have his English lesson so well prepared and rehearsed that he can even bluff the teacher. This goes to the studious Homer Schoenwetter.

We, as the Senior class of 1934, wished to give one hundred dollars to dear old Klemme High—but to our regret, we find they have already placed the seal on the will so we will keep our money for some rainy day. In case the valuable document should get lost or you did not get to see it, tell us and we will make you a document just like first one.

Seniors Of 1934

Hats off! Along life's path at last
Our senior class comes marching past.
The higher we rise, the broader our view,
And to rise, is what we intend to do.

Our president is "Bub" Keraus
Whose gay and saucy air
Have ruled our class for one long year
And guided us everywhere.

Friend Howard is old faithful
Who is there when duty calls—
And always does his very best
Though the task be great or small.

LaVern, our handsome sheik is next,
We always call him "Ducky",
Who flirts and winks at all the girls
Gee, but that guy is lucky.

Kermit is a quite lad
With loads of common sense
And we feel that we must class him
As one of our studious gents

With many a smile and wisecracks, too,
Which she gives to the girls and boys,
Is Hilda, our cheerful classmate,
Who distributes her share of joy.

There's Alvin, our sturdy athlete
Who loves his "Algebrae"
And always tries to get to school
By 9.10 every day.

Another member of our class,
Is a lad who is six feet tall,
'Tis Jim, who owns a merry grin,
Which makes him a friend of all.

Marie and Ethel go hand in hand,
A sweet and loving pair—
The best of pals for four long years
'Tis a friendship, true and rare.

When your footsteps are slow and weary
And you pause to rest awhile,
Just stop and think of Lynford
With his warm and friendly smile.

Harold is really quite a joke
And an amateur scientist too,
Weird and interesting, clever and queer
Are the things that he can do.

Frances is a clever girl
Who likes to speak her mind
But she also likes to cheer the sad
With a heart that is loving and kind.

Asa Gibbs is a quiet boy,
And also a swell librarian
Who rounds up books with as watchful an eye,
As that of a wild barbarian.

There's Dale, our handsome comedian,
With giggles and smiles galore
'Tis his funny jokes that we listen to
And laugh 'til our sides are sore.

Marie and Novella sure know their stuff
As the possum knows the weasels
And the only mistake they ever made
Was when they came to school with the measles.

Roy is a lad ambitious
Studious, wise and stern
Difficult problems he loves
But simple problems he spurns.

Helen and Mildred have sat by each other
And whispered the whole year through
But they both have sweet dispositions
And smiles to give to you.

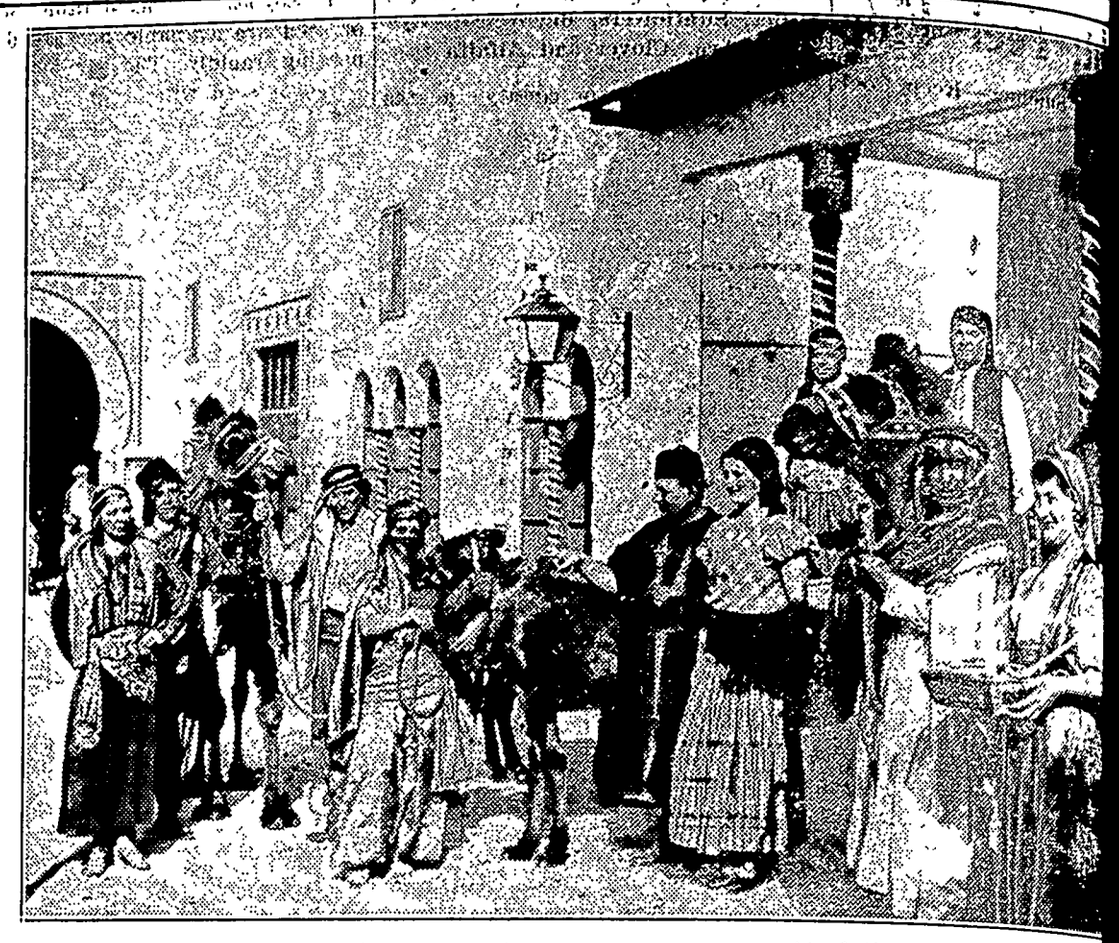
Lillian is a blue-eyed blonde
With a smile as warm as the sun
And your heavy heart will lighten
When her friendship you have won.

Fay is a sweet and quiet lass,
With her eyes of faithful blue
To some day teach a country school
Is what she plans to do.

Dorothy is fond of chewing gum,
And fond of sleeping in school,
But sleep when you wish and work when you wish
Is Dorothy's golden rule.

Now that our class has spoken
And given you all the dope—
That you'll think of us in the future
Is all that we can hope.

Tunisian Family Moves to New Fair Village



From far-off Africa came this family to live in the Tunisian village on the Street of Villages which is a major feature of the new World's Fair that opened in Chicago May 26. Fifteen of these reproductions of life and scenes in far-away lands offer visitors a tour of the world in a single day. Eleven of these villages are groupe the Midway wat in 1933. crowds found the Fair comp new on opening day.

Fireworks Thrill World's Fair Crowds

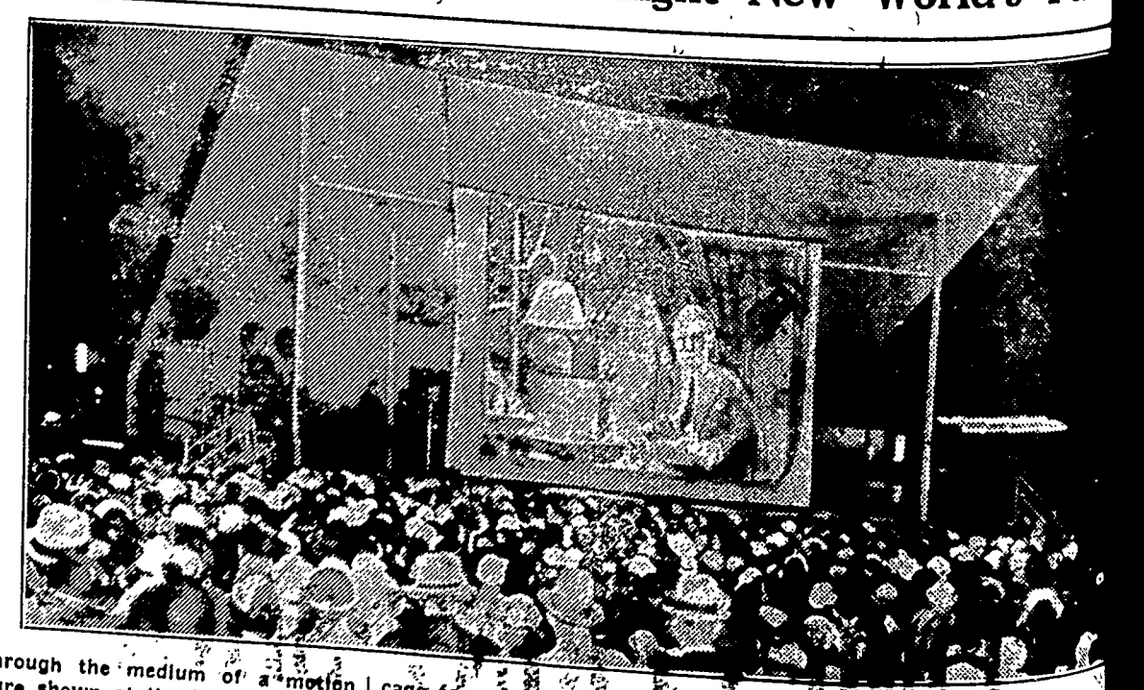
New Fair Throngs Storm Street of Villages

Shown here is part of the record-breaking opening day crowd at the new World's Fair in Chicago. The Street of Villages, offering a "tour of the world" in a single day, was the principal attraction for the sightseers, who were surprised to find t sition complete for the ope May 26.

Thousands See President Light New World's Fair



Through the medium of a motion picture shown at the Lagoon theater, President Roosevelt turned on the lights of the new World Fair in Chicago for a record opening day crowd to see May 26. Visitors, who thronged in great numbers to the fifteen foreign villages that feature the exposition this summer, were surpr they found that the Fair was in every detail and ready them.

AGREE ON 11 EMERGENCY CROPS FOR USE IN IOWA

Are Soybeans, Cane, Sudan, Rape, Millet, Sunflowers, Buckwheat, Rye Corn, Clover and Alfalfa

A conference of county agents and members of the Iowa State College agricultural faculty, called to discuss possible drouth and chinch bug resistant crops recently, named 11 emergency crops as best suited to Iowa conditions.

The crops suggested are:

1. Soybeans—Considerable stocks of seed are available but are disappearing rapidly. The common varieties of seed will probably soon be gone, but some other varieties such as Virginia and Wilson which are suitable for hay are more plentiful. Early varieties may be planted for seed as late as the middle of June. Soybeans are worth planting as late as July 10 for hay. This crop offers the greatest value of 11 for summer seeding, the committee reported, especially in the chinch bug section.

2. Cane (sorghum)—Supply of seed is abundant. Sweet sorghum is best for forage production Planted thickly in rows about 12 pounds of seed per acre recommended; if broadcast, 50 pounds per acre.

3 Sudan grass—Supply of seed limited. This crop is of unusual value for summer seeding for pasture or hay. It is normally seeded broadcast at the rate of about 15 pounds per acre.

4. Rape— Rather limited supply of Japan Dwarf Essex seed. This crop can be seeded any time until Aug 1. This is a chinch bug resistant crop.

5. Millet—Supply of seed limited Varieties such as Siberian, Hungarian and Common can be seeded as late as June 15.

6. Sunflowers—Fair supply of seed available from St. Louis. This crop is specially recommended for chinch bug areas for silage. It yields better than corn for silage and the feed value is about equal to corn.

7. Buckwheat—This crop is of little importance in Iowa. It is usually seeded between July 1 and 15, using 35 to 45 pounds per acre. Japanese variety is best. This crop is valuable in chinch bug areas.

8. Winter rye—This is a valuable crop for fall pasture when seeded about four or five pecks to the acre after August 1.

9. Corn— Corn will give reasonably large yields for forage if planted thickly in rows spaced as closely as can be cultivated. The group suggested that corn planter rows be straddled, placing rows 21 inches apart cultivating by removing the outside shovel of the cultivator.. The AAA has authorized the planting of corn for forage but has not as yet designated the time when planting will be permitted.)

10 Alfalfa—This crop may be seeded in the summer with good results—especially in the months of June and August.

Clover—This valuable legume hay may also be planted at the same time as alfalfa with good results.

CROP RESTRICTIONS IN CORN-HOG CONTRACTS LIBERALIZED

Removal of planting restrictions contained in corn-hog adjustment contracts will enable Hancock County farmers to utilize their crop land in practically any way they see fit to produce emergency forage crops this year, according to word received by S J. Oberhauser, county agent, from the AAA.

The liberalization of rules has been made because of the drouth situation and the need of producing emergency feed crops for livestock.

The new rulings permit the following:

Farmers may grow any forage crop they desire on land not designated as contracted acres with one restriction. If corn or grain sorghums are planted, they must be planted for forage after a date to be designated soon by the AAA. Otherwise, all restrictions on land not designated as contracted acres are removed

Secondly, farmers may grow any crop they desire on contracted acres except corn and grain sorghums. Contracted acres may be pastured or a forage crop removed.

What crops are planted will depend largely on the development in weather conditions, said Mr. Oberhauser. Soybeans may be planted on contracted acres for hay or pasture providing seed can be bought reasonably. Many farmers will plant sudan grass for pasture or hay because it withstands dry weather and will produce a fair crop under all but the most extremely adverse conditions. Others will plant corn and grain sorghums late to secure forage.

Too deep planting of soybeans should be avoided. One to one and one-half inches is deep enough, even though the ground is dry at that depth. Delayed planting of the soy bean crop and thorough preparation of the seed bed in order to free the soil of weed seeds is essential to the satisfactory growing of soybean particularly when the crop is drilled solidly. Harrowing cultivated rows the first time over is especially valuable in killing weeds in the row.

Inoculation of soybean seed is good crop insurance either when soybeans are being grown on the land the first time, or when the grower is not sure that the soil contains an abundant supply of the proper bacteria as indicated by many large nodules on the roots of the previous soybean crop grown on the same kind. It increases considerably the amount of forage

ALLEN EXPLAINS SECTION 16 OF OLD AGE PENSION LAW

DES MOINES:—Striking at some critics of the old age pension law, who, he said, have been spreading reports that no one will be able to obtain a pension without deeding his property to the state, Byron G. Allen, superintendent of the old age assistance commission, declared such reports to be "unfounded and unfair".

"So many people have been given this erroneous opinion that it appears some one or some group is trying to destroy public support of the new statute," he declared.

"I believe the reports may have originated from a misunderstanding of section 16 of the act. This section gives the commission power to require a deed of property from those receiving assistance if it deems such action necessary to protect the interests of the state," Allen stated in an interview issued today.

It was pointed out that the section is of an optional rather than mandatory nature and the section requires the commission to pay the net income from the property to the persons from whom the deed is requested.

Allen pointed out that granting of pensions does not depend upon ownership of property but upon the applicant's total income from all sources. Pensions may be granted to persons whose annual income does not exceed $365.00 per year. In computing income, an allowance of $100.00 a year additional is made for gifts Thus the applicants income plus money given him must not exceed $465.00 a year in order for him to be eligble for a state pension. A person may own his own home and still be eligible for the pension.

The exportable surplus of wheat in the four principal exporting countries will be at least a million bushels less on July 1 this year than a year ago, the United States Department of Agriculture estimates.

EVERGREEN TREES ARE DYING

Hundreds Of Those Planted 15 to 25 Years Have Been Lost

Although many evergreen trees have been killed by drouth this spring, the injury has not been confined to recently planted trees, says G. R. Ramsey, Iowa extension forester, who has noted hundreds of trees 15, 20 and 25 years old dead because of the drying winds.

Injury to evergreens set out in farm windbreaks and elsewhere would not have been so great had not the dry months been accompanied by persisting winds which took moisture from the leaves quicker than the roots could absorb it from the soil.

Many of the trees favorably located and possessing vigor have survived, but those with roots exposed by erosion, soil compacted by stock or man, crowded by others or preyed upon by sucking insects or disease have been handicapped in the struggle to keep alive.

Mr. Ramsey suggests that plans be made to replace destroyed trees next spring. This period of drouth is proving what trees can best survive dry periods and should be used as a guide for selecting hardy trees for planting.

Where the water supply will permit, Mr. Ramsey advises that many newly planted windbreaks may be saved by watering.

AUTOMOBILE ECONOMY

Because of its lightness and its ability to rapidly conduct heat, aluminum is highly valuable to many industries, but it has recently reached its highest degree of usefulness in automobile engine manufacture.

So much improvement has been made possible in the performance and economy of automobile engines by making certain vital parts of this metal that Charles B. Bohn, president of the Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corporation of Detroit and other authorities predict that within the near future there will be few if any cars built that are not equipped with aluminum cylinder heads, aluminum pistons and probably in the medium and high priced fields, at least, aluminum connecting rods.

The aluminum cylinder head, introduced on nearly half the automobiles made in this county last year, saves thousands of gallons of gasoline annually to the owners, yet gives performance which far exceeds that possible with the iron cylinder head. Because of the heat dissapating qualities of aluminum, higher compressions are possible increasing the power of the engine, but using less fuel.

Definite advantages also are secured because of the use of aluminum pistons which are almost universally used in airplane engines, on the higher priced cars and are becoming increasingly available on cars of lower price.

Car buyers will do well to inform themselves of the advantages possible with aluminum. Its growing use is in line with advanced engineering thought which is producing strength, safety, speed and economy with lightness. The railroad industry with its aluminum equipped motors are taking the lead in a trend thas is a real advantage to all who travel by road or rail.

FISHING FOR SUNFISH AND BLUEGILLS

Pan-fish are retaining their popularity this year according to a survey made of various lakes and streams. Those who are particularly interested in sunfish and bluegills should remember that these fish are found in greatest numbers by locating a sandy bottom just outside the shoreline ringe of rushes, in water from five to fifteen feet in depth. Sandy open patches, surrounded by much submerged vegetation, particularly off points of land extending into the lake, usually produce good fishing. Deep water will produce the larger fish while more shallow waters will yield the greatest numbers of smaller fish.

Miss Stella Bock Bride Of Des Moines Young Man

JOHN BOCK HOME SCENE OF WEDDING MONDAY NOON

Over Fifty Guests At Wedding Of Klemme Young Lady

The rural home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bock was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday noon when their only daughter, Miss Stella, was united in marriage to Mr. A. Lyle Burr, of Des Moines.

Miss Norma Barz played Mendelsohn's wedding march as the Bride, accompanied by her father, and the bridal party took their places for the ceremony which took place in the living room of the Book home at noon Monday, June 18th. A background of pink roses and green leaves provided the setting for the happy event. Baskets of flowers set on the floor added to the charm of the surroundings when Rev. A. A. Burr, father of the groom, read the rites that united the couple in bonds of Holy matrimony.

The Bride was attired in a gown of white satin with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. She wore a full length veil which was fastened with orange blossoms. She was accompanied by Miss Adella Schroeder, as Bridesmaid, who wore a rose silk crepe dress with a shoulder corsage. The groom wore a suit of Oxford gray with shoes to match He was attended by Mr. F. J. Cheney, as Best Man, who wore a suit of dark blue.

A wedding dinner was served at one o'clock to approximately fifty guests. Twelve persons were seated at the Bride's table which had been decorated in the color scheme of pink and green. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Ed Buntenbach, Mrs. Lena Schroeder and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson. The following young people waited on tables: Norma Barz, Norma Wille, Ethel Barz, Mitchell Bock and Francis Burr.

Mrs. Burr is a graduate of the Garner High School. She taught in the rural schools of Ell township for three years, when she went to Des Moines and attended the Capital City Commercial College. She was then employed by the Packard Mfg. Co. of Des Moines for a time until she accompanied her uncle on a trip to California. Coming back to Des Moines she accepted a position with the Chamberlin-Kirk Co., the position which she now holds, having been with the Company for the past three years. She is a member of Zeta Alpha Gamma, a business sorority. Mrs Burr is a delightful young lady to meet and her pleasant disposition and cheerfulness are praised by her associates. It might not be amiss to mention here that the date chosen as her wedding day was also her birthday.

Mr. Burr is the son of Rev and Mrs. A. A. Burr, pastor of the University Church of Christ of Des Moines. Mr. Burr graduated from the high school at Rock Rapids, Ia. He then attended the Hohenshuh-Carpenter School of Embalming at St. Louis, Mo. and graduated from that institution and is a licensed embalmer. He is a member of Phi Lamba Epsilon, a national fraternity. Mr. Burr is the assistant manager of the Great American Tea Co. at Des Moines.

After taking a trip to the Dells of Wisconsin and other points of interest, Mr. and Mrs Burr will go to housekeeping at 604 Euclid Ave. Des Moines, where they will be at home to their friends after July 1st.

Congratulations and best wishes from their many friends and relatives are extended at this time.

Out Of Town Guests

Those from out of town who came to attend the wedding were: Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Burr and Francis; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Burr; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Reed; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Melsted; Mr. Cheney, all of Des Moines; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Taylor, of Jewell; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bock of Garner; Mr. Gordon DuBois of Randall.

Those from Klemme and vicinity present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wille; Mr. and Mrs William Schlawin; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Wille. Mr and Mrs. Carl Wille; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greiman; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barz; Mr. Bell; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barz; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barz; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hartbeck; Miss Lydia Bock; Mr. Wm. Bock; and Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Grosshuesch.

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER GIVEN FOR MISS STELLA BOCK

Miss Adela Schroeder was hostess Friday to a gathering of young ladies who gave a pre-nuptial shower in honor of Miss Stella Bock, of Des Moines, who was married here Monday noon to Mr. Lyle Burr, of Des Moines.

The afternoon was spent in a social way and the entertainment included playing a number of games and holding a mock wedding ceremony. The following young ladies played the different parts: Bride, Ruth Bailey;, Groom Ethel Wellemeyer; bridesmaid, Mrs Walter Rosendahl; best man, Norma Stromer; ring bearer, Mrs Martin Barz; flower girl, Mrs. Emil Barz; minister, Norma Barz, pianist, Ethel Barz; bride's mother, Geraldine Smid; bride's father, Mrs Dwight Helps. Several good snapshots were taken of the "solemn ol fair"

Miss Bock received many useful gifts which were given her in a clever way. 'Daises never tell," but under the petals of a daisy were her instructions for locating the gifts which had been hidden about th house.

Following the afternoon of entertainment Miss Schroeder served a delightful lunch.

Honored At Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lau were invited to dinner last Sunday at the L. S. Hefley farm home, one mile west of Hardy, Iowa. There a surprise shower was given by 35 deaf people who came from Fort Dodge and Mason City. Buffet lunch was served. The bride was presented with a number of nice gifts. The afternoon was devoted to games, which all enjoyed

Birthday Suprise Dinner Held

Mrs. Art Kudje invited in all the children to a six thirty dinner Friday evening at the Kudje home in honor of her father, Joe Johnson who was 69 years old. Mr. Johnson thought Mrs. Kudje was slow in preparing the evening meal and was very much surprised when the children and their families arrived with well filled baskets. Those present for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson and children of Renwick, Mildred, Art, George and family, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hevilin and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Carpenter and children and Mr. and Mrs. Art Kudje and family Mr. Johnson's many friends wish him many more such happy birthdays.

BEEF CATTLE MEN FACING SERIOUS FEED SHORTAGE

Corn, Soybeans, Sudan Grass Are Possible Crops To Be Planted

With pastures little better than exercising lots, old hay practically gone and the new hay crop the poorest in years, owners of beef cattle herds are confronted with two serious problems: First, supplying adequate and satisfactory roughage for the fall and winter months.

Prof. P. S. Shearer, of the Iowa State College Animal Husbandry department, suggests that nothing is better than good corn silage for beef cows nursing calves—providing there is some left over Sweet clover pasture is also a valuable feed for these animals.

Oat fields that give no promise of a harvestable crop may be profitably grazed and alfalfa and red clover fields may be used if necessary. This is, of course, taking feed that would normally be saved for next winter, but in many cases it is the only possibility of obtaining immediatte feed

If seed can be obtained soybeans or sudan grass or a combination of tho two make good emergency hay crops for beef cattle feeding during the fall and winter. Corn may be grown for forage by planting it thickly. This will also make good fodder for winter use.

It is better business to sacrifice a few cattle from the herd by culling rather than to attempt to keep more than can be adequately fed.

BELMOND NINE PLAYS ON LOCAL DIAMOND SUNDAY

Game With Woden Was Postponed By Rain Sunday

The Klemme Blues will play the Belmond Cubs on the local diamond this Sunday afternoon. Belmond has developed into a fast, hard-hitting team since the beginning of the season and last Sunday took the speedy Eagle Grove Independents into camp 13 to 11. This game promises to be a real battle between the two teams Johnson and Stokesbary will see mound duty for the Blues while Henn will be on the hilltop for Belmond.

The game with Woden at Woden last Sunday was postponed to July 15 because of rain.

CORRECTION

In the tabulated election returns for Ell township the votes cast for Frank Schoun were 161, for Jakoubek 43 and for Lapitz 17. The table as published gave Lapitz 161 and Schoun 17, when just the reverse should have appeared. However, the total figured alright with Schoun leading with 1753, Jakoubek with 1311 and Lapitz 259 for the total county tally.

PLANT SEED FOR MANY TREES

Black Locusts For Erosion Control Are Being Grown

Five thousand pounds of black locust seed—potentially millions of trees—will be planted soon on a 40 acre nursery plot in Ames. This fall the small trees will be removed to badly eroded areas in the state for planting.

This tree-planting campaign will be even larger than that just completed this spring. It is estimated that about 13 million trees will be provided for planting next fall from the 5,000 pounds of seed. There are about 26,000 seeds per pound of black locust seed, but only about 10 to 12 percent of these will make trees suitablt for planting.

The success of the program will depend largely upon moisture conditions during the remainder of the summer.

County Auxiliary Meeting At Garner Tuesday

Tuesday afternoon the Auxiliary members from all parts of the county met at Garner for their annual meeting. A splendid program was given. The scrap books were l and Garner received first with Klemme receiving second. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, Mrs. Bernice Schultz of Garner; vice-chairman, Mrs. Ruby Friedow of Britt; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Stewart of Crystal Lake; Sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Enfield of Corwith; Chaplain, Mrs. Carl Wolfe, Klemme.

Those from here who attended were Mesdames, Grange, Coobs, Wolfe, Dave Schwichtenberg and Miss Berdice Schwichtenberg.

The Drum and Bugle Corps, that has been sponsored by the Auxiliary members demonstrated what they had learned the past winter. It was very much appreciated.

400 ATTENDED ANNUAL COUNTY 4-H RALLY DAY MEETING

Norma Wille, Klemme, Elected County 4-H President

More than 400 4-H girls, mothers and friends attended the annual 4-H girls business meeting rally at the high school gym in Garner Friday.

The Hancock county chorus, consisting of 60 4-H girls, led by Mrs. J. J. Cook of Goodell opened the rally by singing "The Field Song," "I Passed by Your Window," and "Amaryllis."

Doris Gelner of Forest City, a member for 11 years of the Madison Jolly Workers club, was crowned 4-H queen for Hancock County. J. R. Baggs, county superintendent of schools, was initiated as an honorary 4-H club member by the girls of Liberty township.

Norma Wille of Klemme was elected county 4-H president for the coming year. Gertrude Schmidt of Garner vice president; Alice Kellog of Britt, secretary and treasurer and Marie Greiman, of near Klemme, historian. The retiring county officers installed the new officers.

More than 100 4-H club girls wrote the music memory contest which was in charge of Ada Raake Gaede. The clubs were 100 percent. Each gave a number on the program which showed some phase of 4-H club work. Mrs. Gaede was given a beautiful set of dishes from the 4-H club girls.

NO LIMITATION ON LITTERS

In view of the fact that the contracts will not be finally adjusted until after spring litters have been farrowed, resulting in many unintentional violations of the contract provisions limiting the number of litters to be farrowed in 1934, all provisions in the contract limiting the number of 1934 litters are hereby rescinded. This new ruling does not affect in any way the limitations on the number of hogs produced for market from 1934 litters.

In case the producer has lost all his pigs farrowed in 1934 enough more pigs may be farrowed to give him his number of pigs allowed to be produced for market in 1934. This means only the death loss of pigs actually farrowed and owned by the produce on his farm. It does not include feeder pigs.

There are now no restrictions on the methods of planting forage sorghums. Forage crops may be planted on land after small grain has been harvested or cut for hay.

Non-contracted acres may be planted in Iowa on June 9 or after to corn or grain sorghums for fodder purposes.

Contracted acres cannot be used for planting corn, sweet corn or grain sorghums in Iowa. Corn planted on non-contracted acres for fodder purposes may be used to complete the filling of silo. However, the producer must first use his other corn to fill his silo to the average level of 1932 and 1933. When this is done he may use the corn from non-contracted acres to finish filling the silo.

HELP FIX UP BALL DIAMOND!

Thursday afternoon all the men and boys around town who are not busy are asked to drop down to the baseball diamond to help put it in the proper condition. The diamond will be scraped, dragged and worked farther back into the outfield, ridges along baselines leveled off and the outfield trimmed. Let's all be there at 4:00 o'clock Bring hoes and spades with you.

RECORD CROWD SEES NEW FAIR

Street of Villages Gets Big Play; Lights All New.

Chicago.—More than 235,000 persons saw the new World's Fair here on its first week-end A record opening day crowd of 154,663 Saturday, May 26, surpassed last year's opening day figure by 34,988. The following day's crowd of 81,241 was greater by 28,557 than the same day in 1933.

President Roosevelt, through the medium of a motion picture shown at several points on the grounds, officially opened the Exposition. As he closed an electric switch the new lights blazed forth for the first time.

Visitors were surprised to find the Fair complete, and fully up to the promises made that it would be new.

Lights Trace Sky Ride.

Mrs. Franklin D Roosevelt, first lady of the land, inaugurated the outstanding new feature, the world's largest fountain. Like the President, she appeared in a motion picture. At a magical wave of her hand, the giant waterspouts rose from the north lagoon, livened by a play of colored light.

Lighting, the most talked-of thing about the 1933 Fair, revealed wonders never approached on the 1934 opening night. Co-ordination of lighting and color were more in evidence. Under the lights the new Century of Progress purple-red, theme color of the new Exposition, presented a glowing beauty that was different. Buildings, grouped with respect to color in light as well as color in paint, revealed a new harmony.

The Sky Ride, almost lost to vision at night formerly, greeted visitors with all its catenary system traced against the sky in electric light. Bright red neon tubes outlined the observation platforms 628 feet above the Fair. Farther south, from the rotunda of the Ford building, a pillar of blue light, 200 feet thick and more than a mile high, pierced the clouds overhead. The lighting load of this 900-feet-long building is more than one-third the total load of the entire Fair of last year.

Foreign Villages Popular.

New lights in the lagoon and a new "Aurora Borealis" of searchlights at the north end of the grounds, complementing that at the south end, completed the major changes in the night time illumination.

Mecca for the opening day throngs was the new Street of Villages. The "tour of the world in a single day" offered by the fifteen reproductions of far-away lands in the new Fair proved to be an idea that "clicked."

Eleven of the foreign villages are grouped together where the Midway was in 1933. Here are an Irish village, with the atmosphere that was known by the ancient chieftains who met in Tara Hall; the Spanish village, largest ever built for any Fair; Tunisia, the "Land of the Bedouins"; the Italian village, with its leaning tower and time-worn Roman ruins.

Free Entertainment.

Visitors saw the Tower of London and watched Shakespeare's plays presented in a reproduction of Shakespeare's original Globe theater in the English village; saw ice-skating under the summer sun in the German Black Forest Village; saw Old North Church, Mount Vernon, and the home of Paul Revere in the American Colonial village; relaxed in the luxury of a North African desert village in the Oasis; thrilled to the charm of native folk dances in the lovely Belgian village, and entered the gaiety of Montmartre in the Streets of Paris.

Elsewhere on the grounds they found a Dutch village, a Mexican village, a Swiss village and the Streets of Shanghai.

Free entertainment projects caught big crowds. Among them were the concerts on the Swift bridge, the spectacular lion and tiger show in the Standard Oil amphitheater, the circuses of the Lagoon theater, the seeming miracles performed in the Science theater and the many shows presented by exhibitors in the various exhibit buildings.

Fair Better Host.

Opening day throngs found that no exhibits remaining from last year were unchanged. Animation has been added everywhere. The Ford "exposition," altogether new, is a world of motion, showing the manufacture of virtually every part that goes into a motor car. Armour and company and Wilson and company, packers, have done much the same with their exhibits; so have the Continental Baking company, Hiram Walker, the Brook Hill dairy farm and others new to A Century of Progress.

Perhaps most important of all, visitors found the new Fair a better host. Eighty per cent of the toilets are free. transportation and restaurant prices are lower and there are more free resting places for the weary, most of them where free entertainment is in progress.

DEFINES BANKERS' PART IN RECOVERY

Head of American Bankers Association Assures the President of Confidence and Desire to Cooperate Among Bankers

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Roosevelt in his address before the NRA conference here on March 5 announced that he had received the following telegram from Francis M. Law, President of the American Bankers Association.

"On this your first anniversary please allow me in behalf of the country's banks to express our full confidence and our sincere desire to cooperate in your courageous efforts to bring about recovery. The banking structure of the country is sound and liquid and banks have never been in stronger position to function effectively. Conditions have improved to the point where it is no longer necessary for banks to be super-liquid. There is a definite call now for banks, not to extend loose credits or to make improper loans, but for a most sympathetic attitude toward legitimate credit needs and for a recognition of responsibility for their proper and vital part in the program of recovery."

The Soundness of Banking

In an address before a recent trust conference of the association's Trust Division in New York, Mr. Law said:

"A depression cannot long survive a sound banking structure if the banking structure is responsive to legitimate needs and functions in a way that is virile and alive. The most cheering fact of the present situation is the knowledge that banks are in strong position.

"Recovery, even to the most pessimistic, is no longer a myth or a rumor, nor is it merely psychological. Abundant evidence and proof lie on every hand—tangible proof. With a return of confidence the wheels have begun to go round and a great many well managed businesses may look for a profit during this calendar year with fair assurance at least. For what has been achieved let us thank the President, who has labored with courage and patience and vision. Let us thank the Congress, whose members during the emergency have put the public welfare above partisanship. Let us thank one hundred twenty-five million of our own citizens who have refused to be stampeded, but rather who have kept alive the divine spark of faith and hope.

Cause for Confidence

"We may reasonably expect that the recent action of the government in stabilizing the dollar will have a marked tendency to encourage industrial and other business commitments. Business men need not be so exclusively engaged in taking counsel of their fears now that uncertainty does not haunt them.

"Much has been said about the loosing of credit by banks. During the acute period of the depression banks for the most part have not been lending normally, nor should they be blamed. With public confidence shattered the banker was properly concerned in liquidity, having in mind his primary obligation to pay off deposits. The situation has improved to the point where superliquidity no longer seems necessary. Conditions have materially changed. Banks will desire, for every reason, to return to a more normal lending policy. This means a sympathetic attitude and a recognition of responsibility for his proper part in the program of recovery by the banker as he passes upon and meets sound credit requirements of business as it swings into and continues on the upward turn."

Public Confidence Returns

Direct information indicates conclusively that the banking situation is showing definite and steady improvement, J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, said in a recent address. He pointed out that the decided drop which has occurred in money in circulation shows the public has largely ceased hoarding.

On March 1, 1934, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the volume of money in circulation amounted to $5,355,000,000, which was a decline of $1,077,000,000 since March 1, 1933. It was a drop of $2,226,000,000, or over 29 per cent, from the all-time peak of $7,581,000,000 reached on March 13, 1933. About one-half the decrease, it was pointed out, reflected the return of currency from the public.

Money in circulation declined rapidly after the reopening of the banks in March, 1933, and has continued since to decline from week to week, "notwithstanding the increase in the demand for currency arising from enlargement of pay rolls and increase in the volume of retail trade," the Comptroller said, which, he added, "indicates a continued return of money from hoards as banking facilities were reestablished."

About Bank Loans

"As for the charge that the banks will not extend credit, the first and obvious reply is that the banks themselves are made up of the very bone and sinew of the industrial, commercial and agricultural interests of the country. Bank directors, and, to a large extent, bank officers, are drawn from the business and farming population. If they do not feel at any given moment that it is wise to make a particular loan, it is more than probable that there are sound reasons for not making it," says an editorial in the Saturday Evening Post.

A LUCKY ACCIDENT— NO ONE INJURED

Wm. Stille and son, Don, were cruising along Frida after dinner on their way to the Stille farm west of town when they niticed a car in the ditch, p-side-down, west of the Otto Lemke farm. They were about to pass it up when Mr. Stille noticed that one wheel was stil spinning so concluded that the car had just tipped over and maybe someone might be under it. His conclusions were correct. First he and Don extracted Herman Schuldt rom under the car, then the three of them lift- it higher and "Doc" Waddingham crawled fro munder. Neither was hurt except for a few bruises. accident happened when Herman's straw hat departed from his head and stairted blowing out of the car. Herman must have given chase and headed the car in the direction of the flying hat and the ditch! The car, a Ford pick-up, was righted and all continued on to their work.

FLY SPRAYS ADD TO COMFORT

Apply It As A Fine Mist That Clings To Ends Of Hairs

Even though experiments have failed to show any great increase in milk production when fly sprays are used on cows, the comfort and convenience to the cow and the milker are reasons enough for using a good spray.

The spray should be applied lightly so that a fine mist clings to the ends of the hairs and does not reach the skin. When the cow's hide is soaked, blistering is likely to result.

Commercal fly sprays are usually better than homemade mixtures because they are cheaper—except when large quantities are used.

Benefits from the use of sprays will be increased by other measures to keep down down flies around the cows Manure piles and other breeding places should be kept cleaned up. The barn may be darkened to decrease the annoyance by flies by painting the windows with green kalsomine. Fly traps should be used freely. The flies may be killed in the barn by using a kerosene spray when the cows are not in. The spray should contain 1 pound of pyrethum to a gallon of kerosene.

The Siesta

The farmer is not wasting time, durin long, hot harvest days, when he takes a half hour of rest at noon.

He lies down and sleeps for a few m He awakes refreshed and strong for the we heat of an afternoon that is long.

"Down South" everybody sleeps a Even the business men close up for two o hours. They call this after-dinner nap Siesta"—which is a word the Romans i some 2,000 years ago and which means the hour sleep."

Some fellows "doze off" in a big chair; others lie down to snore on the hard room floor; still others will "snatch a few on the shady lawn while the bugs and fli them a song.

But the best way to take your Siesta put your Cot or Couch on the screened por take your noon-nap like a gentleman.

BANKING RETURNS TOWARD NORMAL

Reconstruction Finance Corporation Loan Repayments Show Banks Lead Procession in Recovery Movement

Indicating a rapid return on the part of the banks to a normal self-sustaining basis, 54 per cent of the loans which they made from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to tide them over the difficulties of the past two years have been repaid by them, it is shown in a recent official report.

The R. F. C. report, issued on March 6, says that the Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, had made aggregate cash advances to railroads, agricultural and home loan agencies, insurance companies and various other institutions in the amount of $4,786,410,000. Of this sum banks and trust companies, to the number of 6,783, received actual cash advances of $1,520,540,000, but have already paid back $820,260,000, or 54 per cent. These figures are exclusive of $376,390,000 in loans authorized but withdrawn or not availed of by the banks.

Non-banking borrowers received R. F. C. advances in the amount of $3,265,870,000, and made repayments of $377,830,000, or less than 12 per cent. Among other classes of financial institutions reported as making high ratios of repayments are building and loan associations which had received $114,020,000 and have repaid $53,880,000, or over 47 per cent, and insurance companies, whose borrowings totalled $88,590,000 and repayments $34,340,000, or nearly 39 per cent. None of the major non-governmental financial groups showed so high a ratio of repayments as the banks and trust companies as a group.

BANK LOANS AND BUSINESS RECOVERY

Official Describes Efforts of Reserve Banks to Bring Out Deserving Borrowers—Present Situation Typical

Apropos of the part that an expansion of business loans by banks occupies in the early stages of the business recovery which is now gaining headway, a Federal Reserve Bank official recently gave an interesting review of the experiences of his institution in this connection. In 1932 the Federal Reserve Banks were empowered by law to make direct loans to individuals in unusual circumstances when they had been unable to obtain loans from a commercial bank, he pointed out.

From the middle of 1932 to the end of 1933 there were 1,286 applicants for loans at the New York Federal Reserve Bank under this law. The great majority of these applications proved on examination to be for funds for capital purposes, which are properly supplied as an investment in the business, or else were mortgage loans or others unclassifiable as commercial.

Only Fourteen Qualify

Only 250, or less than 20 per cent, were of the type which merited detailed investigation. The amount involved was $9,525,000. After further study of these, the Federal Reserve Bank was forced to turn down the applications of 236, finally offering credit in the sum of $1,417,000 to 14 prospective borrowers. Of this amount, only $806,000 was actually loaned, more than one-half of which was still outstanding many months later. Two of the borrowers went into receivership.

"Since it was the special endeavor of the Federal Reserve Bank to make every possible loan under the emergency provisions of the amendment, and since their best efforts resulted in the extension of so small a sum as to have no effect on the total volume of commercial loans, it is a reasonable assumption that eligible borrowers entitled to bank credit are being provided for by the commercial banks," says the American Bankers Association Journal in commenting on this episode.

It is characteristic, as shown by studies of past business cycles, for changes in the volume of commercial bank credit to follow behind either contraction or expansion of business activity, says a financial writer in the New York Times. This was manifest recently in England's recent recovery where there was a lag between increased business and increased commercial loans.

County Key Bankers

Describing the activities of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, the Director, D. H. Otis, says: "With 2,500 agriculturally minded bankers designated as county key bankers, there is enlisted a tremendous force for the improvement of agriculture. These key bankers bring organized assistance to progressive bankers, who are led to see the possibility of agricultural work in their communities. Banker-farmer tours are emphasized as a means of acquainting bankers, farmers and other business men with first-hand knowledge of how agricultural improvement methods are working out in practice. These give an opportunity for the key bankers to contact country bankers and work out new ideas."

The World's Fair

Another opportunity to see the Century of Progress Exhibition at Chicago is offered this summer. On vacation tours through this country, to the west or the National Parks, a visit to the World's Fair can be included.

At this great spectacle, you will be among strangers from all over the world. That may add to the festive spirit of the occasion, but will it add to your peace of mind as to the safety of your funds?

Stepping into this bank before you leave on your trip will relieve you of worry about your travel funds at the World's Fair or wherever you may go, because we will change your cash into AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELERS CHEQUES, the safe, insured travel funds.

Should they be lost or stolen before counter-signing, your vacation will not be spoiled, because your loss will be refunded!

This Bank sells this protection of your travel funds at the small cost of 75c for each $100 purchased.

Most Amazing Proof
OF EXTRA STRENGTH • SAFETY AND DEPENDABILITY Ever Known!

WORLD RECORD BROKEN!

IT IS almost inconceivable that human ingenuity could build that would withstand the terrific punishment of the 500-mile gri Indianapolis, May 30.

'Round and 'round the blistering track they streaked, hour hour, under the blazing sun . . . the low moan of powerful rose to a terrific roar as they hit the straightaways at 150 miles or —grinding, pulling, pounding around treacherous tire-destroying faster than they ever dared before. Sliding into the turns at these speeds, there was nothing to hold the car to the track except the Mile after mile, lap after lap, greater and greater heat increased centrifugal force developed to separate the tread fro body of the tire. Every conceivable force known was working to tear tires to pieces—yet Firestone High Speed Tires, with Gum-D High Stretch Cords, withstood this most gruelling test.

Thirty-three demons of speed—thirty-three cars equipped Firestone High Speed Tires—all protected by Gum-Dipped High S Cords—entered the Annual Speed Classic. Every tire was bought driver or owner of the car.

In all the heat—in all the grinding—in all the straining pulling—not one cotton strand loosened—not one life was end by tire failure—not one car was forced out of the race by tire tr Six of the winners finished without a tire change.

What a tribute to the Extra Strength—Safety and Durability into Firestone High Speed Tires.

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

The amazing record of Firestone dependability at Indiana was made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dip Every fiber of every cord in every ply of the tire is saturated and c with pure liquid rubber; there are eight extra pounds of rubber to 100 pounds of cotton cords.

There is greater adhesion between the plies of the Gum-D Cord body and between the body and the tread. As a result of patented process of Gum-Dipping Firestone engineers have been a build a wider tread of flatter contour, with more and tougher r and deeper non-skid, giving you more than 50% longer no mileage.

R. AND MRS. R. A. JORGENSON SURPRISED ON FIFTEENTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dinner In Their Honor Given At Clear Lake Cottage

On Wednesday, June 25, 1919 Miss Mary Jane Davis and Mr. R. A. Jorgenson were unittd in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Titus Davis, at Lincoln, Nebraska.

In commemoration of that event friends of the "happy couple" carried out a surprise in thier honor Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jorgenson and son, R. A. Junior, had gone to the Keraus cottage at Ventura Heigths, expecting to be there for dinner and to spend the afternoon, as they do many times during the summer.

At noon things began to happen: It looktd as though several families had also the same idea to spend the day there. Not until the big dinner was ready did it dawn on the "bride and groom" that they were being given a surprise dinner on their 15th wedding anniversary. Spring chicken, home made ice cream, cake and othtr fine food had been prepared and brought to the cottage for dinner. After dinner Mr. and Mrs. Jorgenson were presented with a beautiful lace table spread.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus; C. G. Waterman and family; Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Dulmess; Mr. and Mrs. J. Jorgenson of Garntr; Lyle Liebendorfer and family of Mason City; Dean Hilman nd family of Clear Lake; Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell of Swea City. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, of Swea City were supper guests.

SIOUX FALLS, SOUTH DAKOTA PEOPLE IN AUTO MISHAP

Mrs. Smith and her daughter, and Mr. Snyder, all of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, were brought to Klemme Sunday morning for medical attention as a result of injuries received when the Plymouth car thty were riding n skidded in loose gravel and turned over in the ditch near the Adolph Schlichting farm southeast of Klemme.

The Wellemeyer ambulance was called and Mr. Wtllemeyer also towed their car, which was not baddy damaged, to town.

The occupants of the car were not seriously injured and were able to return to their home Sunday afternoon. They were on thtir way to visit with friends at Grundy Center when the accident happened.

John Griewe, who came from Sioux Falls with them, had stopped off in Klemme as he came to attend the Ell reunion.

PARTIAL RELEASE IS OFFERED FOR CORN PLACED UNDER SEAL

Farmers who placed car corn under farm warehouse seal last winter to qualify for a Government loan and who now need grain for feed purposes on account off drought, may secure a partial release of corn under a single warehouse certificate, upon payment of the approximate value of the corn taken out of storage, it is reported by the AAA. Heretolfore, no part of the corn stored under one warehouse certificate could be eleased until the loan covering all such corn collateral had been paid in full, with accrued interest and insurance charges.

The new ruling was framed by the Commodity Credit Corporation, agricultural commodity loan agency of the Government, on the recommendation and at the request of the A A A, to accomodate farmers who need corn immediately because of feed shortage caused by drought.

To obtain a partial release of corn collateral under one warehouse certificate, the borrower shall remit an amount of money equivalent to 47 cents per bushel for approximately the number of bushels he desires to have released. This is an estimate of the principal, interest, and insurance on the quantity of corn removed from under seal. With his remittance the farmer also shall furnish the name and address of the official sealer or inspector in his county, who will be summoned to unseal the crib.

All authorization for the partial releases must be obtained directly from the Commodity Credit Corporation or through local lending agencies. Banks and other local lending agencies are not permitted to extend the partial release privilege on their own authority, but may aid borrowers. Where his note is held by a bank or other lending agency and he does not desire to pay the full amount due upon a single farm warehouse certificate, the borrower should request the bank to submit his note through the nearest loan agency of the R. F. C. for purchase by the Commodity Credit Corporation. C. C. C. officals then may authorize the unsealing of the crib under supervision upon receipt of the specified payment

Because the space allowed per bushel uder storage was established under the loan agreement at 2½ cubic feet instead of the customary 2 1-4 cubic feet, to allow for indeterminate moisture shrinkage. the amount of corn, on a weight basis, now removed may overrun the equivalent of the partial payment on the volume basis. On the other hand, corn which was not well settled in the crib and was high in moisture content t the time the loan was made, may run a little under the equivalent of the partial payment on a volume basis. In total, however, the borrower in the end will not repay more than the original principal of the loan, plus accrued interest, insurance, and the incidental costs of sealig and resealing the corn.

The partial release privilege is not restricted to officially designated drought areas but is open to any borrower on any amount off corn for which he can make a repayment installment at 47 cents per bushel. Additional partial releases of corn under a single warehouse certificate may be arranged by the borrower before maturity of his note, but because he is responsible for all resealing costs the borrower will find it advantageous to remove at one time all the corn to be needed. The privilege is available in any State in which loans were made on farm-stored corn, that is, Illinois, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, So. Dakota, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana and Kansas.

It costs more to be proud than to be generous.

HAVE COMPLETED PLANS FOR FINAL CONTRACT SIGN UP

Greiman Urges Quick Action On Sign Up To Bring Money To Hancock County Farmers At Early Date

Plans for the second and final signing of corn-hog contracts which will put Hancock Conty farmers in line to receive benefit payments on the regular payment contracts have been completed by the allotment committee, according to Ben V. Greiman, Chairman.

Typists have been busy the last two weeks typing the regular pays and those will be sent back to the permanent township committees this next week for the second and final signatures of producers The plan for the sign up is quite the same as he first sign up Sign up days will be held in the various communities where farmers may come and affix their second signatures. This signifies their acceptance of the contracts and whatever adjustments have been made by the allotment committee and the state board of review.

Ample opportunity will be given farmers to check over any adjustments made and members of the county or township committee will be glad to explain the purposes of the adjustments. It is very likely that all contracts will not be taken back to the producers at the same time but will bo taken to them as the contracts from various townships are completed.

Some adjustments of corn and hog figures has been necessary because of mathematical errors and inaccurate memories concerning past production.

These adjustments were made to bring the county total into line with the county quota furnished by the state board of review. Where major adjustments have been made in individual contracts the committee has in the majority of the cases consulted the producer about it.

Members of the township committee will be at central points in the community where farmers can sign as in the preliminary sign up. No time will be needed this time; however, for filling out forms as in the first sign up.

Mr. Greiman urges farmers to complete the second signing of the contracts as rapidly as possible.

Special attention should be given to gettng absentee landlords signatures. Quick action on the part of farmers in affiring their signatures will enable the allotment committee to certify the contracts and forward them to Washington promptly. Benefit payments will be issued in the order of which the contracts are receved at Washington. For that reason speed in the final sign up will aid in bringing the corn-hog benefit payments to Hancock County at an early date.

DROUTH WILL NOT ENDANGER SUPPLY OF NATION'S FOOD

Although the drouth has been serious throughout many of the leading agricultural states, the nation's food supply has not been endangered, according to specialists of the AAA and the United States Depantment of Agriculture who have studied the situation carefully.

They say that if wheat production this year should be as low as 500 million bushels as indicated in recent forecasts, the burdensome surplus would be still further reduced, but the carry-over of unusod wheat would still be about 135 million bushels next year when the 1935 crop comes in. The present surplus of about 260 million bushels, plus this year's expected crop of about 500 million bushels, would give a supply of 760 million bushels, as compared with estimated annual needs of not more than 625 million bushels.

Forced marketing and emergency cattle buying operations of the Government in the drouth areas are moving large numbers of animals, but this disposal of low grade stock will merely help in the reduction of an estimated surplus of more than 6 million cows and heifers.

Wheat and cattle are two commodities, vital to the food supply of the nation, which, although they are affected by the drouth, continue to exhist in quanities in excess of demands. If it were not for the tragedy which it inflicts on its victims, the drouth might be considered to have compensatng advantages because it reduces existing surpluses.

Weight Reduced From 180 to 137

"Wonderful" She Says

Here's today's story of a woman who knew she carried too much fat and decided the right way to get rid of it—just a few words that wise fat folks should heed—worth reading.

"I use Kruschen Salts to reduce It's wonderful. Take it daily and eat what I want and still lose. I did weigh 180, now 137. Want to get down to 125." Mrs. Leonard Bass, Ft. Atkinson, Wis., Feb. 6, 1934.

When you take one half teaspoinful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water—you not only lose in weight but you put healthy activity into your whole body—you feel younger and look it—get it at P. M Wilson's or any drugstore in the world. 3

Ask Any Businessman

Businessmen demand more from their bank in the way of service than any other class of depositor. Among the depositers of this bank are many businessmen. If you should ask them why they bank here, their answers would be something like this: "Because I have confidence in the men who manage the affairs of this bank. My business requires dependable banking service with careful attention to details. Here, there is no lost motion— all my transactions are handled promptly, thanks to complete facilities and attentive service."

While this type of service is important to businessmen, it is just as important in handling personal finances. Regardless of your needs, whether for business, personal, or household finances, you will find at this bank the same dependable service, the same genuine interest in your financial progress.

Adjustment Commitee To Act At County Meeting

FARM DEBT COMMITTEE MEETS TUESDAY EVE, JULY 17TH

The County Farm Debt Adjustment Committee recently appointed by the Governor for Hancock county by will meet at the Farm Bureau office in Garner Tuesday evening, July 17, at 8 o'clock. All farmers interested in refinancing plans, or who would like to consult with the committee are urged to attend these meetings.

The following are the officers of the committee: Bob Rheim, Garner, chairman; V. A. Cook, Goodell, vice chairman; L. E. Brooker, Forest City, secretary. John Chambers and A. L. Barker are other members of the committee.

The local committee, in order to avoid any misunderstandings as to its duties, wishes to make public the following statement concerning its works: "Any debtor or creditor seeking a readjustment in the debt relationship, one with the other, may ask this committee to investigate and make recommendations to either or both parties for the purpose of effecting a satisfactory solution of any existing difficulties."

Application blanks will be furnished to either the debtor or the creditor seeking adjustment. These blanks supplied by members of the committee may be used to request the aid of the committee. Blanks may also be had at the Farm Bureau Office in Garner.

This committee has nothing to do with the actual refinancing of farm loans under the Federal farm relief legislative program. Such relief should be sought through the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, of which Ralph Whitney of Britt is Secretary and Treasurer and local representative.

Debtors and creditors who submit their problems to the committee should recognize that conciliation is the keynote and that the recommendation of the committee is for the guidance of both parties in their efforts to reach a friendly and mutually satisfactory settlement of their problems.

ELEVEN RECEIVED DIPLOMAS IN REFORMED BIBLE SCHOOL

The following received their diplomas in the Reformed Vacation Bible School which closed a five week term Friday, June 29: Stella Barz, Elaine Buntenbach, Velma Kaduce, Earl Neuhring, Raymond Wille, Paul Schuldt, Vernon Lau, Eloise Etchen, Avis Barz, Gladys Griffen and Doris Barz. A program was givtn in the forenoon.

Five received first year leadership awards. They were: Max Barz, Wilma Swalve, Carmen Kluckhohn, Arlene Kraus and Laverne Hammitt Three were given second year leadership awards as follows: Esther Knoke, Milvern Barz and Leo Winkman.

The enrollment this year was 130 with an average of 114. A picnic dinner was served at noon to a large number. The young people gathered again for the evening.

Small Grain Exceedingly Good In North Iowa

On a drive Sunday on state highway No. 9 between Forest City and Swea City, the writer saw some of the best oats we have ever seen. A field just north of Thompson looked especially good. It was thick, heavy heads and fairly high. We thought the oats around Klemme looked fairly good compared to other places in the state, but the Winnebago and north Kossuth county grain is wonderful this year. However, we have them "shaded" on corn. Hancock county corn looks better than that further north and west of here.

HENRY BEEK PASSED AWAY AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Henry Beek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamo Beek, was born on August 17, 1905, at Aplington, Grundy county, Iowa. During his childhood days the parents moved to Watertown, S. D., and then to Estherville and since 1912 have been living in the community of Klemme.

Henry attended the public schools during his childhood days He was brought to Holy Baptism by his parents in the Reformed Church of Aplington. With the other members of the family, he joined the Reformed church of Klemme in 1928

On the 12th day of October, 1932 he was joined in marriage to Miss Jennie Van Osten of Meservey. To this union one son was born, who passed away in infancy. The young people made their home in Klemme Since the first of March he had been employed by Theodore Albers.

Henry was a quiet, home loving boy. All who knew him speak of him as a good-hearted young man, a faithful worker, ready to help whenever help was needed. After only two days sickness of diabetes and other complications, he died Wednesday evening, June 27, at 11 30 o'clock, at the age of 28 years, 10 months and 10 days.

Surviving him and mourning his death are his wife ad parents, four brothers. Ben, Herman, John and George; and four sisters, Mrs. Minnie Trampel, Frieda, Kate and Dena One sister preceding him in death

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and who extended their sympathy and beautiful floral offerings to us at our recent bereavement

HANCOCK COUNTY 4-H CLUB SHOW AUGUST 16 AND 17

Arrangements are being completed for the 4-H club show to be held in Garner on August 16 and 17. Judges have been secured for all the livestock except horses. Rex Beresford, of Iowa State College, has been secured as judge for the beef, hogs and sheep; W. R Whitfield will judge the poultry and Earl Schultz of the dairy extension division will act as judge for the dairy calves. Communications are being held with several experienced horsemen and a good judge will be secured.

Several important changes are being made in regard to the show this year. These will be released to all club leaders and club boys and girls before long. Miss Neale S. Knowles has been secured to judge the Home Project work.

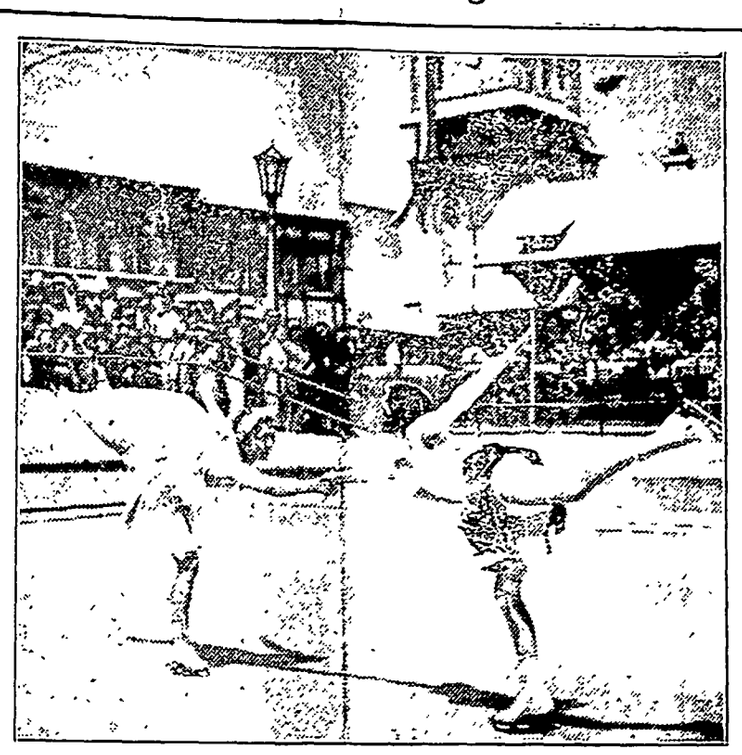
BOY SCOUT CAMP OPENS ON NINTH OF JULY

The summer camping program of the Boy Scouts of America will open at Camp Roosevelt near Ventura. Iowa, Monday morning, July 9th, with three five-day periods and one ten-day period scheduled. This camp is under the auspices of the Department of Program of the North Iowa Area Council and is scheduled to run three five day periods which will open July 9th, 14th and 19th and one ten-day period opening on July 24th and closing August 3rd.

The program is quite similar to that of last year in that the Scouts will prepare and cook two meals, breakfast and supper, each day in their own camping units. The usual swimming program will be carried out under the direction of a new Waterfront Director. The handicraft this year will consist of leathercraft, Indian archery, wood carving, tincancraft and others. Special classes will be held in cooking.

Two welcome additions to the equipment at Camp this year are the battery of four shower baths and new screen mess halls for each of the camp units.

Summer Ice Skating at Fair



Winter weather all summer long is the novelty that is attracting thousands daily to the German Black Forest village in the new World's Fair at Chicago. Gigantic crowds are flocking to the new Street of Villages, for a "tour of the world" in a single day.

YE EDITOR AND FAMILY TOOK SHORT TRIP TO MISSOURI

Editor Jorgenson and family, accompanied by Bob Liebendorfer, of Mason City, went to Kansas City last week to visit over the Fourth at the Hugh Chapman home

Since our return home many have inquired as to how the crops look, so for the benefit of all of our readers we will give a brief summary. In the vicinity of Des Moines and for perhaps 30 or 40 miles south the pastures are scorched brown and the oats has turned almost white Southern Iowa and Northern Missouri looked very good. with the pastures nice and green and the corn shoulder-high. From Excelsior Springs to Kansas City pastures again looked dry, but not entirely gone as a good rain would help a lot Corn looked pretty fair. Northern Iowa looks as good as any place we went through and this vicinity has nothing to "crab about." Franklin and Cerro Gordo county have had more rain earlier in the season and their pastures are in fine shape.

We encountered good rains both on our trip down and back Des Moines had a good rain on our way down and indications of a good rain were noticed as far south as Excelsior Springs On our way back home we again drove through good rains east of Ames, Colo, and north of Iowa Falls. Plenty of rain around there and crops look good.

We were glad to get back to Klemme as the temperature at Kansas City was over 100 degrees every day we were there. The thermometer registered 76 degrees when we returned home Thursday afternoon —quite a change.

M. E. LADIES AID WILL HAVE ANNUAL PICNIC AT LAKE

The M. E. Ladies Aid will have ir annual picnic at the Kraus cottage at Ventura Heights on Thursday afternoon. July 19th. A committee has been appointed to make all arrangements. All Aid members and their families are invited at the church at not later than 1:30 p. m. and those who can drive are asked to take a load. The men should plan to come to the cottage for supper. All should bring bathing suits.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOTES AND SCHEDULE
J. L. Ralston. Pastor

Morning worship at 10:00 o'clock
Sunday School at 11:00 o'clock.
Epworth League at 7:30 o'clock at Liberty.
No prayer meeting or Bible study this week.
Choir rehearsal Friday 8:00 p. m.

Liberty Schedule

Sunday School at 10:15 o'clock
Morning worship at 11:30 o'clock

The Bible Conference will begin July 29 and continue until August 5 at the Methodist camp at Okoboji. Some of the outstanding Bishops and speakers of our church will be there. This will be a fine opportunity to spend a few days of great value.

Our Conference meets at Algona September 26th. It will be the Sesqua-centennial of Methodism and there will be an effort to have an exhibition. Much that will be of interest to all who are interested in the progress of the church.

Methodism entered this country one hundred and fifty years ago. Without a church, a preacher on a horse, it was not encouraged by friends, by invitations or by money, but it has built up a constitu ncy in all its branches of thirty millions. It is equipped with fifty thousand church buildings, universities, hospitals, homes for the aged and for the orphans. It owns a press which took the Gold Medal prize at the World's Fair and commands a leadership.

How did Methodism gain all this? Not by its schools for they had a hard struggle and few of wealth to support them. Not by the favors of the government for Wesley, being in England, was under suspicion during the Revolutionary War and the church suffered much persecution for its stand against slavery and the crusade against the liquor traffic. Methodism won its way by the simple passion of a love for souls and a purpose to save them.

Silo Struck, Four Cows Killed By Lightning

Early the morning of July 4th lightning struck at the Henry Boseman farm just south of Klemme. Lightning damaged the silo and four good cows were killed.

Klemme Business House Does Extensive Changing

213 ATTENDED FIRST ANNUAL GREIMAN REUNION

Descendants of William and Anna Greiman who came to America from German nearly eighty years ago and settled at Garnavillo met Sunday, July 1, in the first annual "get together."

Sunday's gathering was held in "Butterfield Grove" on the W. F. Grreiman, jr., farm, west of Goodell. A bountiful picnic dinner was partaken of at the noon hour after which a program of singing and music was enjoyed by the women and the men, single and married. vied against each other in a ball game. The single men came out victors. Herbert Greiman was chairman of the men's program and Mrs. Louis Weaver of the entertainment for the women.

There were 213 registered in all and their ages ranged from 85-year old Mrs. Mary Greiman Oelkers of Sheffield to three-week's-old Donna Goll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Goll, of north of Klemme.

Representatives of the original family are: Mrs. Mary Greiman Oelkers, Sheffield; Fred Greiman, sr, Garner; Henry Greiman, sr., Blue Earth, Minn.; Mrs. Anna Greiman Katter. William Greiman, of Garner was unable to attend, but his wife was present; Mrs. Elizabeth Harnack, Remsen and Mrs. Katherine Obermuller, Garnavillo.

Those from a distance who were here for the meeting were Miss Bertha Harnack; Miss Elizabeth Harnack; Mrs. Carrie Harnack and daughter; Mrs. Carrie Oelkers; Mr. and Mrs. August Oelkers and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. Oelkers and family Mr. and Mrs. William Greiman and family, Sheffield; The Blue Earth, Minn., relatives were represented 99 percent, only one of the sons-in-law being missing. They were Henry Greiman, sr.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greiman, jr., and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greiman and family; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Greiman and family; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Knietz and Mrs. Ben Bergman and children Viola Bierbaum of Garnavillo, Mr. and Mrs. William Nieman and family, Clarksville and the William and Fred Greiman families of this vicinity.

It was decided that next year's meeting would also be held in Hancock county.

GARNER YOUNG FOLKS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR HERE

Dean Gilbert, accompanied by the Misses Relma and Lucille Kropp and Velva and Verna Carothers, all of Garner, were injured when the car driven by Gilbert overturned on the highway north of Klemme early last week Tuesday morning. Miss Relma Kropp suffered a broken leg and Mr. Gilbert suffered a severe injury to his back. He was taken to a Mason City hospital for treatment, where he was advised to go to Iowa City as his condition seemed serious. On the trip to Iowa City the car Gilbert was riding in went down an 18 foot embankment and turned over several times. The miracle of this last accident was that Gilbert's back which was thought to be broken, went back into place again and instead of going to the hospital the young man was taken home and is apparently as well as ever. The other occupants of this latter car were uninjured.

Good Rains Here Past Week Break Drouth and Heat Wave

Practically all of north Iowa which had sweltered under near 100 degree temperatures. was drenched with soaking rains over the 4th. Klemme and vicinity had wonderful rains which really soaked down into the ground. One man remarked that it was the most welcome rain in twenty-seven years that he had lived here. North Iowa crops are now looking good.

CASE IMPLEMENT STORE BEING REMODELED NOW

Large Display Room Being Added; New Office Quarters Also

Extensive improvements are taking place at the Northern Lumber Company's Case implement store.

The south and east part of the building is being remodeled into a large display and show room that is 17x29 feet in size and large enough to display large machinery, such as tractors, binders, plows, manure spreaders, corn pickers and other heavy machinery. A large door in the north side of the room can be opened to run in the large machinery. This room is well lighted with six large plate glass windows. At the rear of the new display room will be the headquarters of Dwight Osborne, manager of the implement business. His new office quarters are well lighted and comfortable.

The old office which was located in the northeast part of the building will in the future be used for the storage of repairs and small parts regularly carried in stock.

When all work has been completed we believe Klemme will have one of the best equipped implement shops in this part of the state.

CORN EAR WORMS REPORTED IN HANCOCK COUNTY

A number of reports of corn earworm infestation have been reported to the Farm Bureau office this past week. The pest is found in the territory from Ames northward. Apparently this year the infestation of corn by the corn earworm has begun considerably earlier than usual and more of the worms are going into the stalks.

Control of the earworm is very difficult. Practically nothing can be done at the present time to protect the corn from the borer. Hand collection would be the most effective remedy. This of course, would be impractical and an impossible task.

The corn earworm migrates north each season with the development of vegetation. The warm winter and spring have been very favorable for the spread and increase of the corn earworm. It looks as if Iowa farmers will suffer a great deal of damage from the insect this year. It will not wipe out fields, but in field heavily infested the worms may take from ten to fifteen percent of the crop. Field observations indicate that there are probably three generations a year in the state. The first moths appear in late May and each female deposits from 400 to 3,000 eggs on the leaves of the young corn plants. The strong flying power, coupled with the great egg laying capacity of the moths makes the corn earworm a very difficult insect to control. Late fall plowing destroys the pupal cells and is probably the most important single factor in control.

JOHN DAY RECEIVES NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT AS POST MASTER

Under date of July 7th John Day received official notification from Washington of his appointment as post master at Klemme. Mr. Day has been serving as acting postmaster for several months. He has not as yet, however, received his commission. This will be sent to him soon, according to the letter of appointment. His term of office is for a period of four years.

Movie Machine Repaired

The movie machine used to project the free movies shown in Klemme every Saturday night, was shipped to the factory for a complete overhaul job. The machine was in new condition and should show pictures without a hitch in the future.

Today's Live News For Fat Folks

THREE GREAT LETTERS

READ THEM ALL

From all over he country—north—south—east—west come letters of praise for the world's safe and healthful enemy of fat—don't miss these 3 letters.

"I am using Kruschen Sats on advice of my Doctor. Have used three bottles and lost 15 lbs., and gladly recommend it to all my.. friends." Mrs. G. W. Bryant, Foxboro, Mass., 1934.

"I am using your Kruschen Salts for constipation and reducing. Have taken 3 jars and have lost about 20 lbs. I can recommend it to be great" Miss A J. Harber, Pineville, Ky., 1934

"I have taken 3 bottles of Kruschen. I weighed 256, I reduced 56 lbs., and felt better each day, have got my fourth bottle." Ed Jordon, Leveen, Ariz., 1934.

If you are proud of your double chin and bulging abdomen don't take Kruschen Salts. Ed Jordon made up his mind to take off 50 or more pounds of fat—and he did—Ed was sick and tired of lugging it around with him—persistency won for Ed as it will for any fat man.

A half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—get Kruschen at- P. M. Wilson's or any drugstore 6

W. F. M. S. Gave Party For Mothers And Children

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Church were hostesses to all children under five years of age and their mothers, at a meeting held on Tuesday afternoon, June 28th. A nice lunch was served and a fine time was reported by all. A program by the W. F. M. S. was enjoyed by those present.

Klemme Young Men At CCC Camp At Pilot Knob

Verle Keraus and Roy Smock were accepted as recruits for the CCC which is located at Pilot Knob east of Forest City. The boys are just getting used to the work but both think they will like it fine. The organization at Pilot Knob has the reputation of being one of the best outfits in Iowa.

Birthday Party Saturday

Miss Nova Koerner passed another milestone Saturday and spent the afternoon entertaining her many friends with a party. The invitations read "Come dressed as a nine-year-old". And such fun as they did have, playing kid games and visiting. Miss Nova received many beautiful gifts. Delicious refreshments were served.

Slumber Party Saturday Evening

Miss Jeanne Thada entertained a number of friends at a slumber party at her home Saturday evening. The evening was spent in playing court whist and at a late hour Miss Jeanne served a lovely lunch. A breakfast had been planned in the Goodell woods, but owing to the coolness of the weather it was served at the Thada home. Miss Roberts of Britt was among the out-of-town guests.

House Burns Down On Kirkwood's Farm In Minnesota

Wm. Kirkwood received word on Tuesday that the house on his farm near Mille Lac, Minnesota, had burned to the ground Saturday night. The people who rent the farm had gone to their neighbors to visit and returning three hours later saw the house in ashes. How the fire might have started they did not know. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirkwood drove to Mille Lac early this Wednesday morning to look after affaairs.

Auxiliary Meeting Thursday Eve

The Klemme Auxiliary Unit will meet this week Thursday evening, July 12th, at the home of Miss Berdice Schwichtenberg. Mrs. Dave Schwichtenberg is assistant hostess.

ODD ACCIDENTS

Little Jean Johnson stood on the curb in a Maryland City waiting to cross the street. A door on a passing truck flew open, struck him on the head and fractured his skull.

A Pennsylvanian, Lovell Short, went riding with a friend and his face was injured in an accident. He sued friend and a sympathetic jury awarded him damages because the accident had so affected his tear ducts that they flowed continuously. (Maybe the jury was moved by his tears.)

It is considered good marksmanship to bring down your prey with one shot but a colored Washington citizen brought down three men with a single bullet during a street fight.

KNOW ANY BIGGER?

This is almost like the straw and the camel story, but anyway the locale is different. We give the floor to Seymour Humphrey of Minong, Wis. This yarn rightfully belongs to an old-timer by the name of Maxon, now dead 50 years, who in the early days settled on the Blue Earth river in Minnesota. What he related must have happened at least a century ago—long before this soft cigarette age, back when men were men and chewed tobacco and could spit accurately 20 feet.

"I once owned a span of sorrel gelding that were the best pair of pullers I ever held a line on. I had grown them from colts, broke them to drive, and had worked with them so much that I got to know just to an ounce what they could pull.

"One day in the winter I went into the woods and loaded the sled with timber until I had on just as much as they could haul. It was good, snug pulling, but they drew it over the worst part so I stopped them to rest.

"I was mindful to draw up on level ground where the footing was good. During the stop I took off my mittens and laid them on the load. When I thought they had recovered sufficiently I took up the lines to start the horses, but they couldn't move.

"I knew something must be wrong for they had been able to pull the load before. I looked under the sled to see if we were hung up on some low stump or rock. Nothing was there. Again I took up the lines and spoke firmly. Those horses got right down and pulled their darndest, but they still couldn't budge it.

"Just as I was about to throw off part of the load I happened to look up and saw the mittens. I put them on, picked up the lines, and those sorrels walked right off just as easy as you please."

An impulse to be sociable resulted fatally for William Abel, 19-year old Tennessee lad. Riding on a truck, he released his hold to wave at some girls—and the truck struck a bump, throwing him through the windshield of a passing car.

DROUTH AREAS TO GET LOWER FREIGHT RATES

All Iowa Farmers Are Entitled To Lower Rates on Seed, Hay, Cattle

Iowa farmers, since all counties have been declared in the secondary drouth area, are entitled to emergency drouth relief freight rates on seed, hay and cattle, R. K. Bliss, director of the Iowa Extension Service and state director of the AAA drouth relief, has announced.

Hay can be shipped in for feeding purposes at 50 percent of the regular rate. The rate on grains has been reduced to 66 2-3 percent. Cattle may be shipped to an area where feed is available for 85 percent of the regular rate and then shipped back for 15 percent.

Proper authorization from the county agent, the county director of AAA drouth relief, must be obtained before the emergency rates are effective.

Efforts are being made to encourage farmers to save small g for next spring and to grow forage crops to provide fee the fall and winter. The sh grain crop, especially oats, is likely to result in a seed next spring.

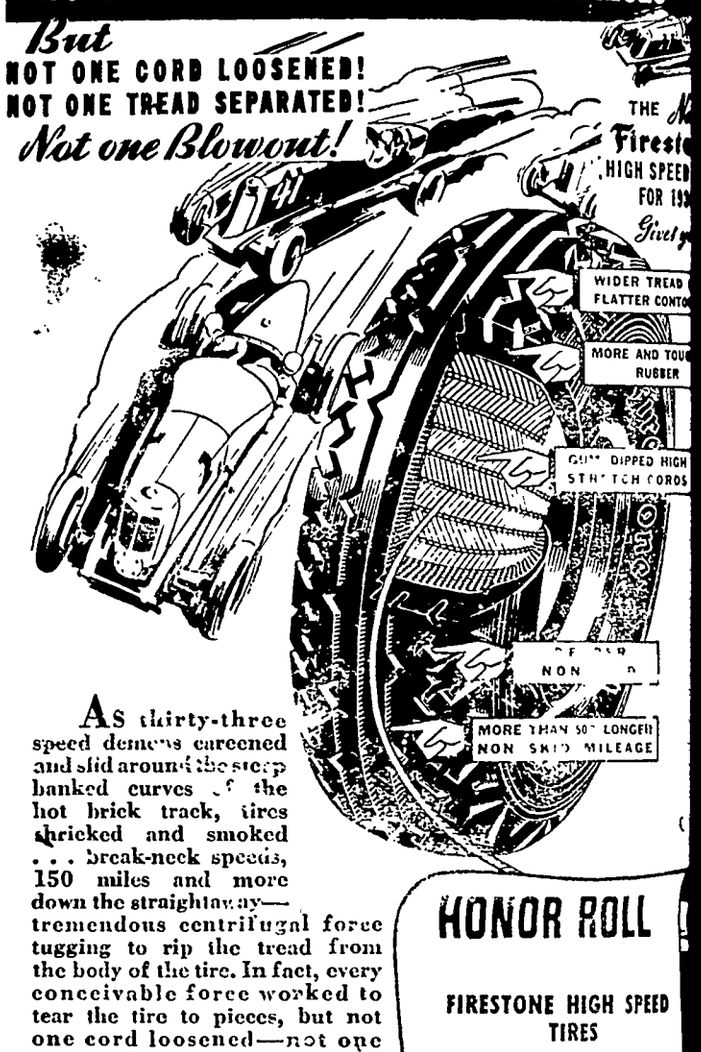
WORKED TO TEAR THESE TIRES TO PIECES

But NOT ONE CORD LOOSENED! NOT ONE TREAD SEPARATED! Not one Blowout!



As thirty-three speed demons careened and slid around the steep banked curves of the hot brick track, tires shrieked and smoked . . . break-neck speeds, 150 miles and more down the straightaway—tremendous centrifugal force tugging to rip the tread from the body of the tire. In fact, every conceivable force worked to tear the tire to pieces, but not one cord loosened—not one trend separated—and not a single blowout. What amazing proof of Tire Strength — Safety —Quality and Dependability.

Every one of the thirty-three drivers at the Indianapolis 500-mile sweepstakes chose and bought Firestone High Speed Tires. The fact that not one of the 132 tires failed is your greatest guarantee of Extra Safety — Stre[illegible] Dependabili[illegible] Firestone Tires.

The New Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is Safety-Protected on the outside by a wider tread of flatter contour, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage — Safety-Protected on the inside by eight additional pounds of pure rubber absorbed by every 100 pounds of cords. This additional rubber surrounds every cotton fiber inside every cord in every ply. This is accomplished by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

HOW'S FISHING

"How's fishing?" is a question often asked of the Fish and Game Department. Many visitors, telephone calls and letters, some from distant states, ask the question. "Where to fish" is the most wanted information. The 1934 fishing season is reported to be exceptionally good. While very few catches have been reported as record breakers, the daily catch limit has not been difficult to take. After all, the number of fish taken is just as enjoyable as catching the largest fish.

Here is some of the latest "dope" on where to fish. Clear Lake in Cerro Gordo County is reported to be furnishing the best fishing during the 1934 season than for many years past. Boat livery men along the shores of Clear Lake estimate the fishing as improved 200 percent while Spirit Lake and the Okobojis have been producing some excellent catches and boat liveries and resort owners are operating to a capacity crowd of fishermen.

Eldora Pine Lake, Storm Lake, Lost Island and Medium, all report many good catches. Streams thruout the State have been producing excellent strings of fish All in all, fishing is good in Iowa. One may go almost anywhere and take at least a few fish.

Why Buy Coal

For Winter Now?

Hot July days seem to be a poor time to talk for winter, but we advise you to purchase your winter NOW for the following reasons:

1. Reduction in working hours to 35 hours per w
2. Delay in taking coal is bunching the demand few winter months.
3. The mines are thoroughly unionized and costs will prevent a decline in prices.

We cannot urge you too strongly to order your now for immediate delivery. Past experience has taught us that it pays you to buy your winter's supply coal at this time of the year.

CENTURY PROGRESS TIRE

Beyond Comparison

IN QUALITY AND PRICE

WITH ANY FIRST QUALITY TIRE MADE

As the millions of World's Fair visitors saw tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building, we asked thousands this question: "What do you value most in a tire?" Car owners from every state in the Union were interviewed —drivers of automobiles, trucks, busses—out of it all came one composite answer: "Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear, at a moderate price."

Firestone engineers used every conceivable resource in the development of a tire embodying these qualifications and selling to the public at a price within the reach of every car owner. Answer — the new Firestone Century Progress Tire.

Estimate Hog Reduction Will Reach Goal Set-Up

HOG NUMBERS MAY FIT NEEDS

Goal Set For Reduction in 1934 Is Likely to Be Reached

Assurance that the goal set for reduction of the nation's hog production in the 1934 corn-hog program will be accomplished is seen in the government's pig crop report of June 1, according to Dr. A. G. Black, on leave from Iowa State College and chief of the AAA corn-hog section.

Under this years contract, producers agreed to reduce the number of hogs produced not less than 25 per cent below the average for the last two years. The June 1 report, prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, from returns from 149,500 farms, indicates that the number of spring pigs saved this year was 27 percent below the average of 1932 and 1933. The number of sows to farrow from June 1 to Dec. 1 is estimated to be 38 percent smaller.

Dr. Black points out that while the indicated reduction in the 1934 pig crop is partly the result of the drouth, the relatively high price of corn and the relatively low price of pigs last fall and winter when hog marketings were heavy, reductions called for under the contract were undoubtedly the major factor in the current adjustment. This is bringing the production of hogs in the United States for next year's marketing into line with the requirements and has eliminated the heavy surplus caused by the shutting off of export markets.

Reduction in pig numbers made under the corn-hog program is the sharpest that has occurred during the century.

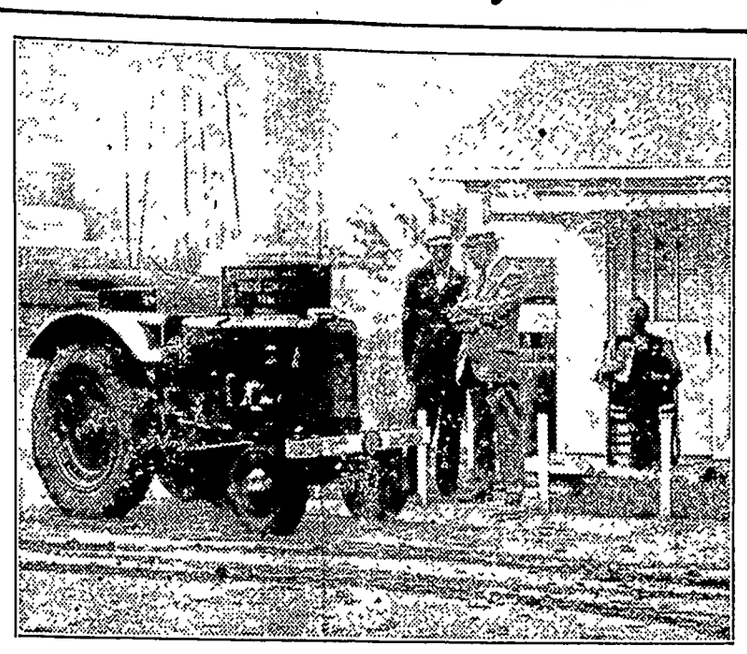
BE CAREFUL OF FIRE IN OPEN

Drought conditions, lack of rainfall and drying vegetation, make it all the more imperatives that every one going into the open in forest, field of stream, be ever so careful of fire, a bulletin of the American Game Association points out.

Vacationists, particularly careless campers, unintentionally set a large number of forest, grass and brush fires every summer. Pour water on the campfire before leaving it for even a short time. Winds blow sparks into the surrounding vegetation, and it only takes a spark or two to start a fire than can grow to raging proportions in a few minutes—thus destroying an incalculable number of wild-folk, sometimes human beings and valuable property. Be careful of matches, lighted pipes and cigarettes, lanterns and all other uses of fire.

Fair Robot Farms by Radio



One of the thrills for farmers during Farm Week at the Chicago World's Fair, Aug. 11 to 18, will be this mechanical farmer directing a tractor by radio in the International Harvester exhibit. Looking on are Rufus C. Dawes (left), president of the Fair, and H. E. McKinstry, president of the International Harvester Co. The exhibit also includes displays of other farm machinery.

CHURCH NEAR KANAWHA HIT BY LIGHTNING

About 1:30 o'clock Monday morning, during a severe electrical storm, lightning hit the Lutheran church 3 miles east of Kanawha, on the Northwest side of West Lake. The structure burst into flames and was quickly destroyed.

The impact of the bolt of lightning was sufficiently strong to throw some of the glass from the windows into the road. This church, which was about 40 years old, was a landmark in the Kanawha vicinity. Although regular services had not been held in the church recently, it had been in use. It was remodeled last year. Of wood construction, it was 40 by 60 feet.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT THE KLEMME FOOD MARKET

Some improvements have been made at the Klemme Food Market the past week. More shelving has been installed and placed in the south part of the room. Breakfast foods and cereals fill the shelf.

A new, modern scale has been installed. The new scale is the very latest in weighing equipment.

P. H. M.'S MET AT HOME OF MISS HENRIETTA NELSON

The Progressive Home Makers of Ell Township met at the home of Miss Henrietta Nelson, Wednesday July 11th. This meeting was a special meeting to practice for the Farm Bureau meeting at which the 4-H girls are giving a program. This program will be given Thursday night, July 19th at the Klemme High School gymnasium.

Mrs. Clarence Greiman, our leader discussed plans for Achievement day.

After the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

MISS BREDBENNER COMPLETES COURSE AT LEAGUE CAMP

Miss Novella Bredbenner completed her course of third year work at the Epworth League Institute held at Okoboji, Miss Bredbenner had the honor of rating among the highest in the course. In the class of 300 there were but two who passed a perfect examination of 100 percent. Miss Bredbennor was one of the two that wrote the 100 percent test. Asa and Harriet Gibbs also represented Klemme at the League Camp this year.

Mrs. C. A. Arnold, accompanied by Ronald Gibbs and Winnifred Gibbs, who is visiting here, drove to Okoboji Sunday morning and remained for the days services and the Klemme young folks returned home with them.

FRED J. ARNOLD COMPLETED NEW DEAL HERE MONDAY

Are Fully Equipped To Handle Chevrolet Sales and Service

Fred J. Arnold, owner of The Klemme Auto Company, Monday completed a deal whereby he will in the future sell Chevrolet cars and trucks and render authorized Chovrolet service in this territory.

Mr. Arnold is making a few changes at the garage and will stock up on Chevrolet parts. The garage is also equipped to service all makes of cars. Besides the Chevrolet line of cars and trucks, the Klemme Auto Company handles Firestone Tires and Tubes; Willard storage batteries, Texaco and Havoline Motor Oils and grease.

The mechanical department is fully equipped to handle any repair or overhaul job.

The signing of the Chevrolet contract is particularly interesting to this community, as there are manay Cherolet users in and around Klemme.

CAN FRUIT AND TOMATO JUICE

More of These Needed Instead of So Many Jams and Jellies

Drying fruits and vegetables and canning larger amounts of tomato juice and other fruit juices rather than so many jams and jellies are being urged this summer by nutrition specialists in the Extension Service at Iowa State College.

According to Miss Annette Peterson, canned fruit juices are a valuable addition to the diet and save sugar, thus cutting down the expense of canning. More tomato juice especially is needed in the average family diet now because many housewives have decreased their purchases of oranges and other fruits as a result of decreased budgets.

Tomato, raspberry, grape and cherry juice are among those which may be canned. Miss Peterson suggests leaving some of the pulp in the tomato juice to insure a higher iron content.

Drying, sulfurizing, salting and fermenting—as in kraut making—are suggested as methods of preserving fruits and vegetables when a sufficient number of cans are not available. These processes have been found satisfactory by many housewives, although they may decrease the vitamin and mineral content of the fruits and vegetables.

Today's News For Fat Folks

Keep Cool and Peppy All Summer Long While Losing Fat The Safe Way—The Right Way

Out of the thousands of letters received we give you this one from a grateful young man.

"I am 23 yrs. old. I weighed 210 lbs about one year ago when I started to take Kruschen Salts off and on for nine months. I lost weight alright so I began to take it regular for the last 3 months. I now weigh 145. I feel better, look better and I am O. K. in every way. I also eat anything I want." Mr. J. C. Record, Miami, Fla.

While losing unsightly fat with Kruschen you gain in health for Kruschen acts on liver, kidneys and bowels and helps keep body free from poisons and acid.

Keep cool and full of pep this summer by taking one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning. Get it at P. M. Wilson's or any druggist.

DAIRYMEN NEED TO PLAN FOR FEEDING NEXT YEAR

Should Estimate Number of Animals Their Supply Will Support

Short hay and small grain crops in Iowa this year, resulting from the drouth and chinch bug damage, indicate that dairymen must plan ahead now for the feeding and management of their dairy hords this coming season, says Floyd Arnold, dairy husbandry specialist in the Iowa State College Extension Service.

Although an effort is being made at the present time throughout the drouth area to encourage the growing of forage crops, there will still be a shortage of good hay in addition to a serious shortage of small grain crops.

The wise dairyman should plan now the kind of ration he will feed and estimate the number of animals his supply will carry. If not enough feed is available, dairymen should consider eliminating all the low producing cows. If not enough can be eliminated, plans for purchasing the needed supply of feed should be made soon.

Under normal conditions, the average cow requires, when silage is available, 2 tons of hay, 3 tons of silage and 2,400 pounds of grain for the season. When no silage is available at least 3 tons of hay are necessary.

A good rule to follow in feeding is 8 pounds of grain for each pound of butterfat a cow produces. If no records are available, the thumb rule followed is 1 pound of grain to 3 to 4 pounds of milk when feeding low testing cows and 1 pound of grain to 2½ to 3 pounds of milk when feeding high testing cows.

FARM WOMEN'S HOBBY EXHIBIT AT IOWA STATE FAIR

A farm women's hobby exhibit is to be held in the recreation room of the women's and children's building at the Iowa State Fair this year for the first time, county home project chairman, Mrs. L. F. Weaver has announced. A hobby, according to the dictionary, is "A subject or pursuit in which one takes a persistent interest." The exhibits are to be judged on the degree to which they show such an interest that is avocational or recreational in nature.

For each exhibit a 4-foot wall space will be provided. The exhibitor's display should be such as can be tacked up in this space or set on a table this width or both. The display should show the title of the hobby and the name and address of the exhibitor. It is suggested that it may be made of pictures, illustrative material, descriptive notes, or a story of personal experiences.

The state fair is providing $40 in prizes for these exhibits to be divided as follows: For the three best exhibits, $5; for the five exhibits in second rank, $3; and for the 10 exhibits of third rank, $1.

No entry fee will be charged for exhibiting in this class which is open to all women living on farms and having the major part of income from farm products. Exhibits entered by letter and shipped by express prepaid to W. H. Stacy, extension sociologist, Recreation Room, Women's and Children's Building, State Fair, Des Moines, will be displayed, repacked and returned express collect.

SHOULD SOW CLOVER, ALFALFA

May Seed in Late Summer for Hay and Pasture Next Year

Unless sweet clover, alfalfa and red clover are sown late this summer, next year many farmers in Iowa will be short on hay or pasture. Very few seedings made in the spring were successful. These crops can be sown successfully in the late summer, according to H. D. Hughes head of the Farm Crops Department Iowa State College.

These crops should not be sown now, but in August. Red clover should be sown around the first of August, while alfalfa and sweet clover probably will do best if they are sown in late August.

If clover or alfalfa is to be sown on land where small grain was sown in spring, it probably will be best not to plow the land, but to disc it. If the ground is plowed, it is likely to dry out. As soon as the small grain is removed, the land may be disced. It should be disced often enough to keep down the weeds.

A corrugated roller is very helpful for clover or alfalfa sown in August. If a corrugated roller is not abailable, a harrow turned flat down is the next best implement to use.

Seed appears to be ple... those who wish to sow s... it now.

Information Given On How To Cut Down On Hogs

MEANS OF DISPOSAL OF PIGS IN EXCESS OF CONTRACT LIMITS

Advices from the field indicate that a majority of contract signers have not attempted to produce too close to the line, and are in no danger of exceeding the contract limitations regarding number of hogs produced for market. Some producers have unwisely attempted to "crowd the mark" and are in danger of being disqualified for the reduction payments unless early steps are taken to insure compliance with the hog reduction provisions of the adjusted contracts. Contract signers should not put too great faith in future death losses as a means of coming within the contract provisions. The various alternatives now available to those who have too many pigs are as follows, always subject to instructions or directions by the Secretary as provided in the contract.

Those with relatively few excess hogs may prefer to pay the penalty of $20.00 per head specified in the cohtract. Since the producer in effect is paid $15.00 per head for each hog he is supposed to eliminate from production and since he probably will receive about $10.00 for the live hog when ready for market, the $20.00 penalty is really less than the total amount he will realize from the hog. Therefore, except where the number of excess hogs is greater than 25 percent of the hog base, payment of the penalty would place the contract signer in much the same position that he would be if he had originally agreed to reduce hog production by less than 25 percent.

Arrangements are now being made whereby the excess hogs may be used for relief purposes. In formulating plans for disposal of excess hogs for relief, the ollowing principles probably will be followed.

(a) The producer will receive no payment for such excess hogs

(b) They will be handled and distributed through the regularly established federal and state relief agencies. It would be distinctly unfair to producers who have lived up to the terms of their contract, and would tend to defeat the real purpose of the corn-hog contract program, to allow excess hogs to be donated to local churches or any other types of local organization where the distribution of the pork would not be subject to ready checking by the regularly constituted federal relief agencies. Such donated hogs must be counted as hogs produced for market under the terms of the contract.

(c) Such hogs will have to be delivered by the producer to shipping or processing points to be designated by the Secretary and at weights which will make it possible to process them economically.

(d) The product will be distributed in such a way that it will have the least possible effect on the demand for pork from commercial channels.

Contract signers who do not wish to take advantage of any of the above alternatives may wish to dispose of the excess hogs on the farm while they are young, by destroying pigs of inferior quality Such disposal is entirely at the discretion of the producer, but it should be understood that the Corn-Hog Section is not advocating such action.

BIG CROWD HEARD NATIONAL FARMERS' UNION SECRETARY

E. E. Kennedy Told Of Agricultural Problems In Talk Wednesday Eve

An estimated crowd of about six hundred people heard the talk given by E. E Kennedy at the Koerner lawn in Klemme last Wednesday night.

Mr. Kennedy, who is the National Secretary of the Farmers Union, told of incidents during the recent session of Congress and the part that the Farmers Union played in getting through legislation which was favorable to agriculture His talk was largely on the two great issues: the N.R.A. for industry and the A.A.A. for Agriculture and pointed out the defects, especially of the latter in that it is not doing for the farmer what it has claimed to do.

Mr. Kennedy's talk was forcible and to the point and he brought out many arguments and facts that were of interest to all. Mr. Kennedy's talk was serious, but now and then he brought out the humorous side of a question that kept his audience in an attentive mood, and many were so interested that they did not realize that he talked for over two hours.

It was through the efforts of the local organization and Mr. Lester Stille, president of the Liberty local, that Klemme was priviledged to hear such a prominent man.

LIVESTOCK FEED LOANS ARE NOW AVAILABLE

There is now available to farmers in the secondary drouth area, which includes all Iowa; the government emergency feed loan This type of loan is very similar to the seed loan in regard to security. Only farmers who are unable to secure credit locally or through the Production Credit Association in their respective district can qualify for these emergency feed loans. The borrower must give a first mortgage on all livestock with waivers from all previous lien holders, which in many cases includes the landlord.

The maximum amount that may be loaned per month per head is as follows: work stock $4.00, cattle $3.00, hogs $1.00, and sheep and goats 75c. Loans are to be made for a feeding period not extending beyond September 1, 1934. The maximum amount of any loan is $400 The loans become due on October 31, 1934.

At the present blanks have not been received but will in the next few days. These blanks can be secured at the office of the County Agent in Garner, as soon as there are any in the county. If you are interested in a feed loan call at the Farm Bureau office for further information.

TALL CORN ON DISPLAY

Two stalks of corn tied to the sign post at the Farmers Filling Station are causing Herman Paul to answer a lot of questions. To help Herman out we will state that the corn is out of Lloyd Lau's patch of corn back of the Bredbenner barn. The tallest stalk measures ten feet and eleven inches; the other stalk is about ten feet tall.

Now you farmers, are you going to let a town guy get away with it? Bring in some corn that IS corn.

Funeral Services Were Held Sunday Morning For Miss Martha Hueneman

Funeral services were held for Martha Hueneman Sunday morning at the Ell Twp Reformed Church with the Rev Calvin A Schmidt in charge

Special music was furnished by a quartett consisting of Mrs Fern P Katter, Mrs Paul Elling, Mr. Ben Katter and Mr. Elmer Katter.

Interment was made in the beautiful Ell church Cemetery, near her father, Rev Jacob Hueneman, who died at the age of 34. and near her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Katter; who were among the fonfiders of the Ell Township church and who have been resting in this cemetery for more than fifty years.

The pall bearers were Gideon Wittenberg, Henry Katter. Arthur Katter, Ben V. Greiman

Obituary

Martha Maria Hueneman was born at German Valley, Kossuth Co. Iowa, thirty eight years ago She was the second of a family of four children born to her parents, Rev. Jacob Hueneman and Mathilda (nee) Katter

Martha was a most delicate child at birth and has been frail in health ever since She was less than four feet tall but she got around quite nimbly on crutches Mentally she was bright, almost above normal. She completed her common school education and was also confirmed in the Ell Twp Reformed church, March 16, 1913 during the pastorate of Rev. Kirchheffer She made herself useful in the home by doing considerable needlework. She had a pleasant disposition and was quite an entertainer in that she talked well and would play and sing at the piano and in spite of her physical handicap, she kept quite cheerful.

But she was not destined to become old. The end came Thursday afternoon at the home of her Mother Bright's disease, it seems, was the final cause of her death.

She leaves of her immediate family, her mother, Mrs Mathilda Hueneman, Liberty twp.; one brother, Victor Hueneman, Liberty twp.; two sisters, Amalia, Mrs. F. A. Lemke, Mesorvey, Ia., Estella, Mrs Ray Haberkamp, Liberty twp.

BELMOND TO HEAR WILLFORD AT LEGION DAY CELEBRATION

BELMOND—The local American Legion post has obtained Representative A. C. Willford of Waterloo to deliver the address at their annual Legion day, Thursday, Aug. 2. His address will be given in the City park at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Three ball games will be a part of the extensive features of the day, the main one being a baseball game in the afternoon between the Waterloo Cardinals and the Forest City club.

FARMERS' UNION NOTES

The Farmers' Union meeting that was held on the A. G. Koerner lawn Wednesday evening, July 18 was very well attended.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman of the Liberty Local, Lester Stille. A prayer was offered by Rev. Harvey Nelson. Mr. Stille then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. E. E. Kennedy, National Secretary of the Farmers Union, who stayed in Washington, D. C. during the last session of Congress. Mr. Kennedy gave a splendid talk which was very instructive and full of interesting facts. He is a very forceful speaker and his illustrations are colorful. Besides being a wonderful speaker Mr. Kennedy is a splendid man to meet.

Another distinguished guest of the evening was Mr. Wm. Boles of Des Moines, the grandson of Milo Reno. Mr Boles was unable to address the people Wednesday evening due to an irritated tooth.

We were very glad to see such a large number of people interested in our meeting. The Union is growing steadily every day

WESTERN LEAGUE TEAMS TO PLAY AT CLARION, AUG. 9

The Clarion Post of the merican Legion is making elaborate plans for their annual celebration which will be held Thursday, August 9th

Governor Herring is to speak at 10:15 a. m., followed by a big parade of artistic floats, comedy stunts drum and bugle corps and three bands.

In the afternoon two teams from the Western League, the Des Moines Demons and the Omaha Packers, will be there, giving ball fans an opportunity to see league teams in action. Only regular first string players for both teams will be on the line-ups, according to their contract with Lee Keyser, owner of the Des Moines club. The game is called for 1:30 sharp in the new Legion ball park in the northeast corner of town.

Other attractions, free to the public, include a regular Barn Dance Frolic put on by the headliners in that popular radio sketch to be heard Saturday nights over WHO-WOC. Tumbling and acrobatic acts by a famous troupe, and the 100 foot pole acrobatic act make up a program to be seen and heard both afternoon and evening.

Concessions, rides, shows and a big dance in the evening will round out a day of real fun and entertainment.

HOG PRICES ADVANCE 30% IN MIDWEST JUNE MARKETS

Hog prices at the seven principal markets in the middlewest increased more than 30 percent during the month of June; the AAA reports. This is one of the largest percentage increases in price on record for a similar length of time.

The average price paid by packers for hogs at the seven markets —Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Sioux City, St. Joseph, and St. Paul—averaged $4-10 per hundredweight during the 2-week period ending June 23, $1 per hundredweight higher than the average price paid by packers at these markets during the 2-week period ending June 9.

As a result of the sharp advance the price of hogs at Chicago during the week ending June 23 averaged $4.71 per hundredweight or approximately $1.38 higher than for the week ending June 9 and 33 cents per hundredweight higher than for the corresponding week a year earlier.

Administration officials point out that when the price equivalent of the processing tax of $2.25 per hundredweight being collected for benefit payments to farmers, is added to the current open market price, the total actual cost to packers at Chicago during the week ending June 23, amounted to $6.96 per hundredweight. This is $2.58 per hundredweight or 44 percent higher than the average cost of hogs to packers at Chicago a year ago when the open market price was the sole source of income to hog producers and it is the highest average amount paid by packers for hogs at Chicago in any week or any month since April, 1931, when the price average for that month was $7.26 per hundredweight.

The recent increasing strength in the hog market is partly a reflection of the improvement of approximately 20 percent in consumer's incomes over a year ago, but another major factor for the current improvement has been the marked adjustment in market supplies. Inspected slaughter of hogs at the 7 principal points during the two weeks ending June 23 declned about 38 per cent from the slaughter during the preceding two weeks.

Rains which relieved drought conditions in many parts of the middlewest halted the recent heavy marketing of light hogs. The current adjustment also is a reflection of the Administration's efforts to reduce supplies the forepart of this soason and the 1933 emergency marketing program. The price-raising effects of the emergency adjustment measures were delayed temporarily by unusually heavy marketings of hogs during May and early June, on account of relatively high corn prices and prospects for a short feed crop because of the drought.

Available evidence indicates that hog marketings through the remainder of the summer will be relatively light, as compared with marketings during this period last year unless extreme drought continues to prevail and causes abnormal market liquidation.

Left Friday On Eastern Trip

GARNER—Miss Norma Barz, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. W. J. Barz left Friday night for Madison Wis., where she was joined by her friend, Miss Sylvia Kusrow, and the two will attend the World's fair after which they will go on an extended eastern trip, visiting Annapilis, Newport, R. I., Washington, New York City and Albany. They will go into Canada and return via Madison where Miss Barz will visit in the Kusrow home and plans to return to Garner Aug. 15.

BLUES DOWN MESERVEY, 10-9 IN TEN INNING BATTLE

The Klemme Blues journeyed to Moservey Sunday afternoon where in a ten-inning battle they finally succeeded in downing the rival team 10 to 9. Bridges who worked 7 innings for the Blues gave up 8 hits, walked 6 and struck out 6. Keraus, who took over the mound duty the first of the eighth allowed 2 hits, 1 walk and struckout 3. Langlitz, on the mound for Meservey, was in splendid form, allowing 11 hits, no walks and striking out 17.

Score by innings.

MESERVEY INDIES PLAY ON LOCAL DIAMOND SUNDAY

The Meservey Independents come to Klemme this Sunday, July 29th in an effort to wipe out the 10-9 ten inning defeat recently handed them by the Klemme Blues. These two teams are evenly matched and the game should be a real battle. With the ledger showing a victory for Klemme and one tie game the Meservey boys will be fighting to even the count.

No charge has been made this year at the baseball games but due to transportation expenses, and the purchase of equipment there is a slight financial deficit. Therefore, a small charge will be made at the game Sunday. Be there!

SECRETARY WALLACE COMING

Will Speak At Iowa State College, Ames On November 16th

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Iowa State College alumnus, will speak in Ames on "Sixty Years of Corn Improvement and the Future Outlook" Nov. 16. Dr. R. M. Hughes, president has announced.

A symposium commemorating 60 years of laboratory teaching in the botanical sciences to be held at Iowa State, Nov. 15 and 16, is being planned by Dr. I. E. Mehus, head of the Botany Department.

Secretary Wallace will speak at a meeting of the Iowa Corn Research Institute, which is to be held in connection with the symposium.

The Corn Research Institute in its tentative plans seeks to encourage and coordinate all corn (maize) research in Iowa, to increase it usefulness as well as to obtain adequate recognition of the importance of such research and to obtain increased support of it.

Organization plans for the institute call for a membership of research workers interested in poblems relating to corn in Iowa, with a small coordinating executive committee and a larger advisory committee.

DON'T PICK UP WILD BABIES; MANY DIE IN CAPTIVITY

Reports are that vacationists are picking up fawns, baby squirrels, rabbits, birds and other babies of the wild and taking them home with them. In most states this practice is strictly against the law and one can be prosecuted for having wild life in possession without a license. Most of the people who capture these helpless babies believe they are doing a kindness; for they find them apparently abandoned. They are not. They have been left in hiding by parents out foraging for food for them, and, like human babies, disobey and beg ing about. The parents them upon return to t places and take care of better than any human matter how kind hearted these babies die because not stand captivity or fo of elements contained in So, if one would really the babies, leave them

During our sixteen years in the Ford Business, we have been approached by several different companies and especially by one, to make high commissions and bigger profits on cars, but we couldn't see the value as in Ford products. We know from experience when companies pay big commissions it has to come out of the buyer and the material has to be cheapened in some way.

The people will choose the best which is proved. For example, in the registrations of three cars in the county in which they are built and where the people can see how they are made and the materials used.

BANKERS SUPPORT SOUND EXPANSION

By R. S. HECHT
Vice President, American Bankers Association

BANKERS universally recognize that the prime economic need of the nation is the stimulation of sound industrial and commercial activities and recent travels over a wide stretch of the country have shown me that they everywhere are making all effort possible to lend constructive financial support within the scope of their proper banking functions to promoting the expansion of business activity.

R. S. HECHT

Frequently in times past when our country suffered from an economic depression and consequent unemployment on a large scale, the rise of some broad new industrial development, such for instance as a new industry like the automobile industry, has been a powerful factor in stimulating a return or an accelerated growth of national prosperity. Such a movement means the creation of new wealth, the employment of large groups of people on useful lines and as a consequence the production and distribution of sound, effective purchasing power, which is a form of wholesome economic stimulant that has none of the evils of monetary inflation.

A New Force for Business Improvement

Perhaps we have at hand, if not the rising of a wholly new industry, a measurable equivalent in the potentialities of a widespread rebuilding and modernizing movement such as home renovising, plant remodeling, the putting of our railroads on a high speed air conditioned basis and other valuable developments in the construction field. The effects of such activities on employment and many lines of business would bo most beneficial and I can repeat without reservation that we bankers are willing and eager to play our full economic part in any such constructive developments.

It has been mado to appear that money has not gone to work because of the timidity of bankers rather than what is a true explanation, because business men have not had enough confidence in tho business outlook to borrow the dollar from the banker and put it to work.

The basic requisite to the expansion of commercial bank loans is sound, normal business conditions on which to conduct sound, normal banking operations. Tho best business a bank can wish for is the opportunity to loan money to successful business men and manufacturers imbued with confidence to enter upon aggressive business enterprises and endowed with the ability to bring them to successful conclusions. Such loans mean business activity for the community, growing pay rolls and prosperity, and the banker wants to make them because to be identified with such activities not only means profits to him but, additionally, brings him the reward of good will in his community.

There is no better proof of the great desire of banks to take caro of the short term requirements of the business world than to point out the abnormally low rates at which this demand is being supplied at the present time.

BANK DEPOSITS WERE SAFEST INVESTMENTS

High Government Official Says No Investments Except U. S. Bonds Suffered as Little Loss as Deposits in Closed Banks

WASHINGTON, D. C.—No form of investments except Government bonds suffered as little loss as deposits in closed banks during the years 1931-32-33, Jesse H. Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, declared in a recent address.

"A point generally overlooked in connection with bank failures in this period, is that upon the whole, depositors in closed banks will get a somewhat larger percentage than has been true in bank failures over a period of say twenty-five years," Mr. Jones said. "Heretofore they have gotten about 58%, but in these wholesale bank closings, my estimate is that they will, upon the average, get about 65% of their deposits.

"Another point worthy of mention is that a depositor in a closed bank loses only a part of his deposit, while the bank stockholder loses all, plus a stock assessment.

"No form of investment, except Government bonds, has suffered as little loss as deposits in closed banks, and while I appreciate that there is little consolation in this fact, those who had their savings invested in stocks, bonds, mortgages, real estate, industrial investments, or in businesses of any kind, have had losses very much greater, and in a much larger percentage, than have depositors in closed banks.

"It is for these reasons, and others not necessary here to enumerate, that it is not possible to justify paying depositors in closed banks with the tax payers' money."

A Farmers' Town!

Every service which is rendered in the town of Klemme is for the farmer. We do not cater to finicky city trade but the town of Klemme is here to serve the farmer—first, last and all the time.

Our town has many customers and a large trade territory and is known thruout this state as one of the best of the Farmer Towns.

Just now there is somewhat of a lu in Retail Selling while our farmers harvest a "bum" oats crop.

But the pastures are green, and look at the fall feed in the meadows and inthe stubble fields. Even now the men in our creamery are working overtime to take care of 2500 gallons of cream every day and are worried about vat room. Their two big churns scarcely get cooled off all day long, and with the price of cream up a cent—look out for bigger cream checks all thru the fall season.

Indications seem to be that Klemme farmers will have a corn crop and with most of the "Corn Belt" burned up, prosperity should come to Klemme farmers this fall.

Anyway, we are busy cleaning up our Store and shipping in nice new furniture for your fall needs, and when this prosperity strikes you, make a rush for our furniture Store and buy a few of the things you have needed for so many months.

For twenty-seven years we have made a study of the Farmer's needs in Furniture and Rugs, and we sell this good merchandise at a price the farmer can afford to pay even during depressed times. That's why this store has grown and has become known as "A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE"

BOYS WILL BE BOYS!

A steam tractor which had been brought to town for repairs and left near the Etchen garage Tuesday night provided someone with some good sport. The tractor had been steamed up during the day and somebody conceived the bright idea of tying the whistle down and giving the natives "sweet music" along about midnight. The whistle "tooted" for a considerable length of time before the noise probably got on somebody's nerves and they got up and shut off the screeching. Anyway, it was a good joke!

Church Honors Pastor's Twenty Years Of Service

REV. SCHMID HAS RECORD OF 20 YEARS SERVICE

Congregations Give Program And Dinner in Appreciation of Work

Thursday, July 26th, was celebrated by the Ell Town and the Garner Reformed congregations, for it marked the day in which their pastor, Rev. C. Schmid, had come to them some twenty years ago. The celebration was arranged without the knowledge of Rev. Schmid and family. They were invited out for dinner and while they were gone the congregations assembled in the Ell Town church. Rev. Schmid was then called on the phone and on his return found the church filled with happy members. A splendid program was then presented in which various groups representing every age took part. Miss Vola acted as leader and called upon the various groups to present their part of the program. The numbers included songs by the children, Men's Quartett, Young People's Choir, Mixed Chorus, Ladies Sextet, Guitar solo by Marlys Hyde, and a German song by the older folks. Mr. W. H. Greiman, the Elder of the congregation gave the following interesting talk:

"Our congregation celebrated its 50th birthday 6 years agao. During this time we were served by 6 different ministers. The sixth of these is our present beloved pastor, Rev. Schmid, who has now served us for a period of twenty years. Looking back over the past 56 years we have reasons to thank God, that throughout the life of our congregation he has sent us faithful servants, who broke the bread of life to us, and laid a foundation upon which we can now continue to build. The respect that our fathers had for God's Word and the Christian Ministry, has become our inheritance, and we have been able as Pastor and congregation, to work together in peace and harmony throughout these years.

"Rev. Schmid came to us twenty years ago, from the Mission House Seminary from which he had graduated. I can well remember when he first appeared here as a young man for his trial sermon. At the congregational meeting which followed he was elected and accepted the call extended to him. The congregation was well satisfied with its young minister. But in one respect they had reasons to complain about him. It was simply this: Our young preacher was a bachelor, the parsonage was a bachelors home, and such a home I need not describe. However, to the joy of all members he brought a bride into our congregation during his 4th year. We appreciated the lady of his choice so much the more, after having been so long without one.

"The members of the consistory when Rev. Schmid took charge of the congregation were: Elders, Mr. Henry Kaetter, Sr., Mr. Fred Greiman, Sr.; Deacons: Mr. Frank Rosendahl, Mr. Otto Schlawin. The first baptism he performed were the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schlawin, Myra and Mathilda; the first wedding ceremony that of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kaetter. The first funeral that of Mr. Alex Griesmer. The following were the members of his first confirmation class: Esther Wittenberg (Mrs. Bredlow); Addis Greimann; Aaron Greimann; Elsie Henschen (Mrs. Bell); Emma Wacker; Stella Huenemann (Mrs. Haberkamp); Sophia Kaetter (Mrs. Bredlow); Rueben Kaetter; Calvin Kaetter; Gladys Wichman (Mrs. Reuber); Erwin Rosendahl; Ray Haberkamp; Elmer Kaetter; Louis Klinge.

"It would be impossible to give an account of all the events that happened here during the ministry of Rev. Schmid. But one thing we must say and are proud to say it: They have been years of peace and as we hope years of continual blessing to the Pastor and the congregation. Throughout these years there has been a steady increase in membership, the Sunday Schools of both congregations have prospered and grown, we have a splendid Young Peoples Organization and Choir, Rev. and Mrs. Schmid have conducted the Bible School in an admirable way, having an excellent attendance both at Ell Town and Garner.

"No doubt Rev. Schmid, if he cared to, could tell us of some disappointments he experienced in our midst. If so, we appreciate the patience with which he has borne our mistakes. The very reason that he complained so little makes us appreciate his services all the more. I feel confident that I am speaking in the name of both congregations when I say that we are grateful to God who has so richly blessed us and our relation as Pastor and Congregation throughout these twenty years May this blessed and friendly relationship continue for many years to come."

Rev. C. Grosshuesch of the Klemme Reformed Church gave a short talk, using as his theme Acts 2:42 "And they continued steadfastly in the Apostles doctrine and fellowship and in breaking of bread and in prayers." In this Bible passage, he said, is contained the secret of a successful ministry, and a blessed congregational life. He paid high tribute to Rev. Schmid for his faithful services as a minister of the Gospel.

After the program all guests were invited to partake of a splendid dinner which the Ladies of the congregations had prepared.

During the 20 years service Rev Schmid performed the following ceremonies or rites: Baptisms 201, Confirmations 140; Marriages 56, Funerals 35.

The membership of both congregations has steadily increased as the following numbers show:

	1914	1934
Peace Ell Town Church	90	185
Peace Sunday School	88	190
Zion Garner Church	18	80
Zion Sunday School	20	90
Families in 2 con'gat'ns	31	98

The Minnesota Classis held its meetings in this charge in 1924 and again in 1926. In the year 1925 the Zion congregation of Garner bought the present church building. The church at Ell Town was remodeled in the year 1927 In 1928 the Peace Church celebrated its 50th anniversary and entertained the Witness conference the same year. The Synod of the Northwest was entertained in the fall of 1930. The Young Peoples Bible Class which is still in a flourishing condition was organized in 1932. The membership is now 48. In 1933 the Ladies Missionary Society of Peace and the Ladies Aid of Zion were organized. During the last five years Rev Schmid has held the office of Stated Clerk is the Minnesota Classis The Rev. Schmid is well known throughout our community and has gained many friends besides the members of his congregations.

Farm Bureau Meeting In Avery Was Well Attended

Some over one hundred people were present at the Farm Bureau meeting at the W. L. Sherwood home in Avery township last Friday evening.

The 4-H Club is to be complimented for the very fine program which they gave. Several musical numbers and a pageant were the high spots of the program. Fred Missal, county auditor was present and gave a talk on the Old Age Pension Act.

At the close of the program the Avery 4-H club sold lunch, consisting of coffee, lemonade, sandwiches and cake. The money thus taken in will be used for club work.

Des Moines, Special: The biggest vacation camp grounds in the midwest will be thrown open to the public here during the Iowa State Fair, August 22-31, to accommodate the tens of thousands of pleasure seekers who will take their outings at Iowa's huge 1934 exposition. Forty acres of additional land has been added to the camp ground this year, providing a total of 160 acres for the State Fair's tent city. Fair visitors are allowed to use the camp grounds free of charge throughout the period of the exposition It will accommodate over 25,000 people, officials estimate.

FREE TALKING PICTURES TO BE IN KLEMME FRIDAY EVE

Klemme Auto Co. Sponsors Big Free Entertainment

This week Friday evening will be Free Talking Picture night in Klemme This entertainment has been made possible by Fred J. Arnold, proprietor of the Klemme Auto Co The all sound pictures tell a story of the building and testing of Chevrolet cars. In addition there will be musical comedy films shown to round out an evening of fine entertainment.

The show will be held at the Open Air Theatre on Main Street. In case of rain the pictures will be shown at the garage.

Silver Chassis On Display

A silver cutaway chassis of the New 1934 Chevrolet will also be on display So far the chassis has only been shown in the larger cities and Mr. Arnold feels that he is very fortunate in being able to secure the chassis to display in Klemme. The chassis has cut-a-way parts and shows every working part of the car

Mr Arnold wants everybody to come to Klemme Friday night and be the guest of the Klemme Auto Company.

The same entertainment will be presented again at Garner on Saturday evening at the Garner Motor Sales garage

WM. HAMPEL'S SURPRISED ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

JOHN DAY REMODELS BUILDING FOR POST OFFICE

John Day has begun remodeling the west room of his general store, which he will use to house the post office after August 15th.

A new front will be put in and the door moved to one side. A new floor will be laid and a partition put up about 28 feet back from the front. This arrangement will give ample room for the post office fixtures and office room.

ALBERT BARZ BUILDING FINE NEW HOME NEAR KLEMME

Will Put Up Entire New Set Of Buildings On 90-Acre Farm

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barz have under construction a nice, modern house across the road north from their present farm home. The building of the new house is progressing rapidly and the building is enclosed.

The new home is of modern design, two stories aud full basement. The house will be 28x37 feet in size and will have four large rooms on the main floor and four large rooms on the second floor. The basement is divided off into five separate rooms. The enclosed porch at the frnt is 9x28 in size. A small enclosed porch at the rear houses the grade entrance.

Mr Barz stated that he will put up an entire set of buildings on the ninety acre place which he will farm beginning next year, and will rent out the place on which he has lived all his life, which is the Barz homestead.

John Suckow, local contractor and his crew of men are doing the work.

CORN LOANS EXTENDED TO SEPTEMBER FIRST

The date for the calling of corn loans has been extended to September 1, according to S. J. Oberhauser, county agent. This, however, applies only to loans on corn stored in good cribs. In other words, borrowers whose corn is stored in poor or inadequate cribs will be required to liquidate loans during August.

Mr. Bradley has advised us that borrowers whose loans are called will have fifteen days in which to either make payment or deliver the sealed corn to the shipping point indicated in the warehouse receipt This will relieve many borrowers of any worry that they will not have an opportunity to pay the note when called if they wish to keep the corn There is no need of rushing this corn to market

The present release procedure in effect now will continue until September 1 and borrowers will receive the benefit of any increase in price until the loan is called.

TAKING OUT TELEPHONES

Occasionally one sees in the exchanges an item telling of a farmer who is economizing by taking out his telephone or whose instrument is taken out because of failure to pay his dues.

In the isolation of farm homes it would seem that cutting one's self off from connection with one's s and nearby towns would be a last resort. It is usually the unexpected that happens; and a fire an accident or sudden illness would make the cost of a telephone seem cheap indeed and no amount of fore thought can insure one against a catastrophe.

Cream Route Patrons Enjoy Picnic

The patrons of George Alden's cream route enjoyed a picnic last Sunday in Severson's woods near Clear Lake. About 150 were present for dinner at which home made ice cream was the featured dish. The afternoon was spent in playing soft ball and visiting and all enjoyed the day very much. Those from Klemme who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Josten, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mueller and Herbie, George Carolus and Donald Turgasen.

Missionary Buys 124 Girls To Save Them From Slavery. An Article About Life Among The Bushmen of Northern Australia, in the American Weekly, the Magazine Distributed With NEXT SUNDAY'S CHICAGO HERALD AND EXAMINER.

Morgan Hill, Calif.
July 27, 1934

To the Editor and Friends:

We left Klemme at 9:30 Monday July 16 and had dinner with friends at Storm Lake. In the afternoon wo drove on to Lincoln, Nebr. where we were entertained in the home of Chancellor Cutshall of Nebraska Wesleyan.

Crops looked good in Iowa as far as the Missouri Valley and fair from there to Council Bluffs, but needed rain. However, when we crossed into Nebraska it was terribly dry; not a green spear of grass in the pastures and corn was burning badly. In fact, if rain did not come within a week there would be no corn in the entire states of Nebraska and Colorado, although Colorado did look a little better than Nebraska.

Our hot weather was encountered in Nebraska and Colorado as we drove through temperatures of from 105 to 113, but when we crossed the deserts of Wyoming, Utah and Nevada, it was delightfully cool with temperatures from 80 to 92. We had fine oiled roads for the most part. The fly in the sugar was when on a detour in Nevada we cut a tire on a stone.

After our visit with relatives in Nebraska and Colorado, we arrived at Lovelock, Nevada where we spent Sunday and attended the church and Sunday School at the Episcolpal church as the Methodist church was having vacation. We came through Reno, Nevada and on to the Yosemite National Park and slept in the midst of the high Sierras where the elevation was 8005 feet. We spent most of the next day in the beautiful, majestic Yosemite.

We came on to Mrs. Ralston's mother's home, arriving on Tuesday evening. The prunes and peaches are ripe and the fruit growers are picking and drying them. It is fine to see all the fruit on the trees and large plots of ground covered with trays of drying fruit.

Wishing that you are all well and prospering in Klemme and vicinity.

Sincerely,
J. L. Ralston and family.

MESERVEY NINE DOWNS BLUES SUNDAY BY 13-7 COUNT

The Klemme Blues went down in defeat to the Meservey Independents on the local diamond Sunday 13 to 7. The visitors started the bombardment in the first inning when they knocked Keraus out of the box with three hits and one walk. Bridges who took over the mound duty allowed 10 hits, gave 5 walks and struck out 9. Langlitz for Meservey gave 10 hits, 1 walk and struck out six. Keraus got the only extra base hit of the game, a double in the third with the bases loaded.

FAIR PLANS BIG FARM PROGRAM

Barn Dance, Rural Events Featured at Chicago Aug. 11 to 18.

Chicago.—Four million persons have entered the gates of the new World's Fair since it opened here May 26. Most of the throngs that have thrilled to the new spectacle, the new "foreign villages," which offer in themselves a "tour of the world," the new shows and the new free entertainment projects, are city dwellers. Chicagoans, visitors from other cities all over the United States and visitors from foreign countries have poured in, in large numbers.

But the real farmer-visitors' invasion of A Century of Progress has not yet begun. It will reach its peak when the Fair celebrates Farm Week, from August 11 to August 18, inclusive.

Last year Farm Week accounted for the largest single week's attendance of the entire Fair. Plans to make the celebration interesting and important to farmers are even more elaborate now than last year, according to the events division of the exposition.

WLS Barn Dance at Fair.

Saturday, August 11, will lead off the program with a massive farm parade, including bands, farm implements, machinery and equipment and farm animals. Depicting the modernization of agriculture, it will be one of the longest and most comprehensive pageants of the entire exposition.

Sunday, August 12, will see special music and farm programs interlinked with the observance of Chicago Incorporation day, with Chicago acting as host to the out-of-town multitudes.

Rexford Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, has been invited to be the principal speaker of the Farm Organization day program Monday. Tuesday will be Farm Radio day, with the entire WLS "Barn Dance" presenting a program in the Court of States; 40,000 persons saw this event in 1933.

Aerial Sham Battle Planned.

The farmer's wife will have her day Wednesday, August 15, which has been named Farm Women's day, with special programs arranged to pay tribute to the women who battled to carve a nation out of the wilderness. Farm Youth day, Thursday, will be full of recognition of the future farmers of the land, with emphasis on 4-H club work.

Programs of interest to rural newspapers and magazines will feature Farm Press day, Friday Saturday, August 18, will be farm music day, with its high spot the gigantic Chicagoland Music festival in Soldier Field, adjoining the Fair grounds. This annual event has attracted more than a half million persons in the four years of its existence. This day will also see many special contests, such as milkmaid, husband-calling and hog-calling contests.

Saturday is also Illinois day. There will be a review of 10,000 troops and demonstrations by anti-aircraft artillery units, shooting with tracer bullets at balloon targets towed by airplanes.

Farm Exhibits Are Many.

During Farm Week parties of farmers will be taken on free guided tours of the Fair grounds. Farm visitors, with only a limited time to spend, will in this way be able to see everything of vital interest to them.

Henry Ford's industrialized barn, where he shows how the farmer may, at low cost, raise soy beans, obtain the residue and process it himself, making industrial products for which he can obtain a profitable revenue, is one of the new exhibits. Another is the International Harvester company's radio-controlled tractor, which demonstrates how farming may be done from an easy chair on the veranda. Model farm homes will attract many rural sightseers, as will the exhibits of the great packing plants and the automobile manufacturers.

The Brook Hill Dairy farm, with its model farm of 1950, shows the last word in modern milk production, from cow to bottle. The International Egg Laying contest is a huge laboratory where the farmer may study the latest egg-production methods first-hand. Scores of commercial exhibitors will have displays of prime interest to Farm-Week visitors.

Special Rates Lower Cost.

Special railroad and bus rates will make it easier for the farmer to get to the Fair this summer. Automobile agencies and oil stations will give him assistance in highway travel. At the Fair, he will find costs surprisingly low. Restaurants are cheaper, transportation is cheaper, there is plentiful free entertainment and eighty per cent of all the comfort stations are free.

Probably one of the leading attractions for rural visitors will be the foreign villages, so faithful in reproductions of life and scenes in fifteen countries that they offer the equivalent of a tour of the world, right on the Fair grounds.

"THE LITTLE SWITZERLAND OF AMERICA" SHOWN IN NEW PICTORIAL MAP

Inviting the tourist of the "Little Switzerland of America" and describing it as the richest 1,500 square miles in scenic and historic wonders in the midwest, the Northeastern Iowa Press association has just issued a pictorial map, showing the points of interest in the region.

The folder on one side shows the roads coming into the territory embracing McGregor, Lansing Guttenberg, Strawberry Point, Marquette, Elkader, Monona, Postville and Waukon, Iowa and Prairie du Chien, Wis. An artist's conception of the hundreds of attractions in the "Little Switzerland of America" shows the reader just what he will find.

On the reverse side of the map is a group of 15 photographs of most interesting points in the region, along with a brief description of the scenic and historic points in Northeast Iowa and Prairie du Chien, Wis., which territory is featured by the great Missisippi river.

The maps, 100,000 of them, are being issued by a co-operative plan of all the towns involved, and are available free by writing The Northeastern Iowa Press association, Travel Bureau, at Elkader, Iowa.

A few of the many interesting features of the region include: Mississippi river scenery, U. S. Government dams and locks, U. S. Fish and Game refuge, an observation tower 500 feet directly over the Father of Waters, pleasure excursion boats, scenic golf courses, great river bridges, thousands of Indian mounds, pictured rocks and sand drawings, falls and picnic grounds, state parks, trout, bass, pike fishing streams, an abandoned iron mine, an aquarium, a bird museum, great beds of lotus lilies (last weeks in July, first weeks in August), school of wild life protection (first two weeks in August, McGregor), an old fort, old fur trading posts, old military trails and cemetery, boys and girls Catholic academies, dozens of beautiful drives, site of Iowas first settler, and hundreds of other interesting points.

No place in the midwest will you find as many interesting spots as in Northeast Iowa and Southwestern Wisconsin, concludes the announcement of the folder.

Dunk—He tried to live according to the rules of life a newspaper had published from a man a hundred years old.

Earwig—Do you like Mendelssohn's Songs Without Words?

Fisheye—Yes. I often think that if some of the songs we hear nowadays had no words they would be a lot better.

Wemyss—Do you know any reliable rule to figure the cost of living?

Powys—Yes. Take your income, whatever it is, and then add 25 percent to it.

Boy—Whdle mother was sleeping the baby got sick by licking the paint—

Caller—Off a toy?

Boy—No, off mother.

Klemme Schools Teacher Enjoying Eastern Tour

Newport, R. I.
August 1, 1934

Dear Friend:

We have just a few minutes before going out to dinner this evening so am using by writing cards and letters.

We are having a lovely time. My girl friend and I left Madison, Wis., on July 21 and have been seeing something new and different each day. From Madison we went directly to Washington. We stopped a short time in Pittsburg but the city was so dirty and smoky we were ready to travel when our bus left. We spent three days at Washington. I was much impressed with the city It gives one the feeling of perfect ease and comfort and not being crowded. All of the streets are very wide and many of them have boulevards down the center that have beautiful flowers and trees in thme. I'm sure you would like it too.

While in the city we visited Arlington Cemetery. This is a very impressive sight. At one place one can see nothing except the small white markers of those who lost their lives in the Revolutionary War. While passing this place our guide read for us the famous poem, "The Bivoac of the Dead." From here we visited General Lee's home. It was a quaint old place where one could spend hours.

We went to Mount Vernon and visited Washington's home. Martha Washington's garden, I'm sure, would have interested you a lot. They are trying to keep the garden as much like they were while she was living as possible. Their home was just as one would imagine it to be, large, comfortable, simple and very inviting. While passing thru one could close his eyes and almost see Washington himself as he sat at his desk or before the fire place.

We went to Annapolis and a guide took us about the grounds. While here we went on board ship the "Childs." I was very sorry I did not get to see either Bill Clark or Bob Pritchard because they were on their Mediterranean cruise. We took many other sight seeing tours while in Washington and I could write all day telling you about them.

From Washington we went to Philadelphia. While here we were guests of Mr. and Mrs Maurice Greiman. Mrs. Greiman was a class mate of mine all during my school days at Garner While here we saw Independence Hall, Liberty Bell, Congressional Hall and many other places.

We stopped in New York for only a short time because it was so awfully warm. Now we are at Newport Rhode Island This is located on an island. It is very cool here. This is the place where New York's 400 live during the summer. There are some beautiful estates here. Each day we go down to the beach.

Sunday we were taken out on the U. S. S. Detroit, a light battle cruiser. This was extremely interesting. I have often wanted to see a battle ship and we were priviledged to see them too.

From here we are going by boat, a distance of 150 miles to New York, on to Niagara Falls, into ; Detroit, Mich; South Bend Indiana, to see Notre Dame; Chicago and then on home.

Each day when I see something new I say to Sylvia, my girl friend, how I do wish I had my boys and girls from Klemme with me to help me enjoy all of these lovely things. I feel as if I have had an excellent course in history.

I could write much more, but imagine you are tiring of reading.

Sincerely,
Norma Barz.

BLUES STAGE RALLY TO BEAT SCHMIDT BEER NINE 4 TO 3

The Klemme Blues staged a rally in the ninth inning of their game Sunday with the Schmidt Beer nine of Mason City, and trailing 3 to 1 drove in 3 runs before any outs were made. Grelk, a southpaw, was on the mound for the Mason City team and turned in a record of 15 strikeouts, 3 walks and allowed 10 hits. Keraus on the mound for the Blues struck out 12, gave no walks and allowed 6 hits. Extra base hits came in the form of a triple and a double by Grelk and doubles by Stokesbary, Bridges and Ryan.

These two teams will meet again on the Klemme diamond, Sunday, August 19th.

LARGE CROWD VIEWED FREE CHEVROLET TALKIES FRIDAY

Chevrolet Silver Chassis Was Big Drawing Card During Tho Day

A crowd estimated at more than five hundred people attended the free talking picture show sponsored by the Klemme Auto Co here on Friday night The pictures worked perfectly and the sound was very clear in the open air theatre. The comedy film drew a big laugh and the Chevrolet pictures were interesting and instructive to all.

The Chevrolet Silver Chassis, which was on display on the street all day Friday, proved to be quite an attraction and there was a crowd around it nearly all day.

Fred J. Arnold, proprietor of the Klemme Auto Co. is to be congratulated on bringing this fine entertainment to Klemme The same show and demonstration was held at Garner on Saturday evening.

FARM DEBT COMMITTEE MEETS REGULARLY

The Hancock County Conciliation Committee of which T. R. Riehm, Garner is chairman wishes to announce that this committee will meet regularly on the first and third Tuesdays of every month at the Farm Bureau office in the evening. Any debtor or creditor seeking adjustment in the debt relationship or one party with the other may ask the committee to investigate and make recommendations to either or both parties for the purpose of affecting a satisfactory solution of their difficulties

MOST OF THRESHING FINISHED HERE LAST WEEK

Threshing in this community was a quick job this year, and most rings were able to thresh several jobs a day as the oats stand here was very thin. Most fields threshed out only ten or twelve bushels. Now and then a field would go twenty bushels to the acre The highest yield we have heard of was a small field A. G. Koerner threshed which went twenty-eight and one-half bushels to the acre.

J. N. DAY REMODELING STORE THIS WEEK

J. N. Day is having the west part of his general store remodeled this week. This part of the building, which has been used as a storage room, is being fitted up for a Post Office A new front is being installed, a new entrance made, new floor put down and other work is being done.

Mr. Day expects to move the post office into the new quarters about August 15th.

Thoiman Home Struck By Lighning Sunday Morning

The Henry Thieman home northeast of Klemme was struck by lightning Sunday morning. Some siding was ripped off the house and the interior wall, and curtains were scorched.

SUNDAY MORNING BLAZE AT CREAMERY DID SMALL DAMAGE

Smoke was seen issuing from the Creamery Sunday morning at about 10:30 o'clock and the fire alarm turned in.

The blaze had not gotten much of a start and was easily put out with a few buckets of water and chemicals by several men who happened to be near the plant.

About the only damage done was that the flames charred a window casing in the test room and burned the floor slightly. A large bottle of acid used in testing was broken. The loss was covered by insurance.

It is thought the fire might have started from the sun shining thru a bottle, focusing the light rays on a box of waste under the window.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of extending thanks to the Klemme Fire Department and all others who assisted in fighting the fire at the Creamery Sunday morning.

Klemme Co-Op. Creamery Co. 1c

MAY USE CORN SILAGE TO TAKE PLACE OF HAY

If legumes or other kinds of hay happen to be short next winter as a result of the early drouth, it is still possible to feed the dairy herd in an adequate manner by substituting corn silage for hay according to the results of an experiment conducted at Iowa State College.

Cows were fed a balanced grain ration of 4 parts corn, 4 parts ground oats and 1 part cracked soy beans and all the corn silage they would eat. Another group of cows were fed the same grain ration and all the alfalfa hay they would eat. No important difference in production was noted.

A similar experiment was conducted at the Ohio Agricultural Eperiment Station, and similar results were obtained

When alfalfa or other legume hay is eliminated from the ration the protein in the grain ration must be increased. This may be done by adding more soybeans. If a small amount of oats is available it should be fed and the soybean proportion decreased. When oats are not obtainable on the farm, it is desirable to increase the soybean portion of the ration and to furnish oat hulls and wheat bran, if possible. A good emergency ration, when oats are not available, would be: 6 parts corn, 1 part wheat bran 1 part oat hulls and 1½ parts cracked soybeans.

Barn Struck By Lightning, Burns To Ground

Lightning struck a barn on the Adolph Thompson farm six miles west and 2 miles south of Goodell Sunday night at about 10:30 o'clock. The building was destroyed by fire. The Belmond Fire Co. was called and came with their equipment, preventing the fire from spreading to nearby buildings.

Erick Josten Describes Long Wester Journey

Erick Josten, of this city, gives an interesting report of his trip thru the West, accompanied by his nephew Mr. Earl Josten, of Estherville.

They left Estherville Friday afternoon, July 13th and nothing happened on the entire trip to mar the occasion, except one flat tire, even tho they started on Friday, the 13th. They drove through Dakota and out through part of the Black Hills. Their first stop for pleasure was at Spear Fish and there they visited the beautiful canyon and found many pieces of petrified wood. From here they drove to Wyoming and saw the Devil's Tower and also visited the Crow Indian reservation. Driving on into Montana, through parts of Yellowstone, Billings and Butte, where they saw a large copper mine which was not running on account of a strike. As they passed the state line from Montana into Idaho, they saw the Camel Back mountain and saw lots of snow on the mountain. At Mullin Idaho, they saw zinc, lead and silver mines.

From here they wont to Seattle, Washington, which is a very level town spread out over a large area, with business very active. They were told that Seattle had had several bank failures. They then went to Vancouver and British Columbia. They shook hands with several of the British people and found that the strikes had affected business greatly. One Danish ship and two Norwegian ships laid in harbor at Vancouver. They took this trip on the boat as they had learned of the oil strike and thought perhaps it would get better in a few days. All the towns on the main highways were only permitted to sell five gallons of gas to the tourists. After the boat ride over to the Island, across the harbor to Bremerton, they started on their way to Tacoma. At the harbor they saw the battleship Arizona, which they had seen in New York harbor three years ago. At Portland, Oregon, they heard news of the strike being settled. As Will Rogers expressed it, "Everybody on both sides had nothing to do with starting the strike and everyone had something to do with stopping it."

They journeyed through Oregon to California along the coast highway, viewing Mount Hood and the Sea Lion Cave. At the state line they were stopped and their grips examined by the agricultural society, to make sure they were not carrying any diseased fruit into California. On highway 101 they have five free ferry boats and they crossed three of them. They are building a bridge into San Francisco, but still had to croos on the ferry and pay toll for passenger and car.

They went thru San Jose and on to Morgan Hill, where they stopped and visited with Mr. Ralston's mother and sister, who live on a fine fruit farm. Here they saw French plums grafted on peach trees. Rev. and Mrs. Ralston had not arrived for their visit yet.

From here they went to the Yosemite valley and through the park, seeing splendid views of castles and rocks, waterfalls and the Yosemite falls. They went southward out if the park and through a tunnel that was excavated, being 4230 feet long 19 feet high and 28 feet in width. They went on down thru California enjoying the beautiful redwood forests and finally came to Los Angeles which is a town composed of many towns. It has a temperature of 100 in the daytime and is very cool at night. The salt air atmosphere is great and very refreshing. In Los Angeles they visited with Walt Bloom, John Henschen, Miss Hulda Johnson and many other old Klemme friends.

While on their trip they attended several churches, hearing good sermons in the Baptist and Methodist churches. At Los Angeles they attended the evening service at the First Methodist Church. Here they have four thousand five hundred members and a budget of $80,000; 2 ministers with salary of $13,000; Sunday contribution average $1500 and they had 100 members in the choir. So they decided that the west has good ministers that preach the gospel and many people who are good Christians.

They left California, Monday, July 30, headed for Klemme, and again they were stopped for examination as they crossed into Arizona Crossing the Painted Desert the highest temperatures were in the shade 114, and in the car 112. They passed through the gold mining district where there is no vegetation at all. They went north into higher elevation and saw the Grand Canyon. Some people think it is prettier than Yellowstone. The canyon is cut by the Colorado river with splendid scenery and the colored waters of the river are very beautiful. The river is much smaller than the Missouri river.

From there they went south to 66 thru New Mexico to Santa Fe where they saw lots of Indian tribes. This is an old town where the Spaniards once hunted gold. When the Spanish children go to school they even learn to speak the Spanish language before they do the English and they do not speak the English language fluently. The saw the oldest church St. Michael. The town has very old scenery and the houses are of the old Spanish adobe type.

On to Pueblo, Colorado, and saw the factories from which we get our great iron works, the ore they use being shipped in from Wyoming. Pueblo was the finest residence town they visited since leaving California. From here they came on through Nebraska and crossed the Blair bridge into Iowa—the State Where The Tall Corn Grows—and on home to Klemme. They traveled 6,400 miles.

LOCAL DEALER WILL HAVE GLOBE CIRCUS IN FEW WEEKS

Ed Jacobs and Melvin Newberger drove to Cedar Rapds Monday afternoon to attend the Globe Stove Co.'s circus that evening. The circus was an advance demonstration which will be put on again by the many dealers in Iowa at a later date. The meeting was attended by a large number of hardware dealers thru-out the state and a full line of Globe products were on display.

Mr. Jacobs announces that the Globe Circus will be held in Klemme in a few weeks. Watch the Times for date and particulars.

LOCAL MECHANIC PURCHASED GARAGE AT NEWELL, IOWA

Ernest Davis, mechanic at the Klemme Auto Co., has purchased a garage at Newell, Iowa, and will take possession of the business Monday.

Ernie has made a lot of friends while in Klemme and they will regret having him leave, but wish him success in his new enterprise. Ernie has gained a reputation of being an A-No. 1 mechanic and his place at the Klemme Auto Co. will be hard to fill.

Here's luck to you, Ernie!

Band Play August 16th

Miss Mildred Johnson has coached several of the older members of the band in a play and they will present the play on next week Thursday evening at the school house. A small charge of ten and twenty cents will be collected and they desire to have a big crowd ont. The proceeds will go to help with the band expenses.

THE PRICE OF BUSINESS SPEED

Banking Institute Speaker Says That Bank Failures Followed Business Failures

CHICAGO, Ill.—Many appear to think that failures occur only to banks, but the complete story of business shows that failures of American banks have followed the failure of business enterprises, and have not been a cause of those failures, Dr. Harold Stonier, National Educational Director of the American Bankers Association, declared in a recent address here before the American Institute of Banking.

"It is true that we have had more failures in our banks than in the banks of a number of other countries," he said. "It is also true that we have had more failures in drug stores, grocery stores, railroads, and in every other type of business enterprise. At the same time, it must be said that we still have left after all our failures, more drug stores, more grocery stores, more railroads, and more banks than any other country."

People do not realize, he said, that we have in excess of 108 banks which have been in existence over a century and we have more than 2,000 banks which have been ir existence over 50 years.

"In other words, we have more banks over 100 years of age than any other country—we have more banks over 50 years of age than any country in the world," he declared. "The American banking system has not fallen down—it is not in danger of decay. Such failures as it has experienced are due to the price we pay for too rapid development of business enterprises, but that is the American spirit."

U. S. GOVERNMENT GREATEST BANKER

Runs Fifty-two Financing Institutions With Investment of Two Billion Dollars—Thirty-nine Agricultural

AMERICA'S biggest banker today is the Federal Government, which is now operating fifty-two financing institutions, says Professor John Hanna of Columbia University in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"Forty of these are owned entirely by the Government," he says. "In twelve more the Government has already a two-thirds interest. Thirty-seven are intended to be permanent. Twenty-five of the permanent ones and fourteen of the temporary ones are agricultural.

"The capital stock held by the United States in these banks has a par value of $1,380,000,000. The Government's total investment is nearly $2,000,000,000. Resources of these institutions exceed $3,000,000,000. In addition the Government has detailed supervision over fifty-one mortgage banks, operating under Federal charter.

"The Government also supervises 4,600 local agricultural loan associations with Federal charters. All this takes no account of the relations of the Government to the twelve Federal Reserve banks, nor of the authority recently given to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to buy preferred stock in national and state commercial banks."

The President has ordered the consolidation of tho agricultural credit agencies into the new Farm Credit Administration, says Professor Hanna. He expresses the opinion that before the consolidation of the agricultural financing agencies too much machinery had been created to administer the financing institutions which the Government either owns or supervises.

"Existing institutions represent a considerable differentiation of function and any consolidations should be preceded by a careful survey of the actual activities of the various institutions," he continues. "The only consolidation the Administration has announced is that of the agricultural credit agencies in the Farm Credit Administration. As a permanent solution this arrangement is too closely bound up with politics.

"A better scheme would be to create a finance corporation under Federal charter to take over either the agricultural finance activities of the Government or all its lending agencies.

"The Government's financing and banking activities should be kept severely apart from subsidy and other schemes for raising the prices of farm products. One is business, the other is major political policy. The advantages of the corporation over bureau control for the business functions are real and significant."

Railroad Legislation

A RECENT state legislative bill provided that a track man carrying a bell by day and a lantern by night should lead all railroad trains across grade crossings; that conductors must smile when answering questions;

Seal Looks Like Fish, but of Animal Family

The seal is a member of that queer family of creatures which look like fish, but which are nevertheless animals, says a writer in the Montreal Herald. Like the whale, the seal breathes air, but it has the advantage over the whale in that it can come on land.

The seal lives entirely on fish, and may eat as much as a hundred pounds of them in a day. He can swim wonderfully well, just as well as a fish can, and throughout the late summer, autumn and winter, he roams the seven seas, and during all that time he may never leave the water once. But in the spring he returns to the place where he was born, which may be a thousand miles away, and there he meets millions of other seals. In the summer the baby seals are born, and as soon as they can swim—that takes about six weeks—off they go again.

These seal nurseries are in out-of-the-way places where men seldom come, and on suitable beaches the rocks are often worn smooth by the millions which visit them every year. The scene on these beaches is wonderful, for you can hardly see the ground for the huge number of animals. The noise, too, can be heard for miles away, for all the males fight for the best places and roar all the time.

Spider Builds Swinging Cradle for Young Ones

A spider rejoicing in the name of olios coenobita, found in Madagascar, has a unique nest for its young in the form of a swinging cradle. The spider spins several threads, forming them into a stout cable, and carefully suspends it from the branch of a tree from which the cradle is to swing. The cradle itself is an empty shell, sometimes a snail shell, but often a one-chambered shell ending in a point or spiral opposite the opening. The spider then travels back and forth from the branch to the cradle, which is still lying on the ground, until she decides that the rope is strong enough. When the cable is thick enough the little maker mounts to the top of it, where it is fastened to the branch, and rolls it up with her feet until the cradle swings some two inches clear of the ground. Since the spider silk is moist when first spun, and contracts as it dries, she knows it will become shorter. And here, in their shell cradles, the baby spiders rock back and forth in the breeze, safe from harm until they are ready to start out in life for themselves.

Engraving on Copper

Engraving is generally done on a thin, flat copper plate, with a small pointed tool known as a burin, or graver, which makes a V-shaped cut. The engraver works by pushing the burin, holding it almost flat against the plate. The very nature of the process makes the line more methodical, less sketchy than an etched line. The process came into use early in the Fifteenth century, and was practiced most in Germany, Italy and the Netherlands. Martin Schongauer was the first big name. After him came Albrecht Durer, head of the prolific Sixteenth century German school. Among the early Italians were Mantegna, Marc Antonio and Campagnola. The English and French engravers offer the best opportunities for them. Among the more prominent Englishmen were William Sharp and Robert Strange. The Frenchmen, who engaged in perpetuating on copper plate the work of Watteau, Chardin and Lancret, were Cochin, Audran, Pardieu, Gravelot and Moreau.

"Tekla" Pearls Man Made

Tekla pearls are made from a species of Hungarian fish that is found in Lake Balaton, which contains radium in its waters and quantities of gold fish. A kind of whiting and sheat supply the scales used for the manufacture of "Tekla pearls." There are two laboratories on the lakeshore at Siofok and Fonyod, where microscopic crystals are extracted by a treatment with ammonia from the scales scraped off the fish. The product is the raw material of the "Balaton pearl essence." Glass beads receive a coating of this essence, which lends them that warm, glossy shine that makes it so difficult to the eye to distinguish "Tekla" from genuine pearls. The coating, however, is not done in Hungary, but mostly in the pearl laboratories of France, Spain and Japan. It is the essence which is exported from Hungary, or the scales themselves, salted down in barrels.

Antimony Widely Used

Antimony, of the non-rusting and non-tarnishing metals, plays an important part in industry. Perhaps its most important use, at any rate the use which daily affects more people than any other, is its use in type metal. It has a low melting point, melting at 800 degrees. It finds its way into medical use in the tartrate form, tartar amtic being widely used in medicine. Antimony oxide and antimony sulphide mixed are used to color glass and porcelain yellow, while in a form known as butter of antimony, antimony chloride, it is mixed with olive oil to give a brown color to gun barrels.

Antimony is usually found in the sulphide form, particularly in France, where large quantities are smelted. Antimony is also produced in Borneo, California, Nevada, Mexico, and New Brunswick.—Washington Star.

A GUARDED PROPOSAL

Lorenzo Dow, an American evangelist who went to Ireland in 1799 to endeavor to convert the Catholics of that country to Protestantism, was a bold spirit in many respects, but it appears that he was extremely cautious in matters in which women were concerned.

His tentative proposal of marriage, written to a young woman of his acquaintance, is a masterpiece of conservatism. He wrote as follows:

"If I am preserved, about a year and a half from now I am inhopes of seeing this northern country again; and if during that time you live and remain single, and find no one that you like better than you do me, and would be willing to give me up three years out of every four for travel in foreign lands (for if you should stand in the way I would pray God to remove you, which I believe He would answer) and if I find no one I like better than I do you, perhaps something further may be said upon the subject."

It is safe to say that the young lady could hardly have gotten a breach of promise verdict on the strength of a letter like that.

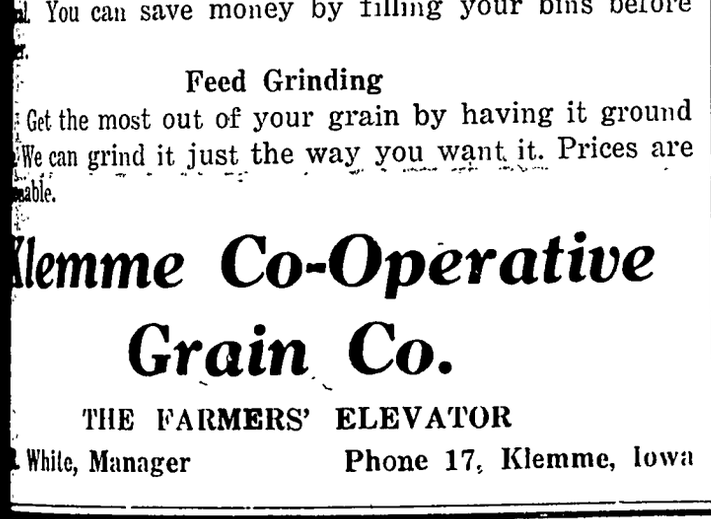
Silo Filling Time

Will Soon Be Here



IF YOU NEED A NEW SILO FILLER COME IN AND SEE US

Don't overlook the fact that a temporary silo will be very profitable to you this year. It will take care of early fall and winter feeding. No doubt that many will need to feed from the silo as soon as filled. An extra 50 tons in a temporary silo will go a long way to make the regular silo full hold out and on to next spring. Consider this! If you have none of the cribbing or paper, a 50 ton silo will only cost you about $25.00 and can be used for years and years.

Unique Collection of Epic Poems Preserved

The second edition of the oldest book of poems in the English language has recently appeared.

The first edition, which consistod of one volume only, came out 1,300 years ago.

This is the "Exeter Book" which has, for centuries, been kept in Exoter cathedral. According to legend the book was compiled at the order of King Alfred, who caused the monks to collect in one great volume all the old poems of England. Such epic poems were sung by minstrels and handed down from father to son. To write them was rare indeed. Consequently the original Exeter book—which consists of 262 pages of beautifully hand-written and illuminated manuscript—is unique.

The book was taken out of Exeter cathedral for the first time in nearly 1,000 years to be brought to London for the preparation of the second edition. This is limited to 250 copies. For the book is not printed; each of the original pages is reproduced by a special photographic process, and the whole is bound in buckram blocked in gold.—London Mail.

Man of Great Learning but of Gross Exterior

Thomas Campbell, in a diary, described Dr. Samuel Johnson, the eminent English lexicographer and man of letters, with whom he was personally acquainted, in the following terms: "He has the aspect of an idiot, without the faintest ray of sense gleaming from any one feature—with the most awkward garb and powdered gray wig, on one side of his head; he is forever dancing the devil's jig (a reference to a nervous ailment), and sometimes he makes the most drivelling effort to whistle some thought in his absent paroxysms." David Garrick, the great English actor who at one time lived with the Johnsons, described Mrs. Johnson as "very fat, with a bosom of more than ordinary protuberance, with swelled cheeks of a florid red, produced by thick painting and increased by the liberal use of cordials; flaring and fantastic in her dress and affected both in her speech and general behavior."

Franklin's Cartoon

Benjamin Franklin was the first to print a cartoon in his Pennsylvania Gazette. There were rumors of war with the French and on May 9, 1754, Franklin published an "advice" for Major Washington that the fort in the forks of the Monongehela had been surrendered to the French. To this he added a cartoon representing a snake cut into eight parts, the head representing New England and the seven parts New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. This cartoon was widely copied by other newspapers at the time.

Hands Off Spanish Estates

Spanish estates of the duke of Wellington, grandson of the "Iron Duke," are not to be confiscated, as was inferred from an official list of 361 grandees whose lands were slated to come under "agrarian reform," in which the Duke's name was mentioned. Spain gave the original duke 4,000 acres in gratitude for his victory at Salamanca in 1812. The present duke offered to sell his estates back to the republic, but they replied that as his tenants were fully satisfied with his administration, they would not take over his property.—Montreal Herald.

"Pork Barrel" Legislation

This term originated in the early part of the last century. On March 3, 1823, congress passed the first bill for harbor improvements. Opponents of the bill alleged its advocates voted for it for political reasons only. This so-called "rush" on the federal treasury was compared to the rush made by the slaves on southern plantations when the pork barrel was opened. River and harbor improvement bills were afterward facetiously called "pork barrel bills." The term has since extended to any legislation supposedly passed for purposes of political patronage.

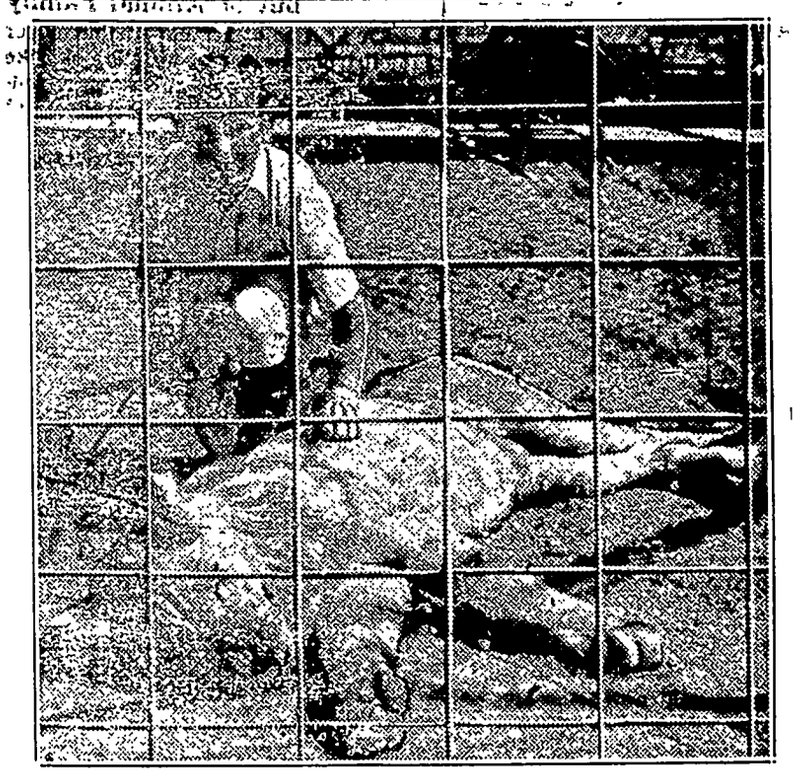
Huge Maori Maiden

Too many inches may even lead to absolute disaster, as witness in the case of Yella Mataroa, a Maori giantess who was over eight feet in height, weighed more than 420 pounds, and was extremely handsome. She lived in an isolated spot in New Zealand, and at the age of twenty-nine had an attack of appendicitis. They tried to get her to a hospital, but the roads were too bad for a car and her weight was so great that it smashed the buggy brought for her. They then managed to lift her on to a horse lorry, but she died before she could reach the hospital.

To Stain Gun Barrel

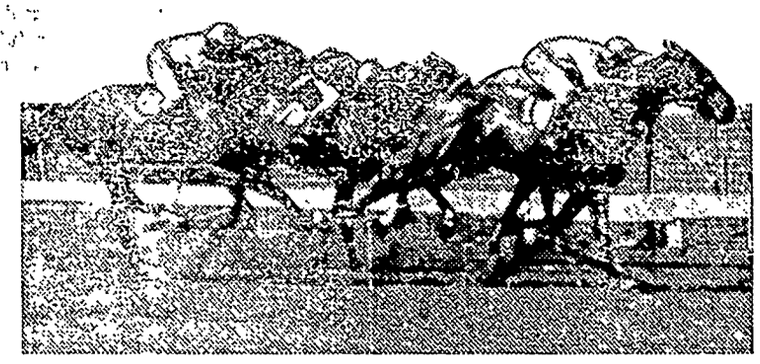
A solution for staining a gun barrel blue can be made by dissolving 4½ ounces of hyposulphite of soda in a quart of water; also 1¼ ounces of acetate of lead in a quart of water. Mix the two together and bring to a boil in a porcelain dish or stone pot. Clean the barrel free from grease, oil or varnish, warm the barrel, and smear with the hot solution, using a piece of sponge tied to a stick. When the color develops, wash and wipe dry; finish with boiled linseed oil.

10 Year Boy Lion Tamer at State Fair



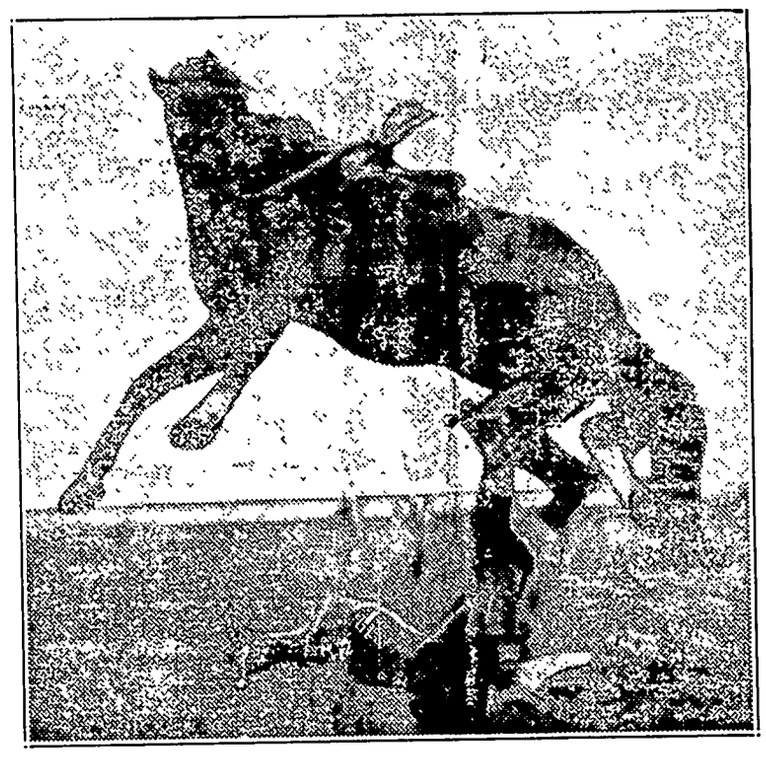
Des Moines, Special: Above is Manuel King, the 10 year old Brownsville, Texas boy who has attracted world-wide notoriety by training a troupo of twelve African lions in a series of tricks, rarely excelled even by adult trainers. King and his troupe of lions will be brought to this year's Iowa State Fair as one of the featured attractions in front of the grandstand each afternoon and evening of the exposition. Armed only with a whip, King enters the cage with his twelve lions and puts on an exhibition of control and training rarely equaled in the modern circus world, officials state.

Running Races Again Feature State Fair



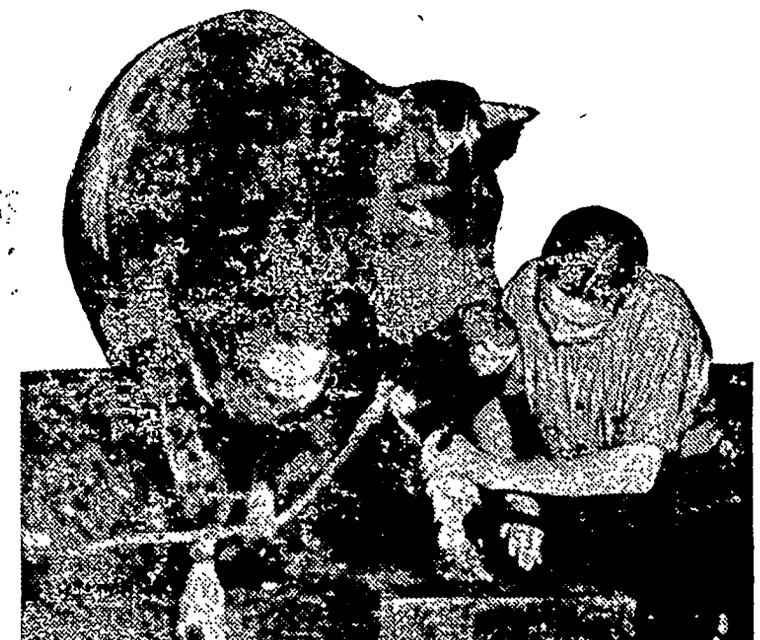
Des Moines, Special: The annual Iowa State Fair Derby, most famous event of its kind in the midwest, will headline a program of one afternoon and six nights of running races at this year's Iowa State Fair here. Some of the fastest running horses in the country are already entered for these classics. The Derby will feature a complete afternoon of running races at the fair on Saturday, Aug. 25. Running races also headline the night program on the illuminated track from Aug. 24 through Aug. 30. Over $10,000 in purses has been offered for the six day harness and running race schedule at this year's State Fair.

Famous Cowboys Compete in State Fair Rodeo



Des Moines, Special: Wild steer riding, broncho-busting, and all the other dangerous sports of the western plains will be included in the sixteen events headlining the Championship Rodeo on each of the seven consecutive nights of the Iowa State Fair here from Aug. 24 through Aug 30. A number of the best-known national champions are already included in the list of entries. Both the prize list and the entries are considerably larger than for the first highly successful rodeo held at last year's Iowa State Fair. The contests each evening will be climaxed by a hugo spectacle of pioneer days, "The Winning of the West", with elaborate scenic settings and pyrotechnic effects.

Famous Show Herds Enter 1934 State Fair



Des Moines, Special: Real kings and queens of the livestock world go on parade at the Iowa State Fair here, August 24 to 31, in a record-breaking national livestock show, plans for which are now virtually complete. Entries embrace many of the most famous show herds in the United States. Over two million dollars worth of horses, cattle, swine and sheep from 21 different states will enter the judging rings during the eight days of the State Fair competition, vieing for upwards to $50,000 in cash prizes. Nearly 2,000 head of livestock has been entered in the Iowa boys and girls' club show alone.

$1,000 A WEEK BABY

Admirers of little Shirley Temple, 5-year-old movie star, will be glad to know that she has been granted a substantial raise in salary, which has been jumped from $150 a week to $1,000 a week. In addition, her mother is to receive $250 a week for accompanying her at the studio.

Many remarkable child stars have been seen on the silver screen in recent years, but it is said that none has ever scored such a rapid and complete sucess with patrons of picture theaters as has Shirley Temple.

She is the daughter of George F. Temple, a branch bank manager in Santa Monica, Calif., who sticks to his modest job in spite of his gifted daughter's rise to fame and fortune. But he did take a hand in getting her big salary boost, which the Fox Film people agreed to after considerable wrangling.

Shirley has never been to school, but expects to start this fall. She receives a lot of fan mail, but it is not read to her, as her parents do not want her to become spoiled or too self-concious. If they have told her about her new salary she can hardly realize how much money $1,000 a week really is. Neither can we.

Buddhists of Tibet believe that when a ruling Grand Lama dies his soul immediately enters the body of a child born at that instant. Since the death of the former Grand Lama on December 17, 1933, search has been made for a successor. It is reported that a child has been found in the interior of the country who was born at the exact minute that the Grand Lama died. If the abbots and regents are satisfied with the date of birth, this unknown baby will become the head of three million Tibetan Buddhists.

Funeral Costs

There is quite a difference between average cost of a funeral in Klemme a the average cost of a funeral in a city 10,000 population or over.

Are the City People rich? Yes and N They have a few millionaires, but think the niggers (Des Moines has 25,000 nigge and the poor white people, and the fore element and the poor that live in hou boats and shanties. Most of the people poor and most city funerals are for p people and still because of the high expe and tax they must pay an average of $ per funeral more.

An Editor of a Funeral Trade Jour made a survey of funeral costs in the diff ent towns and cities. In towns like Klem a funeral will cost you at least $100 l than the same funeral would cost in city.

How thankful we should be that live in a prosperous rural communi where none are millionaires and none starving, but everyone belongs to the sa well-to-do farmer class, and all are acqua ted and friendly, one with another.

And when a death occurs in this co munity you call Wellemeyer, Your Ho Town Man, knowing that when you ask h to "Take Charge" he will attend to t many details and arrangements not only a Professional Funeral Director but also a Friend of the Family. This is one of t things which make Wellemeyer Fune Service Distinctive.

Many interesting discussions and demonstrations were held pertaining to the working with different Sunday School groups nd the opening and closing of the Worship period.

KING CORN WAS AGAIN ON PARADE IN KLEMME

Quite an unusual sight greeted the casual observer who happened to be in the vicinity of the Farmers Elevator Monday afternoon. The favorable spurt in the corn market put several shelling outfits at work with the result that a lot of corn was hauled into Klemme. At one particular time at the elevator there were twenty teams and trucks with loads of corn waiting to un load. A car on track was loaded, the elevator was full to the roof and everybody was waiting for the train to bring more cars. It's been many a year since such a string of grain haulers has been seen in any man's town!

SILO IS BEST PLACE FOR DROUTH INJURED CORN

More feed for livestock can be obtained from corn injured by drouth by putting it in a silo than in any other manner.

This is the coclusion reached by H. D. Hughes, head of farm crops at Iowa State College, after on exhaustive investigation of information available from all parts of the country.

Large acreages of corn in Iowa have been so severely injured by drouth and high temperatures that there is no longer any chance of getting a grain crop from it. Some of these fields should be cut without further delay in order to save as many of the leaves as possible. If a silo is available, the corn may be put into that; if one is not available the corn may be shocked up and fed as fodder.

It is important that immature corn be allowed to cure and dry somewhat before putting it in the silo; otherwise it will produce a soft, dark and strongly acid silage likely to scour cattle if fed in large quanities. Because of the danger of leaf-loss from corn left standing, it probably would be best to cut the corn and then allow it to dry somewhat in the bundles or in small shocks. A better quality of silage will be obtained if the corn is handled in this way.

If a silo is not available or if there is too much corn to put all of it in the silo, then the corn should be well dried out in the bundles before it is stacked or stored in the barn. If it is not well dried out, heavy losses may occur from heating.

Corn that is not being killed by heat and drouth probably should be left as long as possible in the hope that rains may increase the acre yield of fodder even though there is no chance of it producing grain.

SUGGESTS CANNING FIELD CORN

If your sweet corn has failed—can field corn!

This is the suggestion offered by A T. Erwin, vegetable crops specialist at Iowa State College, for increasing the winter's food supply. He says that corn in the roasting ear stage, or a little more mature, will make a tender, nutritious and wholesome product when canned. It lacks the delicate flavor of canned sweet corn, but the flavor can be improved by adding sugar.

Because of the drouth and high temperature, however, it is necessary to watch the corn closely as it will quickly pass the ideal canning stage. Mr. Erwin's attitude is this: In the Southwest they do it, so why can't we? In parts of the Southwest field corn is used almost entirely for roasting ears and canning.

Heed these words of caution—Field corn must not be canned, labelled and sold on the market as sweet corn. This practice is prohibited by the pure food laws.

PARTNER OR COMPETITOR?

L. H. Henry in Charles City Press: One item especially in the graphic arts code is intriguing. The code provides that the printer charge his customers $5.50 for a thousand 6¾ envelopes costing the printer $1 80 a thousand. Now Postmaster General Farley, the government' super-salesman of printing and other things, will sell you an envelope of practically the same grade for $2.48 with a 2-cent stamp attached, making the thousand envelopes costing the customer $2.48, less than half of what the printer must charge or be fined and imprisoned to such an extent as may suit the pleasure of the presiding judge. Now Mr. Farley employs thousands of salesmen to sell his product. Every mail carrier, clerk and postmaster will take your order. They will be delivered to your office or residence, all transportation charges paid by Mr. Farley. This isn't a new deal. It's just a resurrection of piracy on the high seas, a sort of glorification of Capone racketeering methods. And the administration tells us that we may not like it but that it is good for us in the long run.

YOUNG KLEMME COUPLE WED AT NASHUA WEDNESDAY

Miss Alzada Mullin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Mullin, and Mr. Awalt Jahnke were married on Wednesday afternoon, (August 8th, at 2 o'clock, at the Little Brown Church, Nashua, Iowa. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Kent, pastor of the church. Attendants were Miss Lucille Groesbeck and Armour Mullin, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Mullin were also present.

The bride wore a tailored gown of yellow crepe, while the bridesmaid was dressed in pink. The groom and the best man wore dark blue suits.

The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents until spring when they intend to start housekeeping in Klemme. Mr. Jahnke works at the carpenter trade.

The newlyweds are giving a dance at the Garner Opera House Friday night, August 17th, to which all their friends are invited.

STATE COLLEGE RECOMMENDS THREE TYPES OF TEMPORARY SILOS FOR CONSTRUCTION

Temporary silos for emergency purposes may well be considered to supplement permanent silos altho they will not be as satisfactory. This is the answer that Iowa State college has given to the hundreds of farmers who have asked for information about them. The spoilage will average about 10 percent more in temporary silos than in permanent types.

The temporary silos can be built however, with very little cash outlay and will give fairly satisactory service for a limited length of time. Silage put up in them should be fed out first if possible and that in the permanent silo left until last. The silo may be fed from as soon as it is filled although to become silage the corn must go through the ensiling process which may take several weeks.

Three types of temporary silo's—the trench, corn-cribbing or snow-fencing and the "corn bundle"—are suggested.

A trench silo is inexpensive and can be used successfully in the heavy soil area where there is little danger of caving and crumbling. All that is necessary to construct one is a plow, slip or fresno, a team and the labor of several men.

The corn-cribbing or snow-fencing may also be quickly built altho some expense may be necessary for materials. Construction of a 50-ton unit should cost less than $25.

Detils of construction and filling the temporary silos may be obtained by writing the Iowa Extension Service, Morrill Hall.

ED BUNTENBACH SHIPPED IN SEVERAL CARS LOADS CATTLE

Ed. Buntenbach. local buyer and cattle feeder, has been shipping in several car loads of stockers the past couple of weeks. Today, Wedneday, Mr. Buntenbach received another shipment of seven carloads which he bought in Omaha.

Last week he shipped in three car loads of cattle which have all been disposed of to local feeders. Mr. Buntenbach finds that there is a good demand for stockers in this vicinity and thad feeders are anxious to get good stock.

Bruce Arnold Had Birthday

Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Arnold, had a birthday, Thursday, August 9th, and his mother invited twenty of his friends to help him celebrate the occasion. Bruce received many nice gifts from his friends. For refreshments, Mrs. Arnold served a delicious lunch of sandwiches, home made ice cream and cake.

EVANS ANNOUNCES NEW AAA ADMINISTRTIVE RULINGS

Modify Harvesting Restrictions On Contracted Acres

Two AAA administrative Rulings—one simplifying the checking of corn-hog compliance in drouth area and the other modifying restrictions on harvesting seed on contracted acres—were recently announced by R. M. Evans of Laurens, state officer in charge of corn-hog compliance work and member of the state corn-hog committee.

"In primary and secondary drouth areas, in cases where corn yields have been substantially reduced as a result of drouth or insect damage county allotment committees are permitted to authorize supervisors to make certification by visual inspection rather than by measurement," the ruling states.

"The priviledge should be exercised only where corn yields will not exceed 40 percent of the adjusted appraised yield as indicated for the contracted acres on that farm," it explains further. "In such cases the producer should submit in writing a certification to the county allotment committee, indicating his corn acreage and prospective yield, which certification should be approved by the supervisors for acceptance of the county allotment committee in lieu of measurement."

Contracts for the reduction of corn, tobacco and wheat are now modified to permit harvesting in 1934 on contracted acres the seed of soybeans, cow peas, forage sorghums, millet and sudan grass.

Seed for meadow and pasture crops such as alfalfa, lespedeza, sweet clover and clover and grasses such as orchard grass, Dahlia grass, fescue grass, carpet grass and simillar grasses and legumes may also be harvested on contracted acres for use or sale as seed.

County compliance training schools for supervisors who will check compliance on individual farms being conducted by 12 members of the Iowa Extension Service are scheduled to be completed in the 99 counties by Aug. 23, according to Mr. Evans. Supervisors will begin inspecting ase soon as th county training schools have been held.

SEIZED GUNS TO BE SOLD

Ninety-one confiscated guns are to be sold by the Fish and Game Commission, The guns which have been seized by deputy game wardens from violators of the game laws were turned over to the Court. The Courts ordered the guns confiscated and turned over to the State Game Warden in accordance with the law.

The guns nave been ordered sold by the Fish and Game Commission and sealed bids are being received at the office of the Fish and Game Commission. All bids must reach the Des Moines office not later than September 30, 1934.

The guns will be on display at the Fish and Game Building at the State Fair grounds during the State Fair.

A list of the guns to be sold, including a full description andstating their condition and catalog numbers has been printed by the Commission. The lists are being distributed to all interested in the purchase of a gun and can be had by writing to the Des Moines office. Only sealed bids will be accepted and the highest bidder gets the firearm. Bids must be accompanied by a certified check or money order in the full amount of the bid. All bids not accepted will be returned to the bidder.

Both shotguns of all gauges and rifles of many different calibres are included in the list.

SIXTH ADJOURNED JUNE, 1934, MEETING

Garner, Iowa, Aug. 6. 1934.

The Hancock county board of supervisors met in session on above date with Supervisors F. J. Oxley, F. J. Schoun and G. E. Klipping, present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

Be it remembered. That on this, the 6th day of August, 1934, the county board of supervisors of Hancock county, Iowa, met in session for the purpose of a hearing upon the budget estimate as filed with this board. There was present a quorum as required by law. Thereupon the board investigated and found that the notice of the time and place of hearing has according to law and as directed by the board, been published on the 25th day of July, 1934, in the Garner Leader and the Britt News Tribune, official newspapers, published in said county, and that the affidavits of publication thereof was on file with the county auditor. Thereafter and on said day the estimate was taken up and considered and taxpayers heard for and against said estimate.

Thereafter and after hearing all taxpayers desiring to be heard, the board took up the estimtae for final consideration and after being fully advised, the board determined that said estimate be corrected and completed so that when completed it should be in words and figures as stated herein.

The chairman of the board and the county auditor were thereupon directed to properly certify the estimate and to file the same in the office of the county auditor as required by law.

F. J. OXLEY, Chairman.
FRED C. MISSAL. Auditor.

Supervisor Schoun is appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. No. 47 Ext. Lat. No. 1.

On motion and second the quarterly report of Henry A. Schaper, justice of the peace, is approved.

Carried.

In the matter of James Busick, he being a poor person, having applied to Hancock county for aid and his case having been investigated and he being found worthy of such aid,

Be it resolved, That James Busick be given a cash allowance of $6.00 a month to be paid from the poor fund of Hancock county and the county auditor is hereby ordered to draw warrant in the sum of $6.00 monthly in favor of James Busick beginning with the month of August and continuing until otherwise ordered, all as by law provided.

Whereas, John Hammill was appointed by Judge T A. Beardmore to assist the state in the State of Iowa vs. Joe Thilges and Leo Besch, case No. 941 and 942, as provided for by section No. 5243 of the code of Iowa, 1931, and

Whereas, said John Hammill has now billed Hancock county in the sum of $347 59 for services rendered in connection to the above referred cases.

Be it resolved, That John Hammill be allowed the sum of $345 36 for services in connection with the hereinbefore mentioned cases and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to draw warrant on the court expense fund in the sum of $345.36 in favor of John Hammill, in full payment for service rendered.

Be it resolved, That the claims hereinafter set out be allowed in amounts designated thereon and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to draw warrants on the several funds of Hancock county in amounts set opposite each claim.

On motion and second, board adjourned to Monday, August 13, 1934.

JEWELER DEFIES NRA

Since assessments have been laid upon individual establishments in various industries for the purpose of raising funds for code enforcement, a great many establishments have failed to pay the amounts demanded by their code authorities So far as we know, no legal steps have been taken to collect these assessments up to the present time, although such action has been threatened

A case which may bring the assessment matter to a show-down is that of Levy & Son, manufacturing jewelers of New York, who have given notice that they refuse to pay an assessment of $100 levied on their establishment by a jewelry code authority. In a letter they say:

"We are in receipt of an invoice for $100 for a contribution to maintain the code authority of the jewelry industry We do not intend to pay it. In fact, we refuse to pay it. We have been in business for over 46 years. We intend, as long as our money is invested in our business, to run it on the same high standards as in the past. We absolutely refuse to take any advice or direction from the NRA. This firm will spend $1,000 to fight the payment of this $100."

It will be interesting to see what General Johnson will say or do about this direct challenge to authority A good many business men are wondering whether the NRA can really compel the payment of these assessments. It seems that the Levy case might provide a clear-cut test in the courts.

An exciting baseball game between teams from the Detroit and Chicago symphony orchestras in a recent forenoon demonstrated that these great musical organizations have members who can wield a bat as well as a fiddle bow. After allowing the Detroiters an 8 to 0 lead early in the game, Chicago came from behind to win 18 to 17. Both orchestras are playing engagements at the Century of Progress.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
Executive Manager
American Bankers Association

F. N. SHEPHERD

WHILE banking today appears in a wholly distorted light in the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say without reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers. The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The Bankers Today

Tho bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not thoy would not be there, or their banks would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane, by which even many banks and bankers, whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed. The other types of bankers, thoso that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion and ill will.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conceptions of their stewardship and brought their institutions and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen. It has been a peculiar feature of the psychological distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with any rational consideration of the facts.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TRUST INSTITUTIONS

New Move by Federal Banking Authorities Welcomed by Banks and Trust Companies, Says Bankers' Organization

FEDERAL examination of trust departments is the latest development in banking supervision and trust companies and banks operating trust departments are welcoming this development because it fills a long-felt want, it is stated by the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association.

Despite the growing importance of American trust business in recent years examining officials have never given to trust departments the attention paid to commercial banking departments, this authority points out. Now the Federal Reserve System, in conjunction with the Comptroller of the Currency, has undertaken to bring the examination of trust departments up to the level of commercial bank examinations, it says.

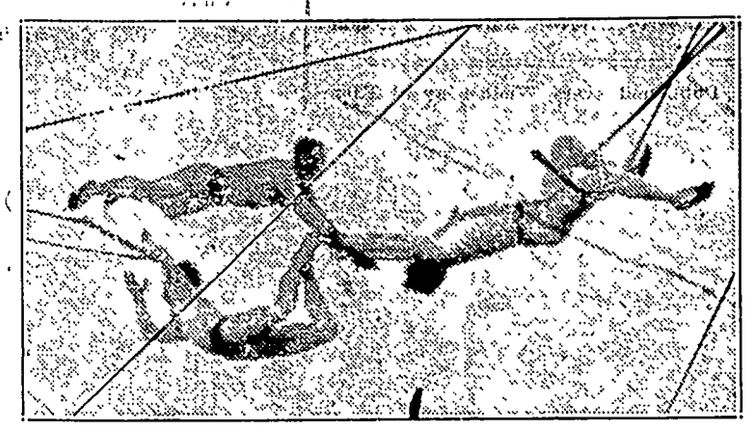
Experts in trust work are being employed by the various Federal Reserve Banks. These experts will head the special staffs of trust examiners in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Special staffs are already at work in some of the Reserve Districts, including Boston, Atlanta, Richmond and Chicago. The Federal Reserve will examine the trust departments of state-chartered members of the Reserve System.

Uniform Supervision

Meanwhile, the Comptroller of the Currency has built up over the past two years a staff of special examiners for the trust departments of national banks. All national banks are members of the Federal Reserve System. Since nearly all state-chartered trust institutions are members of the Reserve System the new plan will bring about what amounts to Federal examination for the trust business.

State examining authorities probably will follow Federal supervisory policies to a considerable extent. Hence, coordination of the procedure of the national banking system and the Federal Reserve System is expected to result in a uniform system of examinations for trust departments in all banks. This in turn should produce considerable standardization in the operation of trust departments, the division declares.

Famous Circus Stars to Be at State Fair



Des Moines, Special: An old fashioned circus, including some of the most famous hippodrome performers of America and Europe, will be brought to this year's Iowa State Fair in Des Moines to augment the regular afternoon and evening entertainment program, officials announced this week Trained lions, clowns, gymnasts and other favorites of the circus arena will give two performances daily, between the horse race events in the afternoon and between rodeo events in the evening. Feature acts include Manuel King, the ten year old boy lion trainer and his troupe of twelve African lions, the Peerless Potters, noted high-air trapez performers from the Ringling Circus, and the Kanazawa Japanese Troupe of gymnasts.

HUGE CROWDS ARE EXPECTED FOR BIG '34 IOWA STATE FAIR

Des Moines, Special:

Iowa will celebrate the return of better times to the midwest with one of the biggest State Fair programs in many years, according to completed plans for the 378 acres of exhibit and entertainment features announced this week

Running continuously for ten days and nights, from Aug 22 through Aug 31, this summer's Iowa State Fair will be of world-fair proportions, both in exhibits and entertainment. Here are some of the highlights among the scores of amusement features:

The second annual Iowa State Fair Rodeo for seven nights; five days and six nights of horse racing with over $10,000 in purses; national circuit auto races on Friday Aug 24 and Friday Aug. 31: twenty different bands and orchestras: an open-air circus each afternoon and evening, headlining Manuel King the 10 year-old boy lion tamer and his troupe of African lions; "Winning of the West", huge spectacle of pioneer America; five nights of horse shows; Century of Progress fireworks; over 10,000 school musicians in a Sunday music festival

Exhibit features will include: farm boys and girls' 4-H Club Congress. with nearly 2,000 youngsters competing; Iowa corn aud small grain show; National Livestock Show with entries from 21 states; state women's exposition; Iowa fish and game exhibit; Iowa flower and garden show; Iowa art salon; national machinery and farm equipment show; 35 county farm bureau project exhibits; national waterfowl show.

Numerous state tournaments and contests will also be held at this year's exposition, including the old fiddlers contest, team pulling contest, midwest horseshoe pitching tournament, baby health contest, and state checker tournament.

Forty acres more has been added to the free camp ground adjoining the fair, providing a total of 160 acres of beautiful wooded camp grounds free to fair visitors this summer.

With a record-breaking program throughout the eight days, fair officials are expecting a record-breaking attendance as well. Between 300,000 and 400,000 vacation-seekers are expected to take their outings here during the last eight days of August.

Open Free Camp at Fair.

Des Moines, Special:

The largest vacation camp in the midwest is in readiness hore to welcome visitors to the 1934 Iowa State Fair, Aug. 22-31.

Over 160 acres of beautiful wooded land adjoining the State Fair has been made ready to receive the tens of thousands of vacation seekers who will camp out during the fair. The camp will be open to the public free of charge throughout the exposition. Equipped with electric lights, city water service, modern sanitary facilities, stores, shower baths and all possible conveniences, it provides one of the most beautiful and interesting vacation spots in the midwest this season.

Best Dressed Iowa Girl

Des Moines, Special:

Iowa's 1934 style champion will be chosen during the Iowa State Fair here August 22 to 31, in a contest between 4-H farm girls from virtually every county in the state. The statewide style show and contest will be one of the features of the 8-day 4-H Congress which will attract over 2,000 picked farm youngsters from 99 counties. Competing girls in the contest must wear garments which they have made themselves. Above is the State Fair style show winner of 1933, Marjorie Donner of Mills County.

4-H Congress Sets Record.

Des Moines, Special:

The largest farm boys and girls' Club Congress in the United States this year, will be held at the Iowa State Fair here, Aug. 22-31, according to final plans announced this week by club leaders.

Over 2,000 picked 4-H Club members from 99 Iowa counties will compete for state chapionships here in a contest which will outshine anything of its kind thus far held in this country, leaders declare. Over 1,600 head of livestock raised by farm boys and girls has been entered in the junior stock show alone. The program of 4-H entries, judging contests and exhibits will be in progress throughout eight days of the exposition, and will be open to the general public.

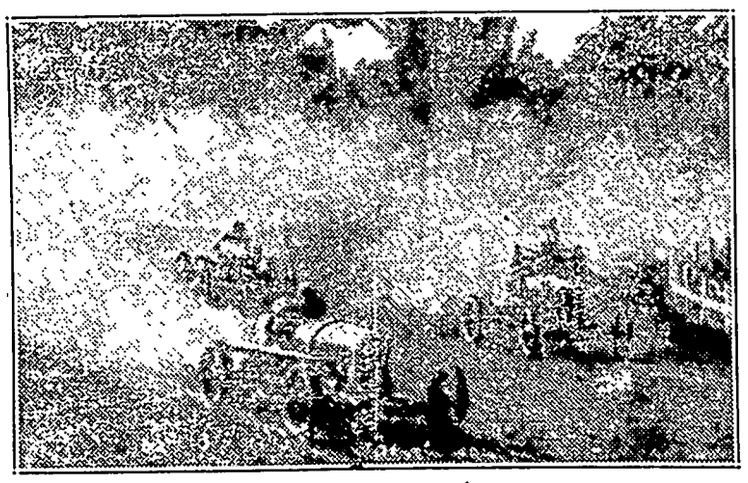
6,000 Livestock to Compete.

Des Moines, Special:

With 21 states represented and upwards of one million dollars worth of blue-blooded livestock entered in competition, the National Livestock Show at this year's Iowa State Fair here, Aug. 22 to 31, already promises to be one of the most outstanding livestock events in the United States in 1934.

Before final entries close, officials expect more than 6,000 head of horses, cattle, swine and sheep on the exposition grounds. Judging of prize herds from all parts of tho country, which will be in progress each morning and afternoon of the fair will be open to the general public.

National Champions in Meet at State Fair



Des Moines, Special: This year's sweepstakes winners at twelve of the biggest tracks in North America have entered in a special match race for the dirt track championship of the United States, to be held at the Iowa State Fair here Friday, August 24. The race will bring together at Des Moines more famous auto race stars than have ever appeared in a single event on the Iowa State Fair track. It will climax an entire afternoon of auto racing events in which nearly 50 drivers have entered. Auto races will headline the State Fair programs on both August 24 and August 31.

Times Editor Gives View Of "Century Of Progress"

AN EDITOR'S "EYE VIEW" OF THE WORLD'S FAIR

Times Editor And Party "Do Up" The Big Show In Two Days

Last week we promised that we would write up the World's Fair and briefly tell of the things we saw while spending two days at the fair grounds at Chicago. First, let us tell you that two days is not enough, it just barely gives you a chance to cover the ground, hit the high spots, and give you an inkling of what you really want to see in other words the two days get one "acclimated" so that you can pick out the interesting things to really settle down and look over thoroughly.

The trip to Chicago was uneventful. We "put up" at 4547 Bernard Street, in the north part of the city. This is the residence at which Mrs. Mary Waterman stays. We had comfortable quarters and were within easy reach of either the street cars or the elevated. We used both for transportation and left our cars at home. It was an hour's ride to the fair ground on the elevated, slightly longer on the street car.

The fair ground is laid off along Lake Michigan, just off the Loop District of Chicago. Roughly the fair ground is three miles long, is about a mile wide at the north end and tapers off to a couple ofblocks wide at the south end; so you see it occupies quite a piece of land.

We started in at the north end, or the 12th street entrance. First one goes along the Avenue of Flags and our first stop was at the Sears Roebuck building. (Not so hot.) Stepping right along we visited in more or less quick succession The Swedish Pavilion, Swiss Village, Hall of Science, General Exhibits, building, Hall of Religion, Byrd's Ship, Doughnut Machine Corp., Havoline Thermometer, Infant Incubator, American Radiator exhibit, Sinclair Exhibit, Firestone building, The Oasis, Belgian Village, Alpine Garden, General Cigar Co., Streets of Paris (naughty, but nice), Hawaiian Gardens (just a big headache), Italian Village (makes even the streets of Paris look tame). That about concluded the first day, as it began raining hard that evening and we took the cars for home.

To sum up the frst days jaunt we will say that The Hall of Science and the General Exhibits hold enough of interest for anyone so that a full day can be profitably spent in each. The Firestone Building was very interesting as there one could see just how automobile tires are constructed. As to the villages. well, most of them are nothing more or less than cabarets, beer and liquor gardens where you can go for an expensive lunch, a glass of wine, or something a little more stimulating if you so desire. However, let it be understood right that we did not see a single drunk on the grounds in any of the cabaret villages. Of the villages that are really worth while to see, because of their architectural construction and reproduction of some famous spot, we enjoyed the Swiss village, the Belgian village and the next day the German Black Forest which we visited. These villages put on excellent programs and are beautiful. Of course their big thing is also serving foods and drinks.

Everyone hears a lot about the "big thermometer". The thermometer is quite centrally located in the north section of the ground and is an ideal meeting place as it is visible over the entire ground. The thermometer is 218 feet high and is made of structural steel and sheet metal. The numerals are 36 inches high and are visible for a great distance. The highest temperature recorded while we were on the fair ground was 74 degrees.

REV. RALSTON AND FAMILY TO RETURN THIS WEEK FROM TRIP

A card from Rev. J. L. Ralston and family, mailed at Albuquerque New Mexico, states that they are on their way home and expect to reach Klemme the latter part of this week. Rev. Ralston will again occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday after five weeks of absence during which time they visited with relatives and friends on a trip to the west coast

HOME ACCIDENTS

Records gathered by insurance companies and by others, show that in Iowa during 1933, 66,150 accidents occurred in the home.

The most important group of home accidents is that comprising the "accidental falls". Over one-half of the total accidents in the home are caused by falls. Two-thirds of the deaths from accidental falls in the home occur among persons 65 years of age and over. Among children this type of home accident results in relatively few deaths

In Iowa during 1933, there were 441 deaths reported from accidental falls. In the older age group, tripping on rugs, slipping on highly polished floors and falling from chairs which were being used as step ladders were frequently named as the cause for falls resulting in disability and death.

Among children the principal hazards in home accidents are conflagaration, burns and explosions. Deaths of this type make up 37 percent of the total in the age group 0-4 years and 35 percent or children 5-14 years.

A large number of home accidents can be prevented if the following suggestions are heeded: Take your time, never use a chair or an piece of furniture for a ladder, do not use naptha or gasoline in the house, read the label on a medicine bottle carefully and at least twice before you uncork it.

If you have an accident in your home call a physician at once.

KLEMME BUSINESS PLACES TO CLOSE ON LABOR DAY

Andrew Wellemeyer, president of the Civic Club, informs the Times that the various places of business in Klemme will be closed on Labor Day, September 3rd. Some of the stores will remain open until 9:00 o'clock A M. and will then close for the balance of the day.

ARNOLD DESCENDANTS MET AT CHARLES CITY WEDNESDAY

Last Wednesday a group of 60 relatives comprising the Arnolds, Grimms and Langes of this vicinity, the Hartwicks and Meyers of McGregor and the Wessels of Dows met at Wildwood Park in Charles City for a day of enjoyment. The location was ideal with plenty of shade and grass. At noon a long table, at which the entire party was seated, was piled high with the good things usually found at picnic dinners

The guest of honor was Mrs. Christina Hartwick, 88, the only surviving member of the original Arnold family, who emigrated from Europe in 1851, landing at New Orleans 15 weeks after setting sail from Havre, France. They then came by boat up the Mississippi to the wilderness which is now eastern Iowa. No railroads existed west of the Mississippi.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was the reading of a family history dictated by Mrs. Christina Hartwick and read by Mrs. Theodore Hartwick, tracing the family back to the year 1812.

The families represented were the F. A. Arnold, E. J. Arnold, Mrs. C. A. Arnold, John Griffen, Lew Griffen, Albert Lange, Ben H. Greiman, Ralph Upmeyer, all of near Klemme; Mrs. Christina Hartwick, Theodore Hartwick, Irvin Meyer, Mrs. Wm. Meyer, of McGregor; Rev. Geo. Wessel of Dows; Dr. C. B. Tice Mrs. Elva Chase, of Mason City; and Mrs. Emma Larsen of Centerville.

Klemme Schools To Open Monday, September 3rd

KLEMME HIGH WILL HAVE NEW TYPEWRITING DEPARTMENT

Two New Members Take Places On School Faculty

A majority of the people of the United States now live in cities and they are insisting that their children receive the best possible education. Competition in our modern life becomes increasingly strenuous and the children from the farms and villages must also receive a good education if they are to receive a fair share of the benefits of our civilization. Leaders in industry are unanimous in their opinion that there is no substitute for a high school education; that it offers a complete development of talent and increases the real worth during the advancing years.

Klemme now has a Business Training Course as well as a Liberal Art Course. The most up-to-date typewriters have been purchased by the Board of Education. Tuition will be charged to cover depreciation of the machines. Free instruction in typewriting will be furnished. Juniors and Seniors who desire to take typing are asked to register Monday, August 27th, as some additional typewriters will have to be rented.

Music

Klemme High School offers training in the following: Orchestra, Band, Boys Glee Club, Girls Glee Club, Operetta and Small Mixed groups. Miss Ford is an experienced orchestra director and received good ratings at Ames where our orchestra played last year. Miss Johnson has been directing the school and town band which has developed into a forty piece organization. Miss Ahrends will lead the Glee Clubs. She has sixty vocal lessons and thirty hours of college music.

Dramatics

Our declamatory department has been strong under the direction of Miss Galbreth. Last year Klemme received one first in both the county declamtory contest and sub-district contest. The student also has the opportunity of taking public speaking, being in plays and assembly programs.

Athletics

Mr. Kingery, who is considered one of the best basketball coaches in the state, will coach the athletics next year. Baseball, track, and basketball will be availble for those who desire the sports. Physical training is offered to all students.

Academic Contests

Not only has Klemme high school made a good record inextra-curricular activities but it has made a very good record in scholarship. Two students received trips to Iowa City and ranked among the highest in the state of Iowa.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HELD IN HONOR OF NEWLY-WEDS

Monday eve, August 13th, a miscellaneous shower was held at the Benj. Mullin home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Awalt Jahnke. One of the main features of entertainment was a mock wedding, in which eleven young folks took part.

The group was attired in the very unique costumes of number of years ago. The bridal party entered the room to the strains of "Here Comes The Bride" with Viola Thieman, pianist. Elsie Theiman softly sang "The Last Round-Up." Stella Thieman, minister read, the marriage vows to Joe Baker, bride and Mable Theiman, groom. They were attended by Vergie Meinderts, bridesmaid, and Johanna Albers, best man, The brides veil was carried by Margie Meinderts and Louise Albers. Luella Theiman, ring bearer carried a dog collar on a pillow. The flower girls, Marie Albers and Marie Meinderts each carried large baskets of cane and asparagus. The bride and groom wore clusters of plums while the bride carried bushes of string beans. After the ceremony was solemnized the bridal party left the room to the strains of "Yankee Doodle."

At a late hour refreshments were served by the self-invited neighbors who departed wishing the newly-weds success and happiness.

Silo Time!

Get your Silo in shape for filling. If it needs a coating on the inside, get it done Now! We have sold several jobs of "SPREAD ON ASPHALT." This seals up all holes and should make a good sealer. We have a hard asphalt that would be just the thing for coating silos on the inside. A little more work to put on though.

TEMPORARY SILOS! Don't pass this opportunity to get some cheap feed. A 50 ton silo will cost less than $25.00 andis good for many years.

Then we have the DENNING SILO. We have sold a couple of these. They are better than the slat, as they are more like a real silo. They will last for years. Easy to erect; take them down as you feed out.

Probably most every one has two, three or four slat cribs and by using the specially prepared TOUGH RHINO ROPE you can get 35 to 50 tons at a very low cost. Get Every Ton of Feed You Can.

IF YOUR CORN BINDER NEEDS REPAIRS—

Come in! We can help you out. If you must have a new one, let us know. We can also fix you out on silo fillers. Plow repairs, shares, etc., on hand.

STRONGER BUSINESS AND STRONGER BANKS

By F. M. LAW
President American Bankers Association

DURING the crisis when confidence was shattered, bankers were properly concerned in liquidity. Their main thought was to prepare to meet any demand for withdrawal of funds. They were more interested therefore in collecting loans than in making them. For this they cannot be justly blamed. It was a proper procedure.

F. M. LAW

Now that confidence has been so largely restored banks will naturally resume a more normal lending policy. This does not mean they will or should extend loose or unsound credit, but that in the utmost good faith bankers will perform their proper part in recovery by a sympathetic and constructive attitude in the making of sound loans. Nor should commercial banks make capital or long time loans, for the reason that their loans are made from funds derived from deposits payable for the most part on demand.

When the return of confidence is further on its way, business men will find need for credit in making their plans. Then good borrowers, who for the most part have been so conspicuously absent from the market, will return. They will be warmly welcomed by the banks.

Business Men's Fears

Business men have not yet laid all their fears. They worry about what Congress may or may not do. They concern themselves about a trend toward control of business by government. They fear taxes beyond their power to pay. These are real sources of worry and when they are reassured along these lines they will be more inclined to take a fresh look at the future and to make plans to go forward.

As a matter of fact there are tangible evidences of recovery. The Federal Reserve Board officially has stated that prices, wages, business activity and production were back to the highest peak since early in 1931. Commercial failures in the United States are being cut almost in half as compared with the same period last year. It has been reported that the decline in export and import trade was definitely checked in the middle of 1933 and replaced during the last half of the year by a substantial recovery movement.

Among favorable factors is the improved condition of the banks. It is doubtless true that the banking structure of the country has never been in a sounder, stronger and more liquid condition than it is today. My authority for that statement is the Comptroller of the Currency. No longer is there any fear or thought of bank runs. Depositors once more know that their money is safe and the banker, thrice armed in the knowledge of his own strength, is looking forward.

Training for Bankers

The American Bankers Association has been active for many years training young men and women in order that they may be duly qualified for the business of banking. Standard courses are furnished with able and experienced teachers. This work is done under the direction of the American Institute of Banking Section of the association. Over two hundred chapters, or local banking schools, are in active operation throughout the country and thousands of the younger generation of bankers are being graduated each year. These students are taught not only banking practices and policies, but they are also well grounded in the highest ideals and standards of business ethics. A proposal is now under consideration to establish a central school, which will offer advanced or graduate work to a selective list taken from those who have completed the standard courses.—F. M. Law, President American Bankers Association.

Banks Repaying Loans From R. F. C.

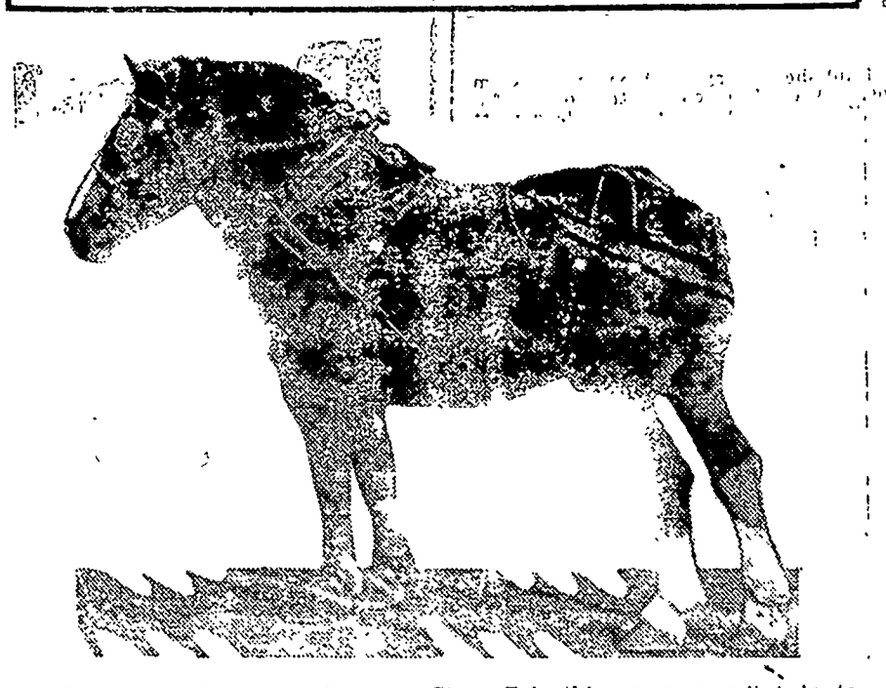
Although banks and trust companies have been the largest borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, they have exceeded all other classes of borrowers in the rapidity of their repayments. Since the inception of the R. F. C. in February, 1932, loans have been authorized by it to 7,080 banking institutions in the amount of $1,995,000,000. Of this sum $442,000,000 was not taken by the borrowers, the actual advances being $1,553,000,000.

Repayments against these advances through April 30, 1934, aggregated $925,000,000, or about 60 per cent. The ratio of repayments for all classes of borrowers has been only about 37 per cent. These rapid repayments by the banks are taken by competent observers as a strong indication of returning normal financial and banking conditions.

Bankers Finance Scholarships

The American Bankers Association Foundation for Education in Economics has since its establishment in 1928, awarded 354 college loan scholarships, the total loans repaid in that period being $262,000 and the amount now outstanding $86,000. The total investments of its funds are $540,000.

Horse Comes Back at State Fair



Des Moines, Special: The Iowa State Fair this summer will help to celebrate the "comeback" of the horse on farms and in industry, by staging one of the largest horse shows of recent years at the big exposition in Des Moines Aug. 22 to 31. Added classes of competition have been provided, to represent all breeds, the right horse shows have been expanded to cover five nights, and increased offerings have been made for colts and horses raised by 4-H Club farm boys and girls. Over 600 horses are expected to be included in the 8-day show.

Huge Vacation Camp at Fair

Des Moines, Special: The biggest vacation camp grounds in the midwest will be thrown open to the public here during the Iowa State Fair, August 22-31, to accommodate the tens of thousands of pleasure seekers who will take their outings at Iowa's huge 1934 exposition. Forty acres of additional land has been added to the camp ground this year, providing a total of 160 acres for the State Fair's tent city. Fair visitors are allowed to use the camp grounds free of charge throughout the period of the exposition It will accommodate over 25,000 people, officials estimate.

HERE'S HOW—WITH PINEAPPLE!

Another food innovation—the iced pineapple cup, made from crushed canned pineapple or tidbits—has been added to the housewife's list of cooling afternoon refreshments.

It made its appearance recently at winter resort beaches in the wake of announcements of nutritional studies which revealed canned pineapple as a valuable source of vitamins A, B and C and five essential minerals. In addition, it is being served as a breakfast fruit and as an appetizer or dessert at dinners. Eaten regularly, the dietetic studies showed the fruit also aids digestion and in the prevention and correction of acidosis and nutritional anemia.

Teaching Hawaii about pineapple might seem like carrying coals to Newcastle. But after all, it took America to give the hula dance, the ukulele and the beach at Waikiki an international reputation.

Children Like Their "Private Fair"

EDITOR'S VIEW OF WORLD FAIR

The "tube" is constructed of neon light tubes and they are operated electrically by a master thermometer at the base of the tower.

In the Belgian Village we viewed a display of religious relics valued at over $1,500,000.00. This was housed in a replica of an ancient Belgian church.

Right here we might say that the only worth-while exhibits, outside of a few of the villages, are the free exhibits. You can spend fifty cents at the gate for your admission and you don't have to spend another nickel for anything on the ground and you will see plenty. The best eating places on the grounds are the Century Grills and Walgreens. The former is evidently operated by the Fair Association and their food is good and their prices no higher than right here at home.

Saturday we were again at the Fair and the Sky Ride, was about our first attraction. No one should go to the Fair without taking in the Sky Ride. In fact, we would advise it as the very first thing to do. You are up high enough to get a view of the entire ground and surrounding city. With the aid of a map you can "dope out" the course you wish to take around the ground. Here are a few facts about the Sky Ride: Cost, $1,400,000; Height of Towers, 628 feet of 64 stories; Height of ride, 219 feet or 23 stories. There are four elevators in each tower, two to the 219 foot level and two to the top. The high rise cars travel 700 feet per minute There are ten Sky Ride cars operating, each weighing 6,200 pounds; Capacity, 36 passengers; speed, 620 feet per minute and it takes about 5 minutes to make the trip from one tower to the next. The cars operate on their own motors. The span, 1850 feet, is the second longest in the world.

We did not find the Sky Ride so thrilling, but enjoyed more the scene from the top of the tower 628 feet above the ground. We made another trip across the sky at night and again went up on the top of the tower. The fair ground and city is beautiful at night beyond all description and the many colors blending together create a sight that will never be forgotten.

Continuing our trip about the ground we were next to visit that part of the fair on the other side of the two lagoons, or the island side. Here we find Swift's Exhibit, the Swift Bride and their lagoon band stand; the Horticultural building with its wonderful flower and rock gardens; the Electrical group, another building where one could easily spend a full day and see but a fraction of the many interesting things. On the island we also find the Social Science building, Science bridge, Armour Building, the States group—don't look for Iowa exhibits, we couldn't find it—why, we don't know. The Enchanted Island is the playground for the little tots. The Agricultural group shows everything in the line of machinery. A U. S. Military camp is located in this part of the Fair. Everything in the food line is on display in one of the buildings. We were more like a kid and when we heard a loud report like a cannon we investigated and the main attraction for us was watching them make puffed rice. The rice is heated in large cylinders and at the proper moment the door is released and with a loud report out pops the puffed rice! Bang! Then all ready for the next shot.

The Island is the amusement place of the Fair. All kinds of rides, carnival stuff and shows. We took in Frank Buck's "Bring 'Em Back Alive". Lots of monkeys (not all in cages), snakes, etc., that were captured by Buck. Here our Young Hopeful accumulated a Frank Buck African hat—which with a cane is the proper costume to wear at the the Fair—that is, along with the ordinary run of garments also.

Continuing on around we took in the Wonder Bakery and could look out on the lagoon and see the beautiful fountains. That about wound up this part of the Fair for us, so we took a "shuttle bus" for the south end of the grounds to start all over again. Here we took in the General Motors and watched them assemble Chevrolet cars. Other interesting points visited during the day and evening included Outdoor Railway trains, C. & N. W. railroad, Nash Motors, Chrysler building and proving ground, Home Planning hall, Home and Industrial Arts—which includes: Kohler Bldg, Cypress house, Johns-Mannville, Armco House, Stran-steel house, General houses, Masonite House, Rostone house, Lumber house, Brick house, Glass house, Florida house, House of Tomorrow. (The ladies visited a number of the above.) Ripley's Odditorium was an interesting attraction and we saw a nice ice skating program at the Black Forest village. The ice rink here is frozen artificially and when not in use a thick curtain affair is rolled over the ice to protect it from the heat. This village was the most crowded of any we visited and is the most popular of any on the grounds. We wound up our trip at the Fair at about 1:00 a. m. Sunday morning and took the cars for home

Sunday noon for dinner C. G. Waterman and family, Mrs. Keraus and Mrs. Mary Waterman enjoyed dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Axel Hofgren who live in Evanston. Miss Glenna Gruetzmacher stayed with relatives while in Chicago and we did not see her. Ye Editor and family, Miss LaVohn Larsen, and Mrs. D. N. Davis and son, Donn, of Los Angeles, whom we met in Chicago, all enjoyed dinner at the home of Mrs. Jorgenson's cousin, Mrs. Matchett, Judge Matchett and two sons. After dinner all visited a short time with "Butch" Schroeder and wife and Albert Schroeder and family. In the afternoon we took the Lake Drive north beyond Evanston. That evening we were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Hofgren.

That about sums up the things we saw. However, the time was entirely too short and there are many things we would like to see. Outside of the grounds one can profitably spend some time at the Field Museum, the Planetarium and Shedd's Aquarium. On the grounds we would like especially to spend a few days at the Hall of Science, the Electrical group and take in a few of the other interesting points we missed in our mad dash to see what we could in two days.

The cost of seeing the Fair is not great. The greatest expense is for room and board and the gasoline and oil for the trip. However, the general price of good rooms which can be obtained near the Fair is 50 and 75 cents per person a night. Meals are no higher in Chicago than elsewhere, and the admission charge of 50 cents to the grounds constitutes the entire cost.

The Editor and party had Newspaper Passes, which were good for admission to the grounds and admitted us to everything we wanted to see, so the cost for us to see the attractions was nil.

Any information we can give to those who are contemplating a trip to the Fair will be freely given. We might add that filling stations near Chicago and in the city give away excellent maps of the World's Fair and city maps of Chicago, which are a great help in getting around. As far as driving in Chicago is concerned, it is very easy and not as difficult a matter as driving in some of our small Iowa cities.

Kilgore Will Be Manager Of Farmers Elevator Here

WOLFE SELLS BARBER SHOP FIXTURES TO CLEAR LAKE MAN

Carl Wolfe closed a deal the past week whereby he disposes of his interests in his barber shop in Klemme to D. G. Christence of Clear Lake. The latter will move to Klemme and take possession of the business October first. Some time ago Mr. Christence purchased the building which was owned by C .A Bachman.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolfe have resided in Klemme and have been in business for about three and one-half years. They have made a lot of friends here and Mr. Wolfe isturning over a good business to the new proprietor.

Mr. and Mrs Christence and their small daughter will move to Klemme and will reside in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe. Mr. Wolfe states that at the present time they are undecided as to where they will locate.

EN IN CHARGE OF GOODELL LEVATOR PAST THREE YEARS

A. R. White, Manager For Four Years, Resigned Position

An important business change takes place September 1st, or shortly thereafter, when Mr. C. C. Kilgore, of Goodell, takes over the managership of the Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co., or the Farmer's Elevator here in Klemme.

A. R. White, who has managed the business for more than the past four years, resigned last week because of ill health. Mr. White has not been in good health for the past year and much of the time was forced to remain in his home. During the past two months, Mr. H. J. Stille has been looking after the business at the elevator in Mr. White's place. The Board regretfully accepted Mr. White's decision and after careful investigation secured Mr Kilgore for the position.

Mr. Kilgore is an experienced grain man and is well recommended and the Board feel they have secured a good man to succeed A. R. White. Mr. Kilgore and family expect to move to Klemme in a short time and will live in the White residence.

Mr. and Mrs. White sold their residence to Charles Fritzel, and in turn purchased the Dr. Snearly home in Goodell, where they are now comfortably located.

Klemme is sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. White from this community. Mr. and Mrs White, however, feel quite at home in Goodell, as that is their former home and they intend to keep in close ttouch with their many friends here. We wish them all the happiness in the world and hope that retirement will benefit Mr White's health.

PLAN BUYING OF SOYBEAN HAY TO CONSERVE FEED

Plans to buy from 50,000 to 150,000 tons of soybean hay, No. 2 grade or better, at $15 per ton F. O. B. country stations in areas to be determined later are being made by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation, according to word received by County Agent S. J. Oberhauser from the AAA.

This effort to conserve roughage for livestock and to divert to feed purposes large supplies of soybeans which otherwise, because of high prices, might be harvested for seed has been instituted by the FSRC at the request of and in cooperation with the AAA.

As a result of the adjustment programs, large areas were shifted this year to drought resistant forage crops such as soybeans. A study of the uses made of acreage retired from surplus grain crops shows that extraordinary acreages of soybeans are available this year.

Adminstrator Chester C. Davis says, "The way in which the adjustment programs have added to the feed supplies of the country by stimulating planting of forage crops in time of drought is of greatest importance. Indications of these increases in forage crops can be seen in the increased sales of forage seed this year over last. Sales of Korean lespedeza seed have increased 63 percent, soybean[illegible] percent, millet and sorghum 33 per cent and Sudan grass 29 percent."

LIVESTOCK "CLEARING HOUSE" IS FUNCTIONING NOW

A daily bulletin listing farmers who have stock they wish to have boarded through the winter or to sell, and also those with surplus feed and roughage who wish to feed it to cattle under some payment plan or to buy stock is posted in the office of County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

This plan worked out by the Iowa Extension Service is aiding farmers in the drouth areas who wish to preserve their foundation herds to make arrangements to board their cattle for the winter on farms in the northern areas where there a surplus of feed and roughage.

Anyone who has surplus feed (or who wishes to farm his cattle out for the winter—depending on the county) may call at the county agent's office and fill out a postcard stating what he has and what terms he wishes to make

The cards are sent out from both the surplus and drouth areas each day to the Extension Service, Ames where they are compiled into the bulletin and sent out to all county agent offices. Anyone may examine the lists to see if he can "strike a deal" with someone in another section. Almost all conceivable terms for payment are being offered.

KLEMME MAN MISSES $20 BY NOT BEING AT AVERY THEATRE

Last week Wednesday night was "bank night" at the Avery Theatre at Garner. On bank night a number is drawn and if the holder of the number is present he or she receives $20 in cash. Carl Wolfe, Klemme barber could have received the $20 lats week—but—he was conspicuous by his absence so the $20 he missed out on will be added to a like sum this week and another number drawn.

Tough luck, Carl!

LOOK BEFORE YOU SHOOT

With the squirrel season opening on September 1 the usual warning is sent out by the Fish and Game Commission to "look before you shoot." Much has been said about the carelessness of hunters who would spoil the sport for all. This year the Commission lays stress on the warning for everal reaons. First and most important is safety for others and next, —a thought ought to be given to the Commission's game program. Every effort is being made to better the game conditions and provide more hunting Only a cooperative spirit existing between the farmer and hunter will improve the conditions. To kill the farmers cow or chicken will not help the situation.

A quick trigger finger is often times admired in a hunter but not when the fast shot takes effect in some living thing besides the game shot at. "Look before you shoot' and live to enjoy the memories of a joyful day in the field.

Mr. and Mrs Wilbur Haefner and Gloria returned Friday from Beltrami, Minn. where they visited relatives for a few days. They bro't Novella Beier back with them. She is going to stay with them and go to school in Klemme.

Largest Italian Family Sees Fair

It took a wash-tub of spaghetti to feed Mr. and Mrs. Mike Latorra and their nineteen children, who, after a nation-wide search, were selected as the largest and healthiest Italian family in the United States and were given a trip to the Fair by the Italian Village. The Fair closes forever October 31.

Sunday School at 11:00 o'clock.
Epworth League at 7.30 p. m
Evening Worship 8.00 p. m.

Our last quarterly conference will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 All officers be present

There are only four more Sundays until conference. There is lots of work to be done during these last weeks of the conference year. If every one will do their best the year will be closed in a fine way. God has blessed us this year far above many places. The year has been a good one and much good has been accomplished. We have received thirty new members into the church and our religious instruction classes and daily vacation bible school were very gratifying.

Now as we come to the close we know the fine people of Klemme and Liberty will close the year in a fine way "Hitherto God has helped us." And will make us all a blessing to His Kingdom in the future as we follow Him in loyalty to God and the Church.

FARMERS UNION TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

The Liberty local of the Farmers Union will meet at Ell Center No. 5 school house, Monday evening. September 3rd. An interesting program will be presented. I. D. Ostby, of Kensett, chairman of the 4th district of the Iowa Farmer-Labor Party, will be the speaker for the evening.

GAME RESTORATION DEPENDS ON THE HUNTER

The future of hunting and the success of the game management plan in Iowa rests, in a great degree with the attitude and actions of the individual sportsman of this State The amount of pleasure he is to enjoy in hunting seasons to come depends in a large measure upon the amount of effort he as an individual employs in the provision of good hunting conditions for himself.

It is within the ability of every sportsman in this State to proivde for himself good hunting conditions. The creation of such a condition cannot be done in a day nor can it be done without some effort. No real sportsman begrudges the effort he would put forth to improve the hunting conditions for himself.

Practice a better code of hunting ethics this season. Contact the farmer. Visit him. treat him fairly, respect his rights, divide your bag with him and you will be sowing the seeds of friendship and cooperation, so vital to the success of the Iowa conservation plan. Show him that you are genuinely interested in Iowa's game management plan. Explain its benefits to him and to the State at large, secure his cooperation and when future hunting seasons arrive you will have a place to hunt as well as your boy, and the bag will contain game upon your return.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buseman and family attended a family reunion of the Roths families at Charles City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Schaefer and sons, Donald, Elwyn and Roger and Miss Agnes Sindelar visited at the Mrs. Dick Swalve home Sunday afternoon.

CORN LOANS EXTENDED TO JANUARY 1, 1935

To obtain a further extension of the government corn loans functioned by the Commodity Credit corporation, from September 1 to January 1, 1935, borrowers must fill out and return to the Commodity Credit Corporation a prescribed form of extension agreement not later than October 1, according to word received by County Agent S. J. Oberhauser, from the corporation and AAA officials.

Before getting this extension borrowers will be required to provide satisfactory storage for the corn until March 1, 1935, free of cost to the government, and in the event they desire to sell their corn subsequent to September 15th, to first offer it for sale at the local elevator market price to such agency of the United States Government as the Commodity Credit Corporation may designate by public announcement.

An extension agreement designated as "C. C. C. Corn Form P" is now being printed and a copy will be furnished to each borrower at an early date.

If Commodity Credit Corporation designates no agency of the Federal Government to which the corn is to be offered, or if the agency designated does not accept the borrowers offer immediately, the borrower will be free to dispose of the corn in commercial channels, except all sales of pledged corn other than to a Government agency require the consent of Commodity - Credit Corporation and must be made in accordance with the procedure heretofore approved.

NORTH IOWA GRAND CHAMPION SELLS FOR 32 CENTS A POUND

Eugene Greiman Again Is Seller, Luke Miller Again Buyer

A spectacular scene at the North Iowa free fair last year was re-enacted again Friday morning at the auction sale of baby beeves with two the principal characters again taking the leading roles.

This was the purchase of the grand champion baby beef, owned by Eugene Greiman of Garner, by Luke B. Miller, manager of the Sterling stores of Mason City. The price paid was 32 cents a pound.

While this price is a dime less a pound than that last year, still it is a dime more a pound than paid last year at the state fair for the grand champion.

Was Aberdeen Angus

The beautiful animal which was carefully raised by the Hancock county youth was an Aberdeen Angus, the same type that he exhibited last year to win the grand championship. Mr. Miller last year was also the buyer of the grand champion.

The significance of this grand champion sale is indicated by the fact that the top price for the animal. were it sold on the open market, would be about 5 cents a pound.

Although the bidding for the grand champion, which was held first, perhaps held the spotlight, the other fine calves raised by the boys also commanded high attention Buyers from packing houses in Southern Minnesota and Iowa, stockbuyers and business men of North Iowa were among the buyers. Meanwhile 4-H boys looked on with great interest. Bidding was spirited. Ed Buntenbach, local stockbuyer, purchased eight calves, 2 Short. horns, 2 Angus, and 4 Herefords.

Hancock County Booths Win

Hancock County won the sweepstakes for agricultural booths at the North Iowa Free Fair and livestock exposition. The booths, located in the Merchants' and Manufacturer's building, were among the best ever exhibited at fair.

In county 4-H girl's club booths Cerro Gordo county was awarded first representing second year clothing with a sewing center as a special feature. Placing second was Hancock, showing second year clothing. Mrs. Herman Gelner and her committee of Forest City planned and put up the booth. They used a wool suit and silk dress as their center of interest.

For county home project booths, Hancock received first, displaying print dresses, accessories and gifts.

NOW THAT THE SCORES ARE IN HERE'S THE BIGGEST OAT CROP

J. J. Stille, Liberty Township farmer is too modest to pass out any information concerning himself but our "prying reporter" gathered this information without his knowledge. The Times reported a number of oat yields in this vicinity and anything above fifteen bushels to the acre was considered above the average this year.

But J. J. Stille had a low level pelce of ground, 35 acres to be exact, that went over 39 bushels to the acre. And that IS some yield this year. As far as we can learn it is probably Hancock County's best yield this year for a fair sized field. If there are any better, let's check up right now.

J. J. Stille is a member of the West Union Thresher Co. of Liberty township and the following farmers are also members of the same ring: Ridder Bros.; Geo. Christie; John Lemke; Bill Lemke; Vic Schoenwetter; Kermit Stille; Art Schoenwetter; George Schoenwetter and Emil Beier. We think we have named them all.

IOWA FARMER-LABOR PARTY PLATFORM

Following is the platform adopted by the new Iowa Farmer-Labor party in its state convention. July 28th:

With the entire world in such confusion that the existence of this civilization is threatened; with millions of working men and women in America in poverty, want and degradation and eating the bread of charity; with thundreds of thousands of farmers, business and professional people poverty stricken and bankrupt; with the ruling forces that have permitted the present condition either helpless or incapable of correcting this situation, it has become necessary for the people to organize themselves into a new political movement whose objective it shall be to untangle the intricate mass of destructive hypocrisies that if continued, will wreck this Republic and destroy all faith in representative government.

We denounce the economy o planned scarcity and insist there is no overproduction as long as millions are hungry, in rags and poorly housed. We declare that American production must be geared up to the consuming power of the people and not tto their empty pocketbooks. We stand for expansion as against contraction.

The Farmer-Labor party of Iowa declares its implicit faith in the declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and we hereby pledge our earnest opposition to any attacks upon these fundamental documents no matter in what form these attacks may be made. Only a party of the people, unequivocally opposed to Fascism; Communism or dictotarship in an form can halt this bureaucracy and concentration of wealth in the hands of a few and achieve genuine and permanent security.

The Farmer-Labor party of Iowa adopts as its platform the following proposals:

Agriculure

We demand adequate legislation to insure security of tenure on the land for those who farm it, and to that end we endorse the original Frazier Bill for the refinancing of agricultural loans and the Swank-Thomas bill. or other similar legislation, to give agriculture a price based upon cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

We favor legislation giving farmers and homeowners a five year option on property lost through foreclosure, the repurchase price to be based on current market values.

We favor limitation of landlord lien laws restricting the lien to those products raised on the premises for the year in which the lien was given.

We stand for a graduated land and property tax that will exempt and safeguard the homestead of the farmer and the cottage of the laboring man from confiscation through taxation.

We urge the manuacture and sale of industrial alcohol as a motor fuel in Iowa, such industrial alcohol to be made wholly from Iowa

Marketing

We advocate building and maintaining adequate co-operative marketing, processing and distributing agencies to protect consumers and producers against extortionate profits.

Industries

As the only adequate means of preventing the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few, we favor an extension of the American principle of public ownership such as has been exercised over roads, schools, libraries, fire and police protection, postal service, and national defense. We demand an extension of this principle of public or co-operative ownership tto natural resources, banks, public utilities, packing plants, transportation and communication systems and monopolized industries so that Americ may cease to be a land of increasing tenants and paupers.

If given control of the government of Iowa, we pledge ourselves to submit to the people of the state any necessary amendments to our Constitution making possible the above demands, and also permitting the introduction of the Ontario system of development and administration of electric power and light to the electric possibilities of the state thus making electric light and power available to all citizens at low costs for both installation and service.

We further favor the use of Iowa coal in the development of electricity, as well as for use in state institutions.

Labor

We advocate for the protection of labor, the immediate passage of legislation with full power to regulate hours and wages that will provide an American standard of living, eliminate child labor in industry, and control housing conditions.

We urge state and national insurance covering workmen's compensation, unemployment, accident, illness, maternity and old age pensions to be operated without profit and funds to be secured from a head tax. We further urge abolition of all county poor farms in the state.

We are opposed to the dole system of charity and the present partisian, and unfair administration of relief and welfare work.

Education

We advocate fullest educational opportunities for all, with security of tenure and freedom of expression for teachers and revision of the existing state law which has made the minimum low wage the maximum wage for rural teachers.

We advocate that military training at all educational institutions, supported wholly or in part by tax funds be made optional.

Taxation

We pledge ourselves to a restoration of unearned wealth to the state and community by graduated net taxes effectively administered on large incomes, gifts and inheritances, such revenues to be used as tax replacements.

We are unalterably opposed to the sales tax, gross income tax, or any other tax on poverty.

Soldiers' Bonus

We urge immediate payment of the Soldiers' Bonus by Treasury notes and repeal of the National Economy Act.

Tax Exempt Securities

We oppose the issuance of tax exempt securities.

Banking

We advocate nationalization of banking with government monopoly of money and credit, operated without profit.

Until we attain nationalization of banking, we advocate the establishment of a central state bank of deposit tto be owned wholly by the state of Iowa; that the bank act as the fiscal agent for the state in all matters; that it be the only legal depository in Iowa for state funds or the funds of any sub-division of the state; that it be permitted to purchase the securities of the United States government, the State of Iowa and other securities designated by law; that it be permitted to loan money to correspondent state banks and to deposit money with correspondent state banks, but that it not be permitted to loan money to private enterprises; that the deposits or loans to the Iowa State banks be a preferred claim; that the deposits in the bank of Iowa be guaranteed by the state.

Money

The issue of money is a governmental function and all money should be issued directly by the government and made full legal tender in payment of all debts.

All money permitted by law to be issued against the gold now in the United States treasury should be put into circulation by the payment of government bonds due, or soon to become due, and in payment of public works construction.

State Police

We are opposed to the establishment of any form of state constabulary or state police.

Recall

We favor the enactment of a law providing for initiation, referendum nd recall of all state officers and officers in the various political subdivisions.

Criminal Syndicalism

We stand for the repeal of the criminal syndicalism law.

Munitions

We demand as a step toward the ending of war, war propaganda and private profits by munition manufacturers, that Congress enact appropriate legislation enabling the government to take over all munition plants now privately owned and make them government institutions.

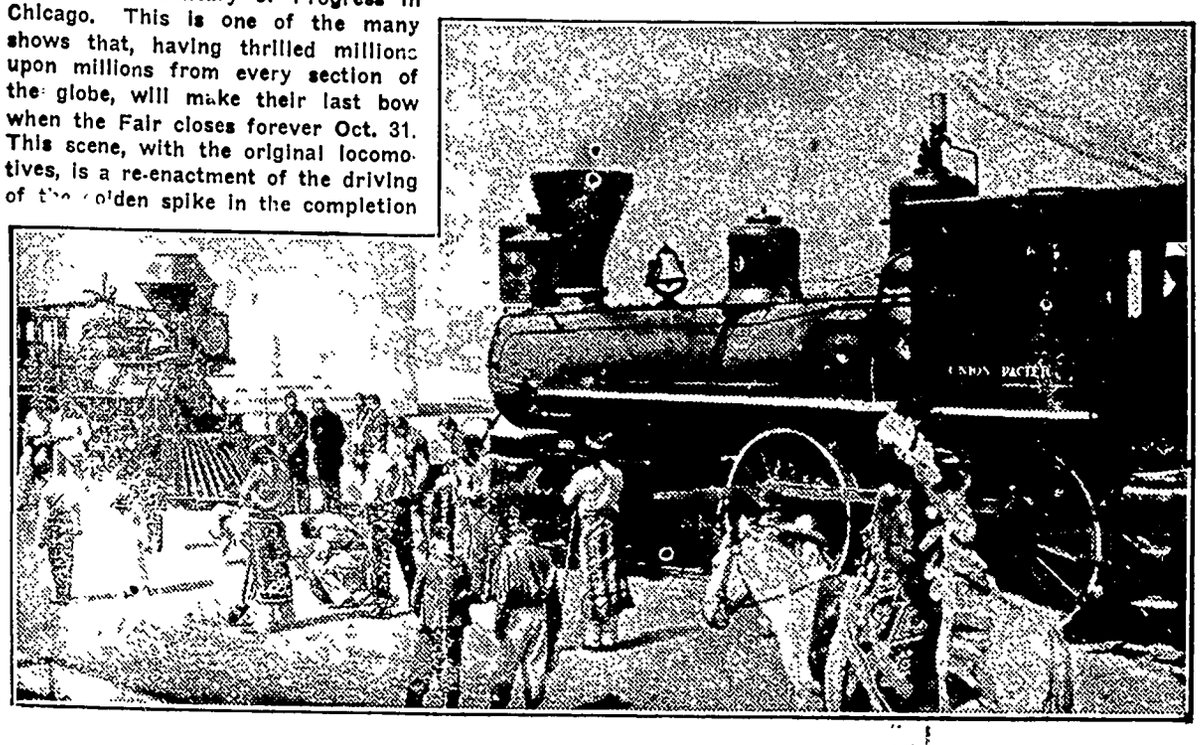
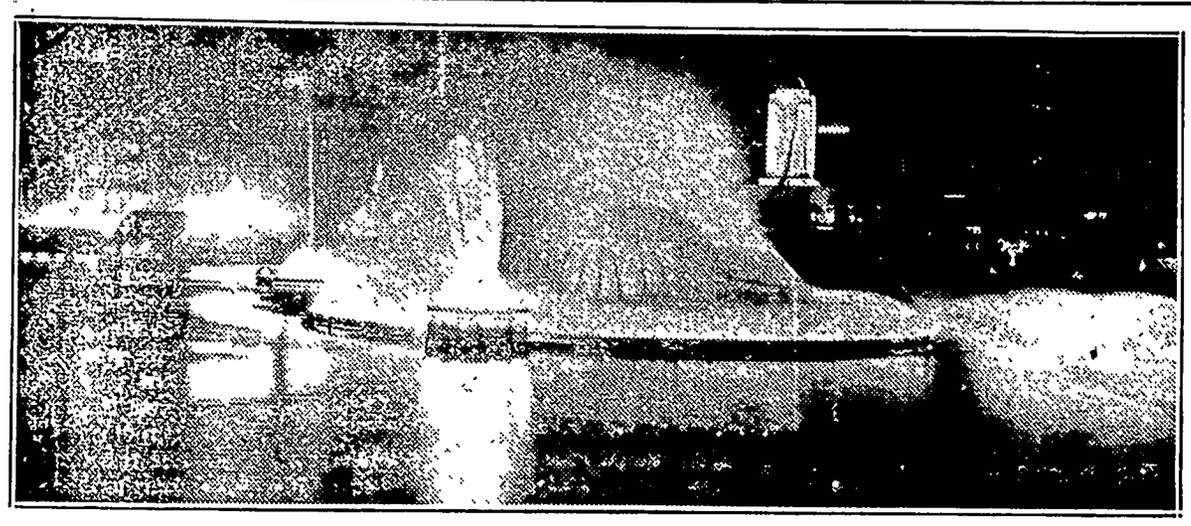
Historic Pageant Approaches Close at World's Fair

Only a few more performances remain for these one-time giants of the steel rails in their roles in "Wings of a Century," famed pageant of transportation of A Century of Progress in Chicago. This is one of the many shows that, having thrilled millions upon millions from every section of the globe, will make their last bow when the Fair closes forever Oct. 31. This scene, with the original locomotives, is a re-enactment of the driving of the golden spike in the completion of the Union Pacific railroad, the first spanning of the American continent by steel rails. The Fair will remain intact until closing date.



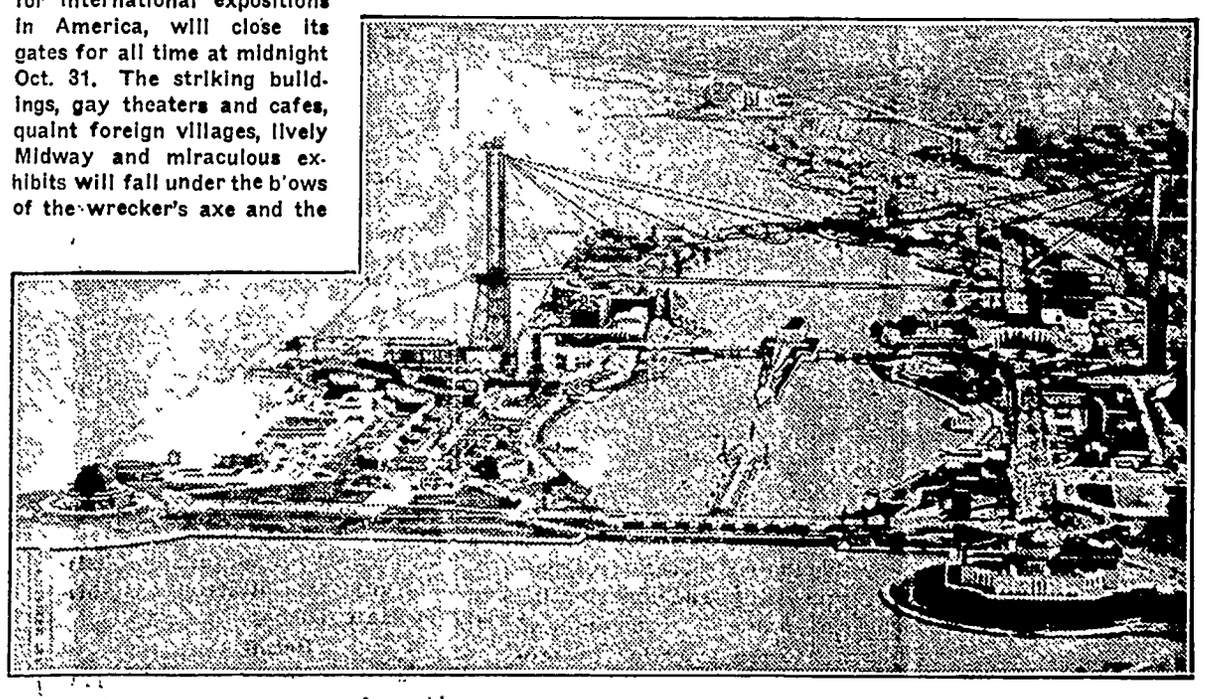
World's Largest Fountain Will End With World's Fair



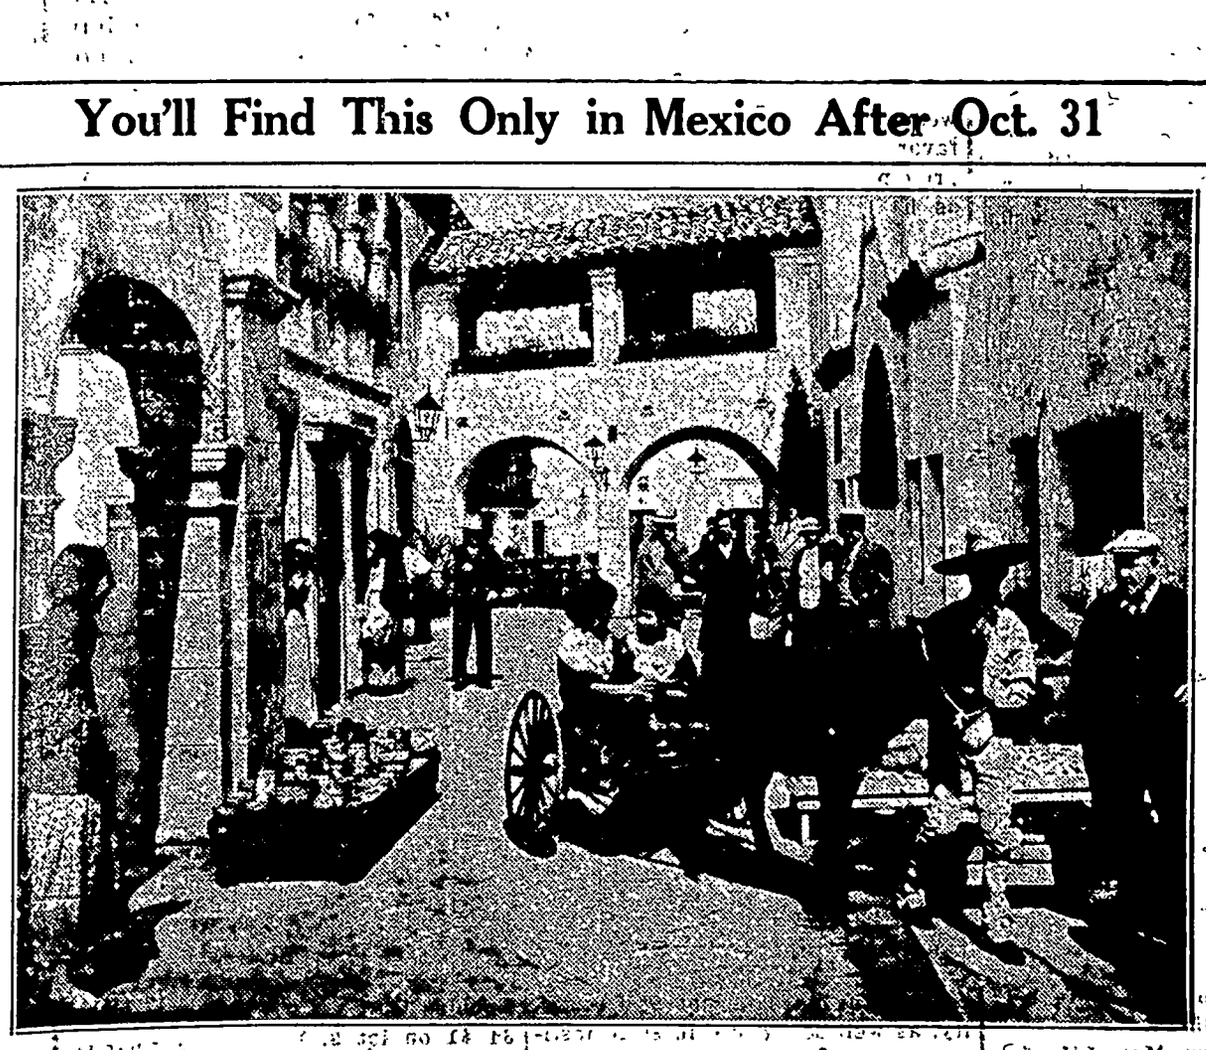
A gleaming centerpiece for the millions of sparkling jewels that fill the night of A Century of Progress in Chicago is the circle of the great fountain, shown here. This spectacle, which has provided a thrill for millions of visitors from every corner of the earth, will be destroyed along with the rest of the exposition when the Fair closes its gates forever at midnight Oct. 31. Spectacular events, more colorful than any yet seen at the Fair, will fill the calendar for the final weeks, when America rushes for one last look at the nation's most successful international exposition. The Fair will remain intact until closing day.

A Century of Progress Closes Forever Oct. 31

This is the airman's view of the World's Fair in Chicago which, having broken all attendance records for international expositions in America, will close its gates for all time at midnight Oct. 31. The striking buildings, gay theaters and cafes, quaint foreign villages, lively Midway and miraculous exhibits will fall under the blows of the wrecker's axe and the most spectacular of all Fairs will live only in memory. The Fair will remain intact until closing day.



You'll Find This Only in Mexico After Oct. 31



Warmth and gayety now fill the streets of the Mexican Village, one of fifteen foreign villages at the World's Fair in Chicago, but it, too, will fall to earth under the relentless blows of the wrecker when the most successful and popular of all American expositions closes forever Oct. 31. Gigantic special events, dwarfing by comparison those which have been scheduled at the Fair, are planned for the closing weeks, when a great inrush of last-lookers will break attendance records. The Fair remains intact until closing day.

Ab Jenkins praises Firestone tires in toughest endurance run he ever made.

Lake Bonneville, Utah
Aug. 18th, 1934

Mr. Harvey S. Firestone, Chairman,
Firestone Tire & Rubber Company,
Akron, Ohio

Dear Mr. Firestone:

Under A.A.A. supervision, I have just completed a 3,000-mile run on the hot salt desert at Lake Bonneville, Utah, averaging 127.2 miles per hour, breaking 77 Speed Records--without any tire trouble. Firestone Tires gave an almost unbelievable performance, with temperatures as high as 120 degrees.

Last year I made a similar run with a car of less power and speed using tires of another make whose national advertising featured blowout protection. Yet, I had a blowout and made a number of tire changes.

This year I also used Firestone Spark Plugs and a Firestone Extra Power Battery with your new All-Rubber Separator. Not a Spark Plug failed and the Battery required no service of any kind.

If every car owner know what my Firestone Tires went through they would appreciate what Gum-Dipping means in strength and heat protection that make Firestone Tires safe from blowouts. This is the toughest run I have ever made in my 23 years of breaking speed records.

Sincerely yours,
Ab Jenkins

Wilbur Shaw, using widely advertised competitive tires, had eleven tire failures, preventing him from establishing records worthy of the car he was driving

Lake Bonneville, Utah
Aug. 13th, 1934

Mr. Harvey S. Firestone, Chairman,
Firestone Tire & Rubber Company,
Akron, Ohio

Dear Mr. Firestone:

I have just finished a 3,000-mile test at Lake Bonneville, Utah, driving a stock car of a leading manufacturer, equipped with tires which a large manufacturer has recently brought out as the newest development in tire construction. I had eleven tire failures and made two precautionary tire changes.

When a right front tire blew out, I was unable to get the car under control for a quarter of a mile, leaving a trail of rubber and fabric on the hot salt beds.

After this experience, I appreciate what a vital part Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have played in my success during the fourteen years I have used them on my racing and personal cars. Without them I know I could never have made the many speed records I have established.

Very truly yours,
Wilbur Shaw

LARD MUST BE STANDARDIZED TO MEET COMPETITORS

Like her neighbors in other states the Iowa housewife often prefers lard substitutes to lard for baking purposes. On the other band, lard represents about one-fifth of the value of the hog upon which the Iowa farmer depends for about two fifths of his income.

Consequently, Iowa housewives have been accused of "biting the hand that is feeding them." Whether or not they are being justly accused can only be determined by comparing the merits of lard with those of its substitutes.

A "new deal" for American lard came last week when, as a result of a trade agreement between the United States and Cuba, the Cuban duty on lard reduced from $9.18 a hundred pounds to $2.73. The opening of other avenues of international trade in pork products is also receiving consideration.

In the domestic market, however, lard is still the "forgotten man."

The average American consumes 14 pounds of lard annually, and 10 pounds of lard substtitutes, known as lard compouds and vegetable shortenings. That is, more than two-thirds of a pound of lard substitutes is consumed for each pound of lard. What is the reason for this strong competition?

In the case of margarine and butter, price is the determining factor. Margarine is cheaper than butter and always will be, because it is intrinsically inferior to butter and can only compete by staying below butter in price. This does not hold for lard substitutes, however, for the American housewife is willing to pay about twice as much for a pound of lard substitute as for a pound of lard.

It is commonly recognized that lard is a better shortening than any of its substitutes. It gives to pastry and bakery products a specific, desireable flavor, which its substitutes do not impart. Too, in many cases, it is more easily worked and blended with other baking ingredients. Why, then, do so many housewives prefer lard substitutes?

The answer is "quality." Lard, except for a few brands or grades, is not a standard product. It is not dependable in quality; it varies from purchase to purchase. Lard is often poor in keeping quality and objectionable in color and odor.

In contrast, lard substitutes are highly standardized. Another fact is advertising. By means of high-pressure salesmanship and intensive advertising campaigns, the consumer has been made "vegetable oil conclous." Private interests in the field of vegetable oils have not been slow to capitalize upon the lack of standardization in lard as well as upon the lack of information relative to the superiority of lard in purity and digestibility.

Lard lacks standardization for a number of reasons. First, it is produced by thousands of establishments all over the country, about wherever a hog is slaughtered; second, packers have made but little effort to standardize their brands, and third, many packers are as interested in producing and selling lard substitutes as they are in selling lard.

Of course, there are many difficulties in standardizing lard. Packers would have to reorganize their methods of lard production, their marketing practices and their advertising policies. Well-defined grades of lard would have to be established on a notion wide basis And housewife must be convinced of the superiority and dependability of standard lard brands.

Today, lard is on the defensive. It suffers much from the attacks of the well-organized forces of the highly standarized substitutes. The chief weapon in the counter-attack must be a highly-standardized lard. And insofar as the Iowa farmer is concerned, standardization must be brought about. It is the only way by which the hog producer can regain much of the domestic market for lard.

Co-Operation Will Speed Up Hog Check-Up Work

CORN-HOG COMPLIANCE WORK UNDER WAY IN COUNTY

Checking corn-hog compliance of the 1855 contract signers in Hancock County began this week according to Ben V. Greiman, chair man of the county association.

Forty-five supervisors who attended the county compliance training school conducted by Earl Schulz of the Iowa Extension Service are visiting individual farms. Another school will be held on Monday afternoon to check compliance and answer questions supervisors may have in regard to their work

The check on the contracts will be a certification for the second corn-hog payment which is due on Nov. 15. The final corn payment will be included in the November check. The last hog payment, however, is not due until Feb. 1, 1935

It will be necessary for the contract signers to get together the following information on their hog enterprises since the neighbors count. All hogs sold (date, weight and to whom); all hogs purchased (date, weight and from whom); numbers of litters farrowed; number of live hogs farrowed; number of hogs died; and number butchered.

If farm records, sales slips, receipts, weight tickets, etc., are gotten together before the supervisor visits the farm certification will be facilitated. Farmers must be present to assist with checking the hog information and counting the hogs. The supervisor will check the corn acres.

SOYBEAN SEED SHORTAGE IS PREDICTED FOR 1935

Need For Hay Greatly Reduces Expected Seed Crop

That there will undoubtedly be a shortage in the supply of soybean seed for planting next year, was expressed by W. I. Morse, in charge of soybean investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture, when he visited with crops specialists at Iowa State College last week.

Mr. Morse estimated that less than 5 percent of the soybean crop in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska would be cut for seed, largely because of the great need for hay in nearly every section of those states. Ordinarily, Missouri soybean growers supply Iowa with a big portion of seed, but the reverse is expected in 1935 It is anticipated that there will be a great demand for Iowa-grown soybean seed next spring.

F. S. Wilkins, Iowa soybean specialist, is advising all farmers who do not absolutely need to cut their bean crop for hay, to save the seed. He anticipates a demand even greater than that of this year when soy bean seed in many sections of the state was at a premium. The failure of many clover and alfalf seedings this year will stimulate soy bean seeding in 1935, Mr. Wilkins believes.

HENRY WALLACE VISITS WITH ALLOTMENT COMMITTEE

The U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Henry Wallace, with R. E. Evans, State Chairman of Corn-Hog Association, and Leslie Carl, State Statistician and J. S. Russel, farm editor of the Des Moines Register, spent 45 minutes with members of the county allotment committee at the Farm Bureau office on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Wallace was principally interested in the attitude of farmers regarding the control program. He questioned the committee relative to a program for next year and welcomed suggestions at any time from farmers throughout the state as to any changes that might benefit agriculture as a whole in the future.

Clair West of the Eldora CCC spent the week end visiting at the Sumner Trumbell home.

FARMERS' UNION MEETING HELD AT ELL SCHOOL

The regular meeting of the Liberty Local of the Farmers' Union was held at the Ell school house No. 5, the evening of September 3.

Delegates and alternates for the Farmers' Union Convention to be held in Des Moines, September 19 to 21, were chosen.

Mr. Wallace Sumner of Mason City, who was the Farmer-Labor nominee for congressman in the 4th district, was the main speaker of the evening. His subject was the Farmer-Labor Party. J. Wherme and Mr. Rose, both chairman of Cerro Gordo county locals, also gave short talks.

After the business meeting lunch was served by the committee. The next meeting will be held in Liberty school house No. 7, Monday evening October first.

WEBSTER, IOWA, MAN IS DEPOT AGENT HERE

Mr. J. P. Heyman, who for the past fourteen years has been depot agent for the Rock Island lines at Webster, Iowa, last Thursday took over the agency for the Klemme station.

Mr. and Mrs. Heyman and their twenty-year old son, Leo, are getting settled in Klemme, having rented the Straatmann property in south-west Klemme, which was vacated by the Shoafstall family.

Mr. Heyman is a pleasant man to meet and he says that he and his family are very favorably impressed with Klemme and that they will like their new home.

Klemme welcomes this new family and we hope they will like Klemme and Klemme people .

Webster, their former home, is in the southeastern part of the state in Keokuk county.

WHEELER AND WOOLSEY WILL BE AT AVERY THIS WEEK

Another Great Picture Is Booked For Sunday ,Monday and Tuesday

The Times wishes to correct the dates in last week's Avery Theatre advertisement for coming attractions.

Wheeler and Woolsey in "Cock-eyed Cavaliers" will appear at the Avery this week Friday and Saturday evenings, Sept. 7 and 8. These comedians keep the crowd in an uproar and if you want your funny bone tickled—here it is!

"Of Human Bondage" starring Leslie Howard is Avery's big attraction for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

Manager Chas. Marks is certainly giving theatre-goers the very latest in pictures. "Operator 13" which was shown last Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, is this week being advertised in the Chicago papers and is being played there this week. Many of the big pictures Mr. Marks selects are right up to date with the city theatres.

Look up the Avery ad in this week's Times. There is real entertainment in store for you—and don't forget Bank Night — each Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher and sons of Carroll, Iowa, spent Friday and Saturday visiting at the home of his prents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gruetzmacher. Harold teaches music and directs band and orchestra in the Carroll high school.

LAST OF FREE MOVIES WILL BE SHOWN SATURDAY NIGHT

For several years the Business men of Klemme have provided a program of silent motion pictures every Saturday night during the summer months on an outdoor location adjoining main street. These shows have been free to the public. The last show for this season will be given Saturday night, Sept. 8th.

The direct management of these shows is in the hands of Arthur Wellemeyer, who was appointed by the Civic Club of Klemme to do this work for the Community. The movie machine operators this year were Harold Jost and Raymond Drake.

The expense of this season's entertainment was met by contributions from the following Business and Professional men:

Ed Jacobs, Hardware; Klemme Creamery Co.; Northern Lumber Co.; Walt Thada Store; First National Bank; Farmers Grain Co.; North Iowa Grain Co.; Larson Food Market; Kirkwood Service Station; Kluckhohn's Store; Hancock Co. Oil Co.; Day's General Store; Wilson Drug Store; Quandt's Cafe; Arnold's Garage.

Doctor Missman; Doctor Dulmes; Docor Schaeffer; Doctor Voetberg; Dortor Anderson; Osheim Cafe; Ned Howard Shoe Shop; Gruetzmacher Harness Shop; Klemme Times Print Shop; Henry Lau Sons, Implements; Thomas Barber Shop; Wolfe Barber Shop; Klemme Produce Co; Lewis Produce Co.; John Etchen Garage; Pavey Blacksmith Shop; Central States Electric Co.; Iowa Union Telephone Co.

Ed Buntenbach, Stock Buyer; W. C. Keraus, Insurance; Swanson Leghorn Farm; Lloyd Lau, Trucking; Sumner Trumbell, Mail Carrier; U. G. Smid, Insurance; Ralph Elder, Dairy; Brinkman Blacksmith Shop; Pavey Pop Corn Stand.

The management has tried to select for these Movie Programs, pictures which would be clean and suitable for children. Adults may have wondered why so many Cowboy pictures, Dog pictures, Circus pictures, and the like, were shown The answer is easy when you remember that we are running a Children's Show.

"Silent films" are becoming harder to procure each year. It seems they are making mostly "talking pictures" in Hollywood and it looks as if it would be only a year or two until Silent pictures will be a thing of the past. We hope, therefore, that prosperity will be with us soon and that the men who furnish the money for these shows may feel prosperous and make larger contributions to the movie fund so that we can buy a right good talkie outfit for Klemme

In the name of the Civic Club, I wish to thank you one and all for attending these shows. Klemme has certainly been a busy town on Saturday nights during the summer season of 1934.

Arthur Wellemeyer, Mgr.

GOODELL FAMILY MOVES TO KLEMME

The C. C. Kilgore family of Goodell last week moved into the house vacated by A. R. White and wife. Mrs. Kilgore and two children are now residents of Klemme, and Mr. Kilgore will join his family here as soon as he is released from his position at the Goodell elevator. Mr. Kilgore will manage the Farmers Elevator here.

Both of the Kilgore children, a boy and a girl, have entered the Klemme Schools. We welcome the Kilgores to Klemme.

Governor Herring Makes Some Misleading Statements

The question that is oming tto the minds of many who have heard Clyde Herring in his recent speeches is whether Mr. Herring is deliberately trying to mislead and misinform the voters of Iowa, or whether he himself is hopelessly ignorant of the subject he is trying to present.

The question that is coming to be the proper solution. For example in recent speeches at Perry and at Oelwein and other places, Mr. Herring has so constructed certain statements that he gave his hearers an entirely different impression than the facts show. Mr. Herring talks at length about state expenses, and the reduction of taxes for state purposes. He then remarks that by 1935 there will be no tax on real estate. What he is really saying is that by 1935 no tax other than money obtained from the sales tax will be required for state purposes. That is the 2.2 mills of state tax will be permanently discontinued. But the impression that he is leaving (and from the manner in which it is made, it can hardly be said that it is done unconciously) is that there will be no real estate tax whatever for any purpose. This is, of course, not true, and Mr. Herring is either purposely, or ignorantly, creating a wrong impression. What Mr. Herring might truthfully say relative to this tax matter is that the 2.2 mills of state tax has been taken off the property tax and that a mill or more has been added in another place. In other words, two mills off which he talks about and a mill added which he does not mention. But let us forget that added mill and go back to Mr. Herring figures, although an added mill to the tax burden is hard to forget. He says that for each $100 paid in taxes the tax payer will receive a reduction of $1.18.

But let us take another example of a man who pays $100 taxes and has an income of $1,200 per year or one hundred a month. He saves $1.18, but he has added to his burden a sales tax that includes a 2% tax to all necessities of life. Let us say that he spends $200 of his income on non-taxable materials Thus he has spent $100 for taxes, $200 for non-taxables and $900 for the necessities of life for him and his family which is taxable. The 2 percent tax would then amount to $18 per year. Thus he would be paying $18 to save $1.18, or $16.82 additional. Let us say that (taking the Democratic figure) 25 per cent of the tax money went for relief, this would amount to $4.20. Every tax payer should be willing to do his part on relief expenditures. Taking this from the $16 82 would show that the man who saved $1.18 on taxes paid at least $12.82 additional taxes for the privilege. Mr. Herring, however, did not tell this story. He mislead his hearers, attempting to make them believe that they had saved $1.18.

Another statement of Mr. Herring is aimed directly to deceive the voters. He tells of the reducing of taxes for 1933 and gives credit to himself and the other Democratic office holders for the reduction. The tax levies for 1933 were made during the Dan Turner administration. Mr. Herring had nothing to do with it. The credit for this reduction belongs to Mr. Turner and Mr. Herring is well aware of this fact when he makes his claims.

It is left to the voter to decide if Mr. Herring is attempting to mislead his hearers or is just mistaken as to his facts.

The democrats of Iowa proclaim that the Iowa liquor law is the most effective means of stamping out the bootlegger and the hi-jacker. Perhaps that is why they have found it necessary to deliver the liquor in armored trucks protected by machine gunners.

THE NOT RAISING HOG BUSINESS

"Was just talking with a farmer friend," writes E. W. Deverux of Omaha to a Mason Cityan. "He had just received a government check for $1,000 for not raising hogs this year. This friend of mine who got the $1,000 has been raising hogs for 40 years and the most he ever made was $400 a year. Too bad he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more if he had known how not to raise hogs.

"This idea of not raising hogs appeals to me very strongly and I am thinking seriously of buying a farm and not raising mself some hogs. I am sending you a copy of this letter, as I believe you occasionally handle the sale of farms, do you not?"

Now, I want your advice as to the best kind of farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain not to raise. Also, do you think some capital could be provided by the issuance of a non-hog raising gold bond?

"My friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 500 hogs. Now, I figure it would be quite possible for me not to raise 1,500 hogs. or I might build my business up to a point where I succeeded in not raising 5,000 hogs. You see the profits are only limited by the number of hogs I succeed in not raising.

"Since this not raising hog business is rather seasonal, I wonder if you could also correspond with some southern land office and get me a lineup on not raising cotton, so that I could work out a basis of having an income the year round.

"Please let me hear from you at once as I am anxious to get into this business."— From the Mason City Globe Gazette.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOTES AND SCHEDULE

J. L. Ralston. Pastor

Morning worship at 10:00 o'clock
Sunday School at 11:00 o'clock.
Epworth League at 7:30 p. m.

The Standard Bearers of Klemme will have charge of the evening service at 8:00. You will want to hear this fine group of young women of the church. Plan to be there.

The Epworth League will hold a social and weiner roast in Klemme Thursday evening, Sept. 6, at 8:00.

All freshmen of our congregation and those who are going away to school and all who stay at home are invited to be present.

There are only three more Sundays in this conference year. It must close then and every contribution to the local budget and Benevolences must be in by the closing week to be counted on this years needs. Let us all do our part promptly. See one of the stewards or the Treasurers, C. G. Waterman and Emil Blumer. They are busy men and women, and it takes much shorter time for you to see them than for them to see all of you.

Your dollar is divided into nine parts, that you give to the church, namely: The Pastor, District Supt., the Bishop, Janitor, Insurance, Coal Water, Conference Claiments and Light. May God Bless You in Your Giving.

A week from Sunday there will be an opportunity for children and others to be baptized and the doors of the church wil be opened to receive those who wish to become members of the church

The District Conference was held Monday of this week at Call Park in Algona, with Dr. W. G. Muhleman presiding. Very encouraging reports as to the number of baptisms and admission of members and Benevolences on the district.

Brother Harvey Nelson was before the District Conference meeting of the relations committee and was reported on favorably for admission on trial and recommended for Deacons order in the annual conference.

Dr. W. S. Bovard of the Board of Relgious Education gave a very inspirational address upon twenty-one years of Methodism.

Those attending from the Klemme and Liberty charge were Mrs. Emil Beier, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nelson, Harvey Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ralston, Margaret and Paul All enjoyed a fine picnic dinner.

4-H BOYS AT CAMP ROOSEVELT OVER WEEK END

About 20 4-H club boys and their leaders, including "Squeak" Wetterling, scout leader of the Garner troop, enjoyed the overnight hike held Saturday and Sunday.

Swimming and soft ball games included a part of the full 2 days program. The boys cooked their own meal on the open fire and all took part in the campfire program which took place in the council ring of the camp. Songs, stories and sports were part of the evening program. Study of the stars led by Mr. Wetterling concluded the evening program. Leaders present were V. A. Cook, Avery township; Clark Clement, Ellington; Lyal Fox, Orthel; Jay Vendelboe and S. J. Oberhauser of Garner.

What shape is your roof in? It's predicted that we will have plenty of "WET" this fall. If your roof needs a coating of good asphalt do it before the weather gets too cold. We have it in bulk and if you want a real good job done, insist on the hard asphalt. If You Are Thinking of Shingling, Now Is The Time. The best shingle (5X, the 300% shingle) for $4.89 per sq. Don't tear off your old shingles, but shingle right over them. This will give you the same result as having insulation put in the attic.

Don't forget to fill those slat cribs with ensilage. You will be able to get rid of any and all kinds of feed this winter or before spring. The government will be offering you a mighty good price for it.

This is ideal weather for painting. Don't let the buildings go until next year if it is at all possible to paint this fall. We have White Lead, Linseed Oil and Pure Gum Turpentine. We also have "DEVOE'S PURE LEAD AND ZINC PAINTS". Try them, you can feel the difference on the finished surface.

At the Implement department we have a complete line of PLOW SHARES, PLOWS, WAGONS, ETC. If in trouble, give us a ring.

WORLD FAIR ENDS OCT. 31, THIS YEAR

Many Unusual Gala Events Planned for Last Two Months.

Chicago (Special).—With the announcement that Chicago's new World's Fair, A Century of Progress Exposition, closes its gates forever on October 31st, and the advent of cool September weather, attendance figures at the exposition are steadily soaring to make new records for all American fairs. More than 9,000,000 persons have paid admissions this year, which brings the total for the two years showing to date in excess of 31,000,000

The management of the Fair has accomplished the purpose desired by President Roosevelt when he requested that the fair operate a second year so that those who could not come last year would be given an opportunity to see it in 1934. This over and with two months of operation left, all activity is being directed to the staging of spectacular special events and shows which will close the exposition in a blaze of glory.

With all indications pointing to the probability that the attendance in September and October will outstrip the combined totals of the first three months of the Fair, exhibitors, concessionaries and the exposition itself are extending every effort to amuse and entertain the huge throngs that daily fill the magic streets of the fair to an extent even greater than before Fair to Close Oct. 31.

In making the announcement that the Fair will have accomplished its aim by closing date, and therefore would not reopen, President Rufus C. Dawes said:

"A Century of Progress in its present form will not be in existence next year. If the Fair or any part of it is to be maintained it would have to be by outside sources. The Fair is under contract to the Chicago park board to demolish all buildings the board names, and the board also has the right to name any buildings which it wishes to retain and maintain.

"If you want to see Chicago's great Century of Progress Exposition you must come this summer or fall. It will not be here next year. Come and we shall do our best to make your visit pleasant, interesting and profitable."

With the closing, wreckers will come in and the enchanted city whose streets transported visitors into the mysterious realms of scientific research, art, music, industry, light, color, entertainment, education and commerce will come down. Officials, however, carefully pointed out that demolition will not begin until after the closing on October 31st. All exhibits and concessions will remain intact until that time.

Big Times for Two Months.

The fantastic buildings will be leveled. The Street of Villages with its fifteen perfect reproductions of as many foreign lands will be no more The largest and most beautiful fountain will no longer throw its scintillating spray skyward. The gay tunes will not echo the laughter of happy people. The famed Avenue of Flags will be stripped and the greatest and most beautiful of all major expositions will be history.

It has been currently rumored that the Fair would remain as a permanent Chicago attraction; that each year henceforth it would reopen on the lake front. Now that people have realized that this is their last opportunity to see it, attendance totals have increased by leaps and bounds. The great free attractions are constantly choked with people. The twin symphony orchestras, the huge lagoon theater with its water carnivals and circus, the cage of fury, the roads of the world and the multitude of other free shows are playing to capacity crowds.

The final two months of the Fair will see the greatest collection of talent, spectacles and amusements ever seen anywhere. All existing entertainment will be expanded and new attractions added to the daily programs Events appealing to every class of person have been scheduled at a cost of thousands of dollars. Railroads and bus lines have agreed to maintain the same low travel rates while Chicago hotels and tourist camps will accommodate travelers to Chicago in comfort and ease at the fixed low prices now prevailing.

U. S. Owns Virgin Islands

The Virgin islands are owned by the United States, which purchased them from Denmark in 1917 for the sum of $25,000,000. They had been known as the Danish West Indies until that time and consisted of the islands of St. Croix, St. John and St. Thomas. St. Thomas has the best harbor to be found in the Caribbean sea.

NO GOOD REASON FOR PESSIMISM

F. M. Law, President American Bankers Association, Sees Improving Conditions and a Changing Future

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There is no good reason for pessimism today, for though the "depression is not by any means over we are coming out of it," F. M. Law, President of the American Bankers Association told the American Institute of Banking convention here recently.

"Banking is a necessary business and will endure," Mr. Law said. "In order to endure, it must be the right sort of banking, under the right sort of management.

"The American Institute of Banking commands and is entitled to great respect because its major objective is to teach and promote the right kind of banking. One of the chief reasons for my faith in the future of banking is that this organization has 219 active chapters, with over 50,000 members, and with 33,000 students enrolled, and it is doing a good job in teaching these thousands of bank employees what good banking is, and what it is not."

Business Men Should Recognize New Conditions

Business men everywhere, and especially bankers, he said, will do well to recognize and to understand the many changes that are occurring, for "it is fatal to be obsessed with the belief that any and all change from the existing order is heresy."

Banking is a serious business, he said and "I know not one single man or woman who has made a success of it who has not been over a long period of years a hard worker." He added:

"Take for your motto the old German phrase 'Ich Dien.' (I serve). Meaning what? Serve your depositors, your stockholders and society.

"Let no man tell you that private initiative is dead. On the contrary, it commands a greater premium today than ever before. If you and others like you have courage enough, if you possess patience, if you have a passion for hard work, and if, with an open mind, you look to and prepare for the future and the opportunities which are sure to come, you cannot be denied. Your generation will add prestige to the honorable calling that we know as banking."

SEES TURNING POINT IN BANKING HISTORY

NEW YORK. — The American Bankers Association Journal in its July issue presents the following review of banking and business conditions

"It is an almost universal opinion among bankers that Juno has been the turning point in banking history in the matter of recovery. Reasons for the optimism are twofold—the condition of the banks and the prospects of of better banking business.

"The reorganization of the banking system after the holiday of sixteen months ago is now practically complete The comparatively few banks yet to be reorganized and reopened are no longer a serious factor in the situation. The year's preparatory period for the enforcement of major provisions of the Banking Act of 1933 has passed, and banks now have a definite idea of where they stand."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Auditor of Hancock County, at Garner, Iowa, until 1:30 P. M. on September 12, 1934 for grading two miles of road located as follows: between sections 8 and 9 Britt Township and between sections 8 and 17 Britt Township.

A certified check or cashiers check to the amount of five (5%) percent of the bid made payable to the County Auditor shall be filed with each bid, which check in case of a bidder receiving an award may be cashed and the proceeds retained by the county as liquidated damages if he fails to execute a contract containing the provisions required by the statutes of Iowa and file an approved bond for the faithful performance thereof, within ten days after the acceptance of his bid.

Plans, specifications and proposal forms for the work may be seen and may be secured at the office of the County Engineer or County Auditor.

All proposals filed must be on the form furnished by the county, sealed and plainly marked. The County Board reserves the right to waive technicalities and to reject any or all bids.

The proposed work consists of 16,000 cu. yds. of dragline excavation with the excavated material leveled to make a finished grade with 22' top.

Clearing and grubbing and the construction of bridges and culverts will be performed by the County.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF DOGS!

Prompted by the fact that many complaints concerning dogs running at large, and worrying and destroying sheep, hogs and other livestock, and the further fact that many claims for damage to sheep and hogs have been filed with the county auditor, of late, the board of supervisors of Hancock county request that all owners of dogs see that all dogs are kept upon their own premises, particularly after night fall.

The law provides for the destruction of any dog caught in the act of bothering livestock. 1S5

Must Cut Excess Corn Acreage For Fodder Use

RULINGS ON EXCESS CORN LAND GIVEN BY COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Many corn-hog contract signers are asking: "What is to be done in case the compliance supervisor's measurement shows an acreage in excess of that permitted in the contract?" says Ben V. Greiman, chairman of the Hancock County Corn-Hog Association.

If the corn acreage on a farm is found to exceed that permitted for grain and the excess is small and it is evident to the supervisor that the excess acre represent an honest error on the part of the producer, the excess corn shall be cut immediately for forage.

For example—in case a man's contract permits him to plant 50 acres of corn in 1934 after the reduction has been made, and actual measurement indidates that he has 51½ acres, the compliance supervisor should order cutting of the excess 1½ acres for fodder by the contract signer acording to an explanation received by R. M. Evans of Laurens, state officer in charge of compliance.

The supervisor will make a recheck in a few days to see that the corn has been cut. In entering the acreage found by measurement of the above case, the supervisor enters 50 acres because that is the amount the signer has left for use as corn. He does, however, make a note on his compliance form that 1½ acres which was in excess of the allowed planting was cut and utilized for forage.

If the excess corn acreage is relatively large or it appears that a deliberate attempt was made to exceed the corn acreage permitted, the matter is to be turned over to the county allotment committee for settlement.

Where it appears that a contract signer has deliberately exceeded his allotted acreage of corn the compliance supervisor will measure the fields of corn, set out the total measurements in the compliance form and advise the contract signer he has violated the contract. The signer will also be advised that it will be necessary for him to cut the excess corn for fodder because a penalty in keeping with the violation will be imposed.

The county allotment committee keeps a complete record of each compliance case settled and includes it in the committee's records.

DO NOT DELAY LAWN SEEDING

Lawns hard hit by the heat and drouth during the past season ought to be seeded now if best results are to be obtained from fall seeding. Seeding much after Sept. 15 is not recommended.

Unshaded portions of the lawn where the grass has been killed will respond best to a seed mixture of 2 parts Kentucky blue grass. 1 part redtop and 1 part Dutch white clover. On shaded areas largely the same mixture is recommended, with Poa Trivialis replacing the Dutch white clover.

The use of commercial fertilizers on lawns this fall is not advisable for with normal rainfall the result would be a rank vegetative growth with depleted root reserves. On the other hand a well rotted manure will supply sufficient organic matter and, if applied this fall and allowed to remain on the lawn all winter, will work wonders next spring.

MRS. C. A. LARSEN ENTERTAINS OLD AND NEW S. S. CLASSES

Mrs. C. A. Larsen gave a party Saturday afternoon for her Sunday School class of the past year and also to the class she will teach this year. Games of all kinds were played after which Mrs. Larsen served a nice lunch. All report they had a fine time.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The students of Klemme High School recently elected the following people of their respective classes to hold office for the year 1934-35:

George Stokesbary will pilot the class of '35 through their final year of high school. He will be assisted by Bessie Larson, vice-pres., Franklin Buseman, Sec.. and Alida Schubert, student council representative

Harold Kothenbeutal was chosen president of the Junior class. Other officers are Graydon Back, vice-pres.; and Lyndon Kilgore, secretary.

Melvin Jensen was elected president of sophomores; Alvin Bachman, vice-president; Carmen Kluckhohn, secretary; and Harold Abele student council representative.

Officers of the freshman class are Paul Schuldt, pres.; Avis Barz, vice president, and Raymond Jorgenson, secretary.

Grades 1 and 2

There are tweny-one pupils in our room: eight in the first grade and thirteen in the second grade.

Some of the boys and girls brought very nice bouquets of flowers for our room.

Our study in language last week centered around babies. We are making a Baby Scrapbook and our bulletin board is full of baby pictures.

Last week we made some small teddy bears, also sunflowers.

We have a small davenport and chair in one corner of our room. We like to sit here when we are looking at pictures.

The first grade began to use their new Elson Work-books today.

The second grade are working a page of their Round-the-year work books every day.

Grades 3 and 4

There are nineteen in the third and fourth grades this year. Everyone is enthusiastic about the school year.

Miss Wilson had a lovely surprise when she came back and found a new desk and an attractive ceiling.

The fourth grade have a geography exhibit on farm products, manufactured products and products from the mines. Friday they had a test over the week's work and made an excellent record. All but one in the class made 90 or above.

Those who received 100 in spelling last week are: Eunice Larsen, Corrine Merkel, Betty Schuldt and Eugene Haberkamp. Those who received 90 or above are: Barbara Johnson, Phyllis Klotzbach, Betty Jean Etchen, Eugene Johnson and Leonard Kaduce.

Laurence Bock is absent on account of an accident. We hope he will recover soon so he will be able to enjoy the school days with us.

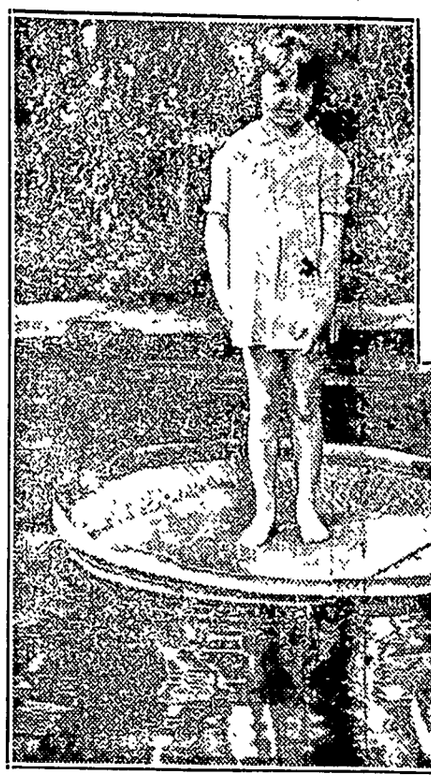
Lily Pad Raft at World's Fair



Nature provided this raft, a water platter known as the Amazon lily in the Horticulture gardens of the World's Fair in Chicago. It provides more than ample support for six-year-old Jane Haslip. Even these beautiful gardens will be torn up when the Fair closes forever Oct. 31.

Shamrocks Chalk Loss In Opening Fall Baseball

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL NINE BEGAN FALL SEASON TUESDAY

The Klemme High School baseball team, playing their first game of the fall season, went down in defeat 12-10 at the hands of the Goodell nine Tuesday evening on the local diamond. The Goodell team got off to an early start; at one time leading 12 to 3. However, the Klemme boys settled down and gave an exhbition of air-tight baseball, meanwhile batting in 7 more runs for themselves.

Brinkman was on the mound for Klemme, while Schuldt, the rookie catcher, gave a good performance behind the plate. Batteries for Goodell were Burk and Zielie. Kilgore, who recently moved here from Goodell, held down third base in fine shape and led the batting attack against his former teammates. Other members of the local squad who saw action were Stokesbary, ss; Kluckhohn, 1b; Hammitt, rf; Kaduce, lf; Gast cf-2b; Keeper 2b; Klotzbach, cf.

FARM RECORDS AID WHEN COMPLIANCE IS CHECKED

Farmers who have kept their farm record books up-to-date are experiencing little difficulty in presenting evidence that they have complied with terms of their corn hog contracts, says County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

Mr. Oberhauser suggests that farmers have all the entries made in the farm record books, and sales slips attached to them, before the supervisor calls to check contract compliance.

The record book may also be used to make plans to improve farm enterprises and it may come in handy in preparing future contracts. Important entries for September include silage acres, silage yield in tons, births and deaths, and purchases and sales.

Speaking of life's little afflictions have you ever walked far in a pair of tight shoes.

FARMERS MAY GET SEED CORN FROM 1933 SUPPLY

Last Year's Crop In Iowa Generally Of High Quality

Iowa corn growers who lack satisfactory seed for next year may, in many cases, be able to obtain it from their own or their neghbors' corncribs which house 1933 corn, says E. S Dyas, Iowa extension crops specialist.

Damage done to this year's corn by the drouth in southern Iowa and by corn earworms in areas where there is a fair crop make it advsiable for farmers to seek locally adapted seed supplies immediately.

The 1933 corn crop in the state was generally of a high quality. Such corn retains its viability for at least a year f it is thoroughly tried and stored under favorable conditions.

Testing the 1933 individual ears for germination, which is considered a good practice under normal conditions, should be done next February or March.

It is also suggested that farmers who have part of their 1933 crop under government seal consider selling it as seed corn. Corn for seed usually sells somewhat higher than the regular grain prices, so the farmer who has good seed corn for sale is in a favorable position.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION IN KLEMME THURSDAY

The annual meeting of the Hancock County Sunday School Convention will be held in the Klemme M. E. Church, this Thursday, Sept. 13. There will be both morning and afternoon sessions, with registration at 9:00 a. m. An interesting and instructive program has been arranged for the young people.

Everyone is requested to bring a covered dish for the noonday lunch. At the convention last year at Britt it was agreed that each person present would return to the 1934 convention, and bring a friend. How about it?

METHODIST AID WILL ELECT OFFICERS THURSDAY P. M.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society will meet at the church parlors this Thursday afternoon. This is the annual meeting for the election of officers for the coming year and all members should be present.

The ladies are asked to bring something for lunch.

CORN STOVER MAY REPLACE A PORTION OF ROUGHAGE

Must Consider Class of Livestock and Price of Supplemental Feeds

Can the livestock feeder with alfalfa on hand aford to sell the alfalfa and depend on corn stover to replace it? This question is being asked in certain sections of Iowa.

The answer involves the consideration of several factors and there is probably not a "yes" or "no" which would apply to all conditions comments C. C. Culbertson of the Iowa State College Animal Husbandry Department.

Important considerations are the class of livestock to be fed and the prices of alfalfa, stover and supplemental feeds. Generally bee cows or stock animals make more efficient use of corn stover than fattening animals; even the former ought to receive additional protein supplemental feeds if their ration is to be corn stover.

A more satisfactory method of feeding, especially fattening animals, would be to replace only a part of the roughage ration with corn stover.

Insofar as gains and finish are concerned, fattening cattle will do as well when a portion of roughage is corn stover as they will when alfalfa hay is fed exclusively, if a good protein supplement is included in the ration.

Because stover is much lower in protein and minerals than alfalfa hay, it is essential that these nutrients be supplied in some other way if stover is to be used in appreciable amounts.

Hundreds of cattle feeders in Iowa have fattened cattle without feeding any legume hay. Those who have made money following this practice, however, have realized the shortcomings of corn stover and non-legume hay rations and have added additional feeds such as linseed oilmeal, cottonseed meal, corn gluten meal or similar feeds.

Cattle feeders can get along without legume hay, but those who will not buy a protein supplemental feed had better keep enough legume hay at home to fulfill the roughage requirements for their livestock.

TWO FISH STILL AT LARGE AT CLEAR LAKE

D. L. Hunter and R. A. Jorgenson went on an "inspection tour" of Clear Lake Saturday morning. The object of the expedition was to determine whether or not the lake was inhabited by any of the finny tribe. Upon thorough investigation and much research they found that there was one pike in the lake which Hunter captured without assistance; and two black bass which the Editor reported as being too ferocious to bring back alive. Another expedition is planned for later to determine if the two bass are still at large.

Pilot Knob State Park Is Greatly Beautified Through CCC Work

The writer and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Jorgenson of Garner, Sunday took a little trip and visited the Pilot Knob State Park east of Forest City.

The C. C. C. work which has been put into the park is going to make Pilot Knob one of the finest park in this section of the country. The program has included the building of stone shelter houses, comfort stations, picnic grounds, laying out new drives, rebuilding the park entrances ,putting up rustic guard rails,, building a stone tower on the Mound and last but not least the building of an open-air Auditorium, seating 1,000 people.

Those who have not visited hte park for some time will enjoy the improvements which have been added.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS HAD BIG PARTY THURSDAY EVE

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church held a party at the home and lawn of Rev. Ralston on Thursday evening, which was attended by a large crowd of young folks. Games were played after which a weiner roast was enjoyed.

GOODELL HIT BAD WEATHER FOR CELEBRATION

Goodell held their celebration last Wednesday despite the unfavorable weather, having postponed the big day from Labor Day because of rain. Original plans called for a free barbeque dinner, but the beef which had been roasted for the original date spoiled and weiners were substituted.

A fairly large crowd was present in the afternoon and a good crowd came to spend the evening.

MISLEADING STATEMENTS MADE BY GOVERNOR HERRING

Attemping to fool the public seems to be Governor Herring's whole stock in trade, in this campaign He is resorting to the oldest trick in politics in most of his late speeches. Telling half of the truth, but forgetting to tell all of the truth, and by omitting the whole truth leaving his hearers believing something that is not true

One cannot question that Mr. Herring is doing this deliberately It could not be an oversight. There are too many instances including his tax statement, Old Age Pension discrepancies, etc. Probably the worst of all these, and the one which Mr. Herring seems to be using most. is his statement regarding the "bankrupt" treasury at the time he took office. The facts don't in any way bear out Mr. Herring's statements. He goes to great pains to tell his listeners that when he went into office he found in the treasury $800,000 worth of returned vouchers, or rather checks or drafts on counties that had been returned uncashed.

This according to Mr. Herring was all there was in that treasury. No, he doesn't say so in that many words, but that is all he tells about receiving, and goes on to say that it was a bankrupt treasury, and those that hear him gather from the remarks that he received nothing more.

This is not true, as it was not all he received. but if it had been Mr Herring did not fare so badly, because those so called worthless vouchers were just as good as so much money. They were drafts drawn against the varius counties, and they total about $600,000. These drafts were on counties that had funds temporarily tied up in banks, and had not received enough cash to take up all their paper, or from counties where the general fund was temporarily short.

However, is there anyone in Iowa who would not now, or would not at that time have taken a check drawn agaist Scott county? $96,568.92 of the total was Scott county drafts There was $26,b63.08 against Black Hawk county. Do you consider Black Hawk county bankrupt? That is what Governor Herring is telling the people of Iowa, that Black Hawk county, Buchanan, Carroll, Clarke, Davis, Delaware, Des Moines. Dubuque, Fayette, Howard, Jasper, Jackson, Lee, Johnson, Jones Louisa, Lyon, Mahaska, Madison, Mills, Pocahontas, Scott, Warren, Washington, Webs-Winnebago, Worth and Wright, 28 counties in all, were bankrupt and could not pay their honest debts

Mr. Herring knows this was not true and he knows that every dollar of that money was paid. He knows that he collected all of that money and has used it, The only question then involved is what did he use it for if it was charged off as worthless The amount that did comprise frozen assets that Mr Herring received was $55,380 22 This was checks returned for insufficient funds or checks on banks closed by Bank Holidays that had not yet reopened.

Governor Herring is deliberately attempting to deceive the people of Iowa In other words, Mr. Herring is telling the people of Iowa a half truth regarding the condition of the treasury when he went into office. Is it then not logical to suppose that he is also telling a half truth about the present condition of the treasury.

THE 1934TH PSALM

The Democrat is my shepherd.
I am in want.
He maketh me to lie down to park benches.
He leadeth me beside still-factories.
He disturbeth my soul.
He leadeth me in the paths of destruction for the party's cake.
Yea, tho' I walk through the valley of the shadow of depression I anticipate no recovery, for he is with me
His policies and his diplomacies, they frighten me.
He prepareth a reduction in my crops, and little pigs are my enemies.
He anointeth my income with taxes and my expense runneth over.
Surely unemployment and poverty shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a mortgaged house forever. Amen.—Exchange.

Carried.

Be it remembered, that on this, the 29th day of August, 1934, the board of supervisors of Hancock county, Iowa, met in adjourned session for purpose of hearing upon the supplemental estimate of levies of taxes for future years as filed with this board. There were present Chairman F J Oxley, F. J. Schoun and G. E. Klipping, a quorum as required by law. Thereupon, the board investigated and found that the notice of the time and place of hearing had, according to law and as directed by the board, been published on the 15th day of August, 1934 in the Garner Leader and the Britt News Tribune, newspapers published in Garner and Britt of said county, and the affidavit of publication thereof was on file with the county auditor Thereafter and on said day the estimate was taken up and considered and taxpayers heard for and against said supplemental estimate.

Thereafter and after hearing all taxpayers desiring to be heard, the board took up the supplemental estimate for final consideration and after being fully advised the board determined that said estimate be corrected and completed so that when completed it should be in words and figures as follows:

Levies—Year levied, 1934; year collected 1935, amount, $2,750.

Expenditures Year, 1935; amount, $2,750

The county auditor and the chairman of the board were thereupon directed to properly certify and forward the supplemental estimate to the county auditor.

Fred C. Missal.

NINTH ADJOURNED JUNE MEETING

Garner, Iowa, Sept. 4, 1934.

The Hancock county board of supervisors met in session on the above date with F. J. Oxley, G. E. Klipping and F. J. Schoun, present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

Carried.

Supervisor Schoun is appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D No. 34.

Carried.

In the matter of repairs to lateral No. 3 and lateral No. 8 of D. D. No. 3 and 4, the report of Chas Merten, county engineer, is approved.

Carried.

Whereas, Chas Merten, county engineer, recommends that a road in Britt township, described as the east ¾ mile between sections 8 and 17, and the south ¾ mile between sections 8 and 9, be graded with a drag line forming a ditch on the west side of the road between sections 8 and 9 and on the south side of the road between sections 8 and 17

Be it resolved, That the recommendation of the engineer be accepted and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to advertise a letting on the hereinbefore proposed construction to be held at the court house in Garner on Sept 12th at 1.30 p. m.

Carried

Whereas, on Feb 27 1934, W L. Haberkamp, assessor in Liberty township, did correct an error in assessment made on sw¼ of 32-95-24, lowering the valuation from $7,768 to $7,369, and

Whereas taxes on said property were paid on January 30, 1934, as shown by Liberty township tax receipt No. 8,

Be it resolved, That a refund be issued to Geo. W. Schoenwetter in the sum of $7 01, being the amount due on sw¼ of 32-95-24 due to error in valuation and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to issue refund warrant to Geo. W. Schoenwetter in the sum of $7.01

Carried.

Whereas, by resolution of the board on August 29, Harm Limberg's drainage assessment for 1933 was cancelled and

Whereas, said tax had previously been paid as evidenced by tax receipt No. 79, Bingham township,

Be it resolved, That the sum of $28.10, being the amount of drainage assessment paid by Harm Limberg on nw¼ of section 19 and w¼ nw¼ of section 17, both in 97-26, be refunded and the auditor is hereby ordered to issue warrant on D. D. No. 36-2 in favor of Harm Limberg in the sum of $28 10 as a refund for drainage taxes paid as shown by Bingham township tax receipt No. 79 for the year 1933.

Carried.

Be it resolved, That the claims hereinafter set out be allowed in amounts designated thereon and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to draw warrants on the several funds of Hancock county in amounts set opposite each claim.

Carried

On motion and second board adjourned to September 5, 1934.

Corn Flake Date Cookies

...ed dates (1½ cups chopped)
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons orange juice

...ove the seeds from the dates ...ll dates, sugar, water, orange juice and grated orange peel until soft paste is formed.

1 cup shortening	¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar	½ cup water.
3½ cups flour	2 cups corn flakes
2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream the shortening, add the sugar and beat thoroughly. Add the flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder and salt, then the water and last the corn flakes. Roll the cookie dough thin (about 3/16" thick) and cut into rounds Spread one round with the date mixture and put a second round on top, pressing the edges together Bake on greased baking sheet in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 15 to 20 minutes. Provides three dozen 2½-inch cookies.

JAPS BEAT HARVARD

Harvard University's baseball team, now invading Japan, received a rather severe drubbing a few days ago at the hands of the Rikkyo University club in Tokyo, the score being 9 to 3 in favor of the Orientals.

Since the introduction of the game into Japan about 40 years ago by native engineers who had learned the game while studying in the United States, baseball has gained great popularity in that country.

Keio University was among the first colleges to take up the sport after a group of students had translated a Spalding rule-book into the Japanese language. The game's greatest impetus resulted from the enthusiasm of Professor Isa Abe of Waseda University, who is called "the father of Japanese baseball." Under his leadership teams from the University made several tours the United States, giving a good account of themselves.

Even the monks of the Buddhist monasteries in Japan cross bats with American missionaries. In one such game it is told that in the last half of the ninth inning, with the score tied 1 to 1, His Holiness, the Abbot of the monastery, playing shortstop, booted a hot grounder and allowed the winning run of the missionaries to trickle across the plate.

From time immemorial boys' pockets have been receptacles for an endless variety of junn, but it remained for 12-year-old Freddie Brown of Memphis to add a discarded safety razor blade to such a collection, which he carried in a hip pocket. He sat down; arose quickly had several stitches taken; used no chair again for several days.

READING FUN IN STORE FOR BOYS

Here's important news for the boys of America. THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION, the nation's quality magazine for boys, has been reduced from $2.00 a year to $1.00. The three year rate, formerl $3.50, has been reduced to $2.

"For a long time we have been seeking a way to reduce the cost of THE AMERICAN BOY to readers," states Griffith Ogden Ellis, editor. "Recently we have effected savings that make the cut possible, and we think boys will agree that the new price is big news on the reading front. We hope boys will help us spread the good news by telling their friends."

Along with the cut in cost, the magazine's publishers are planning a magazine that will continue to set the pace in fiction, articles and departments. The favorite characters of millions of boys will parade thru THE AMERICAN BOY in new stories. Douglas Renfrew of the Royal Canadian Mounted, Hide-rack, the red-and-gold collie, Bonehead Jim Tierney, the detective, will give the reader many exciting hours in the months to come.

William Heyliger, whose true-to-life, gripping vocational stories have won him wide acclaim from parents and librarians, as well as the hearty approval of boys, is now working on new stories. Staff writer are interveing famou coaches and athletes and world-renowned explorers, to bring boys in the color and fun of sports and travel.

In short, THE AMERICAN BOY, under its new price, will continue to give boys a magazine that measures up to the best standards set by adultma gazines. Send your subcription to THE AMERICAN BOY 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. Enclose your name, address, and the proper amount of money and THE AMERICAN BOY will soon be headed your way, loaded with thrills.

rn Crop Is Basis For Hog Production In 1935

RN CROP OF 1935 IS KEY TO HOG SITUATION

Numbers Need Not Be Limited Corn Can Be Held in Check

ll us how large the corn crop be in 1935 and we will tell whether we are in for another nsion in hog production and hog prices.

That, in substance, is what fed- economists have said to work- at Iowa State College. The omists believe that if farmers not plant too much corn next ring, there will be no need of king the number of hogs a far- can raise. In other words, they ieve hog production will adjust lf to the corn supply.

The federal economists have said t no further decrease in hog oduction seems necessary; but ewise they see no good reason for reasing the number raised. They not believe a profitable market ll exist for more hogs.

Hog slaughter in 1934-35 prob ly will not exceed 50 million head compared with 70 million head recent years. The number of s on farms next Jan. 1 probably ll be 15 million less than last nuary. In view of the fact that e feed prices probably will be her, the 1935 spring pig crop obably will not be any larger an the 1934 crop.

Thus the real danger lies in far- ers increasing corn acreage next ring. If they do and if yields are rmal, there will be a lot of corn ith little livestock to feed it to. rn prices consequently will go w and that will encourage farm- s to raise more hogs, thus bring- g about need for again limiting gs.

In the past, farmers have in- reased corn acreage every year fol- wing a severe drouth and high grain prices. This occurred in 1894 1901 and 1930. The average in- crease in acreage was 7 percent. Following the drouth years not only did farmers grow larger acreage, t they also obtained a higher ield per acre, so that much more otal corn was produced.

The inevitable result of low corn prices in the fall of 1935 would be n increase in hog production. The ederal economists believe that feed supplies should be adjusted as close as possible to livestock needs.

Hogs eat 40 to 50 percent of the rn produced. Hog numbers have been reduced about 30 percent, so that a 1935 crop 12 to 15 percent smaller than average would supply all needs.

If a corn or grain control pro- gram to maintain a balance between feed and livestock is adopted by farmers this fall, it will automatic- ally control hog production, experi- ence has shown. Federal economists report that a change in corn pro- duction is followed by a corres- ponding change in hog production. The easy and practical way, then, to control pork production the next few years is to keep the balance be- tween feed and livestock needs, thus avoiding cheap corn and increased farrowing of pigs.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION ON HANDLING FODDER HELD

County Agent S. J. Oberhauser attended a North Iowa district meeting held at Clarion Friday. The meeting was attended by 18 county agents. There were 3 district meet- ings held in the state for the pur- pose of studying the grading, bal- ing and handling of fodder, straw and roughage to be shipped to Kan- sas City where it will be sent out to supply feed for livestock in the drought striken areas.

USE CHLORATES ON WEEDS

Chemicals Work Best When Moisture Is Abundant

Because of the abundant rainfall in many parts of Iowa during early September, chlorates (either sodium or calcium chlorate) may now be used effectively to kill certain per- ennial weeds. It is never advisable to use chlorates during hot, dry weather, for they work best when moisture is abundant. This is true whether the chlorates are applied dry to the soil or whether they are sprayed on the plants.

Areas of Canada thistle not treat- ed during the summer may be sprayed now if there is sufficient growth. The plants should be at least six inches high in order for the chemical to be absorbed sufficiently to get a good "kill"

Creeping jenny and horse nettle also may be treated now. For scat- terred horse nettle plants, use dry chlorate at the rate of a teaspoon- ful per plant. Apply the chemical at the base of the plant. If a second growth of the weeds comes back, another application may be made in October or November.

Quack grass may be readily kill- ed by one application of dry chlor- ate in October or November. It should be applied at the rate of 2½ pounds per square rod. The chlor- ates are poisonous to livestock, so they should not be applied where stock can get to them

Land treated with chlorates may not be fit to produce any crop be- fore about June of the following summer, but after that time, if rain fall are average or more the chem- icals should not interefere with the growth of crops.

A circular on weeds and weed control recently was issued by the Extension Service of Iowa State College. It may be obtained from the county agent or from the office in Ames. This circular contains a table with a spray schedule for weeds.

Man-Made Lakes Needed In Conservation Program

SPORTSMEN DREAM OF LAKE POSSIBILITY NEAR KLEMME

Hunters And Fishermen Interested In Obtaining Project For County

Sportsmen of Hancock County are in hopes that a lake can be built in the county to provide a good hunting and fishing lake for the future. With this thought in mind men interested are circulat- ing petitions asking the State Fish and Game Department to sanction such a project and bring the matter to the attention of the proper auth- orities.

The location selected by the sportsmen would be the placing of the dam across the Iowa river south of Klemme As the county ex- pect to rebuild the road near the Arnold school sometime in the fu- ture, the new road could be used as part of the dam.

The project, it is hoped, will be entirely in the hands of the state so far as purchasing land required, building of the dam, and taking care of details.

It is too early to give definite information as to whether or not the project can be put through. However, sportsmen are heartily in favor of the project, and a deputy game warden who looked over the grounds was impressed with the possibilities.

It seems that the State Conserva- tion Board expects to put through a number of like projects in the state and the people of Hancock County will back the proposed lake here.

JACK ETCHEN INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT SUNDAY EVENING

Jack Etchen is confined to his home with a broken right leg as the result of an auto mishap Sun- day evening. Mr. Etchen, accom- panied by Roy Swanson, had driven to Mason City to get a Hudson se- dan which Etchen had purchased. On the way back to Klemme Mr. Etchen followed the Bayside road, and at one of the sharp curves in the road at a point east of the Ventura-Meservey road his Hudson went in the ditch. Mr. Swanson, who was following the Etchen car says that the Hudson turned over three times. Mr. Etchen was uncon- cious when picked up. He was prob- ably thrown out of the car when it first turned over. He was brought to Klemme for medical attention and was later taken to a Mason City hospital and was then returned to his home Monday. His right leg was fractured below the knee and he received other body bruises. The car was quite badly damaged. It was stated that the accident was caused when the car lights failed.

AUXILIARY ELECTS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Auxiliary members met and elec- ted new officers last Thursday eve- ning at the home of Miss Grace Blank: Pres., Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Paul Grange; Sec. and Treas., Mrs. J. C. Thomas; His- torian, Mrs. Ben Coobs; Chaplain, Martha Bredbenner; Sgt. at arms, Miss Grace Blank.

The evening was full of merri- ment as they put on a mock wedd- ing, accompanied on the acordian by Mrs. George Lawhorn, which was to remind Mrs. W. F. Pavey of her 25th wedding anniversary. They also had a farewell party for their past president, Mrs. Carl Wolfe. The group presented Mrs. Pavey with an enameled bread box, and Mrs. Wolfe with silk lingerie. After a very pleasant evening delicious re- freshments were served by the host- esses.

LOCAL FEEDERS BUY CATTLE FROM DROUGHT AREAS

The first part of the week a number of truck drivers from Mis- souri were bringing cattle to Klem- me, which were purchased by C. A. Larsen and Albert Schmidt, who will put them on feed.

The truck drivers purchased corn to haul back to Missouri.

KNOW ANY BIGGER

A fire broke out in the basement of a seven story building about four o'clock in the morning, but the night watchman, who was asleep on the top floor, did not awaken until the blaze had gained considerable headway. Panic-stricken and confused by the smoke which poured up from below he did not think to use the fire escape, but rushed to the elevator and set the controls for full speed downward. And incidentally it is Paul E. Forsythe of Denver Colo, who vouches for the utter truthfulness of this tale.

Between the second and third floors the elevator stopped, and before the watchman could locate the trouble he was overcome by the smoke.

In the meantime the passing driver of a milkwagon had seen the smoke and sent in a fire alarm. The engines sped to the scene and soon had the blaze under control. While they were cleaning up some of the debris the uconcious watchman was discovered and on being taken into the fresh air and given irst aid, he recovered His first question to the hose-wielders concerned the sudden stoppage of the elevator. By way of explanation they pointed to their comrades who were carrying large blocks of compressed smoke out of the building and stacking them near the alley. They added that the descent of the elevator at such high speed had prevented the smoke's escaping from the shaft soon enough so that it became compressed from the basement to the ceiling of the second floor and kept the elevator from moving farther.

An old farmer, driving down the alley saw the smoke pile, got out of his wagon and sniffed it very carefully. He then approached the owner of the hardware store which had burned and asked if he could buy the smoke blocks The merchant thinking he had a sucker sold the pile for $1.50; the farmer loaded his purchase into his wagon and drove out of town with gray smoke trailing behind

As it happened the fire had been confined to the basement of the store just where a large store of ax shovel and hammer handles were kept. It was the peculiar odor of the smoke which had come from the burnt hickory handles that the farmer detected.

Far from getting a bad bargain the canny farmer sold the blocks to his neighbors who were at that time in the midst of their spring butchering, and were only too glad to buy choice hickory smoke in solid form for their smokehouses and be spared the bother of keeping fires for two or three weeks.

HOW WARSHIPS ARE NAMED

Just in case someone wants to know here is how our naval vessels receive their names. It is an unwritten law that battleships always bear the names of states, cruisers those of cities, and destroyers the names of departed naval officers, secretaries of the Navy or enlisted men who have performed brave deeds. Transports bear the names of Marine Corps generals, tugs are named after rivers and minesweepers after birds. Submarines bear the same names as denizens of the deep colliers and cargo ships names of stars, and hospital boats bear such names as Relief and Mercy. etc.

MEXICAN JUMPING BEANS

Natures ability to create oddities is fully recognized, but in making the Mexican jumping bean she has almost surpassed herself. Her job of animating an object which, from all appearances should be inanimate, has been so perfect that it has aroused worldwide curiosity. But like most odd things the Mexican jumping bean, or broncho bean as it is called in the southwest, is simple enough when the secret is known. The bean itself is an ordinary seed pod of a swamp tree which grows in the southwestern section of the United States and in Mexico. Its motive power is supplied by a larvae of a moth also native to that section

In the spring of the year the moth deposits an egg in the blossom of the tree. As the bloom develops three seed pods are formed but in one of them is the larva of the moth instead of a seed. Not until the seed pods drop from the tree and separate, however, does the odd seed begin to show its peculiarities. It immediately begins to hop away as if it were intent upon moving away from the tree The motion is caused by the worm inside as it gathers itself into a ball and then suddenly straightens out striking its head against the wall of its shell At the end of the winter it cuts through the shell and emerges as a moth

ROCKIES ONCE LOW PLAIN

Besides uncovering the world's greatest find in dinosaur bones the American Museum-Sinclair Expedition, which has spent the summer digging in the Big Horn Mountains in Wyoming, has discovered facts that paint a very interesting picture of the Rocky Mountain region as it existed 125,000,000 years ago Instead of being made up of peaks and rocky ridges, as it is today, the entire region was a low, swampy plain dotted with lakes and covered with rank vegetation. The very ridge from which the skeletons of the 15 ton reptiles are being dug was once the bottom of a prehstoric lake Besides all the other evidence which points to this fact the existence of the bones themselves is proof enough If the ancient monsters had not died in a lake where their bones could be preserved by the water and mud they would have disappeared millions of years ago.

Accoring to the leaders of the expedition it was a geological changes which marked the end of the giant lizards which are now being unearthed. A gradual rising of the ground drained off the water and caused the vegetation on which the creatures lived to die.

FROM THE EDITOR OF THE AMERICAN BOY

During the coming year, the boys of America will get a half-fare rate to adventure and fun! THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTHS COMPANION the nation's leading magazine for boys, formerly $2.00 a year, now costs $1.00. A three-year subscription, previously $3.50, costs only $2.00.

Griffith Ogden Ellis, editor of THE AMERICAN BOY, brings boys the hearty assurance that the new prices will in no way affect the editorial contents of the magazine. It will be as large, as beautifully printed, as full of high-spirited adventure as ever.

"THE AMERICAN BOY's leadership has been no accident," Mr. Ellis states. "We publish the magazine on the firm belief that boys deserve a magazine as good as any publication for grown-ups. So we use the best illustrators obtainable—well-known artists who work for the biggest magazines. We send our staff writers all over the country digging up the interesting facts of science, interviewing world famous explorers, talking to coaches and athletes.

"We encourage and assist our writers to go everywhere for material—ta Haiti, Africa, the South Seas, China—and bring back adventure for American boys. We hire experts of hobbies and boy problems to advise boys & young men. These steps account for our position as the quality magazine for boys, and we shall continue to take them."

Twelve issues of fun and excitement for $1.00! Three years for $2.00! Spread the news among your friends—and send your own subscription direct to THE AMERICAN BOY 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan Service on your subscription will start with the issue you specify.

Reformer—Friends, I am here to save the girls of your city.

Man's Voice—That's O. K. Save me a blonde, will you?

Mrs. Moronski—Three moves are as bad as a fire.

Mrs. Onthank—Yes, and one visit of the paper hanger beats a cyclone.

WOODEN SHOES WORN

It may be surprising to many, as it was to us, to learn that around a million pairs of wooden shoes are manufactured and worn in the United States every year, but such is the case, according to the Department of Commerce.

Ten factories in eight states specialize in the manufacture of wooden footwear, which ranges from sandals for women and children to heavy work shoes for men Soles from half an inch to three inches in thickness are used for the heavy work shoes.

Prices of wooden shoes range from $1 to $3 a pair, while high boots with wooden soles bring $6. They are in demand by workers in damp fields in certain parts of the country, and by those in factories who must stand on wet concrete floors. The movies and the stage also use some of this product

Wooden shoe factories are located in Iowa, New York, New Jersey Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Florida They keep stocks on hand for immediate delivery, just as makers of leather shoes do, but those used on the stage are made to special order.

EDITORIALS

In introducing to you "The High School Squealer" we wish to introduce something that will be of interest to everyone. We are all planning to do our best to make it interesting by including in this section bits of news, a sports section, musical notes, news from the grades and other miscellaneous items. All high school pupils are invited to contribute items of interest to this section. We wish to thank Mr. Jorgenson for letting us have this section of his paper and hope that when you open up your Klemme Times you will not forget to read the High School Sqealer.—B.A.L.

Instead of making New Year's resolutions, the first of January the people of K H. S. make their's around the first of September.

We think there are certain things that should be in every scholar's resolutions before school starts. In the first place, everyone should resolve to remain loyal to the school during the whole year and comply with all of its rules and regulations and in the second place everyone should determine to do his or her best and study and strive to get the highest grades possible. Each one should take the attitude that he is working for himself—not the teachers. If we would all try to live up to these resolutions we would have a better school.—M.B.

—K—H—S—

THE NEWSPAPER STAFF

Last week it was decided we were to have a weekly school paper. Therefore, Tuesday, the Student Council met and nominated two candidates for each office. Wednesday afternoon nomination speeches were given before the assembly and then these candidates were voted upon. As a result we have Bessie Larson, editor; Milvern Barz, ass't. editor; Franklin Kluckhohn, sport editor; Carmen Kluckhohn, feature editor.

We are sure these officers will have the entire support of the high school in this undertaking.

AMONG THE MISSING

The following fiction books are missing from our library. Perhaps some of us have taken books out and forgotten to have them checked. Scottish Chiefs, Porter; Janice Meredith, Ford; David Copperfield Dickens; In the Days of Poor Richard, Bachellor; Cimarron, Ferber; Last of the Mohicans, Cooper; The Blazed Trail, White; All Quiet on the Western Front, Remarque; Marmion, Scott.

Librarians for the first semester are Esther Trampel, Bonnie Bachman, Anna Tanner, Harriet Gibbs, Nora Wellemeyer, Ruth Wellemeyer and Bessie Larson.

FRESHMAN INITIATION

On Wednesday, Sept. 12, each of the freshmen was startled to receive a note from the haughty sophomores who had scarcely deigned to notice them since school began this fall Friday morning the poor freshmen looked as though the depression had hit them pretty hard. Paul Schuldt had been instructed to appear in a night shirt and cap. Buster Jorgenson had to wear his mother's dress. One boy was dressed as an Indian, one as Jiggs and others wore gunny sack trousers or trousers way to big for them. Ruth Blickendorfer was dressed about the queerest of all the girls; she had on a dress made out of gunny sack. Other girls wore lace curtain dresses, very short dresses with long baggy black bloomers, oldfashioned dresses, Indian dresses and short overalls.

That morning the freshmen were called upon to show their greenness to the rest of the high school. They recited nursery, poems held a string eating contest, sang and danced the jig. In the evening the sophomores took their spite out on the freshmen and many were the dire and fearful things the "greenies" were forced to do. However to show there was know ill feeling they all played games and the sophomores then served a delightful lunch of ice-cream and cake.

KLEMME TRIPS VENTURA 8-3

It was quite a ball game Friday for the ball players and for our coach Mr. Kingery. Although we were beaten by Goodell last week we took revenge on Ventura. Perhaps the fact that Mr. Kingery's brother coaches the Ventura team was partly responsible for our determination to win.

Brinkman, Kaduce and Schuldt were the batteries for Klemme. Brinkman struck out 8, walked 3 and allowed 8 hits in the six innings he pitched. Kaduce struck out 2 and gave no hits in the inning he worked. He shows great promise of developing into a good pitcher. Paul Schuldt shows promise of becoming an A1 catcher. He held both pitchers in fine shape

The infield as well as the outfield showed better baseball ability Friday than in the Goodell game.

Kaduce showed the Ventura nine some fancy hitting, poling out a triple, a double, a single and annexing a walk for a perfect day at bat.

Nice going, Ted!

MUSICAL NOTES

Both grade room and high school study period were sadly interrupted for about an hour each day last week by a series of "ah's" and "oh's" coming from the gym. Upon inquiring it was found the annual Glee Club tryouts were being held.

The Girls Glee Club is fully organized under the direction of Miss Ahrends and has had one practice.

The boys are still trying out, but they will soon begin regular work. This will be the second year there has been a Boy's Glee Club in Klemme high school

All those interested in orchestra were given an opportunity to sign up Wednesday of last week. We are pleased to report there are twenty members, an increase of six over last year. Most of the new-members play wind instruments which will make a better balance of instruments in the orchestra this year.

—K—H—S—

TYPING NEWS

In an interview with Miss Ahrends we learned the following facts about this years typing class. The eight new Remington Noiseless Typewriters recently purchased by the school are located in the Home Economics room where they serve 24 students daily. Individual typing tables built by Messrs. Hunter, Kingery and Patet, add to the convenience of the students and complete the first-class equipment.

The students have shown much interest and application and all who have attended regularly have ccomplished the required work. The touch system is used consistentily without use of eyesight which requires concentration. There are 12 seniors and 12 juniors in the typing classes.

—K—H—S—

SENIOR WATERMELON PARTY

Last Tuesday evening the senior class held a Watermelon Party at the Johnson hills. It was a gala affair, not excepting the sacrifice of Mr. Hunter's hat in the frantic attempt to build a fire, and the mysterious disappearance of the watermelons for a short time.

Although some unfortunates fell in creek and frequent complaints were heard about "too much watermelon," the class as a whole enjoyed a very good time.

—K—H—S—

OTHER NEWS

A news box, much like the one we used to put valentines in, will be placed in the assembly, in which contributions to the High School Sqealer are to be placed. This will be a big help to those who are self-conscious or bashful.

The framed portrait of last years seniors now adorns the wall of the assembly.

There was great rejoicing in the senior class when they learned that their class rings had arrived and they will soon be proudly displaying them to the envious eyes of the lower classmen.

INQUIRING REPORTER

When asked the question "What is your impression of high school?" these freshmen made the following replies:

I like high school and it is easier than the eighth grade for me. The four subjects instead of about eight makes it easier. You can put more time on your four subjects. You get in on the sports in high school and enjoy many other opportunities such as glee club and declam. I have enjoyed my beginning in high school.—Paul Schuldt.

My best subject is Domestic Science. The thing I liked best so far was initiation, but that didn't last long enough to suit me. I think I will like all my four years of high school. After a person gets through high school he may go to college and study anything he want to be. This is my impression about high school.—Avis Barz.

I like high school very well. Domestic Science is my most interesting subject. The most fun was initiation. I thought it was going to be terrible but it wasn't. We didn't have to do anything bad. I think high school will be lots of fun.—Novella Beier.

I like high school quite well, but it is much different than grade school. The subject I like best it Domestic Science where we have cooking the first semester. The most exciting thing that has happened since my entrance into high school was our initiation which was last Friday. I like all my subjects quite well but some are harder than others. This is my impression of high school.—Doris Barz.

High school is a lot easier for me than seventh or eighth grade. I like all the subjects and we only have four. The classes are an hour long and are easy so far. I like athletics also.—Buster Jorgenson.

Grades 1 and 2

Lavonne Hammitt was absent three days last week.

The second grade had ten words to learn last week. Betty had them all learned last Friday.

On Monday the second grade made Teddy Bear spelling books. They will write in them each Friday.

Mr. Patet made two small bulletin boards for our room. He also hung our large pictures in different places.

Monday during our language class we wrote a letter to Mr. Patet thanking him for the bulletin boards. The second grade all copied it. Patty's letter was chosen as the best so she gave hers to Mr. Patet.

On Friday eve, the second grade boys sifted the sand. They poured water in it and now it is much nicer.

Friday, we chose the monitors that we needed in our room. Each Monday we can look on the bulletin board and see who are the monitors for the week.

The first grade made posters of the tables, bowls of soup, chairs and beds in the Three Bears story. The second grade made a poster of the Three Bears and their home.

Grades 3 and 4

Those in the fourth grade who know the one hundred addition facts are Betty Jean Etchen, Betty Schuldt, Elwyn Jacobs, Billy Grosshuesch, Eugene Johnson and Leonard Kaduce.

There were seven who received 100 in spelling Friday and 5 who had above 90.

Both grades are making posters in Health Habits class. Each Tuesday they copy rhymes about each poster. When the posters are finished they will be put into a booklet.

Betty Jean Etchen chose two new balls for our play corner. They are very pretty.

Grades 7 and 8

Elsie Ward was absent Thursday and Friday because of illness.

Dorance Grange is attending the Century of Progress in Chicago this week.

Marion Waterman celebrated her birthday Monday by bringing a treat to the seventh and eighth grades and teachers.

The seventh grade Hygiene class made posters Thursday showing the classes of foods.

Many novel excuses have been offered by citizens seeking to evade jury duty, but one recently advanced by an Iowa man is probably unique. He declared that inasmuch as his wife had been drawn on the jury he couldn't serve, because no agreement would be possible.

IOWA UNION TELEPHONE CO. MADE MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Many Miles Of Lines Were Rebuilt During Past Summer Months

The Iowa Union Telephone Co. here, of which Carl Anderson is the local manager, has made extensive improvements in their property during the past few months.

All of the lines are being inspected and entirely over-hauled, which includes the placing of new poles where necessary, resetting of loose and broken poles and the trimming of trees where they interfere with the telephone lines.

Mr. Anderson has devoted practically all of his time during the past few months in getting the entire system in first class working order. The greater proportion of the work was done on the country lines. The greater part of the system in the town of Klemme is an up-to-date cable system which gives but a minimum of trouble.

Mr. Anderson stated that he is anxious to get all of the work out of the way before cold weather sets in which would make the work more difficult. The Company has shown a steady increase in the number of new installations during the past year, and with the lines all in the best of shape should be an incentive for those who have held off, to become subscribers to telephone service in our community

PLAN DEDICATION OF C. C. C. WORK AT PILOT KNOB SUNDAY

Farmers To Decide On Program For Next Year

CORN HOG SIGNERS ASKED TO DECIDE ON 1935 PROGRAM

Plans for a 1935 feed and livestock production program discussed last week at six regional conference embody the suggestions which farmers and farm leaders in the corn and hog producing areas believe should be submitted for the consideration of producers in the referendum which will be conducted soon.

The referendum will be held in Hancock County within the next 3 weeks, says County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

These suggestions include provision for corn acreage and hog control in 1935, utilization of contracted acres for the production of hay and pasure, and a farm storage plan to encourage producers to put into stoarge any corn produced in 1935 over actual requirements and to help accomodate individuals in a financial way who wish to offer their corn as collateral for government loans.

Although the immediate problem of grain and livestock producers is to decide on a program for 1935, farm leaders have urged that it is also desirable to begin laying the foundation for a unified grain program in 1936, shifting emphasis from individual commodity programs for raising prices to a comprehensive program for agriculture as a whole which would develop better systems of farming through less intensive use of laud, conserve soil resources and lead to use of land for production of crops for which it is best suited.

Such a plan would not be rigid an dfixed, but would be flexible enough to meet changes n conditions as they arise and would allow freedom of action on the part of the individual farmer consistent with proper balance between production and demand.

WILL GO TO CCC CAMP AT COUNCIL BLUFFS FOR WINTER

Verle Keraus and Roy Smock, Klemme young men at the C.C.C. camp at Pilot Knob have signed up for six months work at Council Bluffs and will spend the time improving a lake near Omaha, Nebr. The camp which will be located at Council Bluffs, is equipped for winter work and a number of young men who have been at Pilot Knob have signed up for the winter period. They will work six hours a day and will have an opportunity to attend a camp school and take special studies. The outfit at Pilot Knob will leave next week for winter quarters at Council Bluffs.

SOYBEAN MARKET LOOKS VERY GOOD FOR COMING YEAR

Preliminary indications are that Iowa farmers may find a satisfactory market or soybeans, next year says L. G. Allbugh, Iowa State Extension Service economist.

It was estimated in the Sept. 1 crop report that about 12 million bushels of soybeans woul be harvested in the 6 leading soybean states this year as compared with 10 million last year and 12 million in 1932. The increase over last year in Illinois is equal to this total increase of 2 million bushels.

The demand for soybeans is strengthened by the crop's resistance to drouth and chinch bugs and because a new market for seed has opened up in Kansas and Nebraska where soybeans are increasing in popularity. Missouri's production is less than half of a year ago.

Soybean acreage was increased from 192,000 n 1933 to 430.000 this year in Iowa to meet emergency supply demands. Because of the drouth, however, much of this acreage will be neither harvested for seed nor hay. About 100,000 acres of the total will be harvested for beans. Normally about 50,000 acres are harvested.

At an estimated yield of 14 bushels per acre, this will result in a total outturn of about 1,400,000 bushels. This is only slightly more than last year because of the low yields per acre ths year and is a further strengthening factor on prices.

Game Commission Sets Tentative Pheasant Dates

THORPE WELL CO. MACHINERY SET IN MOTION HERE

Preliminary Work To Deepening Town Well Progressing Rapidly

The Thorpe Well Co., of Des Moines, crew of men have most of the preliminary work well along and will start drilling the town well to a deeper depth to insure an adeuate supply of water for Klemme.

Most of the past week was spent in setting up their equipment. Monday they pulled the pumping equipmen out and were ready to start lifting the casing Tuesday, but postponed the operation because of rain.

The well at the present time measures 161 feet deep. The bore is 12 inches at the top and is then reduced to ten inches.

WINTER WHEAT AND RYE ARE RECOMMENDED FOR DROUTH AREAS THIS FALL

Drouth-area farmers growing winter wheat and rye and using it for fall and early spring pasture will save their weakened bluegrass pasture from serious harm and still have an excellent nurse crop for new seedings of clover, timothy and alfalfa.

Even though fall rains start the grass, farmers keeping the new growth grazed close, although necessary because of the feed shortage will be doing about as harmful a thing as can be done against the long time value of the pastures.

Winter wheat and rye are suggested because there is little likelihood of the chinch bugs damaging them. The bugs begin to enter winter hibernation early in September and from then on the numbers feeding on grasses, winter grain and corn rapidly decrease.

In case of severe chinch bug infestation next year winter wheat and rye should be pastured untill overwintered eggs have completed their egg laying. Then these crops may be turned under and the ground planted to soybeans. If the chinch bugs do not develop in damaging numbers the wheat and rye may be left and harvested as grain.

Tremendous acreage for hay and pasture will need to be seeded next spring. And winter wheat and rye are better nurse crops than the other small grains.

Though pressure for summer cash crops and early feed crops may force many farmers to grow small grain next summer, the acreage of oats and spring barley should be kept at a minimum, for they suffer more than other small grains from chinch bugs. Whenever possible farmers should sow soybeans in place of barley and to some extent the oat acreages.

A small acreage of sudan grass may well serve as an emergency pasture during July and August when bluegrass pastures are short and need protection. Pasturage of winter wheat and rye intended for grain must be light in the spring and stock removed by late April.

PHEASANTS WILL BE TARGETS FOR HUNTERS NOV. 24, 27 & 28

Iowa Open Season Planned By State Fish and Game Commissioners

Iowa hunters today are looking forward to a pheasant hunting season of three days this fall in 29 counties following announcement of tentative regulations by the Iowa fish and game commission.

Shooting will be permitted from noon until 5 p. m. on Nov. 24, 27 and 28 with bag limits set at three male pheasants a day and a possession limit of six birds after the first day, the commission declared.

Pheasant may be killed in Lyon, Sioux, Osceola, O'Brien, Cherokee, Dickinson, Clay, Buena Vista, Emmet, Palo Alto, Pocahontas, Kossuth, Humboldt, Winnebago, Hancock, Wright, Worth, Cerro Gordo, Franklin, Mitchell, Floyd, Butler, Grundy, Howard, Bremer, Black Hawk, Fayette, Chickasaw and Buchanan counties.

Reduction in the shooting season this year is the result of shortage in the pheasant crop, the commissioners said.

The season for taking fur-bearing animals will be from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15, the commission announced. All fur bearing animals except beaver and otter may be lawfully taken during the open season. The entire state is open except for muskrat which may be legally taken in only 40 counties named by the commission.

Farewell Party Held For Two Neighbors

Friday at the home of Mrs. Geo. Lawhorn, all the neighbors held a farewell party in honor of Mrs. Allie White and Mrs. Carl Wolfe. Mrs. White has moved to Goodell and Mrs. Wolfe leaves Monday for a short visit with relatives of her husband, before going to California for the winter.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and recalling many happy memories. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Then they presented each guest of honor with a scarf and purse. The best wishes of the neighbors and the entire community goes with these families to their new homes.

The Auxiliary ladies will give away the Dutch Windmill Quilt and several other gifts they have made on Saturday evening at Wellemeyer's vacant lot, if the weather permits.

COURTESY FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood, Mrs. Dave Schwichtenberg, Berdice Schwichtenberg and Lydia Bock accompanied Mrs. Wolfe to Knoxville last spring and attended the auxiliary convention. So Thursday noon these ladies planned a courtesy farewell for Mrs. Wolfe and drove over to her house with well-filled baskets and took her to East Park at Mason City where they had a fine picnic lunch. In the afternoon they attended the theatre and saw "Girl of the Limberlost". They presented a gift to Mrs. Wolfe as a kind remembrance of associations together.

Prosperity appears to have struck Eryjindzan, Turkey, where the prices demanded for especially attractive brides have been suddenly advanced from around $150 to as high as $500. Whether this boost is the result of government price-fixing or merely the working of the law of supply and demand was not stated in the dispatch containing the news.

PUBLISHERS AND TVA

Newspaper publishers in the South are casting a critical eye toward the Tennessee Valley Authority and its extensive free publicity program, whereby this government agency in its "news" releases seeks to obtain advertisng for its approved electrical appliances without cost.

In a bulletin to mombers of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, Secretary Cranston Williams asks: "Why should any government agency competing with private enterprises not pay for advertising and publicity just like a private concern?"

He also sites the fact that the Authority recently distributed 300,000 copies of an elaborate 12-page advertising pamphlet by mail, postage free under government frank, for which a private concern would have had to pay $13,500 for postage alone at the third class rate. These government pamphlets were mailed free as first-class matter.

How can private business men and newspapers compete with this advertising, the expense of which is borne by the tarpayers of the entire nation?

Newspapers of the country have been most generous in giving free space to various government establishments at all times. They can hardly be blamed for protesting when the government invades the field of private business and adopts unfair methods in competing with newspaper advertising

My Idea Of A Modern Utopia

Everyone has a different idea about their ideal place to live. My favorite place to live would be on a small farm with well improved buidings and good neighbors. Near a city. I would like to go on a vacation every year, and also see such sports as baseball and basketball.—Paul Lau.

For my own Utopia I would like to live by the ocean or some large body of water where I could swim and fish or go sailing in a boat. I would have a big orchard of fruit of every kind and I would live in a climate that was cool in summer and warm in winter so that I could sleep outside all the year around. I would also like to have a rife to hunt with. This is my idea of a Utopia.—Earl Reitz.

Many people have their ideas of a Utopia. I also have mine. A large ranch is out on a lonely place where the nearest houses are four or five miles away A large swimming pool is in the bak yard with lots of flowers and there is also a very large orchard. I would want about four or five servants to help me, for I would have a very large house. I would also work. I would have a small car to get the groceries with and take trips.—Dorothy M Greiman

My idea of a perfect home was answered in a place I saw some time ago. It was in a small town. It stood some distance from the road and on the green lawn in front were many majestic forest trees Leading to the house was a wide gravelled walk and peeping out from the wilderness of roses and vines were the white walks of my ideal home Past the gate of the foot of the garden was a little brooklet, whose clear waters leaped and laughed in glad sunshine, and then went dancing away to the woodland below. Here is the picturesque spot where I found my idea of home.—Velda Schaefer.

MUSICAL NOTES

The first orchestra practice which was held Thursday, Sept. 20, was well attended. Some of the new instruments we can boast of this year are three clarinets, 2 violins and 2 trombones All members of the group are anxiously awaiting the arrival of new music, which, it is hoped, will be here in time for the next practice.

Many of the Glee Club pieces belonging to Klemme High School seem to have disappeared In case any of you find some at home, pease return them for they are greatly needed.

Miss Ahrends has posted a list of those in the Glee Clubs this year:

HIGH SCHOOL BALL TEAM LOST GAME WITH MESERVEY 11-1

The Klemme high school baseball team returned home from Meservey Friday afternoon with the short end of a 11-1 score The local lads were held to 3 hits, including a triple by Kaduce. Brinkman pitched 5 innings and was then relieved by Kaduce, who held the Meservey boys down a bit better.

EDITORIAL

Just as cooperation between players is essential in a game so is cooperation between the students, teachers and parents an important factor in education.

If a student carries a chip on his shoulder because some teacher gave him a D instead of an A he didn't deserve he will no doubt neglect his lessons in that subject and keep on getting D's.

Whereas, if the student would cooperate with the teacher, and with the teacher's help and advice study hard and industriously, he would no doubt soon receive the well earned A he had wished for. Most teachers are willing to do their part and it is up to the student to do his. With added encouragement from his parents it ought not to be hard to do.

Another way in which school cooperation may be applied this year is in connection with our high school paper. The willingness of students to contribute their ideas to the staff shows that they possess the spirit of cooperation, a spirit that would help us all to obtain the better things we wish to have; things that could not be obtained nearly as well individually.

DO THESE STUMP YOU?

Why LaVern Hammitt has only one dimple instead of two.

Why Mr. Hunter likes to tell fish stories.

Why Raymond Keeper is so very very bashful.

Why Jeanne can't get to school on time.

Why Miss Galbreth is so patient with the seniors.

Why the flies insist on getting a high school education.

—And why we write such nonsense.

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

Last week was observed as Constitution week all over the United States. The Hancock County Bar Association had their members go to different schools and give talks on the Constitution. Mr. Meyer, of Britt, was our guest speaker. He spoke of the Constitution as our basic law and explained the different parts and amendments. He emphasized that many useless laws are made each year, but that they should be observed as laws until done away with according to paper procedure. He also said that obedience of laws depended on early training and that people who made an honest effort to obey school laws would find it easier to be law abiding citizens later.

The seniors are very proud of their class rings. The rings have a yellow gold band and the yellow gold and black crest is mounted on chromium.

The freshmen have been reading Treasure Island in English class They are trying to get through with it by next week. They are going to dramatize a few scenes of it in class some day and plan to attend the show when it is at Garner.

The freshmen had a test in algebra Wednesday. It had been postponed twice. The grades were fairly good.

The freshman boys will finish scale drawings some time this week in manual training.

The freshman girls are getting along fine in Domestic Science. They canned some things last week.

Miss Galbreth read to the sophomore English class "A Very Private Utopia" by Stuart Chase, which appeared in the September Reader's Digest. For our assignment the next day we each wrote a theme describing our ideas of a Utopia. Some of our opinions are found this week in the Inquiring Reporter's column.

The sophomores are making geometry note books in connection with their regular work books. Their first assignment was in constructing figures. The book we are using this year is a work book and text combined.

The junior literature class have just completed studying, "The Tempest" by Shakespeare.

Mary Lange was absent from school duties Monday.

Dolorys Cook returned to school Monday after being ill for the past week.

Grades 1 and 2

Patricia, Duard, Betty, Rbert and Edward had all their little spelling words correct on Friday.

Mr. Patet has painted all our little chairs green. We like them much better. Friday we wrote a letter thanking Mr. Patet.

First grade are working each day in their number books

The second grade color their speling graphs on Wednesday and Friday of each week to show the number of words that they have right.

We have the three bears, their house and the forest in the sand table. Miss Wilson lent us a tiny table and three little bowls to use.

We have a new teddy bear in our room.

Grades 5 and 6

Margaret Ralston, Ellen Kilgore and Magnus Schuldt were absent from grade five one day last week.

Grades five and six have some new reference material "Weedon's Modern Encyclopedia" is the name and is a set of eight volumes. In our language classes we are learning how to use them.

For geography we have three globes. All of these are small enough so they might be taken to the desk for individual study.

Poet—Do you think there is any chance of my getting my poem published in your paper?

Editor—There may be. I shan't live forever.

A train hit a sedan the other day and six people were killed; none of them were on the train This ought to give the travelling public an idea.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOTES AND SCHEDULE
J. L. Ralston, Pastor

There will be no services of any kind in our charge next Sunday, Sept. 30. On Sunday, Oct. 7th, all services will be resumed for another conference year. The Sunday hool will hold Rally Day and promotion on that day, and the Epworth League will hold a candlelight service. Let everyone be present.

The year is closing with many things that ought to encourage the members and friends of our church. We have in the Sunday School 372 with an average attendance of 188 with 40 officers and teachers. The teachers have done praise worthy work and their regular attendanc has been far above the average S. S.

The Epworth League has a membership of 25 with an average attendance of 20. They have made real progress in those fine qualities of Christian living.

The Standard Bearers have 28 in their organization with fine work under their leaders, Mrs. Herman Paul and Mrs. Ben Reimer. The W. F. M. S. has 50 members and the Kings Heralds and Lightbearers have 90 members. The total money raised by these societies is $306.76

The Daily Vacation Bible School had enrolled 90 and there were 34 in the classes of instruction for membership.

The membership of the church in the charge has reached a total of 401 including 26 inactive members. The number received in the last 2 years was 65, thirty-two of whom were received this year.

Your pastor and family have enjoyed the year very much and as we close another year, we thought fitting that the entire church should know of the progress mde in many departments of the work.

We are grateful for the splendid cooperation and the hard work done by the church in the various fields of Christian work and for the many kindnes shown us by the entire community for you have helped us more than you will ever realize.

Sincerely,
Your Pastor and Family

The condition of Jack Etchen, who broke his leg below the knee in an auto mishap a week ago Sunday night, is reported as better. He is able to sit up and will no doubt be able to get around with the aid of crutches in a short time.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, head of what he calls the Christian Catholic church at Zion, Ill., predicted that the word would come to an end on September 10. It didn't so Wilbur did some more figuring and admitted he may have made an error of eight years. He now says the works will blow up n 1942.

An investigation by the Washington Taxpayers' Protective Association has disclosed that in the national capitol many supposedly destitute persons drive expensive cars to the relief stations for handouts of food. It migh be amazing if the public really knew how relief agencies are being imposed upon by such impostors.

AAA Corn Loans Extended To Farmers

TURES OF THE NEW N LOAN PROGRAM

gricultural Adjustment Ad- ion has arranged with the y Credit Corporation to w loans to producers of ur State. This new loan supersedes and nullifies ly announced extension of corn loas to January 1, old loans will be extended October 15, 1934, but bon desiring to carry their old a further period may take old loan and repledge the under the new program. es in connection with the ing loan must, of course, in full, but the new loan fifty-five cents per bushel than adequate to take care charges, including costs of tion and all other items in- to qualifying for the new All collateral pledged under loan which is to be carried new program must be re- ed and resealed, as evidenced farm warehouse certificate. s outstanding not so hand t be repaid on or before 15, 1934.

are the new features of the s program. Requirements for ity of producer and collateral ions of borrower, and stand- measurement (2½ cubic feet hel) remain the same. The ogram differs from the old following respects:

ew loan value is fifty-five 2. Maturity date is June 30, 3. Call price is eighty-five 4. Primary insurance cover- e, lightning and windstorm ired of borrower. 5. Old corn in temporary or unsuitable will not be accepted as colla-

Under the new n each borrower must fur- policy, in approved form, in his corn up to the amount ed. This policy must accom- nd be firmly attached to this hen it is presented for pay- either a local bank or lend- ency, or direct to Commodity Corporation to the large scope of the rogram, and with the cooper- of the underwriters, a special has been arranged at a spec- e, which is greatly to the ad- e of the borrower, both with to costs and the fullness of ion afforded. This special will be issued through the agents of the various com- in the customary manner, ll be in the form of a certifi- e rider, bearing a distinctive ation, and in proper size to e attachment to the loan. It will cover the collateral value or market value, ever is the higher, up to the t at which written, against ks of fire, lightning, wind- tornado and hail. Hence the er may cover not only the alue but his equity as well, ill be afforded full protection the risks enumerated. The will be non-cancellable and over the collateral for one The rate which has been pro- ed for this insurance and at it may be obtained by the er from his local insurance is seventy-five cents per hun- dollars. This rate represents a in cost of fully fifty percent pared with rates previously t and will be available only rowers under the new loan nd only on such quantities of may be stored and sealed by n cribs under approved farm- ing laws.

change in regulation set out in 5 is made necessary due to the extreme dryness of old corn collateral and the likelihood of spoilage and deterioration during the coming winter unless proper storage is provided. Borrowers who desire to do so may, under the supervision of the sealer, recrib such old corn as may now be stored in temporary or unacceptable cribs, provided that such corn is merchantable and in good condition in the judgment of the sealer. It should be pointed out however, that borrowers under the old loan may redeem a part of their collateral now pledged and reseal only the number of bushels upon which they desire to borrow.

New corn, harvested from the 1934 crop may be sealed in temporary cribs of proper construction after December 1st. All borrowers should be advised that if they contemplate using any part of their sealed corn prior to the exipration date of the note, the release of same would be greatly expedited by the use of more than one warehouse certificate. This may be done either by sealing the corn in separate cribs or by the use of permanent partitions dividing the crib into separate compartments. It is possible to pledge two or more warehouse certificates under one note.

For resealing notify the sealer in your community. The sealers and their territories are as follows: F. M. Knudsen, Kanawha, Amsterdam, Twin Lake, Avery, Ell, and Liberty townships; E. E. Bonar, Forest City Concord, Garfield, Madison and Ellington townships; Ray Higdon, Britt, Orthel, Britt, Bingham and Crystal townships; Ed Hauptman, Corwith, Magor, Boone and Erin townships.

Mrs. Herman Gelner, chairman of girls club work in the county will be in charge of the program, at which George Knaupp and Norma Wille, boys and girls presidents respectively, will preside. Stunts will be put on by each township and medals will be presented to the outstanding boys in 4-H club work. Marjorie Chollett, new home demonstration agent will be presented.

D. G. CHRISTIANCE OPERATES FORMER WOLFE BARBER SHOP

Mr. D. G Christiance, who some time ago purchased the building occupied by Carl Wolfe as a barber shop, and who purchased the fixtures and business of Mr. Wolfe, Monday took possession of the shop.

Mr. and Mrs Christiance and their five year old daughter moved to Klemme Monday and are getting settled in the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe.

Mr. Christiance is an experienced barber, having followed the trade for several years and at one time operating a shop at Kanawha. During the past summer he has worked in a shop at Clear Lake.

The new proprietor is contemplating making some changes and improvements in his shop and will install some new fixtures and equipment in the near future.

MONDAY WAS "PAY DAY" FOR HANCOCK COUNTY FARMERS

Monday was "pay day" for Hancock County farmers when $225,000 in corn-hog checks were being distributed to some 1100 farmers Farmers had a big smile on their faces as they filed into banks to cash the checks. They have been waiting a long time for their checks and they came at a time when they were plenty useful in paying taxes and other obligations.

SPORTS MEN OF COUNTY WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT

There will be a meeting of sportsmen of Hancock County at the Court House at Garner on Monday evening, October 8 at 8:00 o'clock. All you fellows who like to fish and hunt should attend this meeting. Arrangements are being made to have Mr. Fred Swob, of Des Moines give a talk that will be of great interest to all sportsmen. You are urged to attend. If you want better hunting and fishing in Hancock county—then be present.

SPORTSMEN STUDY "TRIGGER-NOMETRY" TO SAVE LIVES

Sportsmen are brushing up on their "triggernometry" and calculus as game hunting seasons open, to save lives, a bulletin of the American Game Association points out.

For instance, what is the quickest way to get to Heaven in Hunting? Don't work this one out. The Association gets the answer through years of observation. It is: Drag a loaded gun in the bottom of a boat a fence! Several hunters prove this every year. Getting to Heaven is almost instantaneous in every case.

Another quick way, but not as sure is to lean a loaded gun against a tree where dogs are playing about The dogs may not knock it down, but the chances are they will. If the charge misses the hunter it may kill a good dog.

A sure but slow way is to lay a loaded gun on the bottom of a boat and then pick it up in excitement Drowning takes longer, but it's as effective as a charge of shot in the heart or head. Besides, it's as hard on the bottom of the boat.

Anther old favorite is the hunter who jumps ditches with his gun swinging from his hand or walks in deep snow with the barrel pointed downward. When he shoots, a gangster's pineapple couldn't do the job any better. He gets thousands of pounds of pressure burst into his face instantly; it's usually fatal. Gun barrels must be free of mud snow and water, else the gun will explode when it is shot. And a good gun costs money.

Then there are a few other things the hunter can do that are hardly calculated to promote peace goodwill and the pursuit of happiness.

When game is lined up, pull the trigger, no matter what's beyond. The farmer's cow or pig doesn't mean much. He can get some more after the depression is over. Nevertheless, don't try it. Better see that nothing is in the line of fire if one doesn't want unhappy pursuit.

And how about shooting another hunter for a deer, or turkey, on even a squirrel? It's being done every year by the looney who shoots at movement or a patch of color in the undergrowth; see clearly before shooting and spare the other fellow.

AUXILIARY DRAWING HELD SATURDAY EVENING

Owing to the inclemency of the Saturday evening, the Auxiliary drawing was held in the lobby of the Wellemeyer Store. At nine o'clock, Etta Mae Webner drew the numbers, which were read by the outgoing president, Mrs. Carl Wolfe and the gifts were presented by the new president, Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood.

The following received gifts: The quilt, Bruce Arnold; lunch cloth, Geraldine Smid; bushel of potatoes Marie Blank; dust pan, Chas. Fritzell; half sack flour, Florence Wilson; cookie jar, Helen Overton of Waterloo; framed picture, Grandma Schlawin;—angel food cake pan and beater, Emily Paul.

CLOSE METHODIST CONFERENCE AT ALGONA SUNDAY

Fort Dodge Minister Comes Here; Ralston Goes To Northwest Iowa

The sixty-third annual Northwest Iowa Methodist Conference came to a close at Algona with a record crowd present Sunday evening. A large number of changes were made and several new ministers will serve congregations in this part of the state.

Rev. J. L. Ralston, who has served the Klemme-Liberty charge for the past two years has been transferred to the Harris Ocheydan charge in Osceola county. The Ralston family will reside at Harris where there is a large consolidated school. Rev. Ralston will also serve the congregation at Ocheydan, which is six or seven miles from Harris.

Rev. William Zablika, who has been serving the Riverside Methodist church at Fort Dodge, comes to Klemme with his wife and two children.

Other changes and re-appointments of interest to Klemme people are: Belmond, J. D. Wolcott; Britt, C. N. McMillan; Clarion, J. C. Buthman; Clear Lake, B. W. Riner; Forest City, T. Ward; Garner, T. E. M. Howdeshell at Merrill, and G. W. Eggleston, formerly at Britt is now at Pierson.

Rev. A. W. Glauger, formerly Klemme and Garner pastor for a number of years, but at Holstein during recent years, goes to Buffalo Center.

W. G. Muhleman is the superintendent of the Algona District. Former District Supt. W. H. Leas is pastor at Spirit Lake.

HUNTERS URGED TO LEARN GAME LAWS

With the migratory waterfowl seasons opening in Iowa on October 10 every hunter should inform himself on both the State and Federal hunting laws and regulations. Numerous important changes have been made in both. No sportsman will knowingly violate the laws but ignorance of the law excuses no one and stiff penalties have been fixed for violators, particularly in view of the depletion of many species of game.

There are several general principles of law contained in both the State and Federal list that should be kept foremost in the minds of hunters. Besides observing them it, it good sportsmanship. It is unlawful to:

Hunt without a license; hunt from power boat, scull boat, sneak boat, sailboat, automobile or aeroplane; Hunt with any gun larger than a 10 guage; Sell game dead or alive; Hunt waterfowl without Federal waterfowl hunting stamp.

A Fairy Tale

AND A WORD ABOUT CREDIT!

Do you remember the story of Sinbad, the Sailor? How he took a poor, decrepit old man upon his shoulders, intending only to carry him across a stream, and then discovered that he couldn't get rid of him? He had not noticed that it was the "old man of the sea" who had climbed upon his back. It must have been a dreadful experience to have that misshapen thing clinging to his shoulders days and night, rising with him in the morning, lying down with him at night, and ever and always bearing him down, and down, and down with his weight.

Of course, we know this is only a sort of fairy tale, but it does remind us of the workings of the Credit Department in a retail store.

Like Sinbad, the Sailor, our merchant carries us across the stream whenever he extends us credit, and we get off from his back whenever we pay promptly.

And, this works fine when times are normal and good, and when the consumer pays up according to the terms of the sale. But when times get bad, and those of us who are on the Merchants back can't get off, it makes a tremendous load to carry. In fact, never in the world was there a more tenacious, strangling monster than the load of unpaid, uncollectable bills under which our Merchants and Professional Men bend and struggle today.

And now that prices of farm products have advanced, and now that the Hog and Corn-land checks have arrived, let us pay up our bills around town and thus get off from the merchnts back, where many of us have been clinging for the three years fo this depression.

Prosperity will return when we "do our part" and make Retail Credit good!

And if he comes back without it,
He's down in the dumps with the blues.

Another is scratching the top of her head,
And mournfully cries, "Woe is me!

However, the football we play is not real footbal but kick-over-goal

Friday in economics we had something unusual. It was a debate on the proposition "Resolved, that the sales tax is a benefit to the state of Iowa and should be continued." Those in the debate were Gladys Meinders, George Stokesbary, Jeanne Thada, on the affirmative side, and Ruth Wellemeyer, LaVonne Sherwood and Franklyn Buseman on the negative side Bessie Larson acted as chairman and introduced the speakers. The rest of the class acted as judge and gave the decision to the negative side Everyone in the class received some valuable information.

The freshman English class dramatized scenes from "Treasure Island" and "Tom Sawyer" Friday afternoon.

Cheerfulness

During all the days of our life we should constanty strive to be cheerful. We all know that there are some darker spots along the highway of life, but we should try to make these things as cheerful as possible under the circumtances.

Some people even make a hobby out of worrying about things before they actually happen and many times they are not as bad as they think it is going to be.

Gloominess and cheerfulness are both contagious, but it would be much better to be responsible for spreading cheerfulness than gloominess.

Many times when work is ahead of us and the assignments seem long, it seems a though there isn't any reason to be cheerful, but if we start work with a smile we can accomplish much more.

Even if things go wrong it is senseless to knock one's head against a stone wall; to be cheerful believe in the best of possibilities and determine to swim up-stream.

INQUIRING REPORTER

What Is Your Pet Peeve?

My pet peeve is not one thing but two things I detest cold weather and buttermilk soup. What kind of weaher is worse than cold weather? In warm weather you can stop working aud sit down under a shade tree to keep cool, but in cold weather that would not be very satisfactory It seems that there is ten times as much work in cold weather, and it is ten times as hard. Cold weather also makes it hard for a fellow to get up. And in the line of food, what is more detestable than buttermilk soup? I have often heard people brag about how good it is, but I simply cant' stand it; the funny smell, flat taste and no color to give you the least bit of appetite.—Gladys Meinders.

On of my pet peeves is to have people bite their fingernails. If anyone cares for a quick case of "jitters"—just be near someone who bites his fingernails. Another pet peeve of mine is to be served creamed carrots—especially when I am made to eat them.—Dolorys Cook

My pet peeve is thumb tacks These things are very displeasing, especially when you sit on one of them. Their place is supposed to be holding paper and other material on bulletin boards. They don't belong on the school seats for other people to sit on. People who do this will sooner or later cause trouble for some one else and maybe themselves The person that puts thumb tacks on other people's seats does not think or know of the dangerous thing he is doing.—Leo Brinkman.

My pet peeve is flies; they are always pestering one when he wants to study I can't see why they want to crawl around on persons. They always use one as if he were a piece of public property.—Harold Kothenbeutel.

JUNIOR-SOPHOMORE PARTY

It was the intention of the Juniors and Sophomores to go to the ball game at Goodell last Friday night, and from there to the Goodell woods, where they were to have a weiner roast. Everything went as planned until about four o'clock that evening when the baseball team came home with the news that it had rained in Goodell and there would be no game. After a little discussion it was decided to go to Lester Stille's sand pit to do the roasting.

When they arrived at the sandpit Mr. Hunter, who was standing by the river, saw a carp jump, which he declared was two feet long. After hearing the story some of the boys decided to go fishing and so came to town for tackle. They fished for nearly an hour and succeeded in catching only two bulheads of the younger generation; LuVene Hammitt being the lucky angler.

About seven o'clock they roasted weiners, and dill pickles, and then played games. To wind up the evening they all went to the gym and played volley ball until it was time to go home.

CURRENT LITERATURE

Every high school in the United States should subscribe for some magazines and a daily paper to have on hand during the school year. They are in many ways beneficial to every student in school. Many times teachers ask the pupils to write reports and such material can be obtained from these magazines. In this way they gain knowledge concerning recent happenings in other parts of the world.

In Klemme High the following magazines and papers are found very helpful to the students: Literary Digest, Pathfinder, Readers Digest, Popular Science; the Des Moines Register and the Klemme Times.

POPULARITY OF THE D. M. R.

The Des Moines Register is one of the busiest things in the school house. Mr. Hunter generally reads it first and then some of the other teachers. About that time school begins. The freshmen then read it. The next period, the next class reads it, etc. The last period of school the people who haven't read it can do so.

The Klemme Times also travels the same way. There are two Klemme Times in the High School assembly. Come up and read the High School Squealer some time.—R.A.J.

WANTED!

by the U. S. Government—millions of homeowners to repair and renovate their property.

THIS Spring the Government sponsored a survey in typical communities throughout the country to determine the general condition of one of our greatest national assets—the Homes of America.

The results of this survey indicated that at least 16,000,000 homes were badly in need of repairs and renovation. Although homeowners have realized that it was uneconomical to permit the ravages of depreciation, it is also an unfortunate fact that in a great many cases the financial depression has made it impossible to do many of the things which their best judgment indicated should be done without delay.

But here is good news for all homeowners who wish to improve their property and make their homes more livable. Now without annoying fuss and red tape the average homeowner under the National Housing Act can obtain funds for repainting work and pay for this protection in small monthly payments over an extended period of time, and at a minimum interest rate.

Here are the simple steps to follow:

1 Visit our store and let us figure with you how much material will be needed. At the same time you can select the colors you wish to use for interior or exterior work. You'll be pleased to learn that paint prices are low—30% below the level for 1925 for example.

2 We can then recommend several reliable painters, any of whom would give you a thoroughly good job.

3 Have one of these men prepare a completely detailed written estimate on the painting you want done.

4 Take this estimate to the bank where you plan to make your government insured loan. If you do not have a definite bank or lending agency in mind, we will gladly direct you to an approved institution, or if you prefer, can handle your loan application for you.

5 When the painting is completed, you pay for the labor and material in full with the proceeds of your loan, or you can have the bank make such payments direct if that was your original arrangement.

6 Finally, you repay the loan (at not more than 5% discount) on easy terms over an extended period of months as arranged with the bank.

For every kind of painting work we have the right Devoe finish—in the long run it's always more economical to use the best paint you can buy.

We recommend Devoe Paint because good paint saves our customer's money.

FARMERS UNION MET MONDAY, OCT. 1, AT LIBERTY SCHOOL

The regular meeting of the Liberty Local of the Farmers' Union was held Monday evening, October 1, at the Liberty school house. No. 7. Reports were given by the delegates who attended the state convention at Des Moines, September 19 to 21.

The Local agreed to take part in the party to be given in honor of Uncle Doran's 93rd birthday the first part of November. Uncle Doran is one of the founders of the Farmers' Union organization. He is also, author of the Farmers' Union constitution. Uncle Doran recently returned from Texas where he had been visiting with his daughter.

Mr. E. P. Cook of Kanawha, nominee for county supervisor on the democratic ticket, gave a short talk. Mr. Ben Bernig of Burchinal also gave a short talk. Mr. Bernig is the Farm-Labor candidate for state representative in the 4th district.

Because of the large number of talks given, the only number on the program was a song composed by Mrs. Charlie Ax about the state convention, which was sung by Mrs Ax and Mrs. Howard Spitler. After the meeting lunch was served by the committee.

The next meeting of the Liberty Local will be held at the Ell school house No. 5, Monday evening, Nov-5th. You are invited to attend.

VERLE KERAUS INJURED AT CCC CAMP AT FOREST CITY

Verle Keraus spent the week end in Klemme visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus. Verle's face was decorated with a handsome bandage and plenty of tape across his nose. The reason for the added adornment was that Verle's nose proved no match for a heavy steel bucket which slid off a truck and struck him. His injury constituted besides a very painful "schnozzle," a deep cut which required stitching. However, no bones were broken.

Verle entrained with other members of the camp for Council Bluffs Monday night where they will establish winter quarters and will dredge and deepen Lake Manawa near there. Part of the camp crew left last week for Council Bluffs to establish the camp.

CELEBRATE 34TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Wednesday, Oct. 3rd, was the 34 wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Griggs. The day was passed quietly and by Saturday was almost forgotten. However, Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Griggs and daughter, Mrs. Kernan went to town to spend the evening and upon their return home about 8 o'clock found a house full of friends, neighbors and relatives. The evening was spent in a social way, the two main features being a mock wedding and "Looking Through an Old Album."

A hilarious time was had by all at the unique costumes displayed. Rev Herlein gave a short talk in honor of the bride and groom of 34 years ago, after which he presented them with a purse of silver and several other lovely gifts. Singing and several other features of entertainment were enjoyed by the guests of the evening.

Ice cream, cake, coffee and candy were served to the 50 guests who departed at a late hour, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Griggs many more such happy occasions.

Horace Elsen, of Chicago, was arrested for drunkenness when he climbed an electric pole to light his cigar.

Monkey Sees, Monkey Does at Fair

Whether it was because they wanted to imitate him or not, the monkeys on Frank Buck's Monkey Island at the World's Fair in Chicago had a pie-eating contest of their own after getting a glimpse of Reynold Olsen, who won a recent Children's day pie-eating contest. The monkeys' banana pies were not so decorative as Reynold's blueberry; however. The Monkey Island is one of the hundreds of Fair sights which will fade forever when the exposition closes October 31.

Lenient Terms Offered Farmers Under AAA Forage Program

LENIENCY GIVEN IN FODDER CONTRACTS

Word was received from Washington, D. C, by W. A. Wheeler, a member of the Forage Conservaton Program. at a conference held in Kansas City October 3, to the effect that any fodder contract signer will have the privilege of selling his material at any time, to any buyer, and at whatever price he is able to obtain.

This interpretation will guarantee the signer a special privilege of disposing of his material at a higher price if he can obtain a buyer. Anyone having superior fodder, would in this case, have the privilege of selling it at a higher price, if a buyer is available. He is also given the privilege of shipping it by truck, or in any way advantageous to him.

Anyone having signed a contract and then selling part of his tonnage but who still wants to be under the government's guarantee on the forage he retains. must report the sale of his tonnage to the Kansas City office. The government prices set are the prices the government will pay when it takes over any material left on hand April 1, providing the material meets the specifications.

Anyone selling material that is contracted to the government will have the priviledge of federal inspection of his material sold thru the regular trade channels if he so desires; every non-contract signer selling material will have the privilege of federal inspection, but will be charged a fee.

These new interpretations on conditions of the contract should help out the Forage Conservation Program, for the give the contract signers all the benefits of the doubt —they have everything to gain, and nothing to lose by signing a contract.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY AT FATHER AND SON BANQUET

The second annual Masonic Father and Son banquet held at the Masonic Hall at Garner last Thursday night drew a crowd of about one hundred and fifty men and boys. The banquet was served by the Eastern Star ladies. A program of musical numbers, singing and an address by a minister from Charles City was enjoyed.

SUPT. TURNS PUPIL; MASTERS ART OF BASS FISHING

With Supt D. L Hunter as pupil and Ye Editor as instructor, the mysteries of bass fishing were well delved into with the result that Supt. Hunter passed the final examniation Saturday by bringing home the evidence. Said evidence being a fine specimen of Black Bass from the waters of Clear Lake.

Needless to say we are proud of our "pupil." He handles the rod like an old timer, can now spot a likely bass hole when he sees one, knows just how to flip the bait to entice Mr. Bass.

There are going to be a couple of men from Klemme who will be conspicuous by their absence after school evenings, and our bet is they can be found wading around in the reeds at Clear Lake, going through strange motions and talking in a strange language about pork chunk frogs, stanley ace queens, and weedless hooks.

What a life!

WM. BELL SURPRISE ON 65TH BIRTHDAY

The neighbors and relatives of Mr. Wm. Bell had a surprise on him in honor of his 65th birthday last Tuesday evening. Mr. Bell was presented with a nice gift and after the evening had been spent in a social way, refreshments were served and the guests departed wishing him many more such happy birthdays.

Those present were: John Lass and family; John Bachman and family; Wm. Thiel; W. Bielfeldt and family; Virgil Waddingham, Adolph Schlichting and family; Bob McBurney and family; Bob Rhodes and family; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed; Dwight Helps and son; Mrs E Buss and Edgar; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nelson; Verner Nelson and family; Fred Bachman and family; Mrs. Ben Mullin and Armour; Arlene Grossbeck; Mr. and Mrs. Awalt Jahnke; Fred Bell and family; Mr. and Mrs. Bil Lassahn; Mr. and Mrs. Russel Bell and Kenneth Bell.

THORPE WELL CO. CREW "GOES FISHING" FOR BIG GAME

Friday night at about 8:00 o'clock the crew working at the town well lost a drill which had broken off from the continual pounding. The bit was lost at a depth of about 275 feet and it required a trip to Des Moines to procure "fishing tackle" with which to catch hold of the heavy piece of steel. During the meantime, part of the well caved in and the crew had to get out slush and water to reach the broken bit. They had the broken bit out of the well at 3:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon and were ready to start drilling again.

When the Thorpe Well Co. goes fishing, they fish for big game. But—they are good fishermen, as they had a "strike" the very first "cast" and landed their "fish."

GEORGE LAWHORN INJURED IN FALL FROM HOUSE

George Lawhorn took a bad fall while painting the house at the Alvin Thieman place four miles east of Klemme Friday. Mr. Lawhorn using his machine to paint the upladder on top of the porch and was using this machine to paint the upper part of the building when the ladder slipped and he fell to the porch roof. He became tangled in the hose of the paint machine and before he could hold himself fell from the porch to the ground.

Mr. Lawhorn's face was cut and he was bruised about the body and the bones of one hand were injured.

WILL HAVE RECEPTION FOR NEW MINISTER AND FAMILY

Members And Friends Invited To Be At The Church Thursday Eve

The Methodist congregation of Klemme will have a reception this Thursday evening for Rev. Zabilka and family. All members of the church and friends are cordially invited to be present and meet the new minister and his family. The program will begin at eight o'clock after which lunch will be served. Those who have not otherwise been solicited to bring lunch, may bring sandwiches.

The Liberty congregation will have their reception at their regular monthly birthday supper.

M. E. GOOD FELLOWSHIP CLASS PLANS DINNER SUNDAY

The Good Fellowship class of the Methodist church are planning on having a dinner at the church this coming Sunday. All married people in the community who do not attend services elsewhere, are invited to come and join the class and come to dinner Sunday. Call Mrs. Edwin Josten, chairman of the refreshment committee and she will inform you what to bring for the dinner. A program will be given after the noon meal, and class officers will be elected.

EACH WEDNESDAY NIGHT IS BANK NIGHT AT AVERY

Manager Marks of the Avery Theatre at Garner again wishes to call your attention to "Bank Night" which is every Wednesday night at the Avery. This week some one will be given $80 if they are present at the theatre. Had Verle Keraus been at the theatre two weeks ago when his name was called he would have received a handsome sum. Last week Miss Ruth Rasmussen of Forest City would have received a $60 check if she had been present.

THREE PLACES IN KLEMME ROBBED; LOOT WAS SMALL

The Rock Island Depot, the Northern Lumber Co. and the Farmers Elevator were broken into sometime last Wednesday night or early Thursday morning. The robbers obtained nothing of real value. The Sheriff's office was notified when the robberies were discovered and finger prints and information obtained.

Entrance to the depot was gained by prying open the west window to the office. The money drawer was jimmied open and 56 cents in pennies obtained. Nothing else was disturbed in the office. However the thieves ransacked the freight room and broke open boxes and took two boxes of cookies with them.

At the Lumber yard entrance was gained through a door on the west side and the office was broken into by prying open a window. After hammering the knob off the safe, (which was not locked) the thieves gave up the attempt and carried off a small clock.

Entrance to the Farmers Elevator was also accomplished by prying open a window on the south side of the office. Fifty cents was all the money obtained there but the thieves annexed an alarm clock to add to their possessions.

Total haul therefore was $1.06, two clocks and two boxes of cookies.

MISSION FESTIVAVL AT ZION REFORMED CHURCH, GARNER

The annual misson festival of the Zion Reformed Church of Garner will be held next Sunday, Oct. 14. The Sunday School service will begin at ten o'clock and will include an address by Rev. Arthur Kruetzman of Alleman, Iowa.

Preaching service will follow immediately after the Sunday school. Other preaching services will be held at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon and at eight o'clock in the evening. A collection will be taken at each service, including the Sunday School, for the benefit of our various church institutions.

The speakers of the day will be Rev. Kruetzman, of Alleman, and Rev. C. Grosshuesch of Klemme. Both will have a timely message. The pastors of the various Reformed churches of this vicinity will also take part. The young people's choir will render several selections at each service.

LIBERTY CONGREGATION HELD FAREWELL FOR RALSTON'S

The Liberty congregation gave a farewell party last Thursday evening in honor of Rev. J. L. Ralston and family who are leaving this community for their new charge at Harris and Ocheydan, Iowa. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed a social time. Rev. Ralston and family have resided in this community two years and during that time had made a host of friends. The Ralston family left the middle of the week for their new home.

GENERAL JOHNSON QUITS

To those who have observed the trend of NRA affairs, the recent resignation of General Hugh S. Johnson as administrator was not surprising. For many months dissension among officials of the organization, and between it and other government departments, has been increasing, and for some time it has been evident that the breaknig point would soon be reached.

There is no denying that General Johnson has worked hard to make the NRA a success. although his arrogance and arbitrary methods have at times antagonized many whose full cooperation was essential to the achievement of its objectives.

In the minds of many, Johnson's withdrawal means that the NRA, as the country has known it since its inception, is in a state of collapse. For Johnson was the NRA.

The present situation is probably correctly described by the eminent journalist, Frank R. Kent, writing in the Baltimore Sun, one of the country's leading Democratic newspapers, who says:

"The truth about NRA is that it is too sick to be cured. But the New Deal high command would rather die than admit this. Ballyhooed to unmanageable proportions. it began to collapse six months ago, and is today in a very bad mess. Failed of its objectives, with its personnel shot to pieces; its more important men anxious to get from under, its policies lost in the shuffle, its prestige gone, and its organization in a state of confusion, it appears a wreck.

AAA NEW DEALERS GET SALARY CHECKS OF $10,500,000

Records Show That "Brain Trust" Payrollers Got "Benefit" Payments

(Clipping of the Holiday News)

Washington, D. C.—Farmers are not the only persons to receive so-called "benefit" payments during the first year of operation of the AAA.

Records show that during the 1st year of the AAA "new deal", the payrollers took out "benefit" payments for themselves, by way of salary checks, amounting to $16,565,575.22.

Total administrative expenses through July 31, 1934, were listed as $19,870,823.06, the payrollers therefore constituting the bulk of the drain on the AAA pocketbook.

Since the AAA's campaign of dictatorial contracts was not launched in earnest until about Jan. 1, 1934 it will be seen that the bulk of salaries and expenses has been paid out within the short period of about eight months.

This record of expenditure, it should be pointed out, does not include the staggering expenditures of the United States Department of Agriculture, including the salary of such figures as Secretary Hi-Bred Wallace, or under-secretary Rex-Guy (Valentino) Tugwell.

Neither do these expenditures take into consideration the money spent by the state departments of agriculture in helping the AAA campaign In Iowa, for instance, a special appropriation was made to the department of agriculture for the special work incurred by the destructionists.

One of the startling revelations of the administrative expense record is that in such states as New York and New Jersey the costs of administration far exceeded the benefit payments to farmers.

In New York state, for example, total benefit payments to 31 farmers up to about the middle of September totaled $62,976 while the administrative expense of getting this money to those 31 farmers amounted to $269,341 or almost $270,000.

No public explanation of this amazing disparity between the totals of so-called benefit payments and the totals for payrollers and other expenses have been made. New York State is the home of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Following is the expense sheet of the AAA through July 31:

Salaries	$16,565,575.22
Other Expenses
Supplies	274,518.80
Communications	1g8,914.24
Travel	1,382,723.46
Transportation	30,245.80
Printing & binding	631,671.16
Rents	218,616.41
Equipment	519,719 58
Miscellaneous	88,838.39
Total 'other expense'	$3,305,247.84
TOTAL	$19,870,823.06

Biggest Events of Whole Chicago Exposition Are Ahead.

Chicago.—"The exposition closes definitely and forever October 31. It will not open next year."

With that statement, made in response to a question put by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of A Century of Progress, spiked the rumors flying about the country that the World's Fair was to be a permanent institution.

After October 31 the magic fairyland that has thrilled tens of millions of sightseers from every corner of the globe for two years will fade into memory as miraculously as it sprang up. Moving in to replace the gay throngs whose laughter and carnival spirit resounded over Chicago's lake front will be crews of wreckers, going methodically about their solemn business of demolishing the world's greatest show.

Plan New Spectacles.

Meanwhile the rush is on. From the south, east, west and north, the millions are coming for their last look at the Fair. They have finally awakened to the realization that never again will they see anything like it. This, coupled with the advent of the cool, sunshiny fall weather for which Chicago is noted, is expected to make the final weeks of the exposition record-breaking in attendance.

Despite the announcement of the closing Oct. 31, none of the attractions of the Fair—the fascinating scientific and industrial exhibits, the gigantic free shows, the fine music, the happy Midway with its breathtaking rides and unique shows, the unmatched transportation exhibits—will be altered before the end. Rather, the Fair has plans under way for spectacular special events of a magnitude to dwarf anything Fair-goers have yet seen.

Famed Scenes Become Memories.

But on Nov. 1 the axes will begin to fall. Gone will be the quaint foreign villages, with their charmingly authentic reproductions of life and scenes in fifteen lands scattered all over the earth. The spires of picturesque Old Belgium, the towers of sunny Italy, the winter loveliness of the Black Forest, the white arches and bright minarets of Tunis, the rich romantic lore of Merrie England—all these will leave Chicago's lake front, to be seen again only after thousands of miles of travel across the seas.

Gone will be the happy crowds whose merriment filled the cafes, the rides, the shows and even rippled with the spirit of the Fair under the turquoise banners of the majestic Avenue of Flags. Gone will be the jeweled setting of the lagoons, with the thousands of lights uniting earth and sky in a giant kaleidoscope of mobile color.

Travel Costs Reduced.

Listed among the best-loved features of the Fair, which will fade into the past with the Fair, are Wings of a Century, great transportation pageant with a cast of 200 actors and the largest collection of ancient vehicles ever assembled, which has already played to an audience of more than 2,000,000; the House of Magic, where a great scientific laboratory is turned inside out to make the mysteries of test tubes do stunts for the entertainment of Fair-goers; the world's largest fountain, which pumps enough water to supply a city of 1,000,000 people; and the spectacular water carnival and circus of the free lagoon theater.

Fair's Doll Baby

A finger ring fits easily over the arm of Baby Olten, who weighs only 725 grams and is the smallest baby in the Infant Incubators at the World's Fair in Chicago, as Nurse Evelyn Mann demonstrates here. Cool fall weather and the announcement that the exposition closes forever October 31 are drawing daily throngs.

U. S. Owns Virgin Islands

The Virgin islands are owned by the United States, which purchased them from Denmark in 1917 for the sum of $25,000,000. They had been known as the Danish West Indies until that time and consisted of the islands of St. Croix, St. John and St. Thomas. St. Thomas has the best harbor to be found in the Caribbean sea.

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

The last period on Thursday afternoon of every week, the high school girls have physical training. This was under the direction of Miss Arends, but due to boys glee club Mr. Hunter or Mr. Kingery will take charge. This training consists of outdoor exercises if weather permits. If not, we do physical exercises in the gymnasium. Our outdoor exercise is kitten ball which is very interesting and great fun especially when some of those inexperienced batters are at the plate.

The Home Economics girls have finished their study of breakfasts and next week will put their study into practice. The class will be divided n half and each dvision will serve the other a breakfast.

The freshmen and sophomores who could go attended the show at Garner Friday night to see "Treasure Island." Some had seen it and did not go. Cars were furnished by some of the students and Mr Waterman and Mr. Jorgenson. Most of the people who went liked it quite well. The show followed the book very well although it left out some things that we thought migh have been put in. Anyone that has read the book would enjoy the show.

MUSICAL NOTES

The Boys Glee Club is working intensively on music to be presented at the Carnival.

The Girls Glee Club is eagerly looking forward to their first appearance. The girl's costumes were ordered last Monday.

The books, Carl Fisher's collection of Light Overtures, which Miss Ford ordered for the orchestra, arrived last week. The orchestra and their director are very much pleased with them and are taken a great deal of interest in working up some new music for the carnival and other programs in which they will take part.

The personnel of the school band this year is as follows:

Cornets: Earl Rietz, Arlene Kraus, Harold Abele. Jacqueline Kudje, Dorance Grange, Melvin Coobs, Edith Bachman, Lowell Ralston, Chester Ward, Ronald Gibbs, Raymond Wille, Lorraine Buntenbach, Allen Barz.

Clarinets: Milvern Barz, Carmen Kluckhohn, Rueben Grosshuesch, Avis Barz.

Trombone: Elaine Buntenbach, Emily Paul.

Baritones: Ruth Wellemeyer, Leo Brinkman, Evert Barz.

Saxaphones: Franklin Kluckhohn Alvin Bachman.

Alto: Nora Wellemeyer.

Bass: Harold Kothenbeutel.

Drums. Harriet Gibbs, Marion Waterman, Elsie Ward.

Others who are taking lessons and are looking forward to band work are: Lyndon Kilgore, baritone; Irene Spitler, trombone; Elwyn Jacobs, Verner Lau. Betty Etchen, cornett; Wilma Swalve, alto.

Our band work is under the leadership of Miss Mildred Johnson.

SHAMROCKS LOSE TO GOODELL

The Klemme High baseball team journeyed to Goodell Thursday and came home with the short end of a 15-0 score.

The batteries for Klemme were Kaduce and Brinkman for the first five innings, during which time the Goodell team was held to six scores Brinkman was allowed to pitch the sixth inning and the Goodellites promptly proceeded to garner nine scores from his hurliug in that frame.

A number of errors by the Klemme boys proved very costly. Burk, Goodell hurler, allowed but one hit which was made by Hammitt into short center field.

The Klemme High team lost its last game of the season to Kanawha at Kanawha Monday 12 to 1.

HIGH SCHOOL CARNIVAL

The high school is having their annual carnival on Friday, October 19th.

There will be booths and all kinds the school. Each grade room will give a number; the orchestra and glee clubs will sing; and two high school people will give a play called "Slick, the Salesman."

There will be booths and all kinds of games to play. There will also be prizes. Everybody come and have a good time at the carnival.—RAJ.

EDITORIAL

"The melancholy days are here, the saddest of the year—"

Such are our feelings when the sun fails to shine and a cold mist hangs over all. We become sullen and disagreeable and long for the warm days of summer.

Then a sample of Indian summer comes along and our views change. Long faces disappear and we float along once more in day dreams. Then we are inclined to agree with the poet who said:

"O, sun and skies and flowers of June,
Count all your boasts together;
Love loveth best of all the year
October's bright blue weather."

INQUIRING REPORTER

The Part of a Newspaper I like best.

I have a special interest in the "funnies." Also the sports section holds my interest. In whole the sport section is the most interesting part of the paper. They say out of 250,000 people who bought daily newspapers at newspaper stands in New York, 207,900. almost invariably turned to the sport section first.—Melvin Schlei.

Peach sport section (with funnies). It holds my interest better than anythng else in the newspaper because I am much interested in sports and the sports section tells all about what happens in all kinds of games.—Geargé Stokesbary

I like the ladies' page best of any section of the newspaper. There is always a good story, a woman's view of the world, Emily Posts' articles, several patterns according to the latest fashions. and always some new recipes that make your mouth water. In fact, I like this page so much if it is on the same one that someone else is reading, I cut the paper in two.—Esther Trampel.

Part of a newspaper I like best? Just imagine such a question as that. What could be better than the sports section? Can't we cook without the recipes in a newspaper? Sew with other patterns? Visit friends without the whole world knowing it? We all are inclined to know enough foolishness, so why read the funnies? If you haven't as yet read any part of the sports section, just start today and learn about the famous stars, not alone of distant stars, but the ones of our own and neighboring high schools as well. Give them "pep" and plenty of Rahs! and they will win so you can read it.—Alida Schubert.

JUST FOLKS

"Just Folks"—another new novel by Ruth Suckow! Although we are not fortunate enugh to possess a copy, this book has created some interest in our high school. Maybe it is because of the nearness we can feel to the title, for aren't we all "just folks?" Maybe it is because some of our high school students can claim relationship to the auth or, or perhaps the fact that she is an Iowan stirs our pride.

Ruth Suckow was born in Hawarden, Iowa. Her father is a congregational minister, who served a number of Iowa charges, so that Miss Suckow had a splendid opportunity to become acquainted with the people of whom she wrote. She received her education not only from school and colleges but from her travels east and west.

On Wednesday of last week the Des Moines Register devoted a column on the editorial page to a discusson of the comments upon Miss Miss Suckow and her new book, which appeared in Time, the New York weekly news magazine. The book was the October choice of the Literary Guild. According to Time's estimate "the midwest novel has been written."

Those in high school who can claim relationship to Miss Suckow are Emily and Vella Paul, Carmen and Franklin Kluckhohn, and Veld Violet and Merle Schaefer.

ELECT STUDENT COUNCIL HEAD

George Stokesbary was elected president of the Student Council on Friday.

In the Student Council this year they are planning on making a constitution.

The members of the Student Council are taking a course in Parliamentary Law, so that they will be able to conduct their meetings according to the rules of order.

Grades 7 and 8

The seventh grade has been making a study of birds in connection with reading.

In eighth grade arithmetic we are beginning our study of banks and commercial forms.

Wayne Buseman celebrated his birthday Tuesday by passing out treats to the seventh and eighth graders.

We are reviewing for the first 6 weeks tests to be given this week.

Grades 1 and 2

We wrote our spelling words on Friday and were very happy that eleven of our class of thirteen in second grade had one hundred. Those boys and girls were: Edward, Betty, Junior, LaVonne, Emily, Patricia, Duard, Herbert Mueller Harlan, Robert and Esther.

In language class, the second grade are telling a story or making charts about themselves. Miss Thorne prints the charts and they are used or reading lesson. Patty's, Junior's Harlan's and Edward's charts are all finished.

The first grade are writing stories about their pets. These stories are printed on large charts. The first grade drew pictures of their pets and pasted them beside the stories.

We made large Hallowe'en owls. We have many Hallowe'en poctures on our bulletin boards.

On Thursday during our play period and recess, we took a hike.

Our windows are decorated with black and orange crepe paper.

We are making fruit posters. We have had grapes, a apple, pear, banana and an orange to look at. Then we drew them.

Grades 3 and 4

We made diaries this week to keep a record of our Canadian trip. We started Monday morning.

Tuesday morning we had a surprise. One of our classmates, Laurence Bock, entered school. He has not been able to come because of an injured leg. We are glad he can come now.

Thursday afternoon Miss Thorne's room went on a leaf hike with us. Betty Schuldt found the most kinds in our room. Friday we had a farewell party for Paul Ralston. We played a game outdoors and then hunted apples and candy. We have always enjoyed Paul's interesting stories of trips he has taken. We will miss him.

Seven of us had 100 in spelling while four more had above 90.

COLUMBUS DAY

October 12 marks the 442d anniversary of the discovery of America, and the annual observance of Columbus Day now celebrated with appropriate exercises in most of the states of the Union. will be the occasion for paying tribute to Christopher Colombus, one of the most romantic and tragic figures in history.

Columbus was born in Genoa about 500 years ago, the exact date being uncertain. After receiving some instruction in science and navigation, he went to sea early; within a few years visited most of the important parts of the then known world. Having become convinced of the spherical shape of the earth, he conceived the idea of reaching Asia by sailing westward.

Desiring to lead an expedition of exploration in that direction, he appealed in vain for assistance to various rulers, and finally to Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain. After many heartbreaking rebuffs and delays, Queen Isabella aided in supplying three small vessels for the voyage. Columbus sailed sailed from Palos on August 3, 1492, and although the fears of his sailors nearly caused mutiny at times, he reached land, probably one of the islands of the Bahamas, on October 12.

Other voyages and attempts at colonization followed, but dissatisfaction with the rule of Columbus resulted in his being sent back to Spain in chains. Although permitted to make his fourth and last voyage after that, Columbus was never restored to his rights, and he lived a broken and forsaken man until his death in 1506.

But his remains were to make another voyage to America and return. First buried in Seiville; his body was removed to Haiti in 1542; to Havana n 1795, and finally back to Seville in 1898.

Columbus Day was first observed in Colorado, but largely through the efforts of the Knights of Columbus its observance has become widespread throughout the United States.

To The Voter of Hancock County:

I am a candidate for supervisor of Hancock County, on the independent ticket, for the term beginning January 2nd, 1936.

If elected I will be able to give to the office the time and attention it requires, as I expect to retire from active farming. However, I shall not put in unnecessary time nor charge for unnecessary mileage.

When a small boy I moved to Hancock County from another part of the state.. with my parents and have been a resident continuously ever since. After leaving the rural school I attended business college for two years, since which time I have been farming.

Am a heavy tax payer at present and have been for the past 36 years. My real estate is included in five different drainage districts and therefore I have a good idea on drainage.

You will find my name on the ballot to the right in the outside column and down in the supervisors line and I respectfully ask your support by marking X in the square next to my name.

If elected I pledge myself to handle the people's business as carefully and efficiently as I would my own.

My family consists of my wife and seven grown children, six married and established for themselves. The voters are invited to inquire into my past record as a citizen, farmer and business man of Hancock County and to compare such record with that of the other candidates.

....I respectfully ask your support November 6, 1934.

Yours sincerely,

WM. JAKOUBEK

BOYS 4-H CLUBS ARE BEING REORGANIZED

The 1933-34 baby beef club project was completed at the time of the calf sale at the North Iowa Fair. The average of the sale was $9.25, not including the 32c calf of Euvene Greiman.

There are requests at the present time for as many calves as were fed last year. Last year 63 calves were entered in the county of which 60 completed the project.

The boys are looking for good Angus, Hereford, and Shorthorn calves which can be bought under conditions where the boys can make a profit. With the large number of calves in the contest, good calves are essential, however, it is not practical to pay a premium beyond that necessary on the open market for good quality calves. Boys should watch for calves shipped in by feeders who pick choice calves, also in sales being held and from breeders.

This year it will be difficult to buy from breeders at a price which would be safe for the boy to pay because the demand for bulls has increased and as a result breeders are asking more for baby beeves than they have in the past andthey are justified in doing so. The plan is to re-organide all boys 4-H clubs this fall and work out a series of meetings to be held through the winter instead of waiting until spring for reorganization. Any boy who has not passed his 20th birthday by January 1 and who has passed his 10th birthday by January 1, is eligible for membership.

SURVEY INDICATES NEED TO PROCURE SEED OATS AT ONCE

A survey of oats on farms and next spring's seed needs in Hancock County tabulated recently emphasizes the fact that obtaining seed at once will be wise practice.

Questionaires filled out by 200 farmers were tabulated in the office of County Agent S. J. Oberhauser. Results show that 125 farmers have 8000 bushels of 1933 and 18000 bushels of 1934 oats for sale. Varieties listed for sale include Gopher, Iowa, 105103, Iowar and Iogold.

While only 125 farmers have seed for sale the balance reported in the questionaire that they would need seed oats for the 1935 crop. The survey for the state as a whole shows that about two-thirds of the farmers needing seed do not know just where they can get it.

The purpose of the survey is to make possible an "exchange" of seed within the county and to keep seed oats at home. Shipping seed out would result in farmers having to ship it back next spring. Some farmers reported 1932 and 1933 seed oats available. All seed should be tested this year for purity and germination. This service will be rendered free by the Farm Bureau. Germination may be low on old seeds due sometimes to faulty and poor storage conditions.

WHY BUY POOR COAL FROM OUT OF STATE TRUCKERS?

Get Home Prices Before You Fill Your Bins On A Doubtful Product

This community is being flooded with cheap coal hauled in from Missouri by Missouri truckers, and some people are "falling" for their glib chatter and cheap coal—which may not prove to be such a wonderful bargain after all.

Here's how this latest racket works. There is a big demand in Missouri for corn, potatoes, cabbage, onions, etc. raised in north Iowa. That part is all right, well and good and we are glad to sell them this stuff. But to fatten their own pocketbooks the truckers are buying coal from Missouri mines and hauling it up to northern Iowa and when they dispose of it they buy up corn, potatoes or other products to haul back. Their big idea being to make a handsome profit on both hauls

Now the fact remains the price they are asking for their coal is NOT cheap. They get $6.00 per ton for it. The coal is taken right out of the mine and loaded on the trucks. It is therefore quite wet and although you buy 2,000 pounds for a ton, in a week or less it will weigh muchless in your bin, as the moisture evaporates and you are paying for a lot of water.

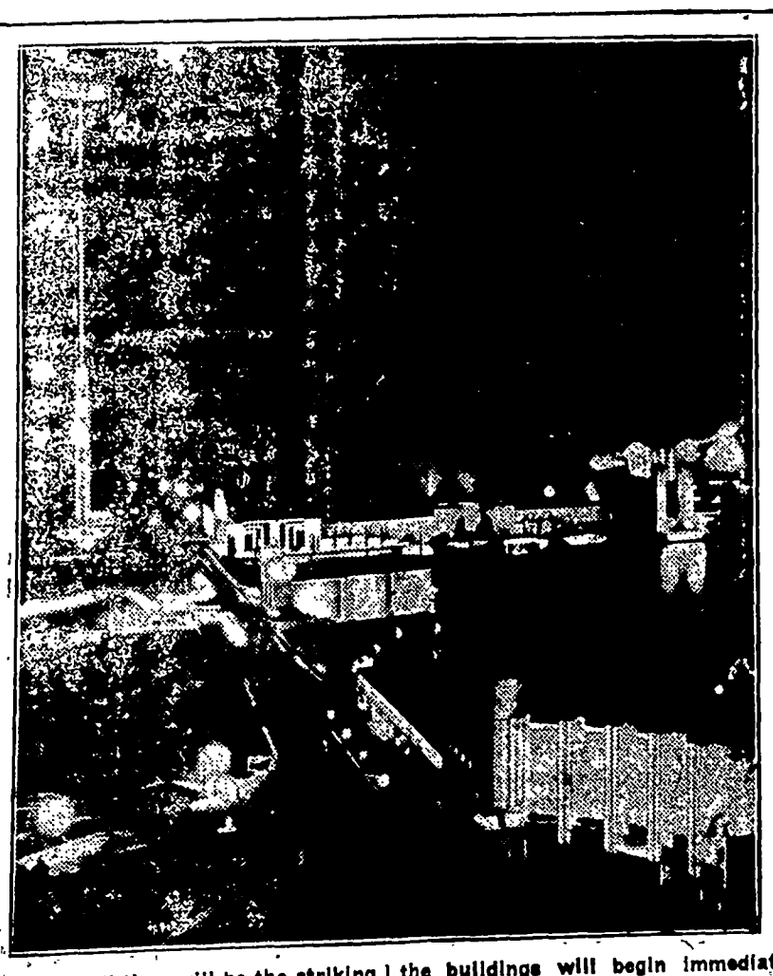
The fact also remains that Klemme has two coal dealers who are paying taxes here and help keep the community on the map. They help educate YOUR children and they support YOUR churches. They also offer to you a far better grade of coal for LESS MONEY than the Missouri truckers are getting for a cheap, wet product that in the long run costs considerably more.

Is it fair for YOU to patronize outside concerns when your home folks can serve you better and cheaper? Is it fair for you to buy coal trucked in during fair weather and then expect your home dealer to furnish you coal in winter weather when trucks cannot run?

We do not blame the Missouri truckers for making extra dollars if they can, but they are doing it at the expense of our own people. We must look out for our own interests first. Are the Missouri truckers helping to educate your children? Were they at your church last Sunday? How much are they conttributing to YOUR benefit?

Ask yourself these questions—then if you have a clear conscience—go ahead and get stung. The Times feels that it is time that the public was warned about buying coal from fly-by-night concerns.

World's Fair Nears Closing



Gone for all time will be the striking illumination which transforms A Century of Progress in Chicago into a dream city when night falls, after the Fair closes October 31. Dismantling of the buildings will begin immediately after that day. Meanwhile the nearness of closing and the ideal fall weather are beckoning greater and greater crowds.

BUSINESS MEN BOOSTING FOR ANNUAL SCHOOL CARNIVAL

Funds Will Be Used To Pay Costs Of Conducting School Athletics

The business men are entering heartily into helping the annual school carnival raise funds for athletics. Practically every business firm in Klemme has contributed some article which will be given away free at the Carnival Friday evening. With this added co-operation on the part of business men The Times estimates that at least $50.00 in merchandise will be distributed to those who attend the carnival.

Everyone in the community should attend the carnival and help supply funds to carry on school activities.

Mr. Hunter, superintendent, also wishes to thank the business men of Klemme for their fine co-operation in boosting for the school. He believes the carnival this year will be the outstandng event of the school year. A fine program has been worked out and everyone is assured of getting more than their money's worth in entertainment and fun. It will be a night of fun for old and young, so everyone boost by coming to the carnival.

RECEPTION HELD HONORING NEW PASTOR AND FAMILY

Program And Lunch Attended By Large Number of Methodists

Rev. Wm. Zabilka and family were honored at a reception and lunch held at the Methodist church in Klemme last Thursday evening, which was attended by a large number of people.

The following program was given in the auditorium: Song by the congregation; talks by Ed Schaefer D. L. Hunter aud T. C. Nelson; violin trio by the Misses Ford, Wellemeyer and Paul; quartet by the Messrs. Wellemeyer, Keraus, Smith and Patet; vocal trio by the Wellemeyer sisters; solos by Mrs. Kilgore. Rev. Zabilka responded to the welcoming talks and indicated that he and his family felt that they would like the community and that much good could be accomplished by working together. Emil Beier, of Liberty, gave a few remarks and welcomed the new pastor and family to this community.

After the program all were invited to the dining room where the ladies of the church had prepared and served a nice lunch.

LIBERTY M. E. CHURCH HELD RECEPTION TUESDAY EVE

The Liberty congregation met Tuesday evening at the church, in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Zabilka. Some over a hundred people were present for the reception. A fine program was given, after which a very nice lunch was served.

SURVEY TO SHOW LIVESTOCK, FEED STATUS IN COUNTY

An insight into the feed and livestock problem with which Hancock County farmers will have to contend until grass grows again next spring will be presented in a cross section survey of feed supplies and livestock on farms now being conducted.

Results of the county-wide inventory will be announced about Nov. 1, according to S. J. Oberhauser, county agent, who is sending the questionaire to every tenth name on the list of the county corn-hog contract signers.

Vocational agriculture instructors Jay Vendelboe of Garner and Art Thoreson of Kanawha, are having members of their agriculture classes fill out the questionaire for their fathers' farms.

The individual surveys will be sent to the Iowa Extension Service at Ames to be tabulated. It is likely that the feed situation in some sections of the state this coming winter will be serious.

METHODIST GOOD FELLOWSHIP CLASS HAD GROUP DINNER

The Good Fellowship class and their families of the Methodist church had a dinner at the church Sunday noon which was attended by a large crowd After the dinner a program was enjoyed and the annual election of officers was held.

REWARD!

The home that shelters you and your family by giving it a fair break against the elements.

SURVEYS conducted by the U. S. Government indicate that some 16,000,000 homes throughout the country are badly in need of repairs and renovation.

In spite of the very natural pride of ownership possessed by most homeowners, and a thrifty desire to protect their home investments, much repainting that was badly needed has simply had to be deferred because homeowners have not had the ready cash.

But the new National Housing Act signed by the President in June changes the picture completely.

Now the average homeowner without annoying fuss and red tape can obtain the necessary funds for repainting work, and pay for this protection in small monthly payments over an extended period of time and at a minimum rate of interest.

Here are the simple steps to follow:

1 Visit our store and let us figure with you how much material will be needed. At the same time you can select the colors you wish to use for interior or exterior work. You'll be pleased to learn that paint prices are low—30% below the level for 1925 for example.

2 We can then recommend several reliable painters, any of whom would give you a thoroughly good job.

3 Have one of these men prepare a completely detailed written estimate on the painting you want done.

4 Take this estimate to the bank where you plan to make your government insured loan. If you do not have a definite bank or lending agency in mind, we will gladly direct you to an approved institution, or if you prefer, can handle your loan application for you.

5 When the painting is completed, you pay for the labor and material in full with the proceeds of your loan, or you can have the bank make such payments direct if that was your original arrangement.

6 Finally, you repay the loan (at not more than 5% discount) on easy terms over an extended period of months as arranged with the bank.

For every kind of painting work we have the right Devoe finish—in the long run it's always more economical to use the best paint you can buy.

We recommend Devoe Paint because good paint saves our customer's money.

HOME LOVING PEOPLE

A flood of jolly young people, seeking new homes e to this Klemme territory some 60 years ago, and elieve it or not," they came from the best part of rope, the northern part,—Germans, Danes, Scandinans, English—these northern people are known the rld over as a quiet, industrious and home loving people e second and third generations of these "Home Loving neers" still live in this community and occupy our ms and conduct our places of business.

In the southern part of the United Sates there is a ong mixture of "dark skinned" people, such as the hicken stealing" nigger and the "hot headed" Mexican. ese southern people are not quiet and even tempered e their northern neighbors; as workers they are notor- s as "slow movers," and as "home lovers" any kind of elter or shanty will satisfy them.

It is a matter of History that "Top notch positions" the professions, in Business, in Politics and in Industry seldom filled by the "dark skinned" individual from tropical south. In fact when they want 'leaders' in the th, they come "north" and hire our Boys and our Girls st of the big men and women of national renown came m farm homes in the northern states. They were born d raised from just such people and in just such comnities as the territory in and around Klemme.

"Home Loving" Parents, let us co-operate closely ith the church and with the school so that the children this community may develop into this high type—ysically strong, mentally keen and alert, and morally an and well trained.

There may be a surplus of Corn and Hogs, but ere never was, and never will be, a surplus of Great en and Women, and the most important crop of this mmunity today is our crop of Boys and Girls.

Therefore, let us, as a Community, take great pride our homes, remodel them where necessary, provide suitle furniture, rugs and equipment for the comfort and nvenience of the great men and the great women, that e are expected to produce on these farms.

CORRECTION

We made an error last week in stating the name of Ruth Suckow's latest book. The title should have read "The Folks," nstead of "Just Folks."

To The Voter of Hancock County:

I am a candidate for supervisor of Hancock County, on the independent ticket, for the term beginning January 2nd, 1936.

If elected I will be able to give to the office the time and attention it requires, as I expect to retire from active farming. However, I shall not put in unnecessary time nor charge for unnecessary mileage.

When a small boy I moved to Hancock County from another part of the state.. with my parents and have been a resident continuously ever since. After leaving the rural school I attended business college for two years, since which time I have been farming.

Am a heavy tax payer at present and have been for the past 30 years. My real estate is included in five different drainage districts and therefore I have a good idea on drainage.

You will find my name on the ballot to the right in the outside column and down in the supervisors line and I respectfully ask your support by marking X in the square next to my name.

If elected I pledge myself to handle the people's business as carefully and efficiently as I would my own.

My family consists of my wife and seven grown children, six married and established for themselves. The voters are invited to inquire into my past record as a citizen, farmer and business man of Hancock County and to compare such record with that of the other candidates.

....I respectfully ask your support November 6, 1934.

Yours sincerely,

WM. JAKOUBEK

INQUIRING REPORTER

What book that you have read recently would you recommend to some one?

All people nave their ideas of the types of books they like to read and the type that interests me the most is western stories. They seem to be more exciting than any other kind of story. The book I have in mind is "Riders of the Purple Sage." I would recommend this bok because it is a good western story and still it is altogether different from the average western story.—Marjorie Wicks.

The book I would recommend for others to read is "The Odyssey of a Nice Girl" by Ruth Suckow. The reason I would recommend this book is that the setting for part of the story is a place west of Klemme, and it tells about the people of that vicinity. It is interesing because she tells about the place and how it looked at that time. When you see the place now, you can see many improvements and changes that have been made since that time.—Lida Griffen.

"The Story of my Life" by Helen Keller, is an autobiography that I recommend to the people who are interested in the ways of teaching and learning of the blind and deaf. In this book she gives, in a series of sketches only the episodes in her life which she thinks are most important. We often think that reading their specially prepared books is probably the only enjoyment such a handicapped person can have, but it isn't; if you read this book you will learn of the views a blind and deaf person has of the world, the ways of teaching them, and the sorrows and enjoyments they have. —Harriet Gibbs.

I liked the book "All Quiet on the Western Front" because unlike most war stories it gives the viewpoint of the German soldier in the World War. It brings out the fact that it was the fault of a few selfish leaders that the fighting had to be done and that the German soldiers themselves hated war as much as anyone. It tells about all their terrible experiences. One reason I liked it was that it ended so differently from most books because it was true to life—the hero died November 11, 1918.—Walter Klotzbach.

I would recommend "Further Adventures of Lad" to anyone who likes dogs. It has many thrills and I think anybody would enjoy it.—Glenn Lewis.

SENIOR PARTY

The warm sunny weather of last week got the better of us seniors, and as a result we had a weiner roast last Friday night on some hills near Goodell woods. We journeyed down after school and played kittenball until it became too dark for us to see. A fire was then built but while the wood was being gathered someone sneaked off with the weiners. The marshmallows then disappeared, but the culprits soon returned with their loot and our enormous appetites were soon satisfied. We watched the fire die and then came back to town after a good time had been enjoyed by all.

EDITORIAL

As High School students we do not always agree on th ngs, but we were united last week in our interest in the World Series. However, we didn't all agree as to who would win it, and during the week there was much arguing as to who would win.

The last two days, when the Series were getting interesting, we had a radio installed in the "gym" so that those who didn't have a class could listen during their vacant period.

Listening to the games was about the next best thing to being there; in fact, when Joe Medwick began to get showered with apples, oranges, etc., we began dodging the missiles too.

When the first period was over and some of us were supposed to go to class, Mr. Hunter came down with tears in his eyes and said tha he would like to let us listen to the rest of the game, but school must go on.

The assembly clock was very accomodating and ran a few minutes behind time so as to let us hear a little more of the game.—M.B.

—K—H—S—

IMPROVEMENTS

All of the noise coming from the gymnasium the last couple of days is due to the changing around of the steam radiators. This will insure greater comfort during the basketball season and will also prove more economical.

The 3rd and 4th and the 5th and 6th grade rooms have under gone some changes since last year. They are all dressed up in new ceilings. These make the room seem lighter and more agreeable.

HOME ECONOMICS BREAKFAST

Thursday morning the freshman girls had their breakfast in school. The reason was that they had completed their study on breakfasts and had to prepare one. Everything they had was very delicious. They served it on the stage on a long table. In the center of the table we had a bouquet of zinnias of assorted colors. The table cloth and napkins were of yellow crepe paper.

The first thing served was butterscotch baked apple. When these dishes were removed, poached eggs on buttered toast were served; accompanying this was cream of wheat and hot chocolate. The funny part was that while removing the baked apple dishes, they also took the spoons. This got them all mixed up so some had to be washed for the cereal.

After they were through the soiled dishes were carried to the home economics room. As it was then time to go to algebra class, the dishes were washed after we finished with our home economics test.—Lucille Waddingham

—K—H—S—

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

The juniors of American history class have been very interested in their work the last few weeks as Mr. Hunter secured a work book from which he dittoes copies for the pupils each day. This way we gain knowledge by having to look up these things ourselves The last half of the class period is spent in discussing and correcting the material which we have found during our study period. When we have our six weeks test it is much easier to refer to these sheets than to have to review from the book. This has proved so successful that the seniors are hoping that such work books may perhap be obtained and used in their Physics class.

Six weeks of school have already passed and with them six week's tests. Fr several nights books were toted home, brains were crammed with last-minute knowledge, pencils were sharpened and chewed, but at last tests were over and another six week's term has started. It now seems to us that the old saying "We finish to begin," is one that we shall abide by always.

The typing class has learned all the letters and characters of the typewriter by touch. Next six weeks will be spent in drill so that each pupil may become a more efficient typist. For the six week's test we had a fifteen minute word test. The results will be published next week.

Max Barz, who was a freshman here last year was a visitor Friday afternoon. Max is attending West High School in Waterloo this year.

GRADE SQUEALS

Grades 1 and 2

Duard's, Junior's, Ewaldt's and Bety's charts have been printed this week.

LaVonne Carolus was six years old on Thursday. She brought candy bars for us. During Language period next day we wrote a story about LaVonne's birthday party.

Mr. Patet made us a very nice stand for our charts. He painted it green to match our chairs. We wrote a letter thanking him. Juniors letter was chosen.

We have made black cats and little Hallowe'en boys this week.

Second grade have twenty words for spelling each week now: ten review words and ten new words Duard, Betty and LaVonne had 100 on Friday.

Grades 3 and 4

Geography trip; Elwyn Jacobs diary

First day—Hurrah! We're off! We started at 7:30 a. m. I got one sticker in Mason City and one in Minnesota for my bag. Stopped for dinner in Minneapolis. We are going to stay in Noyes, Mnnesota, for the night.

Second day—This morning at 7:00 a. m. we left Noyes and crossed the Canadian border. We are in Winnipeg, Manitoba now.

Third Day—Today we all wrote down things we know about Indians I wonder how many new facts we will learn about them before we go home. We are going to eat Indian food from now on.

Fourth Day—I made a picture of an Indian wigwam like the one I slept in last night. I am going to take it home to mother.

Grades 5 and 6

On Tuesday afternoon we had a short party for Margaret Ralston. On Wednesday she moved to Harris and we wish Margaret success in her new home.

Thursday morning we were happy to welcome Billy Zabilka in the fifth grade.

In fifth grade reading we have been studying Longfellow's "Paul Revere's Ride." As a summary of our work we made a poster representing his ride. We now have them on display in our room.

Our room has the feeling of Hallowe'en. On the windows are cats, moons, and jack-o-lanterns and as a border above the blackboard we have Hallowe'en posters.

The fifth grade have completed taking their first set of six week tests. After having taken them once the general opinion is that they aren't as bad as expected.

On Monday we began working on our number for the carnival "Are There Any Trains Today?"

Grades 7 and 8

On Monday the seventh and eighth grades surprised Lowell Ralston by giving a farewell party at the school gym in his honor. Paul Schuldt and Buster Jorgenson from the ninth grade helped carry out the surprise. We are very sorry to lose Lowell from the eighth grade.

Ruth Heginger was absent Monday and Tuesday because of illness.

Most of the past week was spent in review and taking six weeks exams.

Local Bank Effects New Policy In Check Accounts

FIRST NATIONAL BANK ADOPTS NEW SYSTEM

Sets Service Charge of $2 a Year On Every Checking Account

In this issue of the Klemme Times appears an announcement of the First National Bank in which they outline a new policy that will go into effect November 1st as regards service charge for handling checking accounts.

Great changes have taken place in the banking business since the depression brought to the attention of our people the necessity for greater safety. These changes are worked out to offer every service possible for the handling of business and every safety for the caring for funds. Not many folks care to have money around the house because the danger from theft and fire is too great. In this county not many months ago a farm home was burned in which it was said there was several hundred dollars in paper money.

Banks are prepared to carry your money in vaults that are fire proof and they are protecting their depositors by carrying burglar insurance and Federal insurance to guarantee deposits up to $5000. Earnings of banks have suffered in the changing busines conditions and their overhead expenses for handling safelly the funds of their depositors has increased.

In order to meet the present day conditions and to insure safety and service the First National Bank, along with many other the country over, is adopting a service charge for carrying accounts. There will be a charge on all checking accounts except those of charitable and religious organizations, of $2.00 per year—$1.00 to be assessed November 1st and $1,00 assessed May 1st of each year.

It is believed that every depositor and future depositor of the First National Bank will appreciate the conditions under which banks must operate and approve the action taken by the management. It is in line with what other banks of the state are doing and seems the best solution of the banking problems.

It is interesting to note the splendid liquuid condition of the First National Bank. Any depositor in the large territory the bank serves will certainly want to do their part to help build up a strong institution that can serve its patrons safely through the coming years.

A PERSONAL RECOMMENDATION FROM MANAGER MARKS

Every once in a while a picture comes along that stands out above all others. Such a picture is "One Night Of Love" starring the glamorous singing star, Grace Moore, coming to the Avery Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, October 28, 29 and 30. The Avery management is proud to present this rich entertainment of love, laughter and music. Liberty Magazine not inly gave this glorious musical romance 4 stars but says "One Night Of Love" is likely to be the best picture you will see if you spend every night at the Theatre for the next six months.

Miss Moore, who sang for the Metropolitan Opera Co. for 3 years and scored successive triumphs on the concert stage of every important City in the world, makes her debut as a Cinema Star in this glorious musical romance. Manager Marks urges everyone to see it, for it is really one of the finest pictures of the year.

MOVE PEOPLE OFF POOR LAND

That's Purpose Behind Goyernment Sub-marginal Land Progarm

A chance to make a living will be afforded families now existing on worthless or poor land by the federal program of sub-marginal land buying, H. R. Tolley, chief of the program planning division of the AAA, Washington, D. C., said in an interview at Iowa State College.

Mr. Tolley addressed the annual state conference of extension workers. The sub-marginal land program will not materially affect Iowa as far as moving families off poor land is concerned.

In 37 tentatively chosen areas totaling 2½ million acres, farmers on land to poor to produce a living will be given a chace to sell their land to the government for parks, game preserves and other uses. Federal funds will be available to help finance these families in a new home where they have an even chance to maintain a higher standard of living.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISES

Leppo Wessel was fifty-two years old Sunday. All of his sisters and brothers, except one, were present to help him celebrate. His parents came over from Meservey, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wessel and Mrs. Wessel's sister, Mrs. Wm. Wenz and husband. The guests served cake, fruit salad, and tea during the afternoon. A fine birthday cake, which held the correct number of candles. was served. Mr. Wesels was the recipient of many fine gifts.

Monday evening five carloads of neighbors and friends drove in to help Mr. Wessel celebrate his birthday. Many games were played and the evening was spent visiting. Refreshments were served aud the guests departed wishing Mr. Wessel many happy returns of the day.

Six Birthdays Celebrated Sunday At Ridder Home

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ridder entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of six relatives who had birthdays during the past month. They were. Roger Ridder, Sept. 6; Mrs. S. A, Harvey, Sept. 13; Lee Ridder, Sept. 17; Mrs. Fred Ridder, Sept. 25; Enid Harvey, Ost. 1; and Fred Ridder, Oct 9th. Two fine cakes were needed for the happy event, one of the cakes being baked by the Masont City lady who won first place with her cakes at the North Iowa Fair.

Those present Sunday besides the Lee Ridder family were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harvey and daughter, Enid, of Mason City, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ridder of Klemme.

W. F. M. S. WILL MEET

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Church will meet Thursday, November 1, with Mrs. Harry Gibbs. Miss Minnie Lenz is hostess for this meeting.

CARNIVAL WAS BIG SUCCESS

One of the most successful carnivals that KHS has ever had was staged last Friday night, October 19. A program by the grades and high school was given to a packed assembly. After the program everyone went down to the "gym" for lots of fun. One of the chief attractions was the giving away of prizes that were donated by the merchants of Klemme.

Miss Arends and her home economics girls deserve much praise for their hard work in preparing for and managing the refreshment stand. The stand was certainly well patronized. The freshmen boys, under the direction of Mr. Kingery, were the chief carpenters in putting up the booths. Other students assisted in decorating, arranging and managing concessions.

The proceeds amounted to about $77.00. After expenses are deduoted a portion of the money will be used to clean up a deficit in the activity fund from last year and the remainder will be put nto this year's fund.

We owe a great deal of the success of the carnival to the merchants who donated prizes, which were given away to those holding lucky numbers at the close of the evening, and to all those who donated articles for the refreshment and candy stand.

HANCOCK-CERRO GORDO CORN HUSKING CONTEST SATURDAY

The Hancock-Cerro Gordo county corn picking contest will be started at the F. H. Guth farm near Meservey this Saturday, October 27, at 10 o'clock promptly. A great deal of interest is being manifested in the contest.

Among those from Hancock County who have entered are: Harold Radloff, Garner; Mr. Nix, Britt; John Frank, Britt; Francis Mason, Goodell and Wilbur Halatz, Garner.

Following the husking contest on Saturday, October 27th, ten counties, Cerro Gordo, Worth, Franklin, Wright, Winnebago, Humboldt, Kossuth, Floyd, Butler and Hancoyk, will be entered in a contest to be held on the Fred Hunsley farm (½ mile west and 1 mile south of Britt) on Monday, October 29th at 10 o'clock. State contestants will be selected from this group.

ANYONE HAVE AN EXTRA HAT?

If you have an extra hat, since Friday night, perhaps you have the hat which formerly adorned Dr. Earl Schaefer, Klemme dentist. At least "doc" says that he is shy one absolutely good gray felt hat which he wore to the high school carnival. If you picked "doc's" sky insulation up by mistake he will appreciate your returning it to him. "Doc" has a good straw hat but the weather is getting a bit too cold for that kind of head gear.

SHOW FARM INCOME INCREASE OVER LOW LEVELS OF 1932-33

Farm income, including rental and benefit payments, for the third quarter of 1934 has increased $192,000,000 over the third quarter of 1933 and $595,000,000 over the same period in 1932, according to Louis H. Bean, economic adviser to the AAA.

For the three months, June, July and August, 1934, total farm income in the United States, including $133,000,0.00 in rental and benefit payments, was $1,508,000,000 or an increase of 62 percent in two years.

This is the highest three month level reached since the rise which started in the second quarter of 1933 but still 33 percent below the pre-depression level. While farm income increases have been partially offset by increases in price of commodities which farmers purchase, the net increase is encouraging. Prices paid by farmers on Aug. 15 averaged 25 percent above the level of March 1933. This indicates that the purchasing power of farm products in exchange for commodities had a net increase of about 44 percent.

TWELVE REPORT FOR BASKET BALL PRACTICE

Twelve men have responded to Coach Kingery's call for basketball candidates this year and are reporting for practice Monday and Tuesday after school hours and Wednesday evenings. With all of last year's regulars lost through graduation, an entirely new five must be formed. However, all of the candidates are of the light, speedy type which fit so well into the style of play taught by Coach A. L. Kingery. A number of the men have had experience on last year's reserve squad and are well acquainted with his methods.

Following is a list of the men on the squad this year: Evert Barz, junior; Leo Brinkman, junior; Geo. Stokesbary, senior; Milvern Barz, junior; Theodore Kaduce, sophomore; LaVern Hammitt, junior; Lyndon Kilgore, junior; Raymond Keeper, sophomore; Alvin Bachman sophomore; Raymond Jorgenson, freshman; Paul Schuldt, freshman; Bennie Schaper, senior.

The 400th anniversary of the translation of the Bible into a modern language; also the open Bible which is an unlimited blessing to mankind, will be observed October 28, at 7:30 p. m. n the Garner high school gymnasium. Rev. E. Lehne, Dayton, Iowa, will be the speaker of the evening.

In announcing the above meeting Sunday, your Pastor made the mistake of announcing the wrong date the meeting will take place this coming Sunday, October 28.

SMALL GAME CAUSES ILLNESS

Two cases of "rabbit disease" or tularemia were reported recently to the State Deparment or Health. The patients, one a farmer, the other an urban housewife, live in different counties in southeastern Iowa. Both persons had dressed rabbits a few days before taking sick. "Dressing a rabbit" was the only common factor to account for illness.

As a rule "rabbit disease" begins with an ulcerated place on finger or hand, with tender "kernels" at the elbow and armpit. Fever, chills and aching pains cause suffering and discomfort, which may be of severe character.

The microbe which causes this disease in rabbits, squirrels and other small animals, is well known. It is likely that blood sucking parasites, such as ticks, play an important part in spreading infection from rabbit to rabbit. A survey in Minnesota showed that ten percent of cerain species of ticks harbor this germ. Although "rabbit disease in man may follow a tick bite, persons usually become infected thru direct contact with diseased rabbits. The germ readily penetrates thru a cut or open wound in the skin. Avoidance of direct contact with infected rabbits is the best means of prevention. This can be readily done by wearing household rubber gloves to protect the skin. Thorough cooking of the meat destroys any germs which may be present.

An original idea of what constitutes amusement got five Minneapolis young men into trouble. Harry Hirsch, manager of a burlesque theater, noticed that ladies of the chorus were doing kicks and other contortions not on the bill. An investigation disclosed that the five customers in question were shooting wire staples at the limbs of the chorines with rubber bands, and the culprits went to jail.

HANCOCK COUNTY AUXILIARY MET HERE TUESDAY

Klemme Unit Entertained Visitors; Forty-Five Were Present

The Klemme Unit of the Legion Auxiliary were hostesses Tuesday to a county-wide meeting of the organization held in Klemme at the Methodist Church, which was attended by about forty-five members.

The Klemme Unit was the first in the county to report a membership of at least thirty-two. For this they received $2. Kanawha was the next in line to report. There are at present 211 paid up members. To reach the quota Hancock County will need a total of 279 members.

The local Auxiliary has gathered over 100 glasses of jelly. Mrs. Jacobs is in charge of this work and anyone who wishes to give jelly to the Auxiliary for distribution can do so.

The afternoon program included reports of all the work accomplished. Miss Barz' pupils gave their play 'Are There Any Trains Today?' Miss Jeanne Thada gave two violin solos. She was accompanied by Mrs. Matt Smith.

The visiting ladies were served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting.

CORN-HOG PROGAAM GETS O.K.

Iowa Farmers Vote Abiut 3 to 1 Faviring Control Plan for 1935

With the corn-hog referendum practically completed last week, Iowa farmers were voting nearly 3 to 1 in favor of a 1935 corn-hog production control program, according to the state corn-hog committee in, Des Moines.

Hundreds of local leaders picked by the county production control associations were trained by members of the Extension Service to explain the feed and livestock situation. The township meetings where the referendum was taken were conducted by the township corn-hog control committees.

Plans for the 1935 cornhog control program are now being completed in Washington by AAA officials and representatives of farmers who have been called in as advisors.

The total vote on the question of a 1935 corn-hog control program in Iowa was expected to approximate 90,000 or more farmers. The question of a long-time grain control program, through which livestock would be controlled by adjusting feed supplies was carrying by a small margin. Many farmers did not vote on this question, apparently hesitating to committ themselves this far in advance.

Another unusual birthcase is reported from Juneau, Alaska, where twins were born to Mrs. Alfred Carlson, 48 hours apart—a boy on Saturday morning and a girl on the following Monday morning each weighing nearly seven pounds. If the event occurred at the end of December it might have presented the phenomenon of one twin being born in one year and the other in the following year.

Incredible as it may seem, there is still one real Daughter of the Revolution still living. She is Mrs. Caroline Phoebe Randall, of Greenfield, Mass., who recently celebrated her 84th birthday. Her father was Stephen Hassam, who fought at Bunker Hill and in other battles of the war for independence, and was 90 years old when she was born.

Youngsters Throng Fair's Enchanted Island

The pony ranch, ever an attraction at the Chicago World's Fair's Enchanted Island for children, is the center of daily throngs of youngsters such as these. Right now they are taking advantage of the ideal weather to get their fill of the children's wonderland before the Fair closes its gates forever, and becomes only a pleasant memory after October 31. Huge new spectacles are planned for the final weeks.

To The Voter of Hancock County:

I am a candidate for supervisor of Hancock County, on the independent ticket, for the term beginning January 2nd, 1936.

If elected I will be able to give to the office the time and attention it requires, as I expect to retire from active farming. However, I shall not put in unnecessary time nor charge for unnecessary mileage.

When a small boy I moved to Hancock County from another part of the state.. with my parents and have been a resident continuously ever since. After leaving the rural school I attended business college for two years, since which time I have been farming.

Am a heavy tax payer at present and have been for the past 36 years. My real estate is included in five different drainage districts and therefore I have a good idea on drainage.

You will find my name on the ballot to the right in the outside column and down in the supervisors line and I respectfully ask your support by marking X in the square next to my name.

If elected I pledge myself to handle the people's business as carefully and efficiently as I would my own.

My family consists of my wife and seven grown children, six married and established for themselves. The voters are invited to inquire into my past record as a citizen, farmer and business man of Hancock County and to compare such record with that of the other candidates.

....I respectfully ask your support November 6, 1934.

Yours sincerely,

WM. JAKOUBEK

ANOTHER RULER SLAIN

The killing of King Alexander of Yugoslavio in Marseilles a few days ago adds one more to the long list of rulerswho have perished at the hands of assassins. The following 27 heads of nations have died thus since 1865:

President Lincoln; U. S., 1865; Sultan Aziz, Turkey, 1876; Czar Alexander, Russia, and President Garfield, U. S., 1881; President Carnot, France, 1894; Shah Nasr-ed-Din, Persia, 1896; President Barrios, Guatemala, and Empress Elizabeth, Austria, 1898; President Heureuax, Dominican Republic, 1899; King Humbert, Italy, 1900; President McKinley, U. S., 1901; Kng Alexander and Queen Draga, Serbia, 1903; King Carlos, Portugal 1908; President Caceres, Dominican Republic, 1911; President Madero Mexico, and King George, Greece, 1913; President Sam, Hayti, 1915; Czar Nicholas II, Russia and President Paes, Portugal 1918; President Caranza, Mexico, 1920; President Narutowicz, Poland 1922; ex-president and president-elect Obregon, Mexico, 1928; President Doumer, France, 1932, President Cerro, Peru 1933; Dictator Dolfuss, Austria and King Alexander, Yugoslavia, 1934.

Many other officials of high rank including vice-presidents, premiers, ambassadors, minsters, and others, also met death by assassination during the period mentioned.

The killing of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary and his wife in 1914 precipitated the World War. Mayor Cermak of Chicago was fatally wounded in an attempt to kill President-elect Roosevelt in 1933.

All of which goes to prove the truth of Shakespeare's line: "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

EDITORIAL

The business men of Klemme have never failed to take a deep interest in athletics and other high school activities. Their free gifts which were given away at the carnival is a splendid example of such interest. The entire student body now takes this as an appropriate time to extend to them our sincere thanks and appreciation.

In return for their kindness the least we can do is to try to make our school one that they might be proud of and in our sports and other activities we shall do our best hoping that by doing this their interest shall be made worthwhile —B. L.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

There was much excitement in the air Tuesday when the new library books were given out. The twenty-one novels disappeared as if by magic.

Some of the books ordered are comparatively new books while others are new to our library.

Some of the comments about particular new books are:

I liked "High On A Hill" because it appeals especially to girls and it is interesting.—Delorys Cook

"Dusk at the Grove" leaves a depressing feeling but on the whole is a very fascinating book.—Jeanne Thada.

"Dick Byrd, the Air Explorer' was a very interesting book for it describes Byrd's lifework and shows how everything he did led up to what he was later to become.—Leo Brinkman.

Of all the mystery books I have read "The Circular Staircase" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart is the most interesting. She states the things in the book so cleverly and makes them so real that it would make anyone turn around and look over his shoulder when going up or down stairs.—Nora Wellemeyer.

"The Magnificent Obsession" is such a different book and it tends to have an unexplainable effect on the reader.—Vella Paul.

"Ben Hur" is one of the most interesting books I have read.—Esther Trampel.

What Is Your Favorite Pastime?

My favorite pastime is trying to play some instrument. There are nights when I am home alone and to scare the noise away I enjoy playing by ear on my violin—Emily Paul.

For my pastime I enjoy playing my musical instruments. First, I prefer the piano, then the guitar; last of all the horn. When my parents are gone, I get them out and enjoy an evening myself.—Arlene Krause.

When I have nothing to do, I read some interesting book. The type of book I usually read is one like "Sorrell and Son" written by Warwick Deeping. This is a very interesting book. Another pastime of mine is day-dreaming.—Wilma Swalve.

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

Last Friday in economics class short talks were given by the students on interesting topics of the day such as the depression, N. R. A. Taxation, etc.

The sophomore English class is now reading "Silas Marner" by George Elliot, and find it a very interesting story.

The junior class has chosen "Meet The Millionaire" as their class play and they shall begin to work on it as soon as the play books arrive.

The junior American Literature class are studying the works of Edgar Allen Poe and have finished reading "The Fall of the House of Usher."

The freshmen boys are making bread boards in Manual Arts.

Announcement

Safety for Depositors is the first essential in a Bank and Service comes next. In order to give both Safety and Service it is very necessary that a Bank have adequate earnings.

Changed conditions have materially affected bank earnings. Good loans are not available in sufficient amounts to offset increased deposits and some other means of revenue to bank must be found.

Every customer knows that the FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION now insures the deposits of each individual depositor up to $5,000.00 for which insurance protection the bank pays good sized premium.

The Officers and Directors of this bank believe that a very reasonable charge on all checking accounts is more just and equitable than to make a charge of 50 cents per month on small accounts which has been the custom in many banks for some time, the larger accounts getting additional protection under the Federal Deposit Insurance In order to meet the cost of doing business, pay the cost of Federal Deposit Insurance, this bank has decided to place a nominal charge of $1.00 semi-annually against all checking accounts except those of charitable and religious organizations. If you have a checking account it will be charged a fee of $1.00 on November 1st and a like sum each six months thereafter.

On business and personal accounts which show a great deal of activity it may be necessary to make an additional activity charge in which event the depositor will be consulted and shown the actual figures for the cost of handling the account. If you have a balance sufficient to offset the cost of handling your account there will be no further charge.

We will be pleased to discuss this change in policy with any customer and gladly go into detail on any point in connection with his or her account. We heartily thank you for your splendid co-operation in the past. We respectfully solicit your continued and future Banking Business.

Our office hours will be from 9:00 to 4:00 after November 1st, 1934.

Well Crew Nears End Of Work On Local Job

THORPE WELL CREW AGAIN GO "FISHING" FOR 2ND TIME

This Time Drill Was Lost At A Depth of Nine Hundred Thirty Feet

Monday afternoon B. M. Bergeson, driller for the Thorpe Well Co. and his assistant, Don Stille, "went fishing," all because the big bit on their drilling equipment broke loose and was reposing nine hundred and thirty feet below the surface of the well they are drilling for the town of Klemme.

Mr. Bergeson uses "big fishing tackle" when he "fishes" for a lost bit. In ths acse his "fish hook" weighs about eleven hundred pounds. Luckily, the first "cast" made the bit was "hooked" and brought to the surface. This was the second time that a bit ha broken off while drilling here.

For the benefit of our readers we might say that the well is being drilled to the strata known as the St. Peter sandstone. Mr. Bergeson stated that he expected to reach this strata in another hundred feet of drilling. He bases his calculations on the various strata of rock encountered in drilling the well at Mason City, which was completed in January and was drilled to a depth of 1230 feet, which depth pierced the Jordam sandstone. The well in Klemme has been drilled through 716 feet of limestone, of varying colors and degrees of hardness. Monday they were drilling in shale which is the layer above the St. Peter sandstone.

At Mason City the St. Peter sandsone was found at a depth of 753 feet and was 60 feet thick. The sandstone here is further down, as are all of the other different strata of rock.

When the well is completed here we will publish all of the data concerning the various strata encountered. Here is the drilling in brief:

Limestone	150 to 164	feet....
Shale	164 to 172	feet
Limestone	172 to 175	feet
Shale	175 to 196	feet
Limestone	196 to 912	feet
Shale	912 to 915	feet
Grey Lime	915 to 922	feet
Green Shale	922 to 944	feet
Blue Shale	944 to 963	feet
Brown lime 963	to 976	feet
Green shale....976	to 979	feet
St. Peter's Sandstone	979 to ???	feet

The Thorpe Well Company of Des Moines have the contract for the drilling here. Mr. B. M. Bergeson is in charge of the work and is assisted by A. J. Diemer. Don Stille and Faye Smock, local young men, are working with them.

As we go to press Mr. Bergeson informs us that the St. Peter sand stone has been reached. This stone resembles to a remarkable degree white granulated sugar. Before drilling operations are resumed the casing of the well will be sunk to the St. Peter sandstone.

1935 FARM BUREAU PROGRAM WILL BE OUTLINED

What will be included in the Hancock County Farm Bureau program for 1935 will be decided at a meeting of officers, committeemen and others at Garner on November 6, when Paul Taff, member of the Iowa State College Extension Service meets with the farm bureau group.

Several 4-H club, home economics and agricultural projects in addition to providing cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture in the various emergency programs will be selected. This program will be submitted to the Farm Bureau board for approval in the afternoon session.

Feeder pigs may be purchased until November 30, 1934 or until this year's contract expires.

FORMER KLEMME DRUGGIST AND FAMILY INJURED IN IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Glenn Seney And Family Are In Hospitali At Marshalltown

Dr. and Mrs. D. P. Anderson drove to Marshalltown, Iowa, Sunday to visit Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Seney and son, Bobby, who are patients at the Deaconess hospital there, following an auto accident in which they were seriously injured.

Harry Blaney, 28, of St. Anthony was killed a week ago last Sunday east of Zearing, Iowa, when his auto and one containing the Seney family from Clemens, sideswiped. The Seney family were taken to the Marshalltown hospital where it was found that the bone in Mrs. Seney's leg was fractured, and that Glenn received a fracture of the spine. Their little son, Bobby, was shaken up and bruised but not seriously injured.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson found that the Seney's were getting along as well as could be expected and that they will recover.

FATHER OF KLEMME BANKER DIED AT BRITT SATURDAY

Funeral Services Were Held On Monday for John Kudje

John Kudje, one of Britt's oldest residents, died at his home in Britt Saturday morning following an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Kudje was born in Bohemia, June 8, 1852. He came to America at the age of 14 and settled in Wisconsin. A few years later he came to Iowa. On May 20, 1878 he was married to Miss Mary Kulas at Geneva. To this union five children were born.

Mr. Kudje is survived by his wife, five children, Mrs. Frank Jakoubek, Mrs. Joe Urich, Mrs. Frank Kopacek, Mrs. Frank Flach, all of Britt and Arthur Kudje of Klemme. Nineteen grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren, also 2 sisters, Mrs. Barbara Nikola, Vining, Iowa, and Anna Rose, Chicago Illinois.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at St. Patrick's church with the Rev. J. P. Quinn officiating. Burial was made in the Catholic cemetery at Duncan.

School Pep

Some people do not realize how important a good crowd of rooters are at a game, but a team will play a much better game when there is a crowd supporting them.

Take, for instance, the interclass tournament. When the sophomores played the seniors, everybody yelled for the smallest team, the sophomores, who won. When the juniors played the seniors, everybody yelled for the seniors and the seniors won.

If a good crowd of rooters does that much good in an interclass tournament, we can expect it to have the same effect with the games our team will play with other schools this winter.

So lets everybody be out for all of the games this winter and give the team lots of support.

The first game is not so far off. Klemme plays Corwith at Corwith the 16th and the first home game is with Goodell, the 23rd.

FLOWERS IN SCHOOL

A number of potted plants add to the attractiveness of the home economics room this year. The flower pots are covered with green construction paper. Some of the plats are Jerusalem cherry, cactus, rose geranium and geranium. One of the cleverest things is a wooden bowl with gourds in it. The gourds are green, yellow and orange and all are different shapes. One especially could be used to knock some one down with; it has a handle and everything.

The assembly room also boasts of plants called Jacob's coat, begonia, and a very dainty tin can flower tops the thirty volumes of knowledge of our encyclopedia set. Some of the high school girls have kept the room supplied with garden flowers. The exceptionally fine dahlias that were seen upon the teachers desk were brought by Dorothy Greiman. Last week Lida Griffen brought of beautiful bouquet of of mixed flowers. This week we have Bessie Larson to thank for the bouquet of chrysanthemums.

MUSICAL NOTES

Both boys and girls Glee Clubs are practicing on songs to be used in a mixed chorus. They will soon begin work on an operetta.

The band is practicing on selections to be played at the first basketball game.

INTER-CLASS TOURNAMENT

The first three games of the interclass tournament were held on Tuesday evening. The second three games were played Thursday evening. This year the teams played a round-robin tourney with each team playing all the others. As a result the seniors, juniors and the sophomores are all tied for first place with two games won and one lost. The tie will be played off Thursday evening and all three teams will be out for victory in order to uphold their class honor. This will be your chance to see some real games.

Scores of the games are as follows:

Juniors 18; Sophomores 7
Seniors 21; Freshmen 5
Sophomores 15; Freshmen 5
Juniors 23; Freshmen 6
Sophomores 12; Seniors 9
Seniors 18; Juniors 16

DEBATE IN ECONOMICS CLASS

Thursday in Economics class a debate concerning the question, "Trucks, instead of railroads should be used for transportation," was given. On the affirmative side of the question were Lyndon Kilgore, La Vern Hammitt, and Bennie Schaper, and on the negative side were Delorys Cook, Bessie Larson and Elmer Jenson.

Lucille Stille introduced the speakers while the remaining students acted as judges.

This was a very interesting topic and some very good points were given by both sides. The negatiae side won the debate.

This is the second debate given in this class and both have supplied the class with some useful information.

The seniors are now taking a deeper interest in their physics course. They now have daily lessons which are taken from "Ditto Practice Lessons in Physics" by H. A. Jackson. This is a workbook which consists of a series of units dealing with the different divisions of the course. There are blank spaces that the students are requred to fill in with information which is found in various textbooks. The class likes this method of studying very much.

The Student Council held a meeting last week to decide on points to be given for extra-curicular activities. It is hoped that this point system will create more interest in extra curricular activities.

Husking Contest Held At Britt Farm Monday

CURTIS GREIMAN TO SHOW AT INTERNATIONAL STOCK EXHIBIT

CHICAGO:—Curtis Greiman, a seventeen year old Iowa farm boy, has entered four Aberdeen-Angus steers in the Junior Live Stock Feeding contest of the 1934 International Live Stock Exposition, which will be held here December 1 to 8. On his father's farm near Garner, Greiman is putting the final fitting touches on his steers this month, preparatory to contesting for national honors at the International Live Stock Show.

In reply to a questionaire, from the Exposition management as to the rank of his entries in other shows, Curtis was brief but specific. For three of his entries he indicated "Top" and for the fourth "Close to the top".

Several hundred baby beeves will be exhibited in this special contest in which farm boys and girls between the ages of ten and twenty years exhibit their steers, lambs, and pigs, most of which have been prize winners at 4-H club shows at State or County Fairs held earlier in the year.

If you had a million dollars what would you do with it?

If I had a million dollars, I would first fix life comfortable for my parents. I would then buy me a new suit, shirts, shoes, socks, sweaters, and so forth. Then I think I would keep a little because it takes quite a little money for two and for gas.—LaVern Hammitt

If I had a million dollars, I'd get me a "swanky" car nd "oodles" of clothes, leave Klemme, and in some quiet yet not too small a town, equip one of the most elaborate beauty shops in the U. S. Then I'd get Mother and Dad, give them a good home,—then go places and do things.—Vella Paul.

If I had one million dollars, I would invest a portion of it in a good improved farm, buy a life insurance policy and then put the rest in the bank in order to save it till I was ready to attend college. When that time came I would be able to pay for a music course and maybe be able to take up an art course later.—LaVonne Sherwood.

If I had a million dollars I would first buy a motorcycle and all the clothes I want. After I was through high school, I would go to college and study to be a lawyer. Then I would travel and see the world.—Paul Schuldt.

HANCOCK ENTRY WINS THIRD IN DISTRICT CONTEST

County Winner To Enter State Contest November 1st

Harold Larson of Wright county won first in the district corn husking contest held at the Fred Hunsley farm southwest of Britt Monday forenoon. His final count totaled 1758 pounds of corn net. Henry Negan from Butler county came in second with 1580 pounds while Maurice Nix of Hancock was third place winner with 1569 pounds of corn to his credit.

While Nix and Harold Larson have been selected to go to the state contest at Waterloo next Thursday, November 1st, there may be others that will enter the state meet but the names have not yet been disclosed.

The Britt commercial club gave $25 in prizes to the winning contestants. The Britt high school band played during the noon hour.

Inter-County Contest At Meservey

A. L. Mullen of Dougherty received first place in the Hancock and Cerro Gordo county husking contest held Saturday at the Frank H. Guth farm a mile north of Meservey. A crowd of about 1,000 viewed this contest, the first of its kind to be held in Cerro Gordo.

Second went to Maurice Nix of Britt, third to Harold Radlof of Garner. Mullen husked 1,269 pound after all deductions had been made in the hour and 20 minutes. He turned in a total of 1,460 pounds of corn. A deduction of 50 pounds for gleanings and 146 pounds for husks was made.

JOHN DAY'S STORE ENTERED EARLY SATURDAY MORNING

J. N. Day's store was broken into early Saturday morning and a few small items taken, including less than a dollar in cash, some candy, gum and perhaps other small items which could not be checked on.

Entrance was gained through a rear window of the store by removing the screen and breaking the glass.

Mr. Day had been at the store about daylight, as he was getting ready to drive to Iowa City. He fixed the furnace fire and was around in the store, but at that time did not notice anything out of place. It is possible the robber entered the store after Mr. Day had gone home.

The Deputy Sheriff was called and made an investigation of the robbery.

CONCILATION COMMITTEE IS HANDLING MANY CASES

Meeting regularl on the first and third Tuesdays of every month, this farm advisory body has been doing much to adjust differences between debtor and creditor in their financial difficulties.

To the voters

of Hancock County:

I am a candidate for supervisor of Hancock County, on the independent ticket, for the term beginning January 2nd, 1936.

If elected I will be able to give to the office the time and attention it requires, as I expect to retire from active farming. However, I shall not put in unnecessary time nor charge for unnecessary mileage.

When a small boy I moved to Hancock County from another part of the state.. with my parents and have been a resident continuously ever since. After leaving the rural school I attended business college for two years, since which time I have been farming.

Am a heavy tax payer at present and have been for the past 36 years. My real estate is included in five different drainage districts and therefore I have a good idea on drainage.

You will find my name on the ballot to the right in the outside column and down in the supervisors line and I respectfully ask your support by marking X in the square next to my name.

If elected I pledge myself to handle the people's business as carefully and efficiently as I would my own.

My family consists of my wife and seven grown children, six married and established for themselves. The voters are invited to inquire into my past record as a citizen, farmer and business man of Hancock County and to compare such record with that of the other candidates.

....I respectfully ask your support November 6, 1934.

Yours sincerely,

Wm. Jakoubek

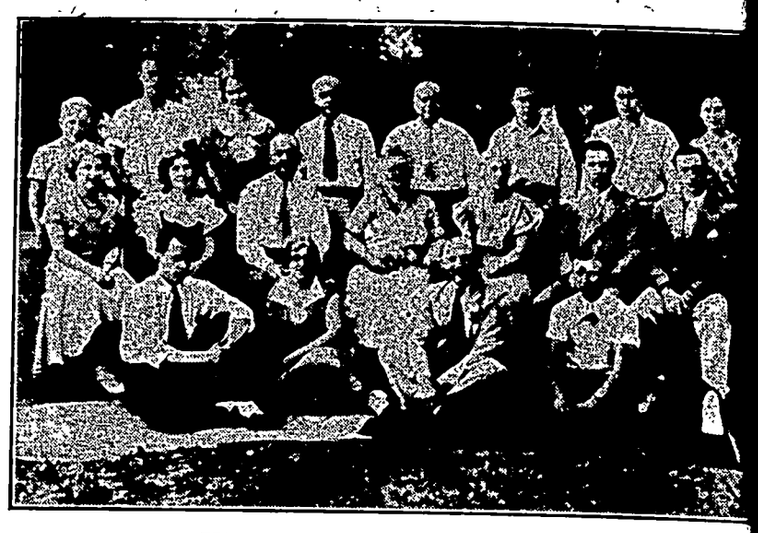
MASON CITY IOWA

W. C. KERAUS CONSISTENT WINNER



Kluckhohn Equitable Family

W. C. Keraus, local representative of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, of Iowa, received a telegram from the General Agent, H. C. Finch of Northwood, stating that he held first position of all Iowa agents in number of cases paid for and that his agency held first position of all Iowa agencies. Recently the General Agent issued a special bulletin to all representatives of his agency which said in brief:

"Bill Keraus, of the Klemme agency, was in the Mason City office this morning with eight applications and cash settlements with each one. He has been my most consistent contest winner. At a time when insurance agents are facing many unusual and difficult problems Mr. Keraus continues to be one of the state leaders in risks written for the Equitable Life Insurance company of Iowa, which he represents.

"One of the most interesting examples of Client Building and Center of Influence prospecting that has come to our attention is to be found in the story of the Kluckhohn family of Klemme, Iowa, (pictured above). W. C. Keraus of the Hart-Finch agency joined the family when he became a son-in-law of the Senior Mr. Kluckhohn. He followed this up by a remarkable job of soliciting in and around the Klemme community with the result that every member, save one, in the family pictured above is a policy holder of the company. Agent Keraus who is pictured with the Kluckhohn family, is in the front row, second from the right. He received a letter from the president of the company, H. S. Nollen, and the vice-president, H. E. Aldrich, expressing their appreciation and gratitude for the fine work he is doing. Mr. Keraus lives in a small town where conditions are not especially favorable and does most of his selling to farmers. We have nearly Five Millions of Insurance in force in Hancock County alone."

AROUND CAPE HORN IN A 25-FOOT BOAT

Explorer Tells of Exciting Experiences at Sea.

Washington.—"Seals, playing on the rocks, threw back their heads and gargled sea water with a noise like calves bawling, as we beat around stormy Cape Horn. For 50 days after leaving Magallanes, on the Straits of Tierra del Fuego, we saw not a single human being except a few wild Alacaluf Indians on Burnt island. They looked so fiercé, running along their cold, lonely beach and shouting at us, that we sailed on past them."

So says Amos Burg, in a report to the National Geographic society, under whose auspices he is exploring the southernmost tip of the western hemisphere, which is nearest the South pole of all continental lands.

"Magallanes itself is a long way from Portland, Ore., where my trip began. But from Magallanes to Cape Horn seems even farther, because of the strange sense of gloom that hangs over these chilly solitudes, and the sudden fury of the persistent gales. The sea was smooth as glass the day we left Magallanes; yet, in one short hour so terrific a gale had blown up that the waters became a smoking maelstrom and hail rattled against our bounding boat like machine-gun fire.

Many Stormy Days.

"Such storms are known to rage for three weeks. One year had 300 stormy days. On Navarin island we found a man named Ken Williams, an otter hunter, and took him aboard; that made three, in our 25-foot power boat, bound for the islands of the horn. Crossing the open sea from Nassau bay to Cape hall, on Grevy island, the full fury of the gales hit us. I feared being blown out to sea, for our propeller was fouled with kelp. So much salt water blew through the air that bareheaded Ken Williams' hair looked as if it had been lathered.

"Even when the storms were at their worst, and it seemed we must surely swamp, Ken Williams would suddenly stand up and point to some rocky nook, and shout above the wind's roar, 'I shot an otter over there once!'

"His father was a pioneer missionary among the Yaghan Indians, and Williams himself, besides being a hunter, owns sheep that range some of these islands. He is therefore the most southerly sheep-herder in the western hemisphere.

"Away down here at the bottom of the western world, even separated from the tip of South America itself by weeks of stormy seas, and dependent wholly on a tiny lifeboat that I bought at a sale from the United States coast guard and shipped here, I can't help thinking—especially when it storms—about how far it is back to Portland, Ore. In a calm spell we got ashore at Baily island, and from a peak we saw the big Cloven cliff on Horn island itself, and also the Wollaston and Hermite groups that mark the very last land before the jump-off into cold waters that stretch to the Antarctic regions.

Make Lonely Landings.

"The American ship carpenters who built our 25-foot boat, the 'Dorjun,' of course, never dreamed that she would one day make this historic voyage. But how proud they would be, could they have seen her rounding Cape Horn, through seas that filled even Drake, Cavendish and Magellan himself with dismay; seas, in fact, often so rough that in early days many Portuguese and Spanish sailors gave up the fight, and went back up the coast, and found happiness in the lotus life of pioneer Brazil.

"Hundreds of landings we made, at strange, lonely nooks on rocky shores where barking seals, otters and birds only make man's absence more impressive. In the broken surf on the outer side of the Horn itself a lot of Emperor Penguins are colonized.

"Glad we were, and weary, back once more in the town of Magallanes, which used to be called Punta Arenas. To you, it's just a name; a name for a far-away sheep town stuck somewhere below Patagonia, on the Straits of Tierra del Fuego. To us, after cold, wet, dangerous weeks on end, it was civilization again. What if its people are mostly Slavs, Austrians and Italians, who speak tongues that are strange to us, and who paint the roofs in bright colors, and build tight board fences around their gardens so the gales will not blow all the dirt away! Or what if the gales from Patagonia do bring clouds of dust, filled with grass seeds from distant pampas, and then tear across the straits, lifting sheets of water into the air and threshing them about till all the sea has the aspect of smoking prairie grass? It's still Magallanes, a city, a place of streets, stores, mail from home, dry clothes, and a wireless station."

Scenic Mountain Road in Colorado Nearly Ready

Trinidad, Colo.—The Cordova Pass road, at one point nearly 12,000 feet above sea level, will be opened some time this summer, it has been announced by the state highway department. The highway transverses the beautiful Spanish peaks country, considered to be one of the most scenic sections in the Rocky mountains.

Life Dangerous in 1830

Boston.—Life was almost as dangerous in Boston in automobileless 1830 as in 1930, statistics show. The death rate in 1830 was 71.7 per 100,000 and 100 years later it was 74.4. Drownings took the heaviest toll in 1830.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

When the heat comes, thousands leave New York. They have many places to go. The seashore bungalow colonies are little cities in themselves. There are other summer cities up in the mountains. In addition, there are hundreds of lakes. In fact, the state of New York offers just about every variety of scenery, except desert, that a vacation lover may desire. Since that is true within commuting distance, during the summer many New Yorkers merely toil in town and sleep and play away from the lights of Broadway. But there are other thousands who cannot do that. For them, the seashore is Coney island, the mountains, the Palisades of New Jersey and the lakes more often than not, the basin of some fountain or maybe just a fireplug shower.

Those thousands, or rather I should say millions, do not live in sections of the city where there is some escape from the effects of the sun. Their dwellings are in the narrow streets of the tenement districts. Their homes are airless and oftentimes dark. For them, there is no escape from the heat. Nights, they crowd the roofs or the parks. Days, they get along as best they can. Often, mothers, to keep their babes from stifling, load them into perambulators and walk with them until the early morning hours afford some relief. It is wearisome, but babies must breathe. And after those all night rambles, the mothers do their housework and cook in kitchens some of which are equipped with coal or wood stoves.

Those street showers are beaches of the tenement youngsters. They shout happily under the cool spray and carry on much like we used to do when we walked out to the old Sycamore, peeled our clothes and enjoyed ourselves in the yellow Scioto. The youngsters of the slums can't go quite that far, however. But they go as far as they can, a single garment satisfying the conventions. Some, however, wear bathing suits. Asked a kid why he did and he replied, "Because it makes me feel like I'm out at Coney." And an old softy turned his head right quick!

An Open Letter

We, the neighbors and friends of Ben F. Greimann, are urging the voters of Hancock County to support him at the General Election on Tuesday, November 6th.

We point out that the southeastern part of Hancock county has not been represented by a Supervisor for the past twenty years. Mr. Greimann, who has been a resident of Liberty township all of his life, and who has been farming for himself for the past twenty years and is a heavy taxpayer, is capable in every way to give the service that is desired of a Supervisor. He is fair and square and will give both economical and efficient service if elected. He has served on the Board of Trustees in Liberty township during the past six years, and at present is a director of the Hancock County Oil Association.

In the past we have supported men from other parts of the county. Now that we have a good man as a candidate for the office of Supervisor we think it only fair to ask the voters in the other parts of the county to help us by voting for Mr. Greimann who will give you honest, efficient and economical service.

Respectfully,

Neighbors and Friends of BEN F. GREIMANN

Manifold Ways in Which the Banks Are Serving the Nation

Handling Millions of Transactions Daily for Individuals, Corporations and State and National Governments—The Structure Strengthened and Deserving of Public Faith

By FRANCIS MARION LAW,
President American Bankers Association

THE banks of the nation provide the machinery through which pass daily many millions of checks and drafts, aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars

F. M. LAW

The banks are largely financing the Federal Government in its Recovery Program, involving the greatest peacetime expenditures ever known.

Likewise the banks are largely financing the current credit needs of states, counties, cities, public schools and other political sub-divisions, all of which have intimately to do with the daily affairs of all of the people.

Each day banks throughout the country are making hundreds of thousands of new loans and they are renewing and extending old loans for the accommodation of a vast number of borrowers, these borrowers being individuals, corporations and partnerships and their loans being incident to agriculture, industry and trade in every community in the land.

The banks, through their trust departments, are continuing the work which they have faithfully carried on throughout the depression and are protecting trust funds placed in their care against the worst shrinkage of values ever known Included in this activity is the service the banks are performing in connection with administering the affairs of widows and orphans.

The banks through the medium of their savings and thrift deposit departments, are furnishing safety for the accumulations of many millions of people and on this class of deposits reasonable interest is paid.

Banks are providing a service for the safe-deposit and safe-keeping of the possessions, papers and securities of a very large number of people.

The officers of banks are unstintedly and unselfishly giving advice and counsel to the people of their communities, thereby to a considerable extent guiding their daily financial and fiscal affairs during this most difficult period of disturbance.

The Banking Structure Strengthened

The banking structure as it is today has been greatly strengthened and the process of strengthening still goes on. Banking is not a closed science The banking system which we have had was not good enough, and I earnestly believe that an able and non-partisan commission should be set up to make a study of our numerous banking laws to the end that a properly correlated banking system might be worked out and submitted for consideration to the next Congress

A good system would include rigid requirements as to management, intelligent and impartial supervision and, in due time unification of supervision. Such a system, composed of banks adequately capitalized capably managed and conscientiously supervised would eliminate any possibility of a recurrence of what has happened in the past four years

The temporary Federal deposit insurance plan under which deposits in banks up to $2,500 for each account are insured has been in effect for six months and has proven a potent factor in restoring confidence Only two small banks out of over fourteen thousand holding membership in the fund have failed during this six months' period. The temporary plan has been extended very wisely for a year, and the amount of the insured deposit has been increased to $5,000, thus insuring in full over 98% in number of the depositors in the country's banks

Hoarded money is returning to the banks and deposits are showing a vast increase Banks everywhere are superliquid, meaning that they have an unusually heavy proportion of their deposits in cash There are two kinds of unemployment in this country—unemployment of men and unemployment of dollars These men and these dollars must be put to work Banks in strong and highly liquid condition are prepared and determined to do their proper part in putting money to work.

Requisites for Grants of Bank Credit

That brings me to the all important question of the granting of credit by banks Two things are necessary to increase bank credit:

1st The banks must be liquid and confident in their own strength.

2nd Business men must further lay their fears and regain confidence to the point where they will dare to think and plan ahead.

The first requisite is accomplished. The second is in process. Bank credits will increase and money will go to work as soon as business men get over their disinclination to borrow and this will be when they begin to see profits within their reach.

In past depressions the real movement of the expansion in bank credit has always come after general business recovery got under way and not before. The number of good credit risks is increasing daily Not in my time have good borrowers been so warmly welcomed at banks as they are today Never before has there been such competition for good loans, nor has the interest rate ever been so low. Every sound business in the country today can get what money it needs.

A Return of Normal Lending

Banks are badly needing loans for revenue purposes, and now that confidence in banks has been largely restored they are naturally returning to a more normal lending policy. Before the bank holiday the confidence of the people was shattered. The thought uppermost in the minds of depositors was the safety of their funds. Withdrawals from banks became increasingly heavy and general. Under such circumstances the banker, mindful of his primary responsibility to his depositors, was more concerned in the collection of loans than in the making of new loans. The result was a severe contraction of credit. For this the banker should not be blamed He simply performed his manifest duty.

Bankers at this time are very properly viewing the credit needs of business with serious and sympathetic consideration. Applicants for loans are not always familiar with the rules governing bank credit and constructive and interested help on the part of the banker will bring about the making of many additional loans, without doing violence to any principle of good banking.

Certainly no one would advocate the making of unsound loans by banks The creation of a large volume of unsound loans would not only weaken the banks—it would prolong the depression and wipe out some of the gains already made. It is to be earnestly hoped that no banker will yield under the pressure of his desire for earnings, or for any other reason, and make loans of the wrong sort. John Ottley of Atlanta, in a recent address, said—"The plan of lending freely and hoping for the best has never proven wise"

There are many needs for credit of kinds which are not within the province of commercial banks to meet. Likewise there are many types of credit, but there are also many types of credit facilities available—enough, it would seem, to meet the requirements of all classes of worthy borrowers.

The Duty of Every Banker

It is clearly the duty of every banker in the country to perform certain services. The most important are

1. To afford perfect safety for deposits.

2. To grant credit to those who deserve it.

In the matter of credits the public must in fairness remember that commercial banks are not lending their own money but the money of their depositors, represented very largely by the earnings and savings of the people. The people who own these deposits have accumulated them through years of labor and sacrifice, and in many cases the deposit represents their all. These depositors have the right to call for their money at any time, or at most on short notice. Deposits constitute a sacred trust

There are certain basic principles in sound banking that must be held onto even in this period of change, but the progressive banker must be responsive to changing conditions and he must be active in seeking proper opportunities to meet the sound needs of his customers.

In a recent message to Congress the President said—"I am greatly hoping that repeated promises that private investment and private initiative to relieve the government in the immediate future of much of the burden which it has assumed will be fulfilled."

Repeated assurance has been given by the Administration that there is no desire on its part to continue government lending a moment longer than is necessary and that at the earliest possible time the government will gladly give way to the banks and other lending institutions This, of course, is as it should be and we are all earnestly looking forward to the time when private initiative and enterprise shall have recovered its vitality sufficiently to throw government crutches away.

Numerous bank failures have created in the minds of many a grossly exaggerated idea as to the losses of depositors in closed banks The record indicates that depositors in banks which closed in the past three years will realize on an average about 65c on the dollar That would mean a loss of 35% It has been estimated that during the depression the average value of investments in stocks lost about 90%; bonds similarly declined approximately 60% and commodities 65%

Deposits in sound banks continued to be worth 100% throughout the depression and 90% of the bank deposits of the country were not affected.

Bankers Deserve Confidence

The country can have full confidence in the integrity and competence of the bankers of the country Out of the lessons of the last few years has come experience that will be valuable to the banker and to his community. He can be counted on to show a proper appreciation of his responsibilities and obligations and to take his place among those who are making earnest and unselfish effort to promote recovery He is not infallible, but with every power that lies within him I believe he may be depended upon to fulfill his duty as a custodian of the people's money as a dispenser of credit and as a God fearing American Citizen imbued with sincere regard for the common good.

RESTORE SMYRNA TO PREVIOUS BEAUTY

Lottery Funds to Be Used for Improvements.

Ismir, Smyrna.—Smyrna, "Turkey's eye on the Mediterranean," is to be restored to its previous beauty.

The city, as port and trading place of Turkey, second only in importance to Istanbul, was almost completely wrecked by the great fire of 1922, when Mustafa Kemal's troops ejected the Greeks, and it is still partly in ruins now.

Under the leadership of Dr. Behtchet Sabit Bey, reconstruction of the city which, incidentally, has the best claim of being Homer's birthplace, will be undertaken.

The city holds vast areas of which it took control after the expulsion of Greeks and Armenians, who had formed about half of the city's total population before the Greco-Turkish war.

On these grounds building lots in residential quarters will be sold at low installment payments and, under certain conditions, even given free of charge.

In the workmen's districts about nine square feet will sell at 20 cents per foot and the city will furnish the building material gratis provided its model plan is adopted.

Under this plan 500 homes so far have been constructed, of which each has a bathroom and is surrounded by a small garden.

Two new main avenues will divide the city into four sections. One will lead straight up from the port to the famous ancient fortress on Mount Pagus and thus open up a magnificent view.

To defray first costs a lottery, expected to yield 400,000 Turkish pounds, is being organized by Ismir's magistrate.

Epicures Learn About World's Strangest Meal

Paris.—Antelope steak . . . porcupine salad . . . bamboo branches . . . and seahogs—

No, not a menu for the zoo; it's merely the very latest ultra-modern bill of fare prepared, and actually eaten by members of the French "Société d'Acclimitation" which is composed of "patrons of culinary art."

They've just tried it out at a banquet fittingly held in the restaurant of the Paris railway terminus from which explorers going to Africa and Asia depart.

The banquet began, as all French banquets must, with an apertif. But, what an apertif! The name itself—Zevenkruidenlikeur—gives some clue but not much. It's made of seven different plants.

With that as a beginning, one strange culinary concoction followed another.

There was India-Chinese marioc, a kind of rice, cooked in the Algerian manner Then there were squids and cuttle-fish followed by a long fish that looked freshly painted and turned out to be what is scientifically known as a sea-hog.

That was followed by vegetables, or at least that is the nearest thing they can be classified as: young bamboo branches cooked with mushrooms (and actually palatable!) and a wild sauce called "lobi-birifor" on the Ivory coast.

Salad. Three little porcupines, neatly carved, with the points broken off so as not to make matters too complicated.

Then came the antelope steak, garnished with a bit of buffalo meat finely chopped.

New Typhoid Serum Is Tested on 65 Patients

New Orleans.—Tests of a new typhoid serum at two hospitals here by a New York physician resulted in his being awarded the gold medal of the American Medical association at Cleveland recently.

Dr. Gregory Schwartzman, of Mount Sinai hospital, in New York, won the award for the serum, which "marks a great advance in the battle on this disease."

When typhoid cases in New York did not offer the doctor such a large field, he came to Charity hospital here with Dr George Baehr, also of the New York hospital.

During a three-month test period, 65 patients received the serum. The "cure" was not only more rapid, but was classed as "remarkable."

Antique Lamps Copied for Rebuilding of City

Cleveland.—Lamp posts of antique fixtures are being manufactured here for use in the reconstruction of Williamsburg, Va., in the architecture of Colonial days. Electricity will continue to be used but the standards and lanterns will resemble those when only candles and whale-oil were burned on the Duke of Gloucester street in Williamsburg.

Home Gold Valued at Over Half Billion

New York.—The value of old gold lying idle in American homes is believed to surpass the output of all the gold mines in the world for an entire year.

A drive to recover old gold, carried on in Britain some time ago, brought to light over half a billion dollars worth of the precious metal. America is believed to have an even greater store.

Grades 7 and 8

Those in the seventh grade who had averages of 90 or above and so made the honor roll for the first six weeks were: Wayne Buseman and Dorance Grange: In the eighth grade: Rueben Grosshuesch, Doris Johnson, Velma Kaduce, Marvin Lemke, LaRayne Stille and Irene Suckow.

Bidders Make Your Sale!

This paper will bring bidders to your sale from over a large trade territory.

Bidders are attracted to a sale through Advertising, and the circulation of this paper insures a crowd. The larger the ad used, the greater is the attention given to what you have to sell. It also brings more and better bidders to your sale. ONE EXTRA BIDDER, in many cases, would more than offset the cost of additional space used.

Who's Who

. . . . in the political race

It being practically impossible to see you all before the coming Election, I wish to introdnce myself to those who do not know me personally and give you my pedigree.

My name W. C. Keraus, of Klemme, Iowa, age 45. I have a wife and two sons. We have been residents of this county practically all our lives. I entered public school at Garner at the age of 5, later moving to a farm in Madison twp.,section 35, graduating from the Hayfield high school and then spending two years at college. The past 21 years we have lived in Klemme. Fifteen years of that time has been in retail stores. The past few years and at present I am conducting a General Insurance Agency.

I have never been a candidate for any county office, and feel highly honored that I was chosen at the Democratic Convention to run as your candidate for County Treasurer. I am in complete harmony with the Democratic Administration and I enter this race with no ill feeling toward my opponent.

I feel confident that I am qualified and am squarely behind the President's Recovery Program. If elected I will endeavor to give you the service you have a right to expect.

I'll do my part—but the big job is up to you to support me and the present administration. You will find my name on the ballot in the first column and the second name in the county ticket. I will appreciate your support for County Treasurer.

I thank you

WHAT THE NEW DEAL

MEANS IN DOLLARS AND CENTS

The Following Cash and Credit Benefits Are The Direct Results of Governmental Leadership and Planning for the People Of Iowa:

Corn loans enabled farmers to hold 130,000,000 bushel of corn off a 10c market and take advantage of a 70c market. Net profit to farmers	$ 65 000 000
Corn-hog benefits to 176,000 co-operating Iowa farmers total	$ 73 000 000
Estimated increase in value of this year's Hog crop, (compared to last year), as the result of New Deal measures	$ 48 000 000
Refinancing of Iowa farms for a 33 year period at the lowest interest rate in history	$ 112 000 000
Refinancing of loans on 12,000 Iowa homes by Home Owners Loan Corporation	$ 24 000 000
CCC camps affording work for 8,000 men in Iowa, preventing soil erosion and improving public lands. Expenditures for wages and supplies	$ 6 000 000
Emergency Relief Administration saved Iowa property owners a 30 per cent increase in taxes by providing, through Governor Herring's state relief administration, a total of	$ 26 400 000
Total principal cash and credit benefits coming to Iowa through the New Deal	$354 400 000

WHY YOU SHOULD STAND BY THE DEMOCRATS

Every man and woman on the Democratic ticket is pledged to keep Iowa squarely behind the President's recovery program.

Therefore, a vote for the Democratic ticket is a vote in support of the President.

It also is a vote approving and asking for a continuance of progressive state government—the kind that has brought you these benefits:

Reduction of the cost of state government, compared to the cost under the last Republican state administration, totaling $9,173,175.40.

A tax revision act which, by means of an income tax, a corporation tax and a sales tax, lifts $20,000,000 of the tax burden from real estate and requires 800,000 non-property owners to pay a share of the cost of government.

Reorganization of Iowa's banks, which are now in a sound condition and able to render the service you require of them.

Adoption of a new securities act to protect Iowa investors against stock swindlers who have thrived in the state in the past.

Adoption of a moratorium act which enabled farmers to hold their farms until federal refinancing could be completed.

Creation of the Iowa Emergency Relief administration which has distributed $25,000.000 of federal funds, without obligation on the part of Iowans, to the distressed citizens of our state.

Refunding of road bonds to avoid a heavy property tax.

An old age pension providing support for the aged and infirm.

Adoption of a liquor control system, which is driving out the bootlegger and paying its way from its earnings.

Saving of $750,000 annually to automobile owners, through reduction of license fees.

Creation of a Farm Debt Advisory Council which is saving thousands of farms from foreclosure.

If Iowa Renounces Such a Record as This, What Can the Future Hold—What Have We to Go Back To?

LECTION OF THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR STATE OFFICE, CONGRESS, THE LEGISLATURE, E JUDICIAL OFFICES AND FOR THE LOCAL OFFICES WILL BE IOWA'S GUARANTEE THAT THE NEFITS OUR PEOPLE HAVE RECEIVED UNDER THE NEW DEAL WILL CONTINUE AND THAT OUR BLIC AFFAIRS WILL BE ADMINISTERED BY CAPABLE, HONEST & PROGRESSIVE PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

GOOD SPEECH CAMPAIGN

In the eighth grade English class a good speech campaign was carried out. If incorrect English was used, a purple tag was pinned on the individual. Everyone was required to write a short theme illustrating the importance of good English. The following one shows us that the use of good English is indeed valuable.

How Good English Helped A Girl Win Success

A certain man put an article in the paper for a girl to answer the telephone and door bell in his office. Five or six different girls came to apply for the job. When he questioned them, he found that not a one used good English. Another girl came in just then. She was very polite and used good English. The man decided she was just the one to answer his telephone and doorbell. He hired her. She had won success because she spoke good English.—Doris Johnson.

Sugar Beet Growers To Sign Reduction Contract

SUGAR BEET GROWERS WILL MEET NEXT THURSDAY EVE

A meeting for sugar beet growers in Hancock county will be held Thursday night, November 15, at the Legion hall in Britt to discuss the sugar beet program, according to County Agent S. J. Oberhauser.

H. E. Nichols of the Iowa Ex the sugar beet program in Iowa, will meet with the growers to explain the sugar situation and to discuss the main points of the adjustment contract.

One or more committee men will be elected at the meeting to help with the sign-up campaign. Since the contracts will be handled thru the county agent's office the organization will be on a county basis.

The following week a second meeting will be held at which details of the contract will be explained and an opportunity given the growers to sign the contract.

The grower will be asked to reduce his 1935 acreage under that of 1933. The total acreage reduction will not be more than 10 per cent of the 1933 acreage for the sugar beet district. Because the contract runs with the land, the share tenant must either have control of it for 1935 and 1936 or have the landlord sign with him for the 1936 crop.

The contract covers the 1935 crop and at the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture, the 1936. The farm owner or tenant who has control of the land for 1935 and 1936, and who grew beets either in 1933 or 1934, may sign the contract and receive allotments.

The grower who planted beets in 1934 may apply for a benefit payment on the 1934 crop and if he grew beets in 1933 he is entitled to a tax refund on the 1933 crop.

This first 1934 benefit payment of $1 per ton will be based on the growers estimate dproduction this season. In case he has been forced to abandon part or all of his planted acreage this year, he will still receive the advance payments this fall, and the second or final payment and the factory price, to give him parity price for his actual production or his estimaetd production whchever is the higher.

GET ACQUAINTED

If you are a sportsman interested in better hunting and fishing conditions, get acquainted with your local deputy game warden. That is the only reason he is assigned to your territory. You both are interested in the same thing and should be good friends. Two heads are better than one and you might be surprised about the amount of good that would come through such a meeting.

ELL FARM BUREAU TO MEET THURSDAY EVENING

The Ell township Farm Bureau will meet this Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Ell school house No. 8. Harold Zickefoose, of Thornton, a member of the party that went to Alaska for research work last year will speak of the Alaskam trip and work done there. Other interesting numbers are planned for on the evening's program.

130 ABSENT VOTERS' BALLOTS REQUESTED

Application for 130 absent voters ballots were made to County Auditor Fred C. Missal. This is the largest number of absent voters ballots ever applied for in Hancock county, according to records.

DRILLING OF KLEMME WELL IS NEARING COMPLETION

The work of drilling, installing pipes, connecting up the pumps and testing will all be completed here in a few days by the Thorpe Well Co. who are drilling the deep well in Klemme.

Mr. Bergeson, who is in charge of the work here, will give The Times a complete report when the work is completed and this will be published in an early issue.

Tuesday the heavy well casing had been installed and the drillers went to work on their final lap of drilling through the St Peter sand stone. A cave-in of shale necessitated drilling out the cave-in which slowed up the operations for a short time.

When this well is completed Klemme should have one of the finest water supplies in Northern Iowa.

INTER-CLASS TOURNAMENT

Last Thursday night the juniors won the class tournament at the high school gymnasium by a close score

The sophomores, seniors and juniors each had an average of .666 and it was agreed that the sophomores play the juniors and the winners play the seniors. The juniors and seniors put on another of their furious battles and for the second time in the tournament these two teams played a double overtime period. The seniors were handicapped by the fact that only four of their players were present. They put up a game battle the odds were against them and they were finally forced to concede the game to the juniors.

The seniors and sophomores then played for second place with the seniors winning. Scores of the games were as follows:

Juniors 20; Sophomores 9
Juniors 22; Seniors 18
Seniors 23; Sophomores 13

Rev. Wm. Zabilika and daughter Gladys, and R. A. Jorgenson and son, Junior, drove to Mason City Friday evening to see the football game between the Mason City Junior College and the Fort Dodge Junior College. The game was well matched, and neither had lost a game this year. The Mason City Juniors won the game 7 to 0, making their touchdown in the latter part of the second quarter.

NOVEMBER 10TH FINAL DATE TO SIGN FODDER CONTRACTS

Any producer of corn fodder or stover in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota may sign a corn fodder and stover contract whether or not he has previously signed for an application for a contract, according to L. W Plager, chief of the AAA Forage Conservation program. The contracts are in the hands of all county agents and farm advisors in counties outside the primary drouth areas in Iowa, Illinois, Ohio Minnesota and Indiana, and must be signed by November 10, the final date of the sign-up period.

The period of application for contracts has been officially closed in Ohio and Indiana for some time due to corn borer quarantine restrictions which do not allow corn forage to be shipped out of these two states. Ohio and Indiana fodder will be utilized only in corn borer areas within the states. Consequently, only those who signed applications for contracts before the period was officially closed are eligible to sign contracts in Ohio and Indiana. These producers will have the government guarantee to insure a market for the material, if they do not previously find one more advantageous to them. Any producer in any of the five states may sell his contracted material privately if he reports the sale to his county agent, who in turn will report it to the Waterloo office.

The application period in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota is still open however, and it is not too late for anone in these states to obtain a contract. Contracts in these three states may be signed by those producers who have not signed application blanks to date, as well as by those who previously signed an application for a contract. The main purpose of the signing of application blanks was to provide an estimate of the amount of corn forage that would be contracted and to assure the farmer that the government would give him a contract.

DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS HELD MEETINGS HERE

A Democratic rally was held at the school gymnasium Saturday evening, and a Republican rally was held on Monday night. Only a fair sized crowd was present for each of the rallies.

Al's 8 Silvertones, newly organized local orchestra, furnished the music for both occasions, with Otho Keraus singing the vocal solos.

The old type of rally seems to have passed out with the horse and buggy. The rally of today lacks the fire and thunder of the days—way back when—. Good speakers were on hand for both parties, but it seems that the average man and woman would rather sit at home and listen to the radio.

The old political spell-binder is no more!

INQUIRING REPORTER

What Did You Think of The Teachers' Convention?

I enjoyed the Convention although I had difficulty in finding standing room at some of the meetings. There was one lecture Friday afternoon that I especially wanted to hear, but people were packed in the hall-way when I got there. I think we made a mistake in not taking a picnic dinner along as we had to wait two hours for a table at the lunch hour.....I was glad that we had an opportunity to hear Miss Frances Perkins. I also enjoyed seeing old friends and acquaintances. In a conversation with Miss Adela Schroeder, I learned that she always reads the "Squealer" and enjoys especially the "Inquiring reporter."—Agnes Galbreth.

I thought the Teachers' Convention was very interesting. Meetings were held all over the city and one could attend any meeting in which he was particularly interested. One geography session was especially helpful to me because the subject of the lecture was certain countries of South America which our seventh grade is studying at the present time. Films were used showing the products and industries of these countries. Various types of tests were compared and discussed.—Miss Ford.

What do I think of the State Teachers' Convention? It was a grand and varied experience. The high points were the Younkers Tea Room luncheon for home economics which lasted from 12:30 to 5:30; the address in the capacious Shrine Temple by Francis Perkins, U. S. Secretary of Labor, to nearly 8000 teachers only; the reception and dance at Hotel Fort Des Moines; the shopping amid all kinds of "cute and clever" clothes; the meeting of old and new friends and relatives; the Homecoming events at Drake University (where brother Jess studies law); the multitude of well-dressed and interesting people; the marvelous entertainment at the Orpheum Theater (including the rhumba hoola hoola by Hawaiians and raw jokes like "Love is like hash because you have to have confidence in it to enjoy it".); an interesting luncheon at "The Palms"; the jolly ride to and from (I'll have to tell you some of the wise cracks made by members of our very own faculty in a gay mood); the impressive Sunday services at the University Church of Christ; and the exquisite chrysanthemums in the flower shops! I simply wouldn't be the same without the convention.—Miss Arends.

I think the State Teachers' meeting was both educational and inspirational. The speakers this year were unusually good. I enjoyed hearing Miss Perkins, secretary of Labor. I was very sorry that I was not able to hear Dr. Cadman. The commercial exhibits were varied and interesting. "Judd" Dean of Simpson gave a talk to coaches on "Basketball Offense". The State Teachers' Institute is a vacation for both pupils and teachers. For the teachers it is a welcome break in the routine of teaching and, also, a chance to see and visit with old friends.—A. L. Kingery.

Why The State Teachers' Meeting Is More Valuable than the District.

The State Teachers' Meeting at Des Moines in the fall is more valuable than the district meeting in the spring. All the important business for the year is transacted. All activities such as athletics, declamatory, music, etc. are organized for the state. If the school is not represented, it does not help form the policies it is interested in. Changes in state school law and college requirement are explained at the superintendent's section. Research workers from the universities speak. If the teacher learns any thing new in teaching methods, she can apply them during the entire school year by attending the meeting in the fall.—D. L. Hunter.

McMillin, Missal, Hanson, Raw And Katter Were All Re-elected

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE ELECTION

The first ballot in Ell township was cast by John Humphrey, who resides about seven and one half miles northeast of Klemme. Mr. Humphrey perhaps had as far to go as anyone in the vicinity to vote but he was "Johnny on the spot" waiting for the polls to open.

George Lau and Lee Ridder had a "kneck and kneck" race as they were the last to vote in Klemme. George's coat tails were flying and he beat Lee in the door by a half shoe length Lee was number three hundred and sixty two to vote.

Only two spoiled ballots were found—that's a mighty good record.

Local interest seemed to center around two candidates in particular: Greiman and Schoun. How are they running? That was a question heard everywhere here.

Bill Greiman on the election board was worried for fear his matches would give out. The last we saw of Bill his cigar was so short we thought his chewing tobacco was on fire.

We won't vouch for it, but we were told that the counting board in the basement of the bank played checkers part of the time. Now, we ask you, is that the way to waste the tax-payers money?

Ever see a cartoon of the Republican rooster after election, how his head drooped like he had a bad pain in the neck? Well, a couple of Klemme men felt just that bad when the news rolled in that Herring was re-elected by a big majority. They also had a pain in the neck and their heads drooped.

A few ballots just had one cross on them but they were scarce as hen's teeth.

It would be fine if all boards worked as fast as the Klemme election board. We telephoned the first report in at 8:05. The polls closed at 8:00 o'clock. The final report was also the first to be telephoned in to county headquarters. Give the boys a big hand for fast work.

We Republicans can fold up our tents now and wait until the wind blows the other way!

The brass lunged orators can now sit down for a couple of years and think up some new arguments for the next campaign.

We thought Eck Zeidler was running for office but found that he was only passing out campaign cards at the drug store corner.

And the boys staged a little excitement of their own for assesor in Ell township.

One pious, dyed-in-the-wool, stand pat Republican made the statement Tuesday, that if Herring was re-elected, he would accumulate the necessary amount of fire water to become polluted, three sheets in the wind, completely lit-up, plastered, —or what have you. Are you Demos going to hold him to it?

Two years ago Klemme had three Democrats: John Day, U. G. Smid, and Herman Paul. Now count 'em!

The Demos have dug in their toes and have gained a foothold in Hancock county offices: Greimann as Supervisor, Johnson as Representative and Kraus as Ell township assessor.

HERRING WINS FOR GOVERNOR

Gilchrist Given Slender Lead Over Meyers

In a hotly contested race for supervisor Ben F. Greimann won over Frank Schoun by a majority of 204 votes. Penn Eckels won over E. P. Cook in the other supervisor contest.

The race for State Representative was also close with Oscar Johnson, Democrat, nosing out J. A. Chambers, Republican, by 185 votes.

All of the other presetn county officers were re-elected.

Kenneth Boughton of Britt won over Schleusner of Garner for County Coroner.

Early reports gave Herring a lead of over 50,000 votes over Turner for Governor.

Late reports gave Gilchrist a slender lead over Meyer, democrat for Congress.

A tabulated report on how Hancock County voted will be found elsewhere in this issue.

DAIRY FEED BULLETIN GIVES RATION FOR EMERGENCY USE

How to make the best of available feed supplies in the dairy cow's ration is explained in a new bulletin, "Feeding Dairy Cattle in Drought and Semi-Drought Areas" which is now available from the office of the County Agent, S. J. Oberhauser.

With low quality roughage making up a large part of the available feed supply, the tendency this winter will be to feed dairy rations short in protein and minerals. Balanced rations are important because a cow cannot produce the maximum amount of butterfat unless she has all of the elements necessary for manufacturing milk and butterfat.

This bulletin which anyone may get by notifying the Farm Bureau office in Garner, gives several formulas for balanced rations in which fodder, stover or silage form an important part.

HUNTING DOGS AND GAME

I. T. Bode, State Fish and Game Warden, is urging all hunters to use a retriever in their hunting operations this year. He points out that the use of hunting dogs will save a large amount of game by making in possible for the hunters to retrieve their lost and crippled birds. It is especially important this year in the hunting of ducks and pheasants because of the reported decrease in numbers. If by the use of a dog the hunter is able to retrieve all the birds he shoots down instead of losing from 30 to 50 percent of them, the number of birds destroyed by the hunter to get his bag limit will be lowered.

Use a retriever.

FINDS BANKS WILLING, BORROWERS CAUTIOUS

Prominent Writer Refutes Statements Bankers Are Refusing Sound Loans — Describes Reasons for Reduced Volume of Credit.

FIGURES supplied by typical, well-managed banks in different parts of the country show that a high proportion of all applications for loans have been granted in the past year or two, says Albert W. Atwood in a recent article in The Saturday Evening Post on "The Idle Dollar." Excerpts from Mr. Atwood's article follow:

"Frequently banks state that as high as 90 per cent of all such applications are granted and for from 60 to 75 per cent of the amount asked for. Allowing that the bankers make these figures as favorable to their own case as possible, it seems strange that we are told again and again that banks are not lending at all.

"If we take into account the whole class of regular bank borrowers, the plain fact is very few want to borrow yet. For the word 'borrow' is merely another name for the word 'debt; and we face a great world-wide drive to get out of debt.

"An experienced small-city banker, asked if banks were lending freely enough, wisely replied: 'The really good borrower does not wish to borrow now. In fact, I think our customers are making a remarkably fine showing in paying off their loans, especially loans of long standing.'

The Shrinkage of Credit

"Or if we think of business concerns rather than of individuals, it is conservative to say that those able to maintain high credit ratings have been mostly the ones able to maintain ample cash resources and, therefore, least in need of credit. As prices and costs fell, many concerns found themselves with plenty of cash because of the shrinkage in operations. Cash resources were still further swollen by reduced dividends, and smaller inventories made bank borrowings still less necessary.

"Expressed in another way, banks cannot expand credit, they cannot make loans, unless there is a demand for the same. Fundamentally, the business transaction makes the loan, the loan does not make the transaction. It is a mistake to try to force upon business organizations funds which they do not need. Under the circumstances the 'idle dollar' is a natural and proper enough phenomenon. A demand for credit is difficult to create artificially, and there is always danger in so doing.

"Banks must be liquid enough at all times to pay depositors. The idea of a commercial loan is that it represents a self-liquidating process in business. If the banker makes only those advances that are inherently sound, and selects his maturities wisely, he will have incoming funds to meet demands.

Government Lending

"As everybody knows, the Government has vast lending agencies, for home owners, farmers, and the like. These have nothing to do with the subject of this article, except that all such Government operations would be impossible if the banks did not lend the Government money for the purpose.

"No one can set a time when borrowing will be resumed. But it will come when men once more feel that conditions are sufficiently settled to warrant them in taking chances, in entering upon deals, and in trying to make money."

Mr. Atwood says that it may be that the banks are overcautious now, just as they were overconfident in 1929, but calls attention to the fact that until a little more than a year ago banks were failing "partly because they had loaned too freely, and were being criticized right and left for precisely that fault." He adds:

"Indeed, the banks which had been cautious in their lending policy came through the crisis safely. Under such conditions it is utterly useless to criticize banks for not making loans. After the experience they had for several years, especially in 1932 and 1933, it is only natural that they should relax their requirements very slowly and gradually.

"Unfortunately, many of the applications for loans are not from people who want temporary banking accommodation for three or six months and are quite able to meet their maturity dates, but are from those who really need permanent capital. They are busted and they want someone to stake them to a new start. What they really seek is a partner to furnish them with long-time capital. But depositors insist upon being paid on demand, and, therefore, it is a grave question whether banks should tie up their funds for any length of time."

HOW ONE FARMER HELPED HIMSELF

A farmer accustomed to keeping records found that it cost $16.50 to produce an acre of corn. His average yield was 33 bushels, selling for 50 cents per bushel. On this basis he was producing without either profit or loss.

A study of his costs indicated means by which the yields might be increased without proportional expenses. By making use of facts discovered at the Experiment Stations, the farmer secured an increased yield of four and one-half bushels per acre (37½ bushels, instead of 33). By increasing the yield and holding down expenses, this farmer was able to make a profit of six cents per bushel.

DEMAND FOR LIQUOR NOT WHAT EXPECTED

Consumption Is Not a Half That of Pre-Dry Era.

Washington.—Either the American thirst for liquor is not what it used to be or the bootlegger is doing a better business than his legal competitor. Whatever the cause, it now appears that the consumption of legal liquor in the first year of repeal will be considerably less than half the amount consumed in a normal year of the pre-Volstead era.

The legal liquor industry that sprang up almost over night after 13 years of drydom, is finding its dream of quick profits only a dream, and heavy losses are threatening to close down distilleries and retail establishments throughout the country. Imported wines and liquors are lying in warehouses and there is more than ample liquor now on hand to satisfy even an unprecedented demand.

In short, figures issued by the Treasury department and by the code authority for the distilling industry indicate a surprising failure on the part of the drinking public to consume the amount of liquor it had been expected to consume on the basis of past performances.

Blame Bootleggers.

Spokesmen for both the government and the distilling industry were inclined to attribute this failure to the continued competition of illicit liquor, rather than to any loss of appetite on the part of drinking Americans. They blamed the high price of legal liquor and representatives of the industry went further to blame the high prices on high taxes.

What with federal taxes of $2 a gallon, state taxes ranging even higher in some places, and heavy licensing fees in nearly every locality, members of the industry argue, prices of legal liquor cannot be low enough to compete with the prices of illegal liquor on which no tax is paid at all.

Moreover, according to the industry's spokesmen, repeal did not completely change the drinking habits developed during the thirteen years' reign of the bootlegger. The illicit dealer is still highly patronized, they declare, and in one quarter it was estimated that for every gallon of legal, tax paid liquor consumed, two gallons of illicit, untax paid liquor is sold.

During prohibition, it is estimated, some 100,000,000 gallons of bootleg liquor were consumed each year, and the legal liquor industry argues that because of high prices, which they blame on high taxes, much of this huge illicit traffic still exists.

Dr. James M. Doran, chairman of the Distilled Spirits institute, distillers' code authority, estimates that more than 36,000,000 gallons of legal liquor will be consumed this year on the basis of consumption up to June. This, he pointed out, is just about half the amount of liquor consumed in even the leanest pre-prohibition years. Annual normal consumption prior to the dry era, according to Doctor Doran, was about 84,000,000 gallons a year.

Imports Are Down.

While the domestic industry is confronting a serious problem due to the unexpectedly low demand for legal spirits, the foreign producer and importer is likewise faring badly in the American market, figures compiled by the Treasury department indicate.

Since repeal became a reality on December 5, the treasury disclosed, imports of liquor have totaled 8,204,227 gallons. Prior to that date, some 40,111 gallons were on hand in bonded warehouses, bringing the total supplies of foreign liquor in this country up to June 30 to 8,304,338 gallons.

Only 8,748,818 gallons have been withdrawn, however, leaving 4,560,520 gallons of imported whiskies and spirits still unused in the warehouses. Allowing for present stocks on retail shelves, the treasury's figures would indicate that less than 3,700,000 gallons of foreign liquor have been consumed in this country in the eight months since prohibition ended.

At the same time the lack of demand has caused importers to fall far short of the amount of foreign liquor they expected to bring to American shores after prohibition ended. Imports have amounted to only two-fifths of the quotas allowed by the control board for the period between December 5 and April 30. Only about one-fifth of the December-April quota, moreover, has moved into consumptive channels.

Moscow and Leningrad Police in New Uniforms

Moscow, U. S. S. R.—The police of Moscow and Leningrad (they're called militia in the Soviet union) now are the envy of their comrades in other Russian cities.

They have dropped their dull olive drab uniforms for sprightly new costumes consisting of gray-blue trousers and a short dark-blue coat, something like those of the French "ajean."

Meanwhile, the police in the provinces, not so fortunate as their urban brothers, continue to wear drab olive.

Kansas Plants Million Fish in Streams, Lakes

Pratt, Kan.—Approximately 1,000,000 fish have been planted in the streams, ponds and state lakes of Kansas, about 300,000 being channel cat from 6 to 12 inches long, which were distributed in fresh waters to the delight of fishermen. The fishing season is on and the banks are spotted with anglers.

CARD SHARKS AGAIN AT WORK ON LINERS

Easily Evade Vigilance of Ships' Officers.

London.—Despite the vigilance of steamship authorities, cardsharpers are once again operating on the trans-Atlantic liners and reaping a golden harvest from unwary American and British passengers.

The card sharks already have done very well for themselves, this season, police report. The menace to the unsuspecting and inexperienced traveler is said to be greater today than at any time since the war.

Americans Robbed.

Since the beginning of the season American visitors to Europe have been robbed of tens of thousands of dollars. One case which has come to the attention of the authorities is that of an American honeymoon couple whose stay was cut short as a result of cardsharpers the husband met on board the liner.

Although the ships' officers do their best to warn passengers, there are victims each voyage. The manner in which the crooks operate was explained here by local steamship authorities.

After a casual meeting in the smoke room one of the sharks proposes a quiet party in a stateroom. This course has been adopted because of the vigilance of the stewards in the public rooms.

Work in Groups.

The sharks have taken to working in groups of five. It pays, they have found, to have one or two of the gang "floating" near the table to sidetrack interested onlookers, whose attention to the game might lead them to clews to the sharpers' code.

The "danger night" is the last night at sea, when the bird is ready to be plucked.

Incidentally, young men have gone out of the game. It is practiced now by middle-aged men—slightly gray at the temples, of course—who pose as Canadians.

There is one risk these sharks will not run—a voyage terminating at Liverpool or Southampton. An east-bound trans-Atlantic voyage means one thing to the sharks—New York-Cherbourg, and no further.

Roofs Utilized as Homes by Ejected Argentines

Buenos Aires.—When the landlady couldn't collect her rent from the unemployed clerk, she threw him out—on the roof, and he's stayed there ever since.

Up six flights, through skylights, out on the roofs of Buenos Aires today live 10,000 men. These roof-dwellings are comfortably fixed with sides of kerosene cans riveted on wood and tarpaulin roofing that's waterproof when it doesn't rain.

A stove, a bed, sometimes another bit of furniture, they dot the flat roofs and cost from three to ten pesos a month. Born of the depression, the roof seemed better than the street, and landladies hoisted their delinquent roomers up one after the other.

Bright, airy, cheap and taxless because the higher up the fewer visits by collectors. The roof-dwellers have their neighbors, too, across the narrow canons. If they had biscuits, they could toss one across easier than Washington threw a dollar across the Potomac.

On one central roof, six men live. Two speak English like a British broadcaster, while two are Cockneys, and the other two are Irish. This group steers clear of political discussion. It's too long a drop from the roof.

Russians Plan Meeting to Study Stratosphere

Leningrad.—A world conference of authorities on the stratosphere is likely to be held in Russia in 1936.

It will coincide with a total eclipse of the sun, which is the most advantageous time to study the upper layers of the air.

This was the proposal voted by a conference of Soviet stratosphere experts here recently.

Meanwhile plans are being formulated for a new ascent into the stratosphere this summer. It is not expected that an attempt to beat Russia's own world record height of 63,327 feet will be made.

The intention is to study the stratosphere as much as possible with instruments improved by the knowledge gained from the record ascent.

Watch Lost by U. S. War Vet in France Is Found

Brockton, Mass.—Henry Noonan lost his watch while serving with the French ambulance unit during the World war. He was notified recently that it had been found. Mrs. Mary O'Neil, of Faribault, Minn., who just came into possession of it, asked in a letter to the Brockton lodge of Elks to locate Noonan for her, because his name and lodge number were inscribed on the back of the watch.

World's Smallest Article Is Exhibited in Chicago

Chicago.—The smallest article ever made by man—127 letters from the Book of Luke written on a space as tiny as the point of a needle—is one of the minute novelties in Jules Charbeau's collection at the Italian Village in A Century of Progress.

The verse can be read easily through a microscope.

On November the eleventh, in the year 1918, the Armistice was signed at eleven o'clock. The roar of the cannon was stilled. The firing of guns ceased. Weary soldeirs relaxed their set faces into smiles and tears of joy rolleddown dusty cheeks. The was was over and the fighting on the battlefields came to an end. Those who were living returned to their homes but not the same as they had left. The tragedy of war was to live forever in their memories like a nightmare, the cry of a dying comrade was to ring forever in their ears and the sight of the helpless cripple an eternal vision before their eyes.

It has been customary in our school to pay our small tribute to the soldiers who gave their lives us by facing the east when the clock points to the hour of eleven, for one minute. This year, however, Armistice Day falls upon Sunday. We shall not face the east as we have done in school perhaps, but the least we can do is to think of the thousands who gave up their lives and let us hope that they have not died in vain and that the prayers for future Peace of the World shall be answered.—B. JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY

If your chickens are minus a few feathers or if you have noticed a scarcity of box elder bugs, you can probably lay the blame to Vella Paul. Last Monda night Vella entertained the Juniors, Seniors and the Faculty at a Hallowe'en party. The fun for the first part of the evening was in the nature of a scavenger hunt for which the guests had to collect such articles as mentioned above. The rest of the evening was spent in a treasure hunt, fortune telling, bobbing for apples and many other interesting games.

Later in the evening a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. At the close of the evening it was unanimously agreed that Vella was a real hostess; everyone had a wonderful time.

Banking Service

Many persons regard a Bank only as a place to deposit or borrow money. The fact is that a Bank provides the necessary facilities for many other essential and invaluable forms of financial services:

It is the custodian of the funds deposited to your credit.

It is your agent in paying out these funds as you direct by written order (check).

It makes immediately available to you in cash, the amount of any check, draft or money order received by you notwithstanding the legal place of payment may be far away. Except for banking services you would have to present such check or money order personally at the place at which payable.

It is your bookkeeper in all financial matters and maintains an accurate and irrefutable record of all transactions which record is available to you at all times.

These and other such services are rendered most efficiently by our Bank.

Perhaps you've read about Ramon Million. I think the Recording Angel placed a gold mark opposite Ramon Million's name. The only money he has is his name because he's been out of work a long time. He came out of his home on One Hundred Eighth street and found a bunch of heat-exhausted kids trying to turn on a fire hydrant. They weren't strong enough so Ramon Million did it for them. He cooled off the kids. But he broke the law. While he still had the wrench in his hand, along came a radio car and Ramon Million was arrested.

In court, he made no attempt to deny his guilt. The magistrate was sympathetic and imposed a fine of only $2. Million didn't have even a nickel so he went to jail for two days. And I sincerely hope his cell was cool and comfortable—as cool and comfortable as he made those youngsters.

Speaking of hot weather, happened to notice two men high up on a scaffold cleaning the front of an apartment house. Usually this is done with a sand blast, a gritty, hard job. But in this instance, with the mercury well up toward the top of the tube, live steam was being used!

Maybe Society—Big S—isn't harking back to the Harry Lehr monkey party days, but right after the Astor-French show over at Newport, out at Syosset, L. I., there was a debutante party with a "milk bar" at which a genuine, tail-swishing, pail-upsetting Bossy was a feature. Also circus freaks helped enliven the occasion.

Dinner in Los Angeles; Lunch at World's Fair

Chicago.—Dinner in Los Angeles and lunch on the World's fair grounds in Chicago is the record established by M. T. Donnelley and three members of his family recently. They flew in one of United Air Lines' three-mile-a-minute transports similar to the one exhibited in the dome of the Travel and Transport building at the fair.

Other air travelers are having lunch in New York and dining on the fair grounds.

Youthful Fisherman Uses Toy Sailboat as Bobber

Waltham, Mass.—Veteran fishermen can get a few pointers from Paul Milvill, eleven, on how to catch, not only the big ones, but a good many at a time. Paul uses a toy sail boat to which he attaches four lines with baited hooks. The boat goes out about 50 feet with the lines trolling behind and when the fish bite the hooks the boat bobs up and down. He then pulls in his fish.

ADJUSTING BANKING TO CHANGING NEEDS

By ROBERT V. FLEMING

Vice President American Bankers Association

BANKERS recognize that changing conditions require new methods of doing business. However it is their responsibility to retain those essential and sound financial principles upon which this country was founded and has grown to be what is still the richest nation in the world.

R. V. FLEMING

Many of our difficulties have arisen from lack of confidence and from misunderstanding. Therefore it behooves the banker to bend every effort to create a better public understanding of sound banking and thereby bring about that united effort and cooperative spirit which will hasten the day of national recovery and restore to the banker the confidence of the public to which he is entitled.

As an approach to the realization of this ideal, bankers should carefully scrutinize every application for a loan to see if it is bankable and, if it is not in bankable form, then make further examination to see if the loan can be made so, in order that the uses of credit may be stimulated.

Explaining Loan Factors to Customers

We must not expect our customers to be bankers and understand all the factors which we must consider before granting a loan. If we find that a loan is not, and cannot be made, bankable, then I think we should take pains to explain to the applicant the reasons why it cannot be granted.

There are other measures which I think it important for the banker to undertake in order to eliminate the misunderstandings which have arisen and overcome the sentiment which exists. Under present conditions we have to operate under many laws and regulations, and also watch what further legislation is being proposed which affects our methods of operation and may not be in the best interest of the communities we serve. Nowadays it seems at times we must sit with a law book in one hand and a book of regulations in the other in order to make certain we are discharging our daily duties and functioning strictly in accordance with the law. All of this is very trying, yet I think in the end we shall become better bankers.

I believe it is the duty of every banker today to endeavor to understand the public he serves. In addition to his daily duties, trying as they are, he should participate in the activities of his community, so that, with the fund of information available to him, he may be as helpful as possible in all public and civic matters.

COMPTROLLER COMMENDS INSTITUTE OF BANKING

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The American Institute of Banking, said to be the most successful project of its kind in the field of applied adult education, has performed a valuable function in training bank clerks for "sound public service as well as personal success," J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, said here in a recent radio address. The institute is a section of the American Bankers Association.

"While imparting useful knowledge, it has improved the morale of banking personnel and has stimulated in its members an intelligent interest in national and international monetary problems," Mr. O'Connor said. "Its courses cover a wide field in banking. Among the subjects, one finds Bank Organization and Operation, Commercial Law, Negotiable Instruments Law, and Economics, in the Pre-Standard Division; followed by such subjects as Money and Banking, Credit Management, Financial Statement Analysis and Bank Management, in the Standard Division.

"Each and every subject is one which is necessary to a knowledge of banking. However, the institute does not stop here, but encourages graduate study in Corporation Finance, Trust Service, Farm Credit Administration and Business Forecasting. Again it emphasizes in special courses the importance of the less technical but highly beneficial study of Constructive Customer Relations, Banking Fundamentals and Public Speaking. No comment is necessary on these courses: their valuc is at once apparent."

BOOKLET ON FARM CREDIT

A booklet has been published by the Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, on "Factors Affecting Farm Credit," for the purpose of furthering on a national scale the taking of farm inventories and the making of credit statements as sponsored by the commission in cooperation with the state colleges of agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The goal is better relationships between farmers and their banks.

The booklet is devoted to the types of loans generally required by farmers, the need for farm credit, how it can be obtained, when it is safe to borrow, what principles to follow to establish credit in advance of needs, and how both the lender and borrower are interested in sound, productive farm credit.

Local Man Will Leave Soon On England Trip

S. S. GRANGE AND SON, PAUL, LEAVE SOON FOR ENGLAND

Will Visit In England Until After The First of The Year

S. S. Grange and son, Paul Grange, of this city, have received passports and made all arrangements for a trip to England, the old home of S. S. Grange.

They will leave Klemme Monday, November 19th in their car for New York, from which place they will sail for Liverpool, England, leaving the United States on the 24th. They will probably eat their Thanksgiving turkey aboard the ship but will enjoy Christmas at Manchester, England, their destination and where they will visit with relatives and old friends of the senior Grange. Mr. S. S. Grange will also look after business while in England as he has interests there.

They do not expect to return to the United States until after the holidays. Paul is taking a moving picture camera with him on the trip and will no doubt have some interesting pictures on his return.

This is Paul's second visit to England. He was but a small boy when he took the trip with his mother and says he does not remember a whole lot about it.

FARMERS' UNION CELEBRATED "UNCLE DORN'S" BIRTHDAY

Several hundred people met at the Clear Lake community building Thursday afternoon and evening, November 1, to help celebrate the 93rd birthday of Mr. A. F. Dornblaser, better known to the Farmers of this community as "Uncle Dorn." Mr. Dornblaser has been outstanding in the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America since its beginning over some thirty years ago.

The meeting began in the afternoon with speeches and entertainment. Those wishing to attend both sessions of the meeting brought their lunch and had a picnic supper.

The evening session was attended by a crowd of about 700 people. The program was opened by Joe Warm of Mason City who introduced the speakers of the evening. The address of welcome was given by Mayor A. B. Phillips which was responded to by Peter Barendregt of Belmond. Mrs. Charle Ax and Mrs. Howard Spitler of the Liberty local then sang a song, composed by Mrs. Ax, about the Farmers' Union convention held in Des Moines last September. Glen B. Miller, of Des Moines, state president of the Farmers' Union, introduced Uncle Dorn who responded with a short talk. Mr. Miller also presented him with a purse of money.

Mr. Miller then introduced Milo Reno, president of the Farm Holiday association, who gave the main address of the evening. Mr. Reno talked on subjects that are interesting to the farmers.

Uncle Dorn was then presented with a beautiful birthday cake with 93 candles on it. The cake was baked by the women of the Burchinal local. After the program ice cream and cake were sold.

MRS. DULMES ENTERTAINED BRIDGE CLUB THURSDAY

Mrs. A. H. Dulmes was hostess to the U-Delt-Em Bridge club last Thureday afteroon. High score was wone by Mrs. George Lawhorn, and low score and traveling prize was won by Mrs. W. L. Thada. Mrs. E. F. Jacobs was a guest. Lunch was served after the games.

TO TAKE SEED CORN OPTIONS IN DROUGHT AREA FIRST

"How far north in Iowa will the government purchase seed corn for the emergency drought area in 31 counties?"

This is a question which many farmers have been asking County Agent S. J. Oberhauser after the government announced it would take an option on a crib of sealed corn suitable for seed at $1.25 per bushel of sound corn. The option will expire may 1, 1935, and an advance of 20 cents a bushel will be paid after the crib is accepted.

L. C. Burnett, in charge of inspection and purchase of seed in Iowa, has informed Mr. Oberhauser that for the present the government will confine its buying operations to the primary drought area. Cribs in counties on the southern boundary of the primary drought area will be inspected first. If a sufficient supply of seed cannot be obtained in the primary drought area corn in the adjacent terrtory will be optioned.

The sealed corn in southern Iowa must furnish practically all of the seed for 1935 planting in that section of the state The seed from this source should be much better than imported seed.

In order for the farmer to sell an option on his seed corn to the government it will be necessary for the crib to be put under seal.

"CHAINED" COMING TO AVERY NEXT WEEK

The screen's perfect lovers are together again in the seasons outstanding production "Chained," coming to the Avery, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 18, 19 and 20. These stars are cast in the kind of roles that made them famous: Joan Crawford as a vivid young lady of Manhattan and Clark Gable as a young American rancher in Buenos Aires, with Otto Krueger as the Other Man, a rich, gentlemanly, middle aged New Yorker, also in love with Joan. The story takes on dramatic power. Its a picture you will want to see, so try not to miss it.

IOWA UNION TELEPHONE CO. TO STAGE ANNUAL DRIVE

Carl Anderson, manager of the local Iowa Union Telephone Co. exchange, is making plans for the annual drive for the installation of new telephones in this community.

The Iowa Union has been coming right to the front the past year and have added a large number of new subscribers. During the annual drive an extra effort will be made to connect up those who have signified their intention of subscribing for service.

Read the adv in this issue which tells more about the plan.

EDITORIAL

Have you ever noticed that as a rule the people who have the most to do, do the least crabbing and the people who have the least to do, do the most crabbing?

If one looks around the school room, most of the people who are loafing and not studying are just the ones who are always crabbing about the amount of work they have to do. It is much easier if an assignment is given to get it right away with a smile than to grumble about it first. And not only that, but the ones who get to work first are the first ones done, that is if the work is done as it should be.

This holds true in other things besides school work. If you want something done, you usually do well to ask the person who already has enough to do—he is usually the one who can spare at little time.—M. B.

INQUIRING REPORTER

What show that you have seen this year did you like best? And why?

The show that I liked the best was Laurel and Hardy in "Sons of the Desert." It was a comedy with what I think are the best comedians in Hollywood.—Evert Barz.

The show that I have seen this year that interested me the most was "Sadie McKee. My favorite actors played. These are Franchot Tone, Gene Raymond and Joan Crwford. The song I love to hear was played also. That was "All I Do Is Dream of You."—Arlene Krause.

The show I liked best was "Many Happy Returns" with Gracie Allen and George Burns. It was good because of the silliness, crazy acting and wisecracks. They were supported by Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians.—Elaine Buntebach.

The best show I have seen this year was "Little Miss Marker." Due to the good acting of Shirley Temple and the rest of the cast, I was very much interested in it.—Graydon B. Back.

SHAMROCKS TO PLAY CORWITH FRIDAY EVE

This Friday night the Klemme High School squad will go to Corwith to open their season of basketball for this year.

Although five first string players were lost by graduation last year the reserves have developed into a fast and peppery team.

What is better than seeing a team have plenty of zip and team work. Team-work doesn't mean teamwork for two or three, but all five having important parts to do, all working together. Secondly, what is better than a crowd backing up a team and giving them full support? Let's have everybody go to Corwith Friday night and help our team win.—F. G. K.

TYPING NOTES

Correction: Last week the name of Delorys Cook should have been included among those who can type so many words per minute.

This week in typing class the students have been learning to type words by recognition instead of just by letters.

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

The Senior English literature class are writing themes on the types of literature before the 18th century including characteristics of the literature during the different periods.

The pictures which we had taken last week arrived Tueusday morning and the day was spent gazing at our "beautiful countenances."

The general science class had the opportunity to inspect a sample of the St. Peter sandstone taken from the new town well.

The freshman English class has completed their study of Scott's "Lady of the Lake." A vote was taken on which was liked the best, "Treasure Island" or "Lady of the Lake." The majority of the class voted for "Treasure Island" although they also enjoyed the "Lady of the Lake very much.

Now, since the teachers make the pupils stay fifteen minutes after school for each time they talk or whisper without permission, the pupils are becoming angels. They have started to write their letters to Santa already, for there are only forty-one days until Christmas. So day after day they are waiting patiently.

The sophomores are beginning a study in English class of correct punctuation, spelling, capitalization and sentence structure. They all bought the "Minimum Essentials of Correct Writing." The authors are members of the faculty of the University of Iowa. The chief editor is M. F. Carpenter, head of the department of English at the University High School. He is the man we have to thank (?) for the academic tests in English correctness that we have been taking in the spring.

After a concientious study of this book, a pupil should be able to write correct English. The material in it has been taken from themes written by pupils, so it contains the typical errors that we should concentrate on correcting. The freshmen will also start work in this book next week.

FARMER LOST HAND IN CORN PICKER

Roy Fleming, farmer living six and one half miles east of Klemme, last week suffered a serious accident when his hand caught in a corn picker. He was taken to the hospital at Mason City where it was necessary to amputate his hand. He is getting along quite well at this time.

Farm Bureau Heads Set Program For Next Year

LOCAL YOUNG MAN WORKING ON COUNCIL BLUFFS PROJECT

Verle Keraus, who is located at the CCC camp at Council Bluffs for the winter, came home early Sunday morning to visit over Armistice Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus. Verle has not enjoyed much of his stay so far at Council Bluffs as his camp had been in quarantine for several weeks on account of a few cases of scarlet fever. However rigid enforcement of the rules prevented the spread of the disease and only six cases developed. The camp has been released from quarantine and the young men now have an opportunity to go sight seeing when they have the time. The Council Bluffs outfit is deepening Lake Manawa, a small lake near the city. A feeder stream will fill the lake with water from the Missouri river. Other work will include the beautifying of public parks at Council Bluffs. Verle expects to arrange his work so that he can come home again for Thanksgiving.

SURPRISED ON 7TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Ed. Buntenbach very pleasantly surprised her son, Junior, on his seventh birthday, Friday, November 9th, by entertaining all the first and second grade children and Miss Thorne at a party. The youngsters were invited to come right after school and Junior was very much surprised when they all arrived. Games were played and then his mother served a delicious two course lunch. The brick ice cream contained the figure seven.

Junior received many pretty and useful gifts gifts from the children who all departed wishing him many more happy birthdays.

P. H. M.'S MET WITH BERNICE WEAVER MONDAY EVE

The Progressive Home Maker's of Elk township met at the home of Bernice Weaver, Monday evening, November 12. The president called the meeting to order and ten members answered roll call by giving the name of some material. Committees were appointed for the Christmas party. Miss Charlotte told the girls of next year's club work and also the music memory work. A few of the songs for next year were sung.

Refreshments were served by the hostess after the meeting had adjourned.

VARIED PROJECTS IN 1935 FARM BUREAU PROGRAM

Includes Several Phases of 4-H Club Home Economics and Agriculture

The 1935 program of the Hancock County Farm Bureau adopted Tuesday, November 6 in a meeting of officers and committee members in Garner, includes several 4H club Home Economics and Agricultural projects in addition to providing for cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture in the various emergency programs. It is expected that the corn hog and other adjustment programs will require a large part of the time of the agents and extension staff as they did in 1934. Every possible assistance was pledged to these programs by the worker at the above meeting. They also expect to cooperate with schools, cooperatives and many other organizations in the county interested in better agriculture.

Paul Taff representing the Extension Service of Iowa State College, met with the group. He explained the various activities available which include many projects in Home Economics, 4-H club, Agricultural Economics, Farm Production, Farm Organization and other major fields.

The Hancock County program as adopted includes the following agricultural projects: Farmstead landscaping, Crops and Livestock diseases, windbreak planting demonstrations; Conduct schools in cooperation with hatcheries on feeding and management of poultry; Hold livestock feeding schools in connection with Smith-Hughes Departments in county; Conduct schools during winter with specialist from Ames to discuss flowers and shrubs and problems connected with their growing; Continue testing seeds in cooperation with the seed laboratory at Ames; Conduct vaccination schools upon request. Assist cooperative marketing associations in county with business and organization problems; Continue wool marketing pool; Give information on Agricultural Credit; Assist County Conciliation Committee.

Income Tax Help

Hold county training school for a group of individuals who wish to become trained to fill out Income Tax Reports; Hold meetings during winter to explain record keeping; To cooperate in holding outlook meetings in each township in December for purpose of presenting agricultural outlook for 1935, especially as it concerns the 1935 Corn-Hog Program; Maintain labor feed and seed exchange in Farm Bureau office.

Continue to co-operate with the North Iowa Experimental Association at Kanawha.

Farm women will study Home Furnishings during the coming year. The 4-H boys will choose one or more activites from among Beef, Dairy, Colt, Pig, Sheep and Poultry clubs. Club Girls will have as their activity Home Efficiency. Music appreciation studies will be a part of the 4-H club and women's home project work.

5,816 CRIBS OF CORN RESEALED IN IOWA BY NOVEMBER 1ST

Ray Murray, State Secretary of Agriculture announced today that 5,816 cribs of corn representing 6,795,309 bushels had been resealed Nov. 1. These figures do not include corn sealed under old warehouse certificates held by local banks as collateral for new loans nor do they include certificates that have been issued and not filed with the Secretary of Agriculture.

Out Of The Hell Box

A Column Of This And That

Once upon a time Klemme had a P.T.A. We wonder if it also died with the G.O.P. The organization should be revamped and put into operation. If no one else wants to sponsor the P. T. A., we suggest that the members of the school board get it going.

——— o o ———

That cartoon of Ding's in the Register the other day depicting the G.O.P. elephant stranded on a barren island, sitting by a fire and waving a shirt on the end of a stick at the rapidly disappearing ship he was trying to hail, must have tickled the Democrats.

——— o o ———

We have in this town some forty men who are at the head of their own business enterprise If each of those forty men would donate, say 30 miles of driving for the Klemme high school basketball teams this winter, it would greatly help the athletic fund. The greatest cost of having basket ball games is the money spent for hiring cars. If this money could be saved then the squads could have that money for badly needed equipment. How many of you are sports enough to make at least one drive and haul four boys to a game this season? Leave your name at the Times Office if you think the idea is worthy.

——— o o ———

Just a reminder: Some weeks ago you received through the mails a card from the state health department, asking you to fill out the dates of births which might have occurred in your family. The state is very anxious to have this information. If it applies to you, fill in the card and mail it at once.

——— o o ———

If an entirely new political party was formed this coming year, how many of you Republicans and Democrats would flock to it? And, we hear rumors that would indicate such might happen. It's not the Democrat party which is in power, it's the New Deal party, if you choose to call it such. It's a combination of both Democrats and Republicans, and if a new party was formed, call it what you may, it would still be just that—The New Deal.

——— o o ———

And there are just so many more "Shopping Days Before Christmas."

——— o o ———

Over at Renwick on election day a hog was seen wandering around on the streets. When last seen the porker was headed for the voting polls. Editor Miller remarks that probably the hog was going to vote the Republican ticket in protest of the pig slaughter, processing tax and reduction of litters!

——— o o ———

Klemme youngsters had their fun on Hallowe'en, but they did not destroy property or cause any serious damage. News items from nearby towns told of vast property destruction by the younger generation, and costly pranks of all kinds. And some bills had to be paid.

——— o o ———

The Shamrocks, local high school basket ball squad, will have their first game of the season at Corwith this Friday evening. The boys always appreciate having a big crowd of home rooters to cheer them along. Jump in your car and be at Corwith Friday night.

——— o o ———

And we begin to hear predictions on the coming winter weather. The one which pleases us the most, is the prediction by an old Indian. He says Iowa is going to have a mild, beautiful winter, while California is going to be cold, disagreeable and plenty of snow. In other words, Iowa and California are just trading winter seasons this year. This may not save you much coal, but at least it is cheering.

The official dates for shooting pheasants in North Iowa is between the hours of noon and 5 p. m. on November 24, 27 and 28. Paste this in your hat.

FARMERS' UNION WILL MEET DECEMBER 3RD

The next meeting of the Liberty local of the Farmers' Union will be held Monday evening, December 3rd, at the Liberty schoolhouse. No. 7. All members are asked to attend as the officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting.

The last regular meeting of the Liberty local was held in the Ell schoolhouse No. 5, Monday evening, November 5th. Mr. Chambers, Republican candidate for State Representative gave an interesting talk. The regular form of meeting was followed after which there was an open discussion on important topics of the day.

After the meeting lunch was served by the committee.

GRADE SQUEALS

Patty, Duard, Emily, Herbert, Betty and LaVonne had 100 in spelling.

Second grade are making individual Phonics books.

We have had two visitors in our room.

The third grade have finished one reader and are nearly done with the Winston readers, too.

The third and 4th grades made posters of Indian life this week. They have finished their Indian trip and so they invited the first and second grade room to their program which was as follows: Introduction, Eugene H; Suitcases, Billy Grosshuesch, Barbara Johnson; Travel Booklet, Colleen Gram Menu Booklet, Eugene Johnson; Diary Elwyn Jacobs; Expense booklet, Phyllis Klotzbach; Indian beadwork, Leroy Bachman, Leonard Kaduce; Marvin Wade; Dean Merkel, Laurence Bock; Wesley Suckow; Posters, Betty Jean Etchen, Corrine Merkel; Story, Eunice Larsen; Book week, Julia Bell; Poem, Betty Schuldt.

Grades 5 and 6

The sixth grade were happy to have Russell Wade join their class this week.

We have our library fixed now and as one takes out a book it is checked out by our card index. This teaches us to use a card index and to keep them in order according to the alphabet.

Arlene Buseman had a birthday Wednesday. She treated her class to candy and peanuts in honor of the occasion.

WHERE THINGS WEAR OUT

It is remarkable that people ever got along at all before a benevolent Uncle Sam, through the medium of his many departments and bureaus, hit up on the idea of regulating their lives by a wonderful series of advisory bulletins.

A few of these amazing screeds were enumerated by Senator Pat Harrison in a facetious speech ridiculing them in his characteristic style. He mentioned, among others, government bulletin on "Utilization of Calcium in Spinach," "Lamb as You Like It," "Bringing Up Bobby" "Reindeer Recipes," "Principles of Window Curtaining," How to Dress for a Sun Bath," and even "Love Adventures of the American Bullfrog."

Hundreds of other bulletins and pamphlets of about equal absurdity are issued by the Labor, Agriculture and Commerce Departments in Washington and the cost of preparing and printing them is borne, of course, by the taxpayers who may or may not need this enlightenment.

One other bulletin for the edification of the faithful housewife deserves special mention. It is entitled "Where Sheets Wear Out." If she reads this she will know without even taking the trouble to look over her bed linens. We await eagerly for a treatise on "Where Pants Wear Out."

And possibly in the course of human events the bureaucrats may have material for a more practical dissertation on "Where the Tax Payers' Patience Wears Out."

A SCHOOL PROBLEM

Earnest educators throughout the United States are giving serious thought to a reform of curricula, with a view to better adapting them to the needs of the present-day student. No current question deserves more thoughtful consideration.

It is no reflection upon our education leaders that present methods are proving inadequate to the demands of the times. With the ever-increasing store of available knowledge, it becomes more and more difficult to choose that which should be taught in the limited time that can be given to formal education by the average student.

But the problem is not new. As far back as 1758 the prevailing system of education in England came in for drastic criticism by Thomas Sheridan, who labored with little success for its reform.

Sheridan contended that the established system of that day did not fit the young for their duties in life; that it was uniform for all and profitable for none. He also stressed the importance of imparting a better knowledge of the English language.

The latter point, at least, might well be taken to heart today. It would be a great step forward if our children might emerge from high school with a reasonable acquaintance with their mother tongue.

Births and Deaths--

All Should Be Recorded

The Babies who were born this year, will be sixty years old in 1994. Some of these babies may need Old Age Pension at that time, and to get this they must furnish proof as to where and when they were born. That is why your Doctor is so careful when making out the Birth Certificate to get the Baby's name just right, and to get the information concerning parentage just right, and everything is written plainly with unfading ink, so that when officials at the State Capitol look for this sheet in 1994 they will find a clear and complete record of your Baby's birth.

Deaths, too, must all be recorded at the State House. Your Funeral Director is required to prepare a "Certificate of Death" that the State may have full information concerning each and every death. Even for the private burial of a still born infant a Certificate of Death is required. You should, in a case of this kind, call on your Funeral Director, who will assist you without charge in preparing these burial papers as required by law.

A Casket for the private burial of an infant need not be expensive. We furnish a sturdy hardwood casket for as little as five dollars and Cemetery space may be purchased for as little as two dollars.

Some twenty-five years ago, the Ell Township Trustees installed an up-to-date system of records for the Klemme Cemetery. These records show the exact location of each grave and they also contain a full copy of each Certificate of Death. Any information concerning the price of lots or concerning the price of perpetual care may be obtained from Arthur Wellemeyer, as he is th ma who keeps these records for the Trustees.

Shamrock Fives Split Twin Bill At Corwith

AMROCKS DEFEAT CORWITH IN SEASON OPENER

ocal Reserves Were Defeated By Corwith Second Team

The Klemme High School Shamrocks journeyed to Corwith Friday night to open their basketball season for the year, and found themselves participating in a battle of giants. Brinkman, Klemme's midget forward was seemingly trampled underfoot in the melee, but retaliated by displaying some fancy free goal shooting, sinking 5 out of 5 gift shots, as well as looping in 6 field goals during the course of the game. Stokesbary was practically on fire and snapped in eight field goals from practically every position on the floor.

But whatever you may say, the lion's share of the credit goes to that tall, lanky, Sophomore center, Ted Kaduce, who was playing his first varsity game Friday night. Time after time he broke up Corwith scoring plays when they seemed almost certain of completion. The forwards may have made the points but it was Kaduce who got the ball for them to slip through the hoop. With a few more games experience tucked under his belt, this boy is going to be able to hold his own in any company.

And then there were the Klemme guards, Kilgore, Schaper and Gast. Faced with the Herculean task of guarding two 6-foot forwards, they came through in great shape and put on a real exhibition of defensive basketball. And speaking of guards the midget Beckman, of the Corwith five, is just about the speediest and cleverest guard we have seen for some time.

Klemme led at the end of every period: 11-8; 19-14; 29-25; 39-30.

The Klemme Seconds did not fare so well at the hands of the Corwith Seconds and were defeated 19 to 11. Klotzbach was outstanding in the guard position and his running mate Jorgenson, put up a fine battle. M. Barz, Keeper and Bachman played the forward positions and Gast held down the center. However, the handicap of Corwith's 6-foot center proved too much for the Klemme Reserves and his four field goals provided the margin of victory for the Corwith Seconds.

SHAMROCKS MEET GOODELL HERE FRIDAY EVENING

Both Teams Will Be After Second Conference Victory

Goodell High School sends their basketball squad to Klemme this Friday evening in a Seven Eagles Conference battle, and a friendly rivalry for basketball supremacy between the two schools will again be renewed for another season. Each year fans look forward to this game and the teams seldom disappoint them by failing to give a splendid exhibition of good clean basketball.

While Klemme, by virtue of their win over Corwith, last year's sectional champions, seemingly has a slight edge over the Goodell boys, victory for either team is always an uncertain thing and the winner in all probability will be undecided until the final whistle ends the game.

Goodell has three veterans of last years five to send into the fray against Klemme's wholly new aggregation. Goodell has a win over Woden and a loss to Crystal Lake chalked up against them. Both of the teams will be trying for their second conference victory.

Grange and son, Paul, will board a boat Saturday bound for England where they will visit and look after business matters until after the first of the year. Mrs. Grange, Dorance and Miss Blank expect to return to Klemme in their car sometime next week. The party enroute east will visit many points of interests.

GARNER VETERAN GIVES LOCK OF HAIR TO GUESTS

Many In Gathering Honoring Edwin Haskin, 99

Edwin Haskin, Civil war veteran at Garner, was honored Friday by a number of Civil war veteran, including a group from Mason City on his ninety-ninth birthday. The aged North Iowa pioneer, surprisingly alert for his years, returned the honor accorded him by giving to each of the guests a curl from his head of heavy, white hair.

The observance in honor of Mr. Haskin was held at the home of his son, Myron and family in Garner. Friends, relatives and members of patriotic groups participated in a luncheon served at 1:30 o'clock. Two birthday cakes were placed on the table.

As the guests left, Mr. Haskin, who had asked them to take generously of his curls, remarked that he would "go home with less hair." The guests signified their intentions of returning next year to celebrate his 100th birthday.

Twice daily Mr. Haskin goes to the business section of Garner. He is a "dyed in the wool democrat."

DRIVERLESS AUTO GOES BLOCK DOWN STREET AT GARNER

GARNER—Franklin Radloff, living near Garner, cranked his car parked near the Avery theater, not aware that it was in gear. The machine ran for more than a block on Main Street, at quite a high rate of speed, striking the Joe Byers' car where two men were standing with the door open which saved them from being crushed. It pushed the Byers' car into Brozik's new Pontiac. All three cars were damaged. The accident happened at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

GARNER WOMAN DIES IN ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING

Husband Didn't Know That Gun Was Loaded

GARNER:—Mrs. Bruce Orr, 46, was killed Monday morning when the shotgun her husband was polishing was accidentally discharged.

Orr, whose index finger on his left hand was shot away by the charge, said he did not know the gun was loaded. He was taken to a Mason City hospital for treatment.

In addition to Mr. Orr, three children, Ardith, Robert and Richard, survive.

GOODELL—A group of young people enjoyed a birthday party at the J. J. Cook home in honor of their daughter, Delorys.

HUNTING SEASON WILL AGAIN ENDANGER MANY LIVES

Sportsmen Of Hancock County Are Urged To Follow Safety Rules

Already emblazoned in the headlines of papers all over the country one reads "Hunter Killed Accidentally." Yes, that happens every season and it seems that we would take warning and use the necessary caution, but somehow, we don't.

It is said that one generation profits from the mistakes of other generations; that we learn to leave off doing things when a glance into the past shows that those things are dangerous, but how true is this saying? It certainly doesn't prove true when it comes to hunting accidents, automobile accidents and the like, does it?

Well, we all get the idea that we couldn't do such a foolish thing. We wouldn't drag a loaded gun over under or through a fence. No—not us, we would have too much sense for that. We wouldn't get so interested in a hunt as to shoot at a moving bush and perhaps accidentally kill onr hunting companion.

Isn't it peculiar that we can never attribute such foolish acts to ourselves and yet right here in Hancock county some one is going to be seriously wounded, or perhaps killed by just such carelessness during the hunting season which is now upon us.

Every season The Klemme Times issues a warning to those who are planning to avail themselves of the privileges and pleasures of the hunt. Hundreds of sportsmen read these articles but fail to apply the warning to themselves. We will be adding our bit to the effort to cut down this unnecessary toll of accidents if we offer here some "Don'ts" to the hunters of Hancock county. Here they are:

1. Don't point the muzzle of your gun at anything you don't want to kill, whether the safety is on or not.
2. Don't lean your gun against anything where it may slip off, fall down and discharge.
3. Don't handle your gun by the muzzle. The stock was made to take hold of.
4. Don't pull a gun toward you over, through or under a fence, or out of a car, holding on to the barrel.
5. Don't fail to unload your gun before entering camp or your car.
6. When walking with a gun, carry it pointed up or at the ground especially so if someone is walking ing front or behind you.
7. And, above all, don't shoot at moving shadows or crackling brush. It may be your hunting partner.

Of course, there are many other "don'ts" which could be mentioned, but if all hunters bear the above cautions in mind, there will be fewer hunting accidents during the current season.

TO DEMONSTRATE BASEBALL AT 1936 OLYMPIC GAMES

Baseball will be included on the 1936 Olympic program in Germany according to an announcement made by Frederick Rubien, secretary of the American Olympic committee. The German organizing committee has chosen the American game for a demonstration of a foreign sport and has requested the United States to send a team to play against a nine from Japan. In an effort to hold down expenses, it may be that the American club will be composed of members of the athletic delegations taking part in other games but this has not yet been decided. The game will be played on the night of August 13, 1936, in the Olympic stadium.

Plan Meetings To Give Farm Outlook For 1935

RETAILER LIABLE FOR TAX ON FARM SLAUGHTERED HOGS

Farmers who slaughter hogs for sale to retailers or other commercial handlers will no longer be held responsible for payment of the processing tax under a redefinition of the term "first domestic processing" which was announced by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

A new regulation transfers to commercial handlers all liability for payment of the processing tax on hog products derived from hogs slaughtered by producers and feeders. Under the previous regulation, the farmers who slaughtered hogs was responsible for payment of the tax, both when he sold to commercial handlers and when he sold to consumers. However, the status of the farmer who slaughters hogs and sells direct to consumers remains unchanged.

The producer who slaughters his own hogs and sells or exchanges directly to consumers not more than 300 pounds of the products derived during any marketing year is not required to pay the tax. If the producer sells more than 300 pounds produced by him, but not more than 1,000 pounds of pork products from his own hogs direct to consumers he is liable for the tax only on the volume sold in excess of the 300 pound exemption. If he sells more than 1,000 pounds during any marketing year he loses his 300 pound exemption and is liable for the tax on all products derived from his hogs which he has sold.

Will Send Cookies To Indian School

The ladies of the Reformed church will agin send ciokies to the Indian School. Bring your cookies on or before Thanksgiving Day.

Teachers may be paid on the basis of what they know but what they are is much more important.

The most important thing, in the lives of some women, is to know when to pass and when to bid "two no trumps."

With the election out of the way let's settle down to hard work and pull together for a real and lasting recovery.

SERIOUS SHORTAGE OF FEED IS IN PROSPECT

Following a district training school on the Iowa Agricultural Outlook for 1935 in Mason City November 15th, plans are being made for a series of township meetings in Hancock County to discuss this information, S. J. Oberhauser, county agent, announced.

In addition to Mr. Oberhauser, Ben V. Greimann, Corn-Hog chairman; Jay Vendelboe, Smith-Hughese instructor at Garner and E. J. Andregg, secretary of the Corn-Hog Association attended the district meeting. Agricultural economists of Iowa State College discussed the present situation regarding farm commodities and gave information that farmers may use in planning their operations for the coming year. The Agricultural Outlook Information this year is available about 3 months ahead of the time it has been announced in past years.

Economists also discussed the general business and agricultural situation, the feed and seed situation and other problems of current interest to Iowa farmers. Detailed information on all these subjects and and their probable effect on 1935 conditions will be given in the series of meetings to be announced later.

A substantial advance in prices of all meat animals is expected, said Mr. Oberhauser. Fewer animals probably will be slaughtered in 1935 than 1934 the average killing weight will be less and the quality and finish below average. Reduction in slaughter is expected to be pronounced after February, the greatest shortage coming next summer. Decrease in pork production, the outlook report indicates, will be relatively greater than that of beef or lamb.

Supplies of feed grains this year are the smallest since 1891 because of unprecendented drought and the number of meat animals on the farms at the end of this year will be the smallest since 1899.

JAPANESE BALL FANS HONOR AMERICAN ALL-STARS

The poularity of Babe Ruth in the United States seems to be equaled in Japan if the reception accorded the American Home-Run King and the other baseball players, now touring the Orient, is any indication. Some 65,000 Japanese fans watched the major league visitors rout a Tokyo club 17-1.

Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Athletics, was particularly impressed with the courtesy and orderliness of the huge Japanese crowd, and wished that American officials could havt seen the efficiency in which the game was conducted. Incidentally we might state that Japan, although without professional players has taken to baseball in a great way, and visiting American stars are received with the wildest acclaim by the populace. Traffic was practically stopped in the streets when the invading American outfit reached the island metropolis.

U. S. Owns Virgin Islands

The Virgin Islands are owned by the United States, which purchased them from Denmark in 1917 for the sum of $25,000,000. They had been known as the Danish West Indies until that time and consisted of the islands of St. Croix, St. John and St. Thomas. St. Thomas has the best harbor to be found in the Caribbean sea.

Bidders Make Your Sale!

This paper will bring bidders to your sale from over a large trade territory.

Bidders are attracted to a sale through Advertising, and the circulation of this paper insures a crowd. The larger the ad used, the greater is the attention given to what you have to sell. T OF THANKSGIVING later years many of us nice Thanksgiving dinner t think of the real origin y.

t old account thus de- e occassion: "Our harvest being gotten in, our Government sent foure men on fowling, so that we might after a more special manner rejoyce together after we had gathered the fruit of our labours. They foure in one day killed as much fowle as with a little help beside, served the Company almost weeke."

Many of the Indians, including their Chief Massasoit, the Pilgrims friend, joined in the three days of feasting. There was plenty of roast turkey which is now the famous Thanksgiving bird.

Congress recommended days of Thanksgiving annually during the Revolution and all of the Presidents since Lincoln have set aside the last Thursday in November for a like festival, so that now Thanksgiving is as firmly fixed a national festival as the Fourth of July.

Although Thanksgiving Day is wholly an American institution, harvest festivals have been known since time immemorial. It was long customary in England and elsewhere to hold special days of "fasting" and "prayer" in times of peril and disaster and equally to celebrate with Thanksgiving and feasting, nature's annual bounty and other marks of God's favor.—M. MUSICAL NOTES

Last week try'outs were held for the high school operetta, "Jewels of the Desert" by Strickhland.

OVER THE SCHOOL BOOKS—

(With Apologies to H. S. M.)

It seems that some of us have taken the name of our high school paper too literally. "The Squealer" does not only tell all the latest happenings, but to some of the students it means to squeal every time they are asked to do a writeup for the paper. May we have better cooperation in the future.

* * *

People who read the Squealer and the editorials might be interested to know that quite often "yours truly" and the A. E. often stay until 5 o'clock on Friday evenings just to get an idea. They're getting very scarce so we're taking a vacation this week.

* * *

There is more to be gained from participation in basketball than the victory of the game. Some of the values we should place highest are its contributions to healthful recreation, teamwork and good sportsmanship. These are the benefits that should be most desired in any athletic contest but they are too often put in the background by teams who are determined to win at any cost. Very often the fault of this does not lie with the team itself but with the supporters or "rooters" who will only stand back of a team that wins every game. We cannot encourage good sportsmanship on the floor if we cannot show a reasonable degree of it on the sidelines. After all, the referee is hired to make decisions and while we do not always expect to agree with him, we should try to remember that "booing" is a vulgar way of expressing our disapproval. It seldom accomplishes desirable results, so let's stand back of our team and encourage them first to play a good clean game, and while we, of course, want to win, let us put good sportsmanship ahead of all else.

* * *

We were very much pleased the other day when Mr. Hamilton complimented us on the attention we gave him while he was speaking to us.

INQUIRING REPORTER

What Would You Consider As An Ideal Thanksgiving Observance

My idea of a Thanksgiving Day is a pleasant one to me. I would sleep until nine or ten o'clock. I would eat a small breakfast to prepare for dinner. If I got up in time, I would go to church. About twelve o'clock I would eat a big dinner of turkey and get ready for a fooball game in the afternoon. After the game, my cousin and I would go to a late afternoon show. It would be time to eat a big dinner again then. After dinner my cousin would be going home. I probably would go home with him. We would probably go to another show or stay home and make candy. After ten o'clock or so we would go to bed and sleep off the turkey and other things.—Buster Jorgenson.

Me for a good old fashioned Thanksgiving with all the brothers, sisters, relatives and friends there. Then for the big event of the day—Thanksgiving dinner (I don't want to help get it) with turkey, stuffing mince meat pie, cranberry sauce and etc. The afternoon spent in everybody talking and no one saying anything. I wouldn't care for any supper because I'm always a little sick. I think there's nothing like topping the day off withe a good show.—Lucille Stille.

As a general rule we think of Thanksgiving as the day on which we may stuff ourselves to the last notch of our belts. I believe, however, if we were to think about it a little more, we would do something besides eat, for we all know the Pilgrims spent a part of their Thanksgiving day in thanking God for all he had done for them during the past year. So believe if we were to follow the example set by them and spend less time eating, we would feel a little better in body as well as spirit.—Lyndon Kilgore.

On Thanksgiving I like to get up early in the morning and work up an appetite for one of those delicious dinners I so enjoy. In the afternoon I like to go to a good football game then home for another delicious meal, and in the evening I enjoy a good show. Upon my return home, I would eat a light lunch and go to bed. The rest of the week will find me suffering the consequences. —Carmen Kluckhohn.

MR. HAMILTON VISITS US

Thursday morning the entire high school had an opportunity to listen to a fine talk given by Mr. Hamilton from Mason City.

Mr. Hamilton has been speaking here for a number of years and the students have looked forward to his coming each year.

He told us that there is no secret to success and no tricks about it. He also said that many people out of work do not know how to apply for jobs. Too many of them worry about what they can get from their job and too often forget what they have to offer. We should have whatever we have to offer at the peak of our ability, and if we do have, the road to success will be much easier to follow.

Mr. Hamilton also made an interesting comparison between Edison and Insull. The fact that Edison gave to the world while Insull took all and gave nothing, shows us that if we give to the world the best we have, the world will give to us in return.

His talk was very much enjoyed by the students and they were very glad for as opportunity to listen to him.

Come again, Mr. Hamilton!

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

On Tuesdays of each week the Economics class study "New Frontiers" written by Secretary Wallace. This material is obtained from the Des Moines Sunday Register and Mr. Kingery also has this book. The majority of the students find this interesting and something different besides the regular lessos in their text book.

At the first pep meeting of the year Friday afternoon, we elected our cheer leaders, Carmen Kluckhohs, Bssie Larson and Nora Wellemeyer. Short talks were given by Supt. D. L. Hunter, Coach A. L. Kingery and George Stokesbary, Captain of the team. Then the cheer leaders led a few yells, showing the boys we were backing them in the Corwith games.

The sophomores last week in English each memorized and gave a dialect poem. Some of the dialects were Italian, Swedish & Negro. We all thought we did quite well—but we do not know what MissGalbreth thought of them.

BEAUTY A CIVIC ASSET

In spite of the apparent commercialism of the age in which we live, it is evident to any observer that the American people are rapidly developing a greater appreciation of the beautiful. This is not confined to the wealthier classes, but extends to the great masses in the towns and villages and in rural districts.

New towns and new sections of the older ones are being laid out with wider streets, with provision for larger lawns, more trees, shrubbery and flowers, and a more attractive setting generally.

New houses show better architecture and greater harmony with the surroundings, while unsightly yard fences have largely disappeared. The net results of all these modern developments is beauty. And aside from the satisfaction which it affords the eye, it pays in dollars and cents.

Beautiful cities, towns and villages attract people. They attract permanent residents, they attract tourists and they attract trade. It is natural that a person selecting a trading center will choose a town that is beautiful and clean in preference to one that is unsightly and dirty, if other conditions are anywhere equal.

Therefore it behooves the authorities of any community as well as each individual citizen to make the most of their opportunitiees for improving the appearance of the place in which they live. Beauty, and cleanliness are among a town's best assets.

Shamrocks Win Three, Lose One In Loop Games

KLEMME TEAMS VICTORIOUS IN GOODELL ENCOUNTER

Shamrocks Win By 1-Point Margin; Reserves Win 3 to 0

The Klemme Shamrocks eeked out a one point victory over the Goodell high school basketball team on the local floor Friday night, in a game that kept the fans on their feet most of the evening.

Following is a complete resume of the scoring during the game:

First Half

Kilgore scored the first field goal a few seconds after play opened Ahrenkeil missed a free throw on Gast's foul. Zeilie almost had a basket but the ball stuck on the basket hoop. Ahrenkeil tossed Goodell's first field goal on a short play under the basket. and the quarter ended with the score tied 2-2.

In the second quarter Stokesbary missed Ahrenkeil's foul, but soon afterward Kilgore again scored on a pass from Stokesbary. On a jump ball Kilgore tipped to Brinkman, who dribbled short for a goal. On Zeilie's foul Stokesbary again missed, but counted one when he was fouled by R. Skinner. During a scrimmage under the basket Ahlstrom made a field goal on a pass from Zeilie. Brinkman again scored on a short pass from Stokesbary. Kaduce scored on a double pass, Brinkman to Stokesbary to Kaduce. Goodell called time out and fifteen seconds later the half ended. Score: Klemme 11; Goodell 4.

Second Half

Ahlstrom scored on an intercepted pass from Kaduce. Ahrenkeil scored a field goal which started from a out of bounds play. The Klemme team called time out as Goodell had brought the count up to 11-8. Ahlstrom again scored on a short tip up from under the basket. Ahrenkeil fouled Kilgore who blew the chance for a point. Ahrenkeil again scored a goal on a play under the basket putting his team in the lead, 12 to 11, for the first and only time during the game. Stokesbary whipped a pass to Kilgore who sank it for two points. Kaduce fouled Ahlstrom, who missed the shot. During a scrimmage Zeilie fouled Stokesbary, who collected the point. Brinkman fouled C. Skinner, who made good one of the shots and the third quarter ended Klemme 14; Goodell 13.

R. Skinner left the game a few minutes after play began and Dennis went in for Goodell at the forward position. Brinkman failed to cash in on a free throw when he was fouled by C. Skinner. C. Skinner had a hcance to collect 2 points when he was fouled by Kilgore but lost both chances. Goodell again had a chance via the free route when Kilgore fouled Dennis, but the latter missed the try for point. Brinkman put the game on ice as he made good on a field goal on a pass from Kaduce to Stokesbary to Brinkman. The score was Klemme 16; Goodell 13.

However the ice melted on a speed play when Zeilie shot a field

CRYSTAL LAKE DROPS LOCALS TO SECOND PLACE IN S. E. C.

Tuesday evening on the local floor the Shamrocks were defeated by the Crystal Lake high school five 29 to 20. Both teams were striving to protect perfect records in the Seven Eagles conference and played good basket ball. Scoring plays of the game:

First Quarter

A few seconds after the tipoff, Kaduce fouled Willis, who missed the chance to draw first blood. On an out of bounds play Stokesbary passed to Kaduce who made the goal for two points. Rose passed to Willis, who tied the count. Stokesbary collected a point on a foul by Willis. Reed was then fouled by Stokesbary, but missed the try. On a play starting from center Stokesbary passed to Kilgore who sank the ball for 2 points. Crystal Lake called time out. Score: Klemme 5; Crystal Lake 2.

On a play under the basket Gast passed to Brinkman who made the goal. Scanlon failed to count on Kilgore's foul, but Rose made the goal on a follow-in shot. Haugland shot a short pass to Scanlon who sank the ball for 2 points. Quarter ended with Klemme in the lead 7-6.

Second Quarter

On the first play Kilgore fouled Scanlon, who made good, tying the score 7-7. Kilgore won back the point when he was fouled by Scanlon. Kilgore had another chance to collect 2 on Scanlon's foul, but he missed both. Kaduce passed short to Stokesbary who looped the ball for two points. On the next play as the ball rolled around near center, Willis scooped it up and dribbled in for two points. Scanlon missed his shot on Kilgore's foul and Haugland missed one off Kaduce. Reed made one of two shots on Stokesbary's foul. Gast made good on a foul by Haugland. Crystal Lake took the lead for the first time as Haugland looped a beauty on a pass from Rose. Brinkman fouled Rose who made the point and the half ended with Crystal Lake leading 13-11.

Third Quarter

Crystal Lake failed to count when Kaduce fouled Haugland and Brinkman fouled Willis, but tallied a field goal when Scanlon dribbled and passed to Haugland. Klemme called time out.

Kilgore fouled Scanlon who made the point. Scanlon left the game on his fourth foul, which Brinkman failed to convert. Sorenson came in as guard and Haugland went to forward. Brinkman made a point when fouled by Sorenson. Willis grabbed a high pass and shot it to Haugland who found the hoop again and then Willis added a point when fouled by Kilgore. Stokesbary made good when a technical foul was called on Rose, and Brinkman collected a gift shot when fouled by Sorenson. Klemme took time out when two plays, Willis to Haugland, and Rose to Willis, netted the visitors two field goals. The quarter ended soon after with Crystal Lake leading 23-14.

Fourth Quarter

Kilgore was forced from the game on his fourth foul and Klotzbach went in as guard. Willis made good the point. In a scrimmage under the basket Kaduce flipped an easy looper. Brinkman made a gift shot an o foul by Willis and Crystal Lake took time out as the Shamrocks had run the count up 17 to 24. On the next play Brinkman passed to Stokesbary for another goal. Willis fouled Kaduce and [illegible] points. Gast fouled Rose, [illegible] were missed. Willis [illegible] long field goal from back of center. Brinkman made a point on Haugland's foul and the [illegible] Crystal Lake 26; Klemme [illegible] visitors took time out.

Urge Residants Enter In Decorating For Xmas

CENTRAL STATES OFFER PRIZE FOR CHRISTMAS DECORATING

$17.50 In Cash To Be DividedAmong Winners In Resident Contest

This year the Central States Electric Co. are offering cash prizes for the best Christmas decorations in the residence section of Klemme. The first prize will be $10.00, the second prize $5.00, and the third prize $2.50. The only provision is that at least fifteen residences must enter the contest to be eligible to receive the prize money

The rules are simple and there are "no strings" attached to the contest and no one is obligated to purchase expensive material or use an unusually large amount of lighting. The judging will take place in the residence section between Christmas and New Years. The applications must be mailed in before December 15th and the display must be put up not later than December 20 and must remain up until New Years. The decorations will be judged solely on their merits as to which is considered the best. Originality will count. The residence display may be either in the yard or in the home and must be visible from the street.

Those who are interested may call at the Times Office and procure the Contest Rules and an entrance blank.

Remember there are no strings to this offer. If you plan any sort of Christmas decoration at all by all means enter the contest and get in on the prizes. ,

A like contest will be staged for the business district. The entrants for that division are signed up in the contest This divison is separate and does not compete with the residence section. The prizes are the same.

Disinterested people from out of town will be the judges.

"BARRETTS OF WIMPOLE ST." COMING TO AVERY

In "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" coming to the Avery for Three days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, December 2, 3 and 4, feeaturing Norma Shearer, Frederic March and Charles Laughton; Metro Goldwyn Mayer have achieved the finest filmization of a famous stage peice ever to be recorded on the screen, for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" is a brilliant production brilliantly conceived, written, acted, directed and framed. Norma Shearer and Frederic March do more than present a tender, poetic love story. They actually bring the invalided Elizabeth Barrett and the poet Robert Browning to life. And as the grim uncompromising Father, whose diabolical influence motivates the drama, Charles Laughton, turns in a performance which compares well with his recent interpretation of Henry the Eighth.

If you would see a great drama which lost nothing in the transition from footlights to celluloid, be sure and see "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Remember the dates and come.

Local Couple Observed 35th Wedding Anniversary

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS GLADYS WILSON IS ANNOUNCED

Saturday afternoon at a one o'clock luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Wilson announced the engagement of their daughter, Gladys, to Robert Porter Risser, son of Mrs. Sarah Porter Risser of Des Moines.

Immediately after the guests arrived they were ushered into the dining room, where a three-course luncheon was served. In the center of the table was a "wishing well," beautifully decorated with large yellow chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. Before the last course was served the guests were allowed to look inside their place cards, where each found a poem to read. The information given by the poems directed Miss Gladys to wind up the wishing bucket, which she did. In the pail was an autumn leaf for each guest and tied in a small roll of paper was the announcement of the approaching marriage, which will take place in Klemme, December 27th at 8 p. m.

After the luncheon, the guests had the pleasure of seeing the beautiful linens and many other articles in Miss Wilson's cedar chest. Three tables of bridge were then formed and high score was won by Edna Olseth and traveling pnize went to Mary Ann Rippley.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Sara Porter Risser and Mrs. Frederick Risser of Des Moines; Mrs. H. P. Walker; Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson, of Klemme; and the Misses Sally Taylor, Helen Jones, Aletha Fobes, Althea Richards, Mary Ann Rippley Edna Olseth, Amelia Christens and Francis Glultz.

Miss Gladys is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Wilson and has a host of friends who wish her much happiness. She finished the Klemme High School, then attended Drake University and has successfully taught in Iowa schools at Marion and Clarion for the past four years. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Mr. Risser is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at Drake where he graduated in 1932. He is now getting his law degree at George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

FORMER KLEMME BUSINESS MAN DIED THIS MORNING

George Gruetzmacher, age 78, died this morning (Wednesday) at his home in Clear Lake at 5:30 o'clock of heart trouble. Mr. Gruetzmacher had been ill but a few days.

Mr. Gruetzmacher was a former Klemme business man and was associated with his brother, John, in the hardware and implement business for many years.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church in Clear Lake Friday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be made in the Klemme Cemetery.

The obituary will be published next week.

VERNON TURGASEN FAMILY MOVING TO CHICAGO

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Turgasen and baby daughter, of Des Moines, came Saturday to spend Sunday visiting at the home of Sadie Turgasen and Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn. Donald Turgasen, who works at Mankato, was also home to spend Sunday.

Vernon, who is a chemist for the Armour Creameries, will move to Chicago this week where he and his family will make their home. Mr. Turgasen does considerable traveling for his company and Chicago will be more convenient to his work. Mrs. Sadie Turgasen accompanied her son and family to Des Moines where she will spend a few days with them before they leave for their new residence.

MANY FRIENDS INVITED TO PARTY THURSDAY EVENING

Mock Wedding and Program Given; Followed By Old Time Dance

A group of about forty friends and relatives attended the thirty-fifth wedding anniversary party held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ridder at the Clear Lake Country Club last Thursday evening.

The program which began at 8:00 o'clock, included a mock wedding which caused a lot of fun for the spectators. Herman Back was the bride; Mrs. Levi Ridder, bridegroom Mrs. Herman Back, bridesmaid; Mrs. Vic Hammitt, best man; Mrs. Will Kirkwood, preacher; flower girls were Mrs. Wes Schuldt and Sam Harvey; Clarence Kluckhohn was the ring bearer; Mrs. Clarence. Kluckhohn, the father who gave away the bride; and Vic Hammitt was the brides' mother. The ceremony was far from being solemn and sad.

A ladies quartette composed of Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn, Mrs Wes Schuldt, Mrs. Herman Back and Mrs. Vic Hammitt sang "Yesterday" accompanied by Mrs. S. A. Harvey on the piano.

Miss Enid Harvey, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ridder, provided a specialty number on the program with her tap dancing act.

Some games were then enjoyed for a time and prizes were awarded to the winners in the various contests staged, after which old time dancing was enjoyed. Music was furnished by an orchestra from Mason City.

At 11:30 o'clock the guests were all invited to the dining room where a long table was set with forty-two places. The decorations were chrysanthemums as a large center piece, and the lighting was with candles. Four decorated wedding cakes were placed on the table. The guests marched into the dining room by twos and took their places. Mr. Ridder was seated at one end of the table and Mrs. Ridder at the opposite end.

Following the wedding supper, the Bride and Groom of thirty-five happy years together were presented with an electric silver coffee percolator and tray. This was presented by Wallace Pavey who congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Ridder and in behalf of their friends wished them happiness in the future.

After supper dancing was again enjoyed until a late hour.

Those present were, besides Mr. and Mrs. Ridder, their daughter, Mrs. S. A. Harvey, husband and daughter, Enid, of Mason City; their son, Levi, wife and children of Klemme; Mr. and Mrs. Nels Back; Mr. and Mrs Herman Back; Mr. and Mrs. August Baack; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jensen; Chris Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn; Mr. and Mrs. Will Kirkwood; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Merkel; Mr. and Mrs. John Etchen; Mr. and Mrs. Vic Hammitt; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koerner; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Schuldt and Mr and Mrs. Wallace Pavey.

FIRST ADJOURNED NOVEMBER MEETING

Garner, Iowa, November 20, 1934.

The Hancock county board of supervisors met in session on above date with Chairman F. J. Oxley, G. E. Klipping and F. J. Schoun present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

Supervisor Oxley is appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. 1 and 2, lateral 28.

Carried.

On motion and second the report of H. A. Schaper, justice of the peace, is approved.

Carried.

On motion and second the bonds of J. C. Ford, township clerk; Roy L. McMillin, treasurer; and E. J. Blumer, assessor, are approved.

Carried.

Whereas, P. J. McMahon has made application for a loan from the Permanent School fund of Iowa, in the sum of $1,000, and,

Whereas, P. J. McMahon has executed and completed all of the necessary instruments as required by sections 4489 and 4490, Code of Iowa, 1931,

Be it resolved, that said loan be granted and the county treasurer is hereby ordered to issue treasurers' check in the sum of $1,000, on the Permanent School fund in favor of P. J. McMahon and Katie McMahon all as required in section 4490, Code of Iowa, 1931.

Carried.

Be it resolved, that the clerk of the district court is hereby authorized to deposit to the amount of $5.000 in the First State Bank of Britt.

Carried.

Whereas, there is now in the hands of the treasurer the sum of $845.32, credited to the N. I. P. Road No. 1-3-6 and 7 fund, and,

Whereas, said sum of money was raised for the purpose of refund, and

Whereas, the purpose for which said sum of money was raised has ceased to exist,

Now therefore, be it resolved by the board of supervisors of Hancock county, Iowa, that said sum of $845.32 be and the same is hereby ordered transferred from the N I. P. Road 1-3-6 and 7 fund to the general fund (general or contingent) and the county auditor (secretarial officer) is directed to correct his books accordingly and to notify the treasurer of this transfer, accompanying the notification with a copy of this resolution and the record of its adoption.

Ayes—all.

Carried.

Whereas, there now is in the hands of the treasurer of Hancock county, Iowa, the sum of $2,300, credited to the emergency fund thereof, and

Whereas, an emergency has arisen which requires the expenditure of $2,300, said emergency being of the following character:

Heavy demands on the poor fund make it impossible to pay all warrants on this fund without overdrawing the fund; and

Whereas, the revenue in the poor fund is insufficient to meet its estimated actual and necessary expenses for the current fiscal year and the emergency referred to, therefore be it

Resolved by the board of supervisors of Hancock county, Iowa, that $2,300 of the funds in the emergency fund be transferred permanently to the poor fund of said municipality; subject to the approval of the director of the budget, to be expended in accordance with the provisions of section 373 of the Code of 1924; and

The county auditor of said municipality, upon receipt of approval by the director of the budget, is directed to correct his books accordingly and to notify the treasurer of the transfer, accompanying the notification with a copy of this resolution and the record of its adoption.

Carried.

Be it resolved, that the claims hereinafter set out be allowed in amounts designated thereon and the auditor be and he is hereby ordered to draw warrants on the several funds of Hancock county in payment of such claims in amounts set opposite.

Carried.

On motion and second board adjourned until December 4, 1934.

Carried.

INQUIRING REPORTER
By C. L. K.

If You Could Travel, What Places Would You Visit and Why?

If I could travel, I should like to go many places, but my first stop would be up in Alaska, the Land of the Midnight Sun. I can imagine living with the Eskimos and riding behind Eskimo dogs. I think this would be most thrilling as it is entirely a different life from that we Americans live.—Bonnie Bachman.

If I could travel, I would like to go to Yellowstone National Park because I would like to see all the beautiful scenery and glaciers in the Yellowstone Park. If I could go I would like to spend about two weeks there. And I would also like to go to the Black Hills.—Ada Wille

If I were going to travel, the first place that I would go to is California. Then I would like to visit Hawaii, which is beautiful and has a wonderful climate. However, I won't attempt any of that until my ship comes in.—Delorys Cook.

If I were to travel I would go to England, Holland and Germany. I would like to learn about the customs and what they do for a living. It would be interesting to see all the quaint houses and bring back a souvenir of all of the places I had gone. I would take a moving picture camera with me so the people could see it.—Juanita Pavey.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS SERVES LUNCHEONS

Last week the Home Economics class completed a unit on the study of the luncheon or supper. The class was divided into two groups, and each group planned, prepared, and served a luncheon to the other. Group I served the following luncheon on Tuesday:

Spanish Rice Whole Wheat Bread and Butter Sandwiches
Cabbage, Pineapple, Nut Salad
Neapolitan Jello
Grape Punch

The English or informal style of service was used in which the food was served by the host and hostess.

On Thursday the following Menu was served by Group II:

Cream of Tomato Soup Crackers
Scalloped potatoes Perfection salad
Caramel Custard

The Compromise style of service was used for this meal, in which some foods were served at the table while others were carried in by waitresses.

The planning of these meals by the members of the groups involved a consideration of the daily food requirements in calories, vitamins, and proteins, as well as the total purchase cost per serving; the suitability to the people served; time and energy required for preparation attractiveness in texture, color, and arrangement; and points in marketing. The study included learning how to set the table correctly, table manners and coversation, and rules for serving properly.

The reports of the groups indicate that the cost per person for the first luncheon served was 9.75 cents if every item of food had been purchased at market day prices. However the group economized by using tomatoes and grapes that they had canned early in the course. Cabbage was furnished from a home garden.

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

Good attendance is a very essential thing in school. This makes work so much easier for all concerned in the class. In high school regular attendance is more difficult than in other grades; however, we have one class that has nearly a perfect attendance record. This is the junior class Let us hope it may continue as we all get along so much nicer in our work.—L. A. S.

Woe to the high school student! Six weeks tests again appeared upon the scene and again there was the usual head scratching and pencil chewing as the students searched their minds for the knowledge. We are all inclined to agree with Shakespeare that "ambition should be made of sterner stuff."

The entire student body joins in wishing everyone the happiest Thanksgiving Day ever spent and here's hoping you don't eat too much.

Mr. Patet assisted by Mr. Zeidler fixed the south wall of the gym. The moving of the radiators left a ragged edge and this was neatly covered and finished with wall board.

K. H. S. SPORTS NOTES

by F. G. K.

The Klemme High School wishes to thank the business men who are donating toward the basketball fund by advertising on our schedule; and also the ones who are helping drive for the games that have been played away from home and the ones to follow.

Driving expenses ordinarily account for from $40 to $50 each basketball season. The money thus saved this year can be used for suits, basketballs and other equipment.

Monday Mr. Kingery ordered fifteen new basketball suits. The jerseys are white rayon with Klemme writen on the front in green letters. The trunks are green with white belts. The team will make a fine appearance in these neat suits and by having this number the team will be uniformly dressed for each game. The expense for the suits can be met with the amount saved on transportation.

Drivers for our first out of town game were J. P. Heyman, Conrad Quandt, C. C. Kilgore and R. A. Jorgenson. Thank you!

Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson Hostess To U-Delt-Em Bridge Club

Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson entertained the U-Delt-Em Bridge Club Thursday afternoon. Mrs. C. G. Waterman won high; Mrs. Fred J. Arnold average score, and Mrs. Art Kudje, the traveling prize. Lunch was served.

GRADE SQUEALS

Grades 3 and 4

The children have been having many happy times lately talking about the Pilgrim boys and girls and their parents. Each grade made a poster about Pilgrim life.

The 3rd and 4th grade room welcomed Mrs Ulrich as a visitor this week.

The children are learning a two-part song this week. The boys sing the melody while the girls sing alto.

This room is very grateful to Mr. Patet this week for fixing a new library corner for us. A name for the library will be chosen next week.

Grades 1 and 2

Herbert S., Edward, Betty Junior Patty and Duard had 100 in spelling on Friday. Betty has had a perfect record for the past six weeks.

Mr. Patet used some wallboard to make a store for the first grade. They are busy filling it with groceries They were very pleased because the store had a real light.

First grade have begun their new Elson Primers.

We are reading Thanksgiving poems and stories.

Special Meeting, October 9th, 1934

Meeting called to order by the Mayor for the purpose of meeting with Mr. Thorpe of the Thorpe Bros. Well Co. and to consult with him in regard to the proper casing to be used in the new well.

Larsen, Quandt, Mueller, Goll & Priebe, members of the Council present.

The result of this meeting was as follows: That the Town of Klemme purchase 100' of wrot steel casings from Crane & Co., whose representative was present, and to case the well temporarily with these in addition to the 10" pipe we have on hand to a total depth of 250'. These to remain until the drilling is completed, at which time these will be pulled out, and the permanent 8" cast iron casings will be installed, and for these last two items the Town of Klemme will pay Thorpe Bros. the same rate per hour as stated in the contract for a pumping test, and Thorpe Bros. agree to take the used casing at a 20 percent discount when the job is completed.

On motion, the Council to pay George Buseman an extra $10.00 per month for the length of time that the old well will be in use.

Meeting adjourned.

SURPLUS THREATENS UNLESS PRODUCTION IS CONTROLED

In answer to the question, "Why a production control program in 1935," S. J. Oberhauser gives the following reasons for continuing the plan.

"In the first place," says Mr. Oberhauser, "we must remember that production control means adjustment upward or downward—not necessarily reduction. The program in 1935 will control production and keep it from returning to 1932-33 levels which would send farm prices tumbling again. It actually will permit an expansion over the production of the past drought stricken year."

Four reasons for expecting expecting excessive corn acreage in 1935 without a control program were outlined by Mr. Oberhauser:

1. A normal response to severe crop shortages and high feed prices caused by drought is the planting of a larger than average acreage of corn the following year. Yields per acre usually return to normal and a record crop results followed by low feed prices.

2. Marked adjustment in cattle and hog numbers during the past few months has reduced corn needs during the coming year to the point where the average acreage of recent years with normal yields would produce a surplus of corn larger than that required for rebuilding drought reserves.

3. Because of the severe drought damage to many new pasture and meadow seedings, a larger than average area of land will be readily available next spring for planting to corn.

4. In many localities seed corn will be relatively cheaper and more plentiful than many other farm seeds.

In regard to the hog situation, Mr. Oberhauser explained that if a record corn crop should be produced next year and seed prices should go down, the tendency of farmers, as shown by past experience, would be to increase the numbers of hogs and other livestock. This would mean over-expansion of pork production in 1936 and 1937 which in turn would mean lower prices for market livestock.

Existing conditions do not yet warrant a substantial expansion in pork production. The 1935 corn-hog contract provides for an allotment about one-fifth larger than for the past year but not equal to that of the 1932-33 period. Exports of pork show no promise of increasing with foreign countries continuing to strengthen their tariffs and imprt quotas.

KLEMME YOUNG LADY TELLS OF TRIP TO EAST COAST

Editor's Note:- We prevailed on Miss Marie Blank to provide us with an account of the recent trip she took with Mrs. Paul Grange, and son, Dorance when they accompanied Paul Grange and his father, S. S. Grange, to New York City where the men boarded a ship for England. Mrs. Grange, Dorance, and Miss Blank returned to Klemme last Wednesday.

The account of the trip follows:

The trip accompanying Paul Grange and his father, S. S. Grange to New York, was an enjoyable one from the very beginning. We left Klemme on Monday morning, Nov. 19 and drove to Gary, Indiana the first day. We left Gary early Tuesday morning and drove to Detroit. On this trip the land was real stony; the fences and many buildings upon the farms were built of stone and still all the fields were covered with great rocks and stones. In this part they have many orchards and vineyards.

We crossed into Windsor, Canada on the Ambassador bridge. This is very new and sure is built up in the air. You can see for miles from the top of the bridge. We spent one night in Canada and drove on to Niagra Falls on Wednesday. The Falls is a great sight; the depth is about 180 feet and the coloring changes from green to blue to white. This would be a grand place for duck hunters, because the place is filled with them, the only drawback in hunting is that you aren't allowed to shoot them. One party (not of our party) was fined for throwing stones at the birds. We spent the night in the Catarract Hotel, the same place where Abe Lincoln and F. D. Roosevelt have stayed. We saw the page of the old register on which Abe Lincoln had signed.

On Thursday we spent part of the morning around the Falls and then drove thru the northern part of New York State. On Friday we drove thru the Catskill Mts. and along the west side of the Hudson river; the scenery here was beautiful.

We arrived at New York City about 2:30 and spent the balance of the day riding about and seeing the big noisy city. Saturday morning at 9:30 we accompanied Paul and his father abord the ship "Importer". Here Paul received a telegram wishing him Bon Voyage.

We left New York soon after the boat sailed and drove thru Pennsylvania into Maryland. We arrived in Washington D. C. on Sunday morning and spent the day seeing the governmental buildings; the Capitol White House, Arlington Cemetery, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and the home of Robert E. Lee and many other places.

On Monday we drove through the Allegheny Mts., through Marylalnd, West Virginia and into Ohio. On Tuesday we drove through Ohio, Indiana and into Illinois. We arrived home on Wednesday, just in time to be home for Thanksgiving dinner and the luck of missing the great snow storm.

METHODIST LAYMEN'S RALLY

VAGABONDS OPEN SEASON BY WIN OVER GOODELL INDIES

The Vagabonds, Klemme's Independent basketball team, went to Goodell Tuesday evening for their first game of the season, and defeated the Goodell Pheasants 40-38.

The game was close all the way thru. Klemme sank two baskets in the opening minute of play. Goodell called time out and then tied the score with a rush of their own. Thereafter during the first half the lead changed hands with almost every basket. The Vagabonds led at the half 23-22 and kept at the head of the score most of the second half. With but two and a half minutes left to play Klemme enjoyed a 39-33 lead, but a last minute rally by Goodell brought the score up to 40-38 in the Vagabond's favor.

KLEMME YOUNG MAN JOINS FIRM AT KANSAS CITY

Andrew Wellemeyer began work Monday in Kansas City with the Learner's Vogue Shop, a firm which deals in ladies ready-to-wear and operates ten stores scattered thruout the middle west.

Andrew is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wellemeyer. He has spent the great part of his life in Klemme. After completing his school here he managed the grocery department in his father's store for three years, when he went to Kansis City and completed two yars work in the K. C. Junior College. It was while in Kansas City that he became acquainted with the man who now operates the string of ten stores. At that time there was but one small store, but it was flourishing and soon the proprietor began putting out more stores.

After completing college work at Kansas City Andrew finished his work in the Chicago University and specialized in Commerce and Business Administration. He then returned to Klemme to manage the grocery department for W. L. Thada.

Andrew is beginning right at the bottom in the new line of business he is connected with now, and will make a complete study of the system for several months. The firm expect to open more stores this coming year and Andrew will be in line to manage one of the stores for his firm.

Auxiliary Meets Thursday

The local Auxiliary ladies will meet at the home of Martha Bredbenner Thursday, November 13th. Miss Leona Lau will be assistant hostess.

The many friends of Mrs. E. G. Ell. of Mankato, Minn, are sorry to hear of her recent accident. She was run into by an automobile as she was crossing the street. She was taken to a local hospital in an unconcious condition, and it was found that her left arm was broken and she had received numerous cuts and bruises. She has been removed to her home and is getting along as well as can be expected. Miss Esther Fuller is caring for her.

Titus Davis, father of Mrs. B. A. Jorgenson, who has been visiting in Iowa for the past month, left last Friday morning for Kansas City. He was accompanied by Jack Wellemeyer who drove the car for him. They left in the blizzard but had good going until they got to Indianola, where a big truck had slid across the road, blocking traffic for six hours. They spent the night in Osceola at the Clarence Elder home and drove on to Kansas City the following day.

Blow Snake or Adder Is Scrappy; Not Dangerous

On the Michigan pine plans is commonly found one of the most interesting reptiles in the United States, one with a habit which no other snake in this country (and few in the world) possesses. This snake, says Our Dumb Animals, is the commonly called blow snake or puff adder or, more rarely, called the spreading adder or hog-nosed snake.

It is a thick-bodied snake and is rather short, never measuring much more than two feet in length. When approached by an enemy it assumes the attitude of the deadly cobra of India and from the power of hissing sharply or spitting it gets its name blow snake of puff adder. It flattens its head until it is almost twice as wide and less than half as thick as normal. It will strike savagely but never quite hits the mark. It is entirely harmless, despite the stories of its poison breath. If it finds that it cannot bluff you by striking, and if you tap it lightly with a stick or with your boot, it will slowly turn over upon its back and relax with gaping jaws. It is to all appearances a dead reptile. Should you walk away it will twist its head about and, if all is quiet, it will quickly come to life and crawl to a place of safety. If you pick it up and turn it over it will repeat the "dying" process over and over a half dozen times.

Royal Clocks Valuable; There Are Many of Them

Windsor castle, says the Montreal Herald, has 360 clocks. Buckingham palace has more than 150. The inventory of the Windsor castle clocks alone fills two volumes in the Lord Chamberlain's office. The most valuable of them all is a small one that Henry VIII gave to Anne Boleyn on their wedding day. The weights are engraved with lovers' knots. It is said to be worth $50,000. Another valuable royal timepiece is a Louis XIV Buhl clock in the Van Dyck room at Windsor. It is said to be worth $25,000. There is also an Eighteenth century clock that requires winding only once a year. In the footmen's room at Windsor is a curious Act of Parliament clock. These timepieces sprang into existence when Pitt taxed watches, with the result that poor people ceased to carry them. Publicans came to their aid by installing Act of Parliament clocks in their windows. These clocks were of black painted wood, with gilt numerals, and without glass over the dial.

The king's clock, however, is painted white. The largest of all the royal clocks is a grandfather, which stands in the grand corridor at Buckingham palace. It is 9 feet 10 inches in height

Roll Call in Congress

There is no requirement that the roll be called at the beginning of each day's session of congress. It is called at the opening of the term to ascertain whether all the states are represented, and a roll call is directed by the speaker of the house or the president of the senate before an action which requires a two-thirds vote. For the rest of the time, a roll call may be had whenever any member cares to raise the point of no quorum, if a substantial minority supports his request. It requires 35 minutes to call the roll in the house; in the senate, considerably less time. When a part of one of the bodies desires to delay proceedings for one reason or another frequent and repeated roll calls help to accomplish tho purpose.

First Iron Ship

The earliest use of iron in shipbuilding, either for the frame or sheathing, was in 1816 when Thomas Wilson, a Scotch boatbuilder, began the construction of the Vulcan in Lanarkshire, Scotland. It maintained a passenger service for over half a century and was the pioneer of the iron and steel merchant marine. The first iron ship in this country was the John Randolph, riveted together at Savannah in 1834 of plates shipped from England. The old gunboat Wolverine, formerly the Michigan, was launched in 1843 and is the oldest iron-hulled ship afloat in the world. The Great Eastern, used as a cable-laying ship, was of iron.

A King Was Cold

The judge's ermine and the mayor's fur collar are relics of the times when the temperatures of law courts and banqueting halls in England made them not an ornament but a necessity. Even at coronations it was hopeless to try to warm the Abbey, so the king and his august subjects were warmed instead, and modern sovereigns have cause to remember how chilly their ancestors felt when they in turn stifle under the same heavy fur robes. So cold were the homes of England that those who could afford it even slept in fur, and an old account book mentions the purchase of 17 skins to make a nightgown for Queen Elizabeth.

River's Phenomenal Leap

In British Guiana there is a mighty river called the Petara. At one place Kaieteur, the river makes a clear drop of 822 feet, and at the foot of the cataract the waters of the Petara branch off in various directions. The Kaieteur cataract is the show place of British Guiana. Twenty-eight thousand cubic feet of water pass over the edge of the cataract every second. This vast volume of water, properly applied, would be capable of furnishing four times as much power as is derived today by the harnessing of Niagara falls.

Electricity in Body, but No Electric Organ

There is no special electric organ in the human body as there is in certain types of fishes—the electric eel, etc. Electric sparks and discharges from the hair and skin are usually symptoms of frictional electricity. For example, the friction of the leather soles of shoes on the woolen rugs in a heated house may produce enough electricity to cause sparks to jump from the person's fingers to a lamp fixture or metal hinge. Atmospheric conditions and differences in the conditions of muscular, nervous and general health may account for individual differences with regard to these electric sparks.

According to textbooks of physiology, every contraction of a muscle, the secretion of a gland, and probably also nutritional changes in the tissues, are associated with electrical phenomena, which may be demonstrated by a sensitive galvanometer and suitable methods. Before any muscular contraction there is a change in the electrical condition of the muscle, and even the heart beats are said to be associated with electrical phenomena. Similar electrical changes are also found in the living nerves.—Detroit News.

Soldier Bonus Demands Traced to Indian Wars

The bonus for former warriors is as old as the Indian wars of the early settlers, according to an authority, who reviews the fight between the English settlers in Connecticut with the Pequots, which occurred in 1637.

The Pequots, most feared tribe in Connecticut, had subjugated the other Indians and the determination of the white settlers on a war, though they were inexperienced in Indian fighting, was a "remarkable action to take," the writer says.

The General court decided on the war at Hartford, May 1, 1637, and by July 13, the same year, the Indian power had been broken. The white men struck quickly, killing men, women and children as they drove the Indians from the state. Then came the aftermath, just as it has in modern days.

The Indian fighters demanded bonuses, and were given lands in the former country of the Pequots, now New London county. Taxes were increased and increased interest in preparation for other wars was noted. The leaders then fighting wrote their memoirs, and altercations arose as to who won the war.

Handel's "Messiah"

According to a book entitled "George Frederic Handel," by Newman Flower, "The Messiah" was written in London and filed away by Handel, who had no idea of producing it when he wrote it, due to the fact that he was so discouraged over the reception given him in London and the indifference displayed for his compositions, that he had about made up his mind to return to Germany when he received a pressing invitation to go to Dublin and there produce some of his other compositions. Whether it was because the Irish are a music-loving people, or that the type of religious music for which Handel was noted appealed strongly to them, is not known, but he achieved tremendous success in Dublin. With persuasion, he was induced to produce "The Messiah." Of all of his compositions given in Dublin, "The Messiah" achieved the greatest fame and Handel's success from then on was assured.

Engines Have Stomach Ache

Even railway engines have their "stomach" aches, and their diet, particularly liquid, has to be watched, says a bulletin of the motive power department of the Canadian National railways. It all comes about through the property possessed by water of dissolving certain minerals in the earth. To distill water for locomotives would entail enormous expense; some locomotives use about 14,000 gallons of water on an average run of 185 miles. Therefore treating plants have to be maintained to break down the minerals in the water, particularly sulphate of lime, carbonate of lime and carbonate of magnesia that deposit a scale in the boilers which causes loss of power and overheating of the boiler plates and damage to the tubes—in other words "stomach" ache.

Public Executions

In the early days of Ohio execution by hanging was public and no step was omitted which might by publicity tend to deter persons from committing capital offenses. Before the condemned man was hanged his funeral was "preached," whilst other means were taken to show the consequences of homicide. For example, in 1825 in Newark a murderer was condemned to be hanged, the gallows was erected, the grave dug, the coffin made, the shroud procured, and the condemned man vested in it. He was then placed within the coffin, while the sermon was "preached" to a large audience, assembled to listen to the services which were then to be followed by the execution.

Coffee Grows Wild

The negro republic of Haiti is a land of small farmers, only 2 per cent, it is estimated, of the agricultural production being the outcome of the plantation method. Coffee is the chief crop. The crop actually grows wild and is harvested rather than cultivated.

Bidders Make Your Sale!

This paper will bring bidders to your sale from over a large trade territory.

Bidders are attracted to a sale through Advertising, and the circulation of this paper insures a crowd. The larger the ad used, the greater is the attention given to what you have to sell. It also brings more and better bidders to your sale. ONE EXTRA BIDDER, in many cases, would more than offset the cost of additional space used.

EDITORIAL

Where there's a will there's a way .Last Wednesday was the day before Thanksgiving and also the day when many of the pheasants in the county "met their Waterloo." It was therefore a day of great importance, so with splendid coopera'on between the teachers and the pupils all alarm clocks went off at the proper time, breakfasts were gulped down, and we dashed off to school so as not to miss the 1st class at 8:00 o'clock. But it was worth it because we got out earlier and were a great deal happier.

It was the will of the studen's to do this because some of us thought we were expert cracksmen with a gun, some of us wanted to get home earlier and dream about eating the next day, and the rest of us wanted to show the world we could get to school at 8 a. m. sharp. So you see, as I have said before—where there's a will there's a way.

HONOR ROLL

The high school honor roll for the second six weeks includes the following names:

Freshmen: Novella Beier, B; Paul Schuldt, B; Gladys Griffen, B; Buster Jorgenson, B.

Sophomores: Carmen Kluckhohn, B; Nora Wellemeyer, A-.

Juniors: Delorys Cook, B; Lyndon Kilgore, B; Lavonne Sherwood, B.

Seniors: Bessie Larson, B; Ruth Wellemeyer, A; Esther Trample, B.

According to our system of grading, B ranges from 90 to 95 and A ranges from 96 to 100.

A couple of others may be eligble for the honor roll after they have made up work lost on account of illness.

PEP MEETINGS

The entire high school have discovered one reason why the basketball boys of Klemme have played such good basketball. We think this is due to the pep meetings which have been held for about fifteen or twenty minutes the last period of th day. These are only given when the boys play a game that night. Carmen Kluckhohn, Bessie Larson, and Nora Wellemeyer lead the yells at these meetings and the grade people have to suffer the consequences.

After four or five of these new yells have been given, our poor hoarse throats are again given the opportunity to sing the Klemme High School Song and Cheer, Cheer for Old Klemme High. By that time the hands of the clock are on four and we all leave with the hope that the boys will win tonight's game.—L. A. S.

What Features of Our High School Are You Most Proud of and Why?

The feature I am most proud of in our high school is, when a speaker as Mr. Hamilton, from Mason City Business College, comes to speak before the asembly, it is most interesting to notice his attentive listeners. They dread to think of his closing words. His speeches seem to short, but never-the-less give us many ideas. He gives many good examples, which, I think, most of us should follow.—Alida Schubert.

Of course, being a member of the paper staff, I am proudest of our school paper. It shows the ability of H. S. people to get news every week about their school and write it up in an interesting manner.—Nora Wellemeyer.

I am most proud of our second basketball team because they are good players and have gone so far without loss to any team except 1. Our first team is one to be proud of also. They were 1.000 until Crystal Lake won from them Tuesday night, but they'll do better next time.—Dorothy Greiman.

I am most proud of our basket ball team. We have won most of the games this year. Crystal Lake beat us, but we can't let one failure discourage us. Anyway, our second team beat them. We have that consolation. Keep up the good work, team.—Novella Beier.

When I was asked what feature of our High School, I am most proud of, I didn't know what to say. There are more than one that I am proud of. Declam is one which I think most everybody is proud of. There are a number of students tht go out for this to win honors for our school. I enjoy listening to them very much, as I think most everyone does.—Harriet Gibbs.

TABLOIDS

Last week all the Seniors and any other students who cared to, tried their luck at writing tabloids. These tabloids were entered in the "Junior Tabloid Contest" conducted by the Des Moines Sunday Register.

This Junior Tabloid contest consists of fifty word summaries of some book. Each week smilar contests are held for those who have read books published during the last year. The books for the junior contest do not need to be so recent.

Tabloids are condensed synopsis (fifty words in this case) of a book which gives a suggestion of what the author has tried to accomplish. They may also hint at the reader's reaction.

The prize, if anyone happens to be, shall I say, lucky enough, is a new book. We are all hoping we will be remembered.

MILLIONS TO AID WILDLIFE ASSURED

Program Launched for Protection of Game.

Washington.—Restoration of wildlife will take a big step forward with the inauguration of the program of the President's committee on wildlife restoration, which is to begin soon, according to plans in the making now, a bulletin of the American Game association points out. A fund of $8,500,000 to start the program is virtually assured, according to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The bureau of biological survey, under his department, will have charge of the work. J. N. Darling, chief of the bureau, said that he "hopes to make a wonderful showing during the year."

This fund is made up of several funds allocated for different work, all, however, for the benefit of wildlife. $1,000,000 was previously set aside, taken from funds for forest purchase; $1,500,000 for the purchase of submarginal lands; $3,500,000 from the recent drouth relief appropriation, to be spent in the drouth areas of the upper prairie states; and $2,500,000 from public works funds.

"This is not free money to spend as we will," Chief Darling said in commenting upon the fund. "It is not granted to us to use as we think best. It is subject to marginal land purchasing regulations, subject to drought relief regulations, and subject to the rule that we must use it for relief labor, excepting the $2,500,000 which we expect from the public works funds, and which we have not yet definitely received from the Public Works administration.

"Even though most of this money is circumscribed with all kinds of restrictions, and the fact that we must work through and with other agencies to accomplish our purpose, we hope to made a wonderful showing during the year. It will be the first time wildlife has gotten a real break," Chief Darling said.

Much of this fund, it is believed, can be used in employing relief labor in the drouth-stricken areas for the restoring of drained lakes and the creation of new water areas by damming streams, draws and other suitable places, to establish refugees for waterfowl, and thus benefit agriculture by raising the water table, and, in some instances, live stock by allowing lanes of entrance to the areas for watering stock, conservationists pointed out.

Loss of Arctic Ship Not in Vain, Says Explorer

Moscow.—Despite the sinking of the Soviet steamer, Chelluskin, in the Arctic ocean, its journey was not in vain, in the opinion of N. V. Pinyegin, Arctic explorer.

Valuable data on the course of Arctic streams, on temperatures, and on the location and types of sea fauna were gathered by Prof. Otto Schmidt and his hardy band, according to Pinyegin.

Also some changes in the Arctic map may be made as a result of the Chelluskin's voyage, he added. For instance, Schmidt found that some of the Arctic islands had been placed erroneously on the map. One, Solitude island, was found 30 miles from its supposed location.

Pinyegin further reasoned that the experience of the Chelluskin, which lacked only a few miles of completing its journey through to Behring strait, would teach masters of other vessels the best route through the Polar seas in the future.

After the Chelluskin sunk last February, Schmidt and his crew established a camp on an icefloe from which they eventually were rescued by airplanes.

40,000,000-Year-Old-Pig Is Placed on Exhibition

Ann Arbor, Mich.—A "Merycoidodon Culbertsoni," better known as the "ruminating pig," which existed some 40,000,000 years before the era of the stockyards, was placed on exhibition in the University of Michigan museum recently.

"Mery," who resembles the razorback hog of Kansas, but with a somewhat different skull form and a long, instead of a short, tail, originated in what is now known as the "Bad Lands of South Dakota." They are said to have existed in the Dakotas when the early types of mammals were dying out and modern forms began to evolve.

Policemen of Budapest Must Grow Mustaches

Budapest.—Budapest is going to have romantic mustachioed policemen. An order has been issued by the chief of police that all mounted policemen must from now on wear mustaches. It is considered not only conducive to military appearance and bearing but in line with the national tradition of the dashing Magyar horseman.

Hay Fever Caused by Russian Thistle

Salt Lake City, Utah.—The Russian thistle is the greatest single source of hay fever in America, Dr. Ray M. Balyeat of the University of Oklahoma told physicians from western states gathered here in their annual convention. The female cottonwood tree, also a prolific source of the ailment, should be banned by law, he declared. Cedars and elms likewise spread irritating pollen, he said.

GRADE SQUEALS

Grades 3 and 4

Average of 90 or above for this six weeks—3rd grade: Julia Bell, Barbara Johnson, Corrine Merkel, Eunice Larsen.

4th grade: Betty Jean Etchen, Elwyn Jacobs, Billy Grosshuesch, Eugene Johnson.

The third and fourth grades finished their study of Pilgrims and the true meaning of Thanksgiving Day by inviting the first and second grades to their program. They dressed as Pilgrim children. Candles in apple holders were kept burning during the program which consisted of:

Thanksgiving Song—All.
Little Pumpkin's First Thanksgiving—Billy.
Poem — Thanksgiving Day—Corrine, Wesley, Eugene H., Billy, Elwyn and Betty Jean.
Story—The First Thanksgiving—Marvin.
Poem—The Pilgrims Came— Tunice.
Story—The First Thanksgiving—Betty Jean.
Prayer Song—All.

After this the children enjoyed a program and a surprise treat in Miss Thorne's room.

The fourth grade have finished their Winston Reader.

Grades 5 and 6

Perfect attendance in the fifth grade: Charles Bock, Homer Blickenderfer, Garland Brinkman, Melvin Coobs Edwin Tiggeman Billy Zabilka, Arlene Buseman, and Caroline Schwartz.

Sixth grade: Allen Barz, Frederick Gobeli, Russell Wade, Gertrude Grosshuesch and Elsie Drake.

Garland Brinkman, Billy Zabilka, and Lorraine Buntenbach are on the fifth grade honor roll this six weeks and Keith Stille, Jacqueline Kudje, Shirley Johnson and Marjorie Lemke are on the sixth grade honor roll.

In sixth grade history we are studying painters of the Renaissance period. We have studied Leonard da Vinci's "Last Supper" and Santi Raphael's "Sistine Madonna." We now have each of these pictures in our room.

EGG PRICE PROSPECT IS GOOD

Light Receipts During Winter and Spring Seem Probable

"Prospects are for continuing light supplies of fresh eggs during the winter and spring and higher than average prices for the period."

This is the conclusion drawn by extension economists at Iowa State College in their recently published "1935 Iowa Farm Outlook." They say, "The price of eggs may rise high enough to justify the feeding of hens liberally."

High grain prices have forced the liquidation of large numbers of poultry, just as they have forced liquidation of other farm animals.

This reduction during the past summer has taken place mostly in the area of greatest egg production, the Middlewest. Iowa, the greatest egg producer of all states in the area, has curtailed poultry numbers considerably. But more liquidation will probably have to take place this winter and spring.

On Oct. 1 the number of hens and pullets in farm flocks was 7 percent less than that on the same date in 1,33. During the past year there has been a greater reduction in young chickens than in laying hens owing to a decrease in hatchings and the feed shortage which caused the earlier sale of birds not bringing in cash income.

Heavy early marketngs of hens and young stock indicate a considerable decrease in the number of chickens sent to market during the winter. Average weights will probably also run less than usual unless the relationship between feed and poultry product prices improves which is not likely.

"SEED PRICES MAY DOUBLE NEXT SPRING"—HUGHES

Soybeans, Grasses & Small Seeded Legumes Likely to be Scarce in '35

Probability that prices of field seed next spring will be double what they are now, and that in some communities the necessary seed will not be had at any price, was voiced this week by H. D. Hughes, Iowa State College farm crops head.

Particularly, he believes, will soybean prices rocket. There is every reason to believe that soybean seed now selling for less than a dollar a bushel will cost from $1.75 to $2 or more next spring.

The Corn Belt crop this year was large, but with the favorable prices for soybean meal this crop is being milled rapidly. With serious chinch bug infestation the demand for soy bean seed in Iowa will be many times that of any previous year.

Seventy-five percent of the Iowa farmers have no seed oats from their own bins. The federal government has bought up many bushels of the best seed in Iowa and has sent it to other states in worse condition. Iowa farmers cannot hope to get any of this seed. It is necessary for them to find their own seed within the state. The wise thing is to get it now.

Hughes gave no comfort to farmers relying for help upon the action of the federal government in taking options on cribs of corn from which seed can be selected. It is not to be expected that the federal government will actually buy and resell this seed. Every grower, with the possible exception of those in a limited section of southern Iowa, will need to find his own seed corn.

FRANK SINDELAR WILL HAVE PUBLIC SALE

Frank Sindelar will have a farm sale on Monday, Dec. 17th at which time he will sell 20 head of catte, 6 head of horses, 17 head of hogs, farm machinery, etc. See his sale adv in this issue of the Klemme Times.

Little Shamrocks Battle Toward Conference Lead

SHAMROCK SECOND TEAM WON OVER HAYFIELD 19-4

Klemme's Little Shamrocks kept up their reputation when they defeated Hayfield's Seconds 19 to 4, and are but one game behind Corwith for the Little Eagles Conference.

A. Trca, Hayfield forward opened the scoring by looping two points. Jorgenson, Klemme Shamrock guard, failed to count both chances on Trca's foul.

The Little Shamrocks scored 2 points on the next play when Jorgenson dribbled in and passed to M. Barz, who found the basket. Barz collected again on E. Trca's foul. Schaper, Klemme, fouled Blank who failed to tally. Hayfield called time out. The quarter ended:

Little Shamrocks 3, Hayfield 2

The Shamrocks opened the second quarter intent on scoring when Jorgenson took the tip off, passed to Keeper who dribbled under the basket and hooked a looper. Jorgenson again snagged a pass, whipping it to Barz who rang up another field goal. Stupka failed to count on Klotzbach's foul. The Shamrocks again scored on a barrage of passes with Keeper passing to Barz, who sank the basket.

Jorgenon took the tip off from center, dribbled short and passed a long one to Barz for a set-up under the basket just as the gun ended the half:

Shamrocks 11, Hayfield 2

The Shamrocks agani opened the scoring when Keeper passed to Jorgenson who dribbled to an opening and shot a basket from the free throw line. Barz scooped the ball off the floor after a Hayfield fumble and dribbled for the basket, counting 2 points. Kuller, Hayfield and Schuldt, Klemme, both failed to count on their double foul. Bachman, Abele, and Schuldt saw service in this quarter, which ended:

Shamrocks 15, Hayfield 2

Blank missed 2 gifts on Schaper and Barz fouls. Barz made a basket on a short pass from Schuldt. Blank connected for two points on a pass from Stupka. On a series of passes Schaper to Schuldt to Barz, the latter looped the basket. Schaper failed on Blank's foul and Keeper blew both chances on Blanks foul. The game ended:

Little Shamrocks 19, Hayfield 4

Jorgenson, Shamrock guard was outstanding in both defense and offense play, snagging Hayfield passes out of the air and breaking up plays, and at the same time feeding passes to Klemme forwards and taking the ball through the Hayfield defense. M. Barz played an outstanding game in the forward position, doing a nice job of fast breaking away from the Hayfield guard and getting into shooting position to make passes count. All of the Shamrock seconds saw service in the game.

Blank, forward and Chizek, guard played a nice game for Hayfield.

HAYFIELD DEFEATS SHAMROCK FIRST TEAM 31-21

The Shamrocks dropped from 2nd to 5th place in the Seven Eagles Conference when they lost to Woden and Hayfield. Kanawha and Corwith won their games and are tied for 2nd place.

The Shamrocks were weak in their passing, tossing too many high ones which were easily intercepted by the lanky visitors. M. Taylor, Hayfield center, played a fine game, as did his cousin O. Taylor at forward. Schroer played a nice game at guard for the visitors. For the Shamrocks, Kaduce, lanky center, was the big attraction on the scoring end. The balance of the team seemed to be a bit out of the usual form, and could not put the punch into their offensive plays when baskets were badly needed.

How The Scores Were Made

Hayfield opened the scoring when Greene, forward, flipped a short pass to O. Taylor under the basket for two counts. Brinkman, Shamrock forward, failed to count on Stupka's gift, and M. Taylor also failed when fouled by Gast. Stupka missed two gifts on Kilgore's foul. On a double fuol both Gast and M. Taylor missed the chance. Taylor again missed on Brinkman's gift.

The Shamrock's frst field goal was the result of a neat play when Stokesbary took the ball off the bangboard and passed short to Barz who made the 2 points. Barz failed to count on Stupka's gift. The quarter ended:

Shamrocks 3, Hayfield 3

On an exchange of fouls, Barz on Taylor and Greene on Kilgore, the latter made one point. Green took a long shot from center which was good. Kaduce evened the count on M. Taylor's foul, and Stokesbary added another on O. Taylor's gift. Klemme called time out.

Hayfield came in for a field goal when O. Taylor sank a nice one. Kilgore threw a long pass to Kaduce who made the shot. On fouls, Barz on O. Taylor, Kaduce on M. Taylor and Stupka on Barz, nobody collected. O. Taylor passed to M. Taylor, who made the shot. The half ended

Hayfield 9, Shamrocks 8

The opening of the third quarter was all in Hayfield's hands and was a nightmare for the Shamrocks as the visitors in quick succession looped six field goals, mostly as a result of intercepted passes. O. Taylor looped one on the tip-off play; Schroer received O. Taylor's pass for the second. Schroer passed to Stupka for the third; Schroer intercepted his third Shamrock pass out of the air for the fourth; O. Taylo intercepted Kaduce's pass for the fifth and M. Taylor snagged another high Shamrock pass for the sixth basket.

The Shamrocks then settled down and on a pass Kilgore to Kaduce to Brinkman netted two points. Hayfield called time out. Green fouled Kilgore, who missed both gift shots. Kaduce passed to Stokesbary under the basket for a set up. The quarter ended:

Hayfield 21, Shamrocks 12

The last quarter was better, as the Shamrocks made 9 points to the visitors 10. The Shamrocks came back strong when Stokesbary took a pass from Kilgore and passed to Kaduce who sank the goal. On the next play Stokesbary again passed to Kaduce who made the basket. However, M. Taylor came right back with two successive field goals. Brinkman then made a point on Chizek's foul. Klotzbach made a hook pass to Kilgorewho found the basket. Hayfield called time out as the Shamrocks had brought the count to 25-19 with 4½ minutes to play. Brinkman looped another goal at the start of play, but failed to count on Chizek's foul. Hayfield again went on a scoring spree with three successive goal: M. Taylor to Chizek; Chizek to Green and Green to Chizek, ending the game:

Hayfield 31, Shamrocks 21

Music at Christmas Time

By Alice Evanman

THE first Christmas night was God's special benediction on music. By His divine sanction it was the means of proclaiming the advent of a hope and happiness hitherto not considered ordained for humanity. On the night when the Christ child was born, heavenly singers were sent forth and the music of celestial choirs was heard for the first time by human ears. The melody of that glorious hymn came and passed into the harmony of the spheres beyond our ken and only the message of peace was handed down to the generations to come. How different the destiny of music had the pattern of celestial harmony and the melody the angels song been preserved for us. It was left for man to find within himself the heavenly music.

No event in the history of the world has set vibrating the finest chords of music in the hearts of the gifted ones equal to the festival of the birth of the Christ child. The supernatural messengers announcing His coming, the loveliness of character of His mother, the heavens themselves exulting at His birth are subjects which to contemplate but a moment awakens music in the heart and forms a song in the stillness thereof that is the echo of that song that rang through the universe that starry night 2,000 years ago. Yet the melody the angels sang was lost.

Mary, His mother, gave vent to the fullness of her heart when she knew that she was to be the chosen one of her people in the magnificent "Magnificat," the poetry of which still has power to thrill whenever its spontaneous glorification of the Lord is heard. Yet the melody the Virgin sang is lost.

Tender Lullabys Were Crooned by the Young Mother.

The lullabys crooned by the young mother in the stillness of the moments when the divine child was lulled to sleep have had no listener who passed them on to an eager world. What could have been the burden of the intimate things of which the mother sang when the restless world was shut away and the two, closely entwined, communed together, with the knowledge of their destiny hovering about them. Did she sing Him tender baby songs that made no reference to His divinity or did she praise Him as her God and sing her fidelity as she held Him close and soothed His earthly weariness? Did she beg of Him to spare her the suffering she knew awaited them or did she encourage Him in tender human fashion to bear the terrible human agony foreordained for Him? The lullabies that soothed the sacred child were never heard by profane ears.

In the life of Christ there must have been much music. Descended from the greatest singer of all times, the psalmist David, and His advent into the world proclaimed by the singers from His heavenly home, there was a human and divine heritage of music woven into the scheme of His existence on earth. In the childhood years of the Lord, what were His childish pleasures, what were His childish songs? Was the soul of the young Saviour too sad for singing or did He fashion Himself songs from a heavenly source whispered by angels or did He sing the songs of His people heard on the lips of His companions? In the synagogue did He praise His Father after the manner of David and to the tune of the lute and was His sacred voice heard when He read from the scriptures. The songs the Saviour sang have vanished.

Yet the music of that sacred time is not lost, for it is born again in the hearts of the great composers. Bit by bit the melody that was heard the first Christmas night has come back to us distilled from the pens of the specially chosen, and who is there to say it is not akin to the music of the celestial choirs? The inexplicable urge of melody, the grandeur of musical thought, the loftiness of inspiration must surely be from the same source as was the music that was heard but once on earth.

It was not without intent that the message of peace was sent out on the "wings of song," for that is the power of music—to bring peace. Nor was it by chance that the melody came from the heavens, for ever the inward eyes of the soul turn heavenward under the influence of great earthly music. The radiance of the star shines in the heart under the touch of melody and the soul expands to a fuller comprehension of the promises for eternity.

AFTER FIVE YEARS

A Christmas Story

By KATHERINE EDELMAN

"I—I REALLY am nervous," Madge Crowell admitted to herself as she dropped one of the ornaments she was hanging on the Christmas tree. "Well, who wouldn't be in my place—Ben has been gone more then five years—maybe he'll find me changed—that he'll be disappointed. . . . I—I couldn't bear that."

"What are you talking to yourself about?" A boyish voice spoke at Madge's elbow. "Is Christmas having its effect upon you, or is it the thought of a certain young man who is coming this evening?"

"Both, I guess," Madge answered lightly. Then, turning to her brother, she spoke more seriously. "Richard, do—do you think Ben will have changed very much—do you think he will like me as well as he used to?"

"Well, I shouldn't be surprised if he has become a little bit tanned from the African climate, or if he has grown a mustache, or got a bit stouter, but as to whether he will like you as much as he used to—I'd say 'no.' He's bound to like you a lot better, that is, if he's kept his eyesight."

"Of all the foolish, flattering brothers! I should have known better than to ask you such a question!" But Madge's eyes were pools of dancing light as she looked at her brother. "Just for such a flippant answer, I'm going to put you at the task of cleaning up all this mess. I—I really must run up and dress; the clock seems to be running a race."

Madge's wardrobe was not extensive, yet it took her somo time to decide on what to wear. She finally chose a simple blue gown. She remembered that Ben had always liked her in blue; he used to say that it matched her eyes. . . . But that was long ago; they were both little more than children then. Would he find her as desirable now as he used to—would his eyes glow with love and pleasure as he looked into her face? Well, she would soon find out; he was due almost any moment now.

Her heart pounded as the door bell rang. Nervously she hurried down the wide steps. In a moment Ben was clasping her hands and whispering words that she thrilled to hear. And as blue eyes met brown in a long tender look, Madge knew that she was going to have the very happiest Christmas of her life.

WODEN HIGH TOOK SHAMROCK SCALP FRIDAY EVE 34-14

Klemme Reserves Added Another Win To Their Record

The Klemme High School Shamrocks returned from Woden Friday evening with the very short end of a 30 to 14 score. The Woden boys literally ran all over the locals, who seemingly could find no way to stop them. It would have taken a much better team than Klemme's to stop the drive of the Woden quintet Friday night. They outplayed the Shamrocks both on offense and defense. Klotzbach, who went into the game as a reserve guard, put up the best defensive game for the Shamrocks and should be pressing the regular guards for their positions before the season is very old.

Brandt of Woden was high point man for the evening with 6 field goals and a gift shot to his credit. Bilyeu and Gerdes, of Woden, had 4 and 2 field goals respectively. The Shamrocks tossed only three field goals the entire game and made 8 gift shots out of 16 chances. Woden totaled 16 field goals and 2 free throws out of 6 chances.

The Klemme reserves, however, won their game 21 to 10, doing most of the scoring in the last half of the game; the first half ending in a 3 to 3 tie. The Shamrock Reserves are in a good position to capture the cup to be awarded to the Seven Eagle Reserves. To date they have won 4 games and lost 1, putting them second to Corwith who have played only three games winning them all.

M. Barz and Klotbach were the leading scorers in the reserve game with 9 and 8 points respectively. Helm was hifh for the Woden boys with 5 points.

EDITORIAL

Many of us groan inwardly at the thought of Old Man Winter, who now holds us in the icy grip of his hand.

We sigh because the roads get blocked, we mutter about the cold atmosphere around us, and fuss and stew when we are forced to remain at home.

But when we stop to think, we realize that there is something pleasant about being shut in from the rest of the world, so to speak. It gives us a chance to become better acquainted with our own family whom we have sadly neglected thru the long summer months.

Indeed, we fuss and stew for nothing, for do you not like a cozy fire, the radio, an interesting book, popcorn and apples and family gossip?

Yes, when we pause and think of these small comforts we should not sigh so deeply and the icy hand of winter, should instead turn into a warm, friendly clasp which tends more to unite the bonds of understanding of the family.

INQUIRING REPORTER
By C. L. K.

How Do You Like To Spend Christmas?

At Christmas time I like to eat a good dinner, and after dinner to open presents. Giving Christmas presents is better than receiving gifts. Another thing is to hear Christmas programs. I do not like to be in a program myself, but it is a pleasure to listen to other people give a program.—Avis Barz

I think Christmas is a time to have a good time as having a family re-union and having a good dinner. In the afternoon have a Christmas tree with decorations on it, and little lights that are lit and also to have many Christmas presents for everyone that is there. It can be in a party form so all the people have a good time even to having it planned to have something special for the little tots.—Gladys Griffen.

I like to have all of the members of the family open their gifts at the same time. A large Christmas dinner is very nice. Also a large Christmas tree with different colored lights and pretty ornaments. The gifts, I think, should be put on the Christmas tree.—Ruth Blickendorfer.

For a "good old Merry Christmas" I would like to sleep in the morning as long as I pleased. Then I would get up and get dressed so I could go to some elaborate restaurant for my Christmas dinner. In the afternoon I would attend a show. I would also have a Christmas tree and a party in the evening because I don't think Christmas is complete without a Christmas tree. —Marjorie Wicks.

SHAMROCK BLARNEY

Betty Velau and Francis Sandry were high school visitors this week.

The noisy habit of gum chewing is slowly but surely being done away with in some of our classes. Last Tuesday an unsuspecting victim was caught in the act and as a penalty the senior class was all treated to gum the next day. The offender will no doubt put an end to this act as it would prove rather hard on the pocket book if repeated very often.

The snow turned out to be just the thing for the seniors, who with their sponsor Mr. Hunter, had a most enjoyable time at a sleighing party last Saturday evening on the hills south of town. Plenty of matches and dry twigs were taken along as the class no longer can trust Mr. Hunter and his hat to start a fire. A weiner roast was also enjoyed during the course of the evening.

The sub-county declamatory contest will this year be held in the Klemme High School gymnasium. This will be some time in February. This date was set by the superintendent's of the county at their meeting at Woden Thursday night. It was also decided at this meeting to award a cup to the second team with the highest standing in the Seven Eagles Conference this year. Our second team has a good start toward capturing the cup.

Dandie-Dinmont Terrier Gamest of All Terriers

Invariably the owner of two or more of the quaint Dandie Dinmont "silver-domed" terriers will name one Mustard and another Pepper. The two names, or their synonyms, have predominated their breeding records ever since Sir Walter Scott portrayed a pair of dandies, so named, in his "Guy Mannering," published in 1814, according to a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

The delineation is not intentionally interpretative of inherent qualities of the breed, although one might easily imagine it to have been so intended, once they thoroughly understand the realness of this small dog with the big voice. It is not flattery to say he is "as smart as mustard" or "as vigorous as pepper." But the spicy appellations allude merely to his general coloring.

He appears always in the varying shades, ranging from dark reddish brown to light fawn or from dark bluish black to light silver gray. In producing these, nature has accomplished one of her most successful attempts in color harmony.

A product of terrier development in the border region between England and Scotland, his exact origin is obscure. Claims of heritage include the otterhound, Skye terrier, dachshund and Bedlington terrier. Of these, the Bedlington, except for his long legs, bears great resemblance and has imparted to the low, longbodied dandie much of the indomitable pluck that has earned him the title of "gamest of all terriers in England."

Both are silver domed. And both take their fighting seriously. For this reason, they must be closely watched if kenneled with other dogs. Their teeth, exceptionally large for a small dog, give them greatest available holding and punishing power. They did much useful damage in their original task of a sporting terrier, aiding man in the pursuit of fox, badger and otter.

Fogs Form Near Surface of Earth From Moist Air

Fogs are a special type of cloud which forms on or near the surface of the earth from sudden condensation of moisture-laden air which carries some impurity on which the moisture can condense, says an authority in the Chicago Tribune. An ideal condition for the formation of fogs exists at the Banks of Newfoundland. There the warm air over the Gulf stream meets the cold air that accompanies the cold Arctic current coming past Greenland. The presence of salt spray in the air adds the last condition needed for a dense fog.

The infinitesimal drops of water that compose a fog vary from two twenty-five hundreds of an inch to one twenty-five thousandth of an inch in diameter. Raindrops are much larger, but never exceed one-fourth of an inch in diameter. When they tend to grow larger they are soon forced to break up as they fall through the air. Raindrops cannot fall through still air at a speed greater than 24 feet a second. It is fortunate for us that the size and speed of raindrops are thus naturally limited, or we might be pelted with buckets of water falling with the great speed due to gravity and the height of the cloud above the earth.

Compass of Vision

"The eyes not only have the power of adjustment for distant and near objects but also have a compass of vision," Dr. Hyman Cohen explains in "The Function of Sight," in Hygeia.

"When looking straight forward and without moving the eyes or the head, one can see a certain distance upward and downward, to the right and to the left. The area in space fronting the eye when so looking is called the visual field.

"In some species the visual fields of the two eyes are distinct; that is, there is one field on each side. In man, because the eyes are placed forward, the visual fields are in front: they are two horizontal, egg-shaped areas with the ends overlapping across the nose. The sense of depth and perspective is given by the overlapping."

John Bunyan's Flute

While John Bunyan, who wrote Pilgrims Progress, was in prison his jailers heard music coming from his cell. They decided to take away his instrument, but the music ceased as they drew near the cell, and they could find nothing to show how the music was made. From time to time the music sounded, but only Bunyan and his book were found. What had happened was that Bunyan had made a flute from a loose rail of his stool, and on hearing the goaler's step he would slip it back into its place and pore over his book.

Still Hope for Us

Honesty is more prevalent than many cynics suppose. A psychologist recently picked the names of a hundred men and women in many walks of life from a telephone directory and sent each a $1 bill in a letter, stating that it was a refund of an overpayment on a previous bill. Within a few days, 63 of them had returned the money with a note saying he had made a mistake. —Collier's Weekly.

Aquatic Snails

Aquatic snails are of two forms, according as they live in quiet, weedy marshes or in the depths of our lakes and rivers. The first mentioned need only thin, hornlike shells, while the river-snails require thick and strong coats of limy texture in order to withstand the rough treatment swift currents may give them, and protection against their peculiar enemies.

STOP! LOOK! READ!

A breezy comedy of modern youth. Kenneth Downes finds himself at twenty-one, sole inheritor of a million dollars, and cannot resist a bit of strutting and self-dramatization for the benefit of his "crowd."

He proves a gullible prospect for Dale Mainard, slick lawyer, who hopes to garner in some of the Downes dollars by loading Kenneth with fake stock. Seeing in Nancy, the young ward of Kenneth's dead father, a menace to his plan for fleecing the boy, Mainard plays on her desire to be independent and secures her a position as governess. In this he is aided by Janet Pace, a snobbish young woman who has designs of her own upon Kenneth. Kenneth's jolly crowd; Rosie, the maid, who interprets life in terms of the movies; and her boy friend, the butcher boy, offord plenty of comedy.

Such is the plot of the witty, three-act comedy "Meet the Millionaire" which is to be given by the Junior Class, Dec. 12th and 13th. The class, under the able direction of Miss Galbreth, has worked hard on the play and it should indeed be a good one. So make arrangements to see the play one of the two nights. It's a play that will make you laugh so much you will need a zipper to pull yourself together. Come and see it.

Shamrock Five Lost To Kanawha Quintet 26-17

SHAMROCKS LOST FAST GAME TO KANAWHA FIVE

Although the Klemme Shamrcoks lost their conference game to Kanawha there Friday night, it was a tight game from start to finish and was well played. It was anybody's game until the final gun sounded. Following is a summary of the game:

The Shamrocks went on a scoring spree as soon as the referee blew his whistle, sinking six counts in two minutes. Brinkman looped a pass from Kilgore and Brinkman again counted a goal on a pass from Kaduce. Gast failed on D. Yeakel's gift. On a scrimmage under the net, Kaduce tipped in a short one for a goal and Kanawha called time out.

Kaduce counted on Cooper's foul. Tande counted on Stokesbary's gift. Uken, Kanawha center, took a long shot and made the goal. W. Yeakel failed on Brinkman's foul. D. Yeakel came in on a fast pass and sank the counter but failed to count the foul on Kilgore. On a scrimmage under the basket Uken tipped in a shot for two points and Klemme called time out. The score was tied 7 to 7.

Gast failed to count on Johnson's foul. A technical on Klemme did not net Kanawha the point as Tande missed the loop Kaduce fouled Uken who was in the act of shooting, the basket counted and he also collected the gift. The quarter ended:

Kanawha, 10, Klemme 7

On Johnson's pass to Tande the basket was good. E. Barz came in for Stokesbary at forward. Johnson fouled Barz. but the ball rolled around the hoop and finally came to rest without dropping either in or out. The referee retreived the ball and put it in play at center. Kilgore fouled Johnson, who missed the gift. D. Yeakel failed to cash in on Gast's foul, but Gast made a point off D. Yeakel a few plays later. Stokesbary came back into the game. Brinkman passed up a point on W. Yeakel's foul. On a play starting out of bounds Johnson took a pass and made the goal. Klotzbach replaced Gast at guard. Brinkman swished a beauty on a pass from Stokesbry. The performance was repeated as the half ended:

Kanawha 14, Klemme 12

Klemme scored soon after the third quarter opened on a series of passes, when Brinkman sank a long goal from Kaduce's pass back of center. Cooper, Kanawha forward took a pass on an out of bounds play and looped it for two points. Brinkman made good on W. Yeakel gift. W. Yeakel passed to Johnson who made the basket. Uken again came in on the play and sank another field goal near the basket. D. Yeakel turned down Kilgore's gift. On a nice double pass, Kilgore to Klotzbach to Brinkman, the Shamrocks netted two points. D. Yeakel made good on Kilgore's foul. The latter had four and left the game for the showers. Gast came in at guard for Kilgore. On a pass W. Yeakel to Cooper gave Kanawha 2 more points. The quarter ended:

Kanawha 21, Klemme 17

Before the quarter started Jorgenson went into the game for Gast, at guard. Tande made a point on Klemme's technical as Jorgenson his first experience in a first string game, talked to one of his team

LITTLE SHAMROCKS TALLY A WIN OVER KANAWHA 2NDS

Klemme's Little Shamrocks again came through Friday night by beating Kanawha 31 to 14 on Kanawha's floor. The Shamrocks played their usual cool, smooth game against Kanawha. Here's how the game went:

Kanawha counted first when Schaper, Klemme guard, fouled Vanderploeg, lanky Kanawha center who made one out of two tries. Starting on an out of bounds play and passing back and forth for an opening Klotzbach passed to Keeper near the basket for two counts. Soon after Keeper was fouled by Berhow and made one of the two chances. Kanawha again tallied as Hanson made one of two gifts off Schaper. Berhow failed to collect off M. Barz. On the tip-off at center Klotzbach tipped to Keeper who dribbled in for a goal, ending the quarter:

Little Shamrocks 5, Kanawha 2

Klemme scored again as the quarter opened when Klotzbach took the ball from out of bounds, passing o Jorgenson who dribbled in and hooked a basket. Anderson failed on Barz' foul. M. Barz grabbed one off the bangboard, passing to Keeper for a goal. On the tip-off the ball went to Anderson for a goal. Barz failed to cash in on Berhow's gift. On a series of passes around the court Keeper passed to Jorgenson, who was open near the free throw line and sank another goal. Hanson tossed away Jorgenson's foul. Jorgenson fouled Anderson, who was shooting for the goal. The basket counted but the try was no good. Anderson, guard, tipped to Hanson who sank the counter. The half ended:

Little Shamrocks 11, Kanawha 6

Schuldt who came in for Schaper at guard missed Riekens, gift. Klotzbach failed to count on two free throws offered by Anderson. On a jump ball Klotzbach tipped to Barz who made the basket. Kanawha called time out.

The Little Shamrocks went on a scoring spree when they ran the count up to 21 against Kanawha's 11 at the close of the quarter. Keeper to Barz netted the first basket; Jorgenson to Keeper to Barz netted the second; Barz scooped one off the floor passing to Keeper for the next; Keeper again passed to Barz for another goal; On a scrimmage under the basket Berhow finally sank one for Kanawha.

Little Shamrocks 21, Kanawha 11

In the last quarter the Little Shamrocks again went on a scoring spree tallying ten points while Kanawha could rate only three. All of the Little Shamrocks saw service during the game.

Barz let Anderson's foul by. Barz swished another basket on a pass from Klotzbach. E. Barz came in for Keeper. M. Barz again scored a goal from under the basket. Jorgenson filed to count on Hnson's gift. Anderson likewise pased up Klotzbach's gift try. Bachman came in for Klotzbach. M. Barz collected one of two tries off Anderson. Vanderploeg passed to Amderson resulting in the only goal for Kanawha during the quarter. Joregnson collected a point on Hanson's foul. Vanderploeg counted one on Bachman's foul. M. Barz took a pot shot, missed, and came in and grabbed it off the board and looped two points. Abele came in for Jorgenson. Vanderploeg failed to count on Bachman's gift. Schuldt snatched the ball from a Kanawha forward, dribbled half way down the court and sank the basket. The game ended:

Little Shamrocks 31, Kanawha 14

All the Shamrock regulars played an excellent game. Barz led the scoring spree with Keeper doing his share. Kotzbach played an outstanding game at center, working the center post and playing an excellent game under the basket. Jorgenson was going good on both offense and defense, snagging high passes, breaking up plays under the basket and getting the ball through to the Klemme forwards All of the reserves saw service and showed improvement.

Kanawha has an excellent quintet but could not stand up to the Shamrocks' fast pace. Vanderploeg played a nice game at center, and Anderson showed up good at the guard position. Hanson played the best at forward.

Christmas Spirit

...any of you ...er noticed ...ppens to people when the ... spirit catches ahold of ...

...rt time before Christmas ...ple in general seem better ... they seem to think less of ...ves and more of others, and ...e much more cheerful. I sup... of you have heard the story ...ge. Although it doesn't ...actly true to life, the moral ...s out is that many people ...the same as Scrooge when ...e near to Christmas.

...n't the "just before Christmas ... good as I can be" attitude of ... which is responsible for ... but a certain indescribable ...ing we call "Christmas spirit" which has this good influence upon us.

The "Spirit of Christmas" is catching—we hope we are not immune from it.

HOME ECONOMICS GIRLS MADE GIFTS THIS WEEK

Entertained Mothers and Faculty At Christmas Tea

The Home Economics girls made gifts for their mothers this week.

Irene Spitler made a wall hanging embroidered in wool on linen; Lucile Waddingham made canisters which were blue stippled with cream Avis Barz made a sewing box that was painted black with a flower design on top and the inside padded with cotton and blue print. She also made a set of blue canisters.

Juanita Pavey made a cord holder which was black with a face design on top; Doris Barz made a sewing rack which was blue with gold trimmings; Nofella Beier made curtain tie-backs, trimmed with rosettes; Gladys Griffen made canisters which were cream with red silhouettes; Eloise Etchen made a drum candy box; Ruth Blickenderfer made a quilted pillow top in colors; Violet Schaefer made a child's quilt with appliqued animals in pink and blue; Elaine Buntenbach made a pongee tied and dyed piano throw.

Entertained Mothers

The girls of the Home Economics class entertained their mothers and the faculty at a tea on Friday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 o'clock. The Christmas colors were used in decorations and refreshments. We had a Christmas tree with hand made decorations and laden with the gifts that we had made for our mothers. The room was lighted with tall candles.—Elaine Buntenbach.

INQUIRING REPORTER
By C. L. K.

How Would You Like To Spend Your Christmas Vacation?

Some evening about 7:00 o'clock I would like to have a sleighing party. At a very late hour we could build a fire and have something to eat. I would also enjoy having a crowd of girls down some afternoon and sew. I would also like to eat a lot of candy and chew gum, because in school Mr. Hunter watches me too closely.—Arlene Krause

I would like to have my sisters come home for Christmas vacation, for a Christmas is not a Christmas without all the family home. I would want a big Christmas dinner with all the good things to eat, and would also go skating, hunting, and do all the things boys like to do. I would also want to spend Christmas vacation at home. I think this would be an ideal Christmas vacation for me.—Billie Lemke.

I would like to spend my Christmas vacation by having a large dinner for Christmas, go hunting and enjoy more winter sports. I would like to go on a skating party. I also would like to go and visit some of my friends, take in a good show during Christmas vacation. And to do many more things besides.—Luther Sshmidt.

What Christmas Customs Do You Like Best?

Christmas customs differ as time goes by, but I think that Christmas customs should be decided upon by the individual. I like to think of having Santa Claus coming down the chimney and filling stockings that have been hung up by the fireplace. A large Christmas tree in one of the four corners of the living room, with gaily decorated branches and presents scattered about appeals to me too.—Anna Tanner.

The Christmas custom I like best although many may disagree with me, is where the children hang their stockings up near the fire place Christmas eve, and there is a large Christmas tree glittering from one corner of the living room beautifully decorated, and many presents lying underneath it. This custom makes every member of the family happy and cheerful especially when the little children wake up and look to see what Santa has left for them.—Lida Griffen.

What New Year's Resolutions Are You Going To Make?

At New Years we all resolve and resolve, but in the end everything dissolves. At least that is the way my New Year's resolutions have turned out, but nevertheless I'm going to:

1. Try to get up before 8:10 on school mornings.
2. Work intensively to improve my work and please others.
3. Try to be pleasant and agreeable to others.
4. Save my pennies
5. Keep up my outside reading for English the rest of the school year.
6. Be considerate of others.
7. Force myself to eat less.

—Vella Paul.

I think our basketball team should each individually resolve to do a lot of things. For instance:

1. Win the games—or perhaps do our best to help the rest of the team to win.
2. Be more obliging to our teaching staff.—George Stokesbary.

The first New Year's resolution I'm going to make is to keep away from all high school reporters. Each time you see one coming your way with a certain look in their eye, you can figure you've got to write something.

Next on my list comes loyalty to our basketball team. I hereby vow not to give up, but to die fighting. That is, if we have to die.

Last, but not least, I pledge allegiance to my teachers. I will do my best not to cause too much trouble and will try to get better than D in deportment for a change. —Lyndon Kilgore.

KANAWHA TRIMS KLEMME

mates before play was resumed. On a foul by Uken Klemme failed to collect. Kanawha tallied again when W. Yeakel received a pass and made a nice dribble toward the basket, sinking the counter. Gast went in for Jorgenson. Klemme called time out. Brinkman failed to collect when offered two gifts on W. Yeakel's foul. W. Yeakel took the ball on a pass and made another nice dribble and looped the counter. The game ended:

Kanawha 26. Klemme 17

The Shamrocks showed a decided improvement over their last few games and played a better brand of basket ball. They still show promise of developing into a strong team before the year is over.

The Christmas spirit has found its way into the school building. Each grade room has a beautifully decorated tree and the high school also has one which adds a bit of cheer and brightness to our assembly. Several of the students also plan to bring some wreaths of evergreen to hang in our windows next week.

The entire student body has gone back to "ye good old days." We have become skilled in the art of cup making and our H2O is now obtained from a large cream can stationed in the lower hall. This is being done to safeguard our health since we were notified that the city water did not test well.

By A Junior

After interviewing several of our students who saw "Meet the Millionaire," I find that they all had practically the same opinion. Everyone, it seemed, thought that the characters were well chosen and took their parts very well. The chief fault was a tendency to forget lines in places. However, they had a great deal to memorize, and since this was the first attempt at acting for most of them their experience will be valuable for next years play.

The gate receipts were $47.50 and it is thought that between $25 and $30 were cleared. It is the wish of the Junior Class to thank all of you who came out.—Lyndon Kilgore

1935 HOG BENEFIT PAYMENT SAME AS THIS YEAR

Hog adjustment payments per head to the signer of the 1935 corn-hog contract will be the same as in 1934, or $15 on 10 percent of the adjusted average number produced from 1932 and 1933 litters instead of 25 percent as provided in the 1934 contract, says County Agent, S. J. Oberhauser.

Because a smaller percentage of adjustment is required for 1935, the total hog payment per farm will not average as high as in 1934, but the producer's total income, including return from the increased number of hogs which he may raise, will be larger. The new allotment is about 20 percent larger than for the past year.

Contracting producers, who are short of feed and who, therefore, may not raise up to the maximum number of hogs under the new contract, will have the equivalent of the larger hog income in the form of a larger supply of corn for sale or for future livestock feeding than otherwise would have been the case.

BELIEVE IT OR OT!

A couple weeks ago two well known Iowa trappers captured a skunk and an opossum. These were skinned in the evening and the carcasses hung on a clothes line, presumably to be used a trap bait the following day. They celebrated the capture with plenty of John Barleycorn, and along towards morning feeling hunger coming on, they decided to eat the opossum. The feast was held but imagine their chagrin when upon awakening the next day they found the opossum still on the clothes line.

1934 1935

At this Season most all of us are inclined to forget somewhat the urge and surge of business, and to think more seriously of the beauties of life and the things that make it worth living. One of the best things, as we see it, is the Spirit of Friendship which underlies our relations with each other. With an understanding born of true friendship, business dealings tend to become warm and cordial. So at this time we want to tell you that we appreciate your friendship as well as all of the business with which you have favored us. We wish to extend to you, and to those near and dear to you, our sincere good wishes. May this Christmas be your Merriest and the Year of 1935 your Most Prosperous.
